GROVER MADE A J. D.

By the Catholic College of St. Thomas, Villanova.

HE SPEAKS ON EDUCATION

The Bond of Fraternity Between Institutions That Differ Otherwise.

Philadelphia, June 17.—For the first time in the United States the honorary degree of Jurisprudence was conferred to-day at the Augustinian college of St. Thomas, of Villanova. The recipient was former President Cleveland, who has already had the degree of LL. D. conferred on him by the Princeton university. The ceremony of conferring the degree upon Mr. Cleveland was a part of the commencement exercises of the college, and followed the dedication of a new monument, college and chapel. The Austrian ambassador, Ladislav Kengelmueller, Baron von Gengerbar, received the honorary degree of doctor of philosophy. Honorary degrees were also conferred as follows:

Rev. William J. Hill, LL. D., rector of St. Paul's church, Brooklyn, and Judge Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, Ph. D., doctor of laws, former Judge Joseph F. Daly of New York, Judge F. T. Fitzgerald, New York.

The exercises were held in the college, Archbishop Ryan presiding. Mr. Cleveland expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and said:

This incident prominently suggests to my mind the imperious edict of education which binds us to the pursuit of knowledge. It is a high mission by which the individual is to be identified with the public good. It is based upon identical aims, and it is the opportunity and impartiality in the distribution of its rewards and honors.

It seems to me, it is impressively illustrated when the severely Catholic college of St. Thomas, of Villanova, bestows its highest honorary degree upon one connected with the severest Protestant Princeton university.

The process of education, as they exist in this country of ours, and as they should be, in addition to other characteristics, special harmony of purpose and design, are related to our government, and this should constitute between our institutions of learning a bond of close fraternity.

What other objects and purposes may be involved in educational efforts among us, one who is constant and prominent aims should be the cultivation and maintenance of a high standard of American citizenship. When we recall the fact that the beneficence of our scheme of government depends upon the level and education of the units of our citizenship, it is at once apparent that an important duty rests upon every citizen that he should understand the instruction of the youth of our land.

It will be a sad day for our nation when the forces of education and the teachers of moral living shall cease to strive in unity to lighten the entire mass of our citizenship, or when their influence in that direction shall be divided and circumscribed by religious and social differences.

THE DAYLIGHT STORE. St. Louis County Woman Ensnared by a Frenchman. New York Sun Special Service. St. Louis, June 17.—Social circles of St. Louis are discussing the rather mysterious return of Count de Sehan de Lafayette to this city. When he left St. Louis with the Rochambeau party a few days ago, nothing was said of a return visit. But the count left the Rochambeau party at Cincinnati and quietly slipped back, registering at the "Hotel" hotel, but denying himself to all callers.

At the St. Louis club's banquet to the Rochambeau party Count de Lafayette was much impressed by a beautiful society woman of St. Louis with whom he spent almost the entire evening. She and the illustrious Frenchman had met before in Paris. It is said the count has fallen in love with her now and that this is the cause for his return.

ANOTHER CLAY ROMANCE

NOT EXACTLY AN ELOPEMENT. Ezekiel F. Clay of Kentucky, Nephew of Cassius, in Chicago to Be Married.

New York Sun Special Service. Chicago, June 17.—A romance which began in Kentucky many months ago will have its climax this evening when Ezekiel F. Clay, a nephew of the famous Kentucky war general, Cassius Marcellus Clay, will be united in marriage to Miss Florence K. Lockhart. The groom is 61 years old and the bride is 17 years his junior. Both live in Paris, Ky. They preferred to be married in Chicago rather than face the curious residents of the Kentucky town.

To escape all notoriety the couple came to Chicago Sunday. Miss Lockhart went to the home of her father, while Mr. Clay went quietly to the Palmer house. He was given a room on the parlor floor.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Clay strolled over to the county building and, walking up to Clerk Salmonson, asked for a marriage license.

"Ezekiel F. Clay, Paris, Ky., age 61; Florence K. Lockhart, Paris, Ky., age 44," were the names filled in by the clerk, who at once recalled the storm raised by the relatives of Mr. Clay's uncle when he married his 16-year-old ward, Dora Richardson, five years ago.

The issuance of the certificate at once gave rise to a rumor that one of the Clay family had eloped. To this report the groom entered a vehement denial when interviewed at 1 o'clock this morning. Mr. Clay was found asleep when an effort was made to have him give out the true facts of the marriage. It required considerable knocking before he could be aroused.

When he awoke, however, he did not open the door, and remained in his bed while he answered the questions which seemed to him proper.

"Is it true that you have been married to Miss Lockhart, Mr. Clay," he was asked.

"No, sir, it is not," came the voice from within, "but I will be this evening."

"Is there any truth in the report that you and Miss Lockhart eloped from Paris?"

"No, there was no elopement," said the voice.

"Will you say where the ceremony will take place?"

"No, I don't care to say that."

"Will you tell where the bride is?"

"Well, she is stopping with friends," thundered the voice, "but I don't care to be bothered with reporters."

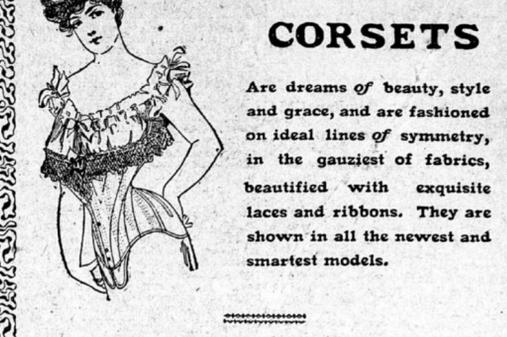

"Good night, Mr. Clay."

"Good night."

Friends of Mr. Clay will wonder why he surrounds his coming marriage with so much secrecy. Mr. Clay is a direct descendant of the family of Henry Clay. His cousin, General Cassius M. Clay, who lives at Whitehall, Ky., is 91 years old.
