AMES DEMURS

The Chief Attacks His Indictment—Unexpected Evidence Promised.

There was comparatively little excitement in the police investigation cases to-day. Frank R. Hubachek, attorney for Chief of Police Fred Ames, appeared with his client before Judge Simpson, this morning, and entered a formal demurrer to the indictment charging the chief with having accepted a bribe. The argument will be taken up at 9:30 a. m. Monday. That was the only surface development.

It is said, however, that recent discoveries have greatly strengthened the case of the state against the chief. A witness whose testimony had not been expected has agreed to testify. This witness will testify to a state of affairs in connection with the matter for which Chief Ames was indicted that has not heretofore been made public. It will come as a great surprise. His evidence will be direct and damaging. Unless it is impeached, the chief's chances for acquittal will be decreased.

The demurrer interposed this morning sets up the following contentions: That the indictment does not contain a statement of acts constituting any offense, in ordinary, concise language; that it is not direct and certain as regards the offense charged; that it is not direct and certain as regards the particular circumstances of the offense charged which are necessary to constitute a complete offense; that more than one offense is charged in the indictment and that the facts stated do not constitute a public offense.

Looking Up Liquor Licenses. Complete minutes of the records of saloon licenses in the office of the city controller are being made by Herman C. Pettibone of the Scanlon-Carpenter Lumber company. It is believed that the information is for the use of the grand jury. The method of handling the liquor licenses has been very lax under the present administration.

CROSS WILL OBJECT Argues That Both Indictments Covered the Same Offense. It is the purpose of the state to try James Cross once on the charge of forgery, but the prisoner strenuously objects. While there were two indictments the defense contends that both cover the same order from the Scanlon-Gipson Lumber company to the Germania bank.

IT HANGS BY ONE VOTE VERDICT IN MEGAARDEN CASE Such the Report at the Courthouse—But a Disagreement is Expected. The Megaarden jury is still out and at 10 o'clock the disagreement is expected. In open court this morning George H. Daggett, one of the jurors, told Judge Simpson that, in his opinion, the jury was in a deadlock. The court, however, refused to discharge the jury, but sent it back for further deliberation.

REPORTED TO T. & L. COUNCIL Truck Drivers' Position Indorsed by the Central Body. Representatives of the Trades and Labor Council say that organization is standing back of the truck drivers in their strike and take issue with a labor man quoted in yesterday's Journal. This man, who is prominent in labor circles, was quoted as saying that both the truck drivers' and bakers' strikes might have a certain amount of merit.

WILL HARDLY MERGE

Sentiment in Norwegian Lutheran Synod Seems Against It.

The resolution of Representative Stevenson, of Texas, protesting against the erection of the proposed statue to Frederick the Great in this country has aroused varied comment in Minneapolis. The Stevenson resolution sets forth that the United States should not accept from any foreign government or emperor any statue of any king, emperor, prince or potentate who has ruled or is now ruling any nation by the supposed divine right of kings.

The synod's attitude. "The synod believes in one holy Christian church. It believes that there are true Christians in other Christian churches who in spite of false doctrine therein have the true faith. The synod hears no ill will to persons in other churches which deviate from the truth, but abhors false doctrines. It believes in the firm adherence to the truth."

PROFESSOR LAUR LAIKSEN, President of Luther College, Decatur, Iowa, to Bible truth, because it is a Christian duty. It must insist on obedience to the truth, having patience, however, toward those weak in perceiving the truth, but not tolerating perverse persistence in false doctrines in spite of instruction.

ALL MAY RETURN LOOKS LIKE HAYS' VICTORY

School Board Will Drop None of This Year's Teachers LOCAL PRINTER'S FINE RUN Probably Elected First Vice President of the International Typographical Union.

THOUGH SEVERAL WILL RESIGN

List of Those to Take Vacant Places is Not Yet Announced. The members of the Minneapolis Typographical Union are watching closely the returns from the recent election of officers of the International Union. John Hays, prominent in union circles, for four years president of the local union and district organizer for three years, was a candidate for first vice president. His opponent is C. B. Hawkes, of the Chicago union, who now holds the office. Hawkes defeated Hays two years ago by a margin of 1,498 votes, but judging from the returns so far received Hays is a winner this time. Following are the returns in:

Table with columns: Minneapolis, Hays, Hawkes, Gain. Rows: Minneapolis (1,818 vs 2,403), New York (941 vs 631), Detroit (169 vs 196), Los Angeles (144 vs 139), Des Moines (138 vs 62), St. Paul (124 vs 124), Butte (46 vs 9), Anacosta (16 vs 21), Seattle (106 vs 21), Syracuse (145 vs 30), Newark (10 vs 45).

This shows a net gain already for Hays of 1,830, or within 1% of the entire plurality of Hawkes two years ago.

THE MAYOR PROCLAIMS

Calls Upon Business Firms to Decorate for Elks' Fair. Mayor Ames has issued a proclamation calling the attention of the people to the preparations that are being made by the Elks for their carnival and street fair to be held in June and points out the benefit the event will be to the city. After dwelling upon the importance of the carnival, he says: "I deem it no more than right that all business houses and firms decorate their stores and buildings with the colors, purple and white, of the order, and that the well known emblems of the Elks be placed in conspicuous places wherever practicable. There is no reason why this event should not be made memorable by thorough co-operation between the order and the business community."

TO TAKE OTHER PLACES

Well Known Employees of the Tribune to Leave. Four employees occupying responsible positions with the Tribune company severed their connection to-day. They are Theodore Andrews, superintendent of advertising, who has occupied that position since Gerald Pierce went to Chicago several years ago; Robert B. Johnston, secretary and assistant manager for many years past; Colonel A. X. Schall, for the last seven years private secretary to W. J. Murphy, owner and manager of the Tribune; Willis B. Besley, cashier, and the head stenographer.
