

MONUMENT TO J. F. C. WHERE DO THEY GO?

City's Present Accounting System Shaped by Mr. Calderwood.

HE GOES TO A BIG FIELD OF WORK

His Work With the T. C. Rapid Transit Company Prepared Him for Larger Responsibilities.

John F. Calderwood, for twelve years auditor of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, left on last evening's train for New York, where he will enter upon his new duties with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company on Wednesday morning.

City Controller, 1888-90.

It was in the office of city controller, 1888-90, that Mr. Calderwood first demonstrated to the public his ability as a financial expert.

Speaking of the city's bookkeeping system, "if system it may be called"—in his report of January 1889, he said: "This system, no doubt, served its purpose well in 1887, when Minneapolis first assumed the responsibility of a full-grown municipality."

He called attention to the farcical manner in which claims were allowed at that time—400 claims, aggregating $1,000,000, approved by the council committee of claims in one hour and a half, not one of them having been first examined and audited by the controller.

Authority on Accountancy. Mr. Calderwood's standing as an accountant has been national for a good many years.

The Brooklyn R. T. The Brooklyn Rapid Transit, to which Mr. Calderwood has gone in the capacity of assistant to the president, is one of the greatest street railway systems in the world.

MILLIONS OF WALL-EYED PIKE FRY PLACED IN MINNETONKA.

Placed in Minnetonka.

NONE OF THE FISH YET CAUGHT

Fullerton Thinks They May Be Lurking in the Cold, Deep Places.

Sam Fullerton would like to see a wall-eyed pike that has been caught in Lake Minnetonka. For several years, efforts have been made to stock the big lake, and many millions of pike fry have been scattered in the water.

Many think that the pike fry have been eaten by pickerel, but other fish about in the lake and seem to escape the glutinous pickerel. To test this Mr. Fullerton took 1,000 fry last summer and raised them to the length of three inches, then put them in shallow water near shore for the summer, fenced in by fine wire netting.

Mr. Fullerton thinks it possible that the pike are staying in deep holes, where the water remains at the same temperature. In Otter Tail lake, pike are caught on hot summer days at a depth of fifty feet. Following up this idea, Mr. Fullerton intends to make a run to the lake this summer.
