

FIRST KING CASE

FORMALLY OPENED:

AL SMITH SITS IN

Continued From First Page.

jected and the objection was overruled. The appointment was then read to the jury. City Clerk L. A. Lydard was the first witness called. He identified the bond and each of office filed in his office by King following his appointment. The documents were reviewed in evidence, the defense taking an exception. Mr. Welch objected to the introduction of any evidence on the ground that the indictment contained no statement of facts constituting a public offense, but the court again overruled the objection.

Hooper Tells of the Robbery. "I'll call John S. Hooper," said Mr. Smith, and the prosecuting witness stepped forward. He said he had lived in Minneapolis eighteen years and was secretary and treasurer of the Yale Realty company.

Mr. Hooper told of going to the Great Western station with the Rough Riders to take a train for Washington, where the club went to attend President McKinley's inauguration.

"Did you see John Reid there?" asked Mr. Smith. "I did, in the car. Another man was with him whose name I heard afterwards, was Herman Miller."

"Was any property taken from you there?" "I lost a diamond stud. It was a spiral stud. I wore it in my necktie. "You may tell how the diamond was taken from you," said Mr. Hooper.

"Just as the train was pulling out these two parties came up to our berth and said: 'What is he doing to you doing with your grip here?'"

"I looked to see whether the two men were on the train. They were not and I sent a telegram to the clerk of the municipal court and the chief of police. Then I went on to Washington and returned to Minneapolis the latter part of March. I went before the grand jury and appeared in court as a witness against Reid."

"Did you ever have a talk with Nathaniel W. King about the larceny of your diamond?" "I did, in the city hall, in May of 1901. I went down to the chief of police and he referred me to Mr. King. As near as I can remember he asked him to try and get Herman Miller. He said he would do everything he could."

Hooper Talks With King. There had been several conversations between Mr. Hooper and the defendant, at police headquarters and on the street. In the course of these talks, the witness said, he had asked King about Miller and had been assured that the man would be arrested shortly.

"Mr. King told me," said Mr. Hooper, "that Miller was in Tom Lyon's saloon but that he had skipped out before he was arrested. At another time he told me that Harry Adams was mixed up in the robbery, and that he was going to arrest him. He told me he thought he could get my diamond back. He said some Adams' friends were taking up a collection to get the diamond back from where it had been pawned. He said a stone had been pawned for $40 and had been sold to some gambler connected with the syndicate. Afterwards he told me that it wasn't my diamond at all, but another. He said he had raised $32 out of the $40 to redeem it and I offered to pay the other $8, but he said it wasn't necessary."

After Adams was released from jail, I went down to see King about it. He said that until King had taken it as I was, that he didn't know why they had let Adams go. He accused me of putting another detective on the case and said if I had let King know I had let Adams go, he would have let me have Adams arrested again and that I was going down to see Mr. Boardman."

Didn't Recognize Adams. The witness had difficulty in remembering details of the various conversations and as Mr. Smith was not permitted to ask leading questions, progress was slow. Hooper turned the witness over to the connection with the case. Mr. King told him about it. After Adams' arrest Mr. Hooper had gone to see him in the jail on the request of the county attorney. Mr. Smith turned the witness over to the defense and Mr. Welch at once moved to strike out all testimony relative to the theft of the diamond at the Great Western station. The charge was denied. "Now, of your own knowledge," Mr.

Hooper, you don't know when or where he took a train for Washington, where the club went to attend President McKinley's inauguration. "You didn't see anybody take it?" "No, sir. But I know now how it was taken."

"You don't know of your own knowledge?" "I didn't see it taken; no, sir."

"Now, how did you happen to go down to the jail?" "I went because Captain Alexander asked me."

"Did he point out Adams to you?" "He took me to see if I could recognize him, and then he pointed him out to me."

"Had you ever seen him before?" "Not that I know of."

"When was this?" "About two or three weeks ago."

"Did you see Adams was arrested the second time. The witness did not see him, but he was in the jail the first time. Before the cross-examination was completed, "Billy" Edwards and John Reid, both important witnesses for the state, were called and took seats within the railing. Reid was brought here from Stillwater to testify. He is slender, with a thin face, sharp features, dark brown eyes and black hair.

On cross-examination Mr. Hooper said that King's statement to him that Adams was implicated in the robbery was the first thing that led him to believe that the men had been mixed up in the affair. He had heard that the grand jury had indicted Adams, but supposed the name to be an alias for the man he knew as Miller.

"Did you see Adams was arrested the second time. The witness did not see him, but he was in the jail the first time. Before the cross-examination was completed, "Billy" Edwards and John Reid, both important witnesses for the state, were called and took seats within the railing. Reid was brought here from Stillwater to testify. He is slender, with a thin face, sharp features, dark brown eyes and black hair.

On cross-examination Mr. Hooper said that King's statement to him that Adams was implicated in the robbery was the first thing that led him to believe that the men had been mixed up in the affair. He had heard that the grand jury had indicted Adams, but supposed the name to be an alias for the man he knew as Miller.

Further examination developed the fact that the stone was in pawn at the time of its purchase, and that the witness had redeemed it. The cross-examination of Hooper was resumed at 10 o'clock. On direct examination he testified that a younger brother of M. L. Cohen had told him his diamond weighed about a carat, a quarter of an ounce. Two diamonds were shown to him. He said both were smaller than his own, and that the settings were different. The questions indicate that Cohen will be sworn by the defense later.

John Reid was the next witness. He knew Adams, Miller and Samuel Sargeant and admitted having seen Hooper in a Great Western coach. In addition to the man named "King" White was also in the gang. Reid said he did not know who took the diamond.

Wing Shots at the King Trial

Persons and Incidents Sketched in the Court Room This Morning.

THE 'VARSITY RACES

Rain in the Morning Followed by Clearing Weather.

STATUS OF THE BETTING

Wisconsin Sold Second in a Pool on the Eight-Oared Race.

Foughkepele, N. Y., June 21.—A dreaching rain and a nasty gray sky with a single rift in it to justify the hope of clearing greeted the weather sharps this morning when they looked out to see what the indications were for today's boat race. When the rain would slacken a bit, out from the small crowd in the hotel corridors would go a squad of hopeful college men gazing skyward.

A NEW LAND OFFICE

Senator Nelson Suggests One at Cass Lake.

FOR MORRIS LAW SETTLERS

Bernard and Warren to Give a Dinner To-night to the Delegation.

Washington, June 21.—Senator Nelson will make an effort to have a new land office established at Cass Lake to accommodate the rush of settlers who will go into that section of the state as the result of the opening up of lands under the provisions of the Morris bill. No legislation will be required, as the general law gives the secretary of the interior authority to rearrange the boundaries of land districts and to fix the locations of land offices.

A WILD MOUNTAIN RIDE

ATTEMPT TO STOP A WRECK

A Train Dispatcher Who Risks His Life in a Locomotive.

New York Sun Special Service. Altoona, Pa., June 21.—A mile-a-minute ride down the mountain and his only reward the sight of two trains coming together in a head-on collision, was the experience of Train Dispatcher Blake on the Cresson & Clearfield division of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday afternoon.

STILLWATER ACCIDENTS

Mrs. Hubbard Cuts Wrist Severely—Brakeman Loses Foot.

Special to The Journal.

Special to The Journal. Stillwater, Minn., June 21.—Mrs. William Hubbard, residing at the corner of Greeley and Myrtle streets, met with a serious accident this afternoon while canning fruit. A glass jar burst and the fragments severed the arteries of her wrist. At a late hour the doctors had not been able to staunch the flow of blood.

Go to the Foresters' Excursion

To Waterville, Minn., next Sunday, June 22.

Golden Opportunities. Let's what they are, those small wads you will find on our want page each day.

Disfigured Skin

Wasted muscles and decaying bones. What have I? Scrofula, list alone, is capable of all that, and more.

It is commonly marked by bunches in the neck, inflammations in the eyes, dyspepsia, catarrh, and general debility.

It is always radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills cure liver bile, the non-bruising and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Golden Opportunities. Let's what they are, those small wads you will find on our want page each day.

Golden Opportunities. Let's what they are, those small wads you will find on our want page each day.

Golden Opportunities. Let's what they are, those small wads you will find on our want page each day.

Golden Opportunities. Let's what they are, those small wads you will find on our want page each day.

Frank Delany, a brakeman on the Hastings line, was killed when he was struck by a train at South Stillwater this morning. The automatic coupling failed to work and Delany, who was on the train, was caught. He was brought to the city hospital and attended by company surgeons. He has two brothers in South Minneapolis.

Richard E. Gallegher was received at the prison from Minneapolis to serve a life sentence for murder. He was heart-broken when he arrived and has not yet been assigned to duty.—W. C. Masterman, who is chairman of the general Fourth of July celebration committee, has named a committee of eleven business men to raise about $700 has been raised for expenses.

David Bronson has returned from the scene of the wreck of the Ravenna. He reports that the safe of the boat has not yet been recovered. The hull has been taken to Dubuque, where it will be fixed up sufficiently to be towed to the yards at South Stillwater, where it will be repaired. The bit of the boat will arrive to-night or to-morrow morning on the Isaac Staples.

The county democratic convention is being held this afternoon. It is a very quiet affair. While the sentiment is overwhelmingly for John Lind's nomination, the delegates will probably not be instructed.

There was no sign of sunshine, but old river men expressed the opinion that the rain was over and that it would be fine, clear weather by the time the first race was called.

Bills Ward, the Pennsylvania coach, sprang a surprise on his own men as well as on the entire colony this morning by rigging his shafts with aluminum washboards. This is an innovation in the

KILLED FIVE COWBOYS.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 21.—Five cowboys have been killed in a fight near Tucuman with "Bud" Lee of Dona Ana county and an old Indian fighter.

watering his cattle at a certain spring had walked them through the water against the protests of other cattlemen, who warned him that if he repeated the act he would be killed. The next time Lee, accompanied by an Indian fighter, returned to the spring, and the two men were lying in wait. After the battle, five of the eight cowboys were dead and the other three had fled. Lee and his partner, who were unhurt, surrendered to the sheriff. The names of the dead men are not given.

HE BROODED OVER IT.

St. Louis, June 21.—Professor John T. Rapp, justice of the peace at Wellston, St. Louis county, and school teacher, was able to keep the pace to the finish. Syracuse does not seem to figure in the "before the race predictions," and Pennsylvania, whose crews always have made a big showing, and in several instances have won on this course, was getting very little consideration among those who were picking winners.

At noon the rain had stopped and the wind, which before was blowing from the southeast, shifted to due south. The choppy water had subsided and the river was smooth.

There was no sign of sunshine, but old river men expressed the opinion that the rain was over and that it would be fine, clear weather by the time the first race was called.

Bills Ward, the Pennsylvania coach, sprang a surprise on his own men as well as on the entire colony this morning by rigging his shafts with aluminum washboards. This is an innovation in the watering his cattle at a certain spring had walked them through the water against the protests of other cattlemen, who warned him that if he repeated the act he would be killed. The next time Lee, accompanied by an Indian fighter, returned to the spring, and the two men were lying in wait. After the battle, five of the eight cowboys were dead and the other three had fled. Lee and his partner, who were unhurt, surrendered to the sheriff. The names of the dead men are not given.

At noon the rain had stopped and the wind, which before was blowing from the southeast, shifted to due south. The choppy water had subsided and the river was smooth.

There was no sign of sunshine, but old river men expressed the opinion that the rain was over and that it would be fine, clear weather by the time the first race was called.

Bills Ward, the Pennsylvania coach, sprang a surprise on his own men as well as on the entire colony this morning by rigging his shafts with aluminum washboards. This is an innovation in the watering his cattle at a certain spring had walked them through the water against the protests of other cattlemen, who warned him that if he repeated the act he would be killed. The next time Lee, accompanied by an Indian fighter, returned to the spring, and the two men were lying in wait. After the battle, five of the eight cowboys were dead and the other three had fled. Lee and his partner, who were unhurt, surrendered to the sheriff. The names of the dead men are not given.

At noon the rain had stopped and the wind, which before was blowing from the southeast, shifted to due south. The choppy water had subsided and the river was smooth.

There was no sign of sunshine, but old river men expressed the opinion that the rain was over and that it would be fine, clear weather by the time the first race was called.

Bills Ward, the Pennsylvania coach, sprang a surprise on his own men as well as on the entire colony this morning by rigging his shafts with aluminum washboards. This is an innovation in the watering his cattle at a certain spring had walked them through the water against the protests of other cattlemen, who warned him that if he repeated the act he would be killed. The next time Lee, accompanied by an Indian fighter, returned to the spring, and the two men were lying in wait. After the battle, five of the eight cowboys were dead and the other three had fled. Lee and his partner, who were unhurt, surrendered to the sheriff. The names of the dead men are not given.

NEW SHIP COMBINE

The World's Best Summer Medicine.

To Compete With Mr. Morgan for the Oceans.

FURNISH AT THE HEAD OF IT

Large Subsidies From Both Great Britain and the Canadian Government.

New York, June 21.—The British shipping combination which intends to compete with the Morgan syndicate for the North Atlantic and Pacific freight and passenger business is now practically consummated, according to the London correspondent of the Herald. Many reports of the formation of the new syndicate, more or less accurate, have appeared in the last week. On good authority the following details are given:

Christopher Furness is to be the head of the new combination. It is to be capitalized at $20,000,000 ($100,000,000). The Cunard company is included in the deal.

The British government has agreed largely to increase the present subsidies while Canada promises at least $200,000 ($1,000,000) yearly.

Six large passenger boats, capable of twenty-five knots an hour, are to be built, also a dozen sixteen-knot freighters, at an aggregate cost of $2,500,000 ($12,500,000).

The entire capital is said to have been borrowed from the Morgan syndicate, who offered to take up a big block of stock, was told that the whole amount had been subscribed.

The main idea is not greater than the utilization of the Canadian Pacific railway as the chief link in a chain bringing Australia, India, China and Japan into nearer and more intimate touch with England and providing an all-British route shorter than any at present available.

Why Dickens Lives. His Works Were All True to Human Nature.

In the Editor's Easy Chair of Harper's for July Mr. Howells discusses the reasons for the hold which Dickens has maintained on the public. He says:

"Dickens could never have had his tremendous hold (which we are instructed from time to time he has never really lost) upon the English-reading world of his day if he had been merely a great literary mannerist, a prodigious convention as to how life was to be looked at, a sentimentalist, or a realist, as wide as the whole surface of human nature. He was something far greater and better than anything of either kind. In the first place, he had a wonderfully dramatic talent, not of the finest or truest sort, but the strongest. He did make things live upon that vast and thickly peopled stage of his, and he religiously respected the illusion of their incentive among all the actors. They might be puppets, but he never called them so; they might be melodramatic, and for good or bad they really were, but they were never undramatic. He never felt them so, and he never suffered the spectator to feel them so."

"He was true to certain needs and hopes of human nature. He showed such tenderness for the poor, the common, the hapless and friendless, that one could not read his books without feeling one's heart warm to the author, and without imbibing a belief in his goodness, which survived distinct proofs of his peccability. He was true to the needs and hopes of the poor, the common, the hapless and friendless, that one could not read his books without feeling one's heart warm to the author, and without imbibing a belief in his goodness, which survived distinct proofs of his peccability. He was true to the needs and hopes of the poor, the common, the hapless and friendless, that one could not read his books without feeling one's heart warm to the author, and without imbibing a belief in his goodness, which survived distinct proofs of his peccability."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People do for you. They act like a tonic, and give you a new lease of life. They are used with almost miraculous results in the most obstinate nervous diseases, and in all cases of weakness and tonic are unequalled. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price five cents a box; six boxes, two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Be sure to get the genuine; substitutes never cured anybody.

A WISE MERCHANT

HOW HE EXTRICATED HIMSELF FROM A SERIOUS DIFFICULTY.

Mr. Outcalt Tells an Interesting Story About a Recent Important Event in His Life.

How George W. Outcalt, a well known merchant of Wellston, Oklahoma, recently succeeded in extricating himself from a serious difficulty is one of the interesting stories now going the rounds of the papers.

"I had been working very hard," he says in telling the story. "For a long time I had given almost every moment of my attention to my business and I did not notice what effect this was having on me. But finally, I saw that my health was giving way—I was getting thin, was always tired and easily out of breath; my blood was poor, my stomach bad. Every now and then I would be dizzy and a little exertion would exhaust me completely. In short, I was all wrong."

"Then one day I saw an advertisement which led me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They acted like a tonic, and gave me a new lease of life. They are used with almost miraculous results in the most obstinate nervous diseases, and in all cases of weakness and tonic are unequalled. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price five cents a box; six boxes, two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Be sure to get the genuine; substitutes never cured anybody."

Want Ads.

The Journal is the unexcelled medium for "Want" advertisements. It pays for you, and is read by thousands. The Journal.

If you have anything to sell, let the people know it through The Journal's Want Columns.

If you wish by anything, let your desires be known in The Journal's Want Columns and you can get it.

If you have a furnished room you wish to rent, advertise in The Journal's Want Columns.

Biggs—A Windy man whose word one can depend upon.

Diggs—Well, I wouldn't care to say anything against him, but in the language of the poet, "I might be safely told, that to him 'truth is stranger than fiction.'"

WANTED MONEY'S WORTH. Ohio State Journal.

Mr. Grump—That confounded doctor charged me $5 for telling me there was nothing wrong with me.

Mr. Grump—Outrageous.

Mr. Grump—Yes; if he had discovered dangerous symptoms I shouldn't have minded it in the least.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

Original and Only Genuine. A Standard Remedy for 25 Years. 10,000 Testimonials. Ladies, ask Druggists for CHICHESTER'S PILLS. Beware of cheap imitations. Take no other. Refreshing and invigorating. Sold by all Druggists, or sent direct to the Proprietor, CHICHESTER'S PILLS, 71, South Molton Street, LONDON, W. Made in England.

Contemplating Treatment.

Men contemplating treatment, I will spare you the penalties associated with Varicocele, Nervous Debility, Blood Poison, Rupture, Kidney and Urinary Diseases, and all reflex complications and associate diseases and weakness.

Call at our office; and if I find that you cannot be cured I will not accept your money under any conditions; but if upon examination I find you are curable I will guarantee a safe and positive cure in as short a time as the nature and extent of the disease will permit without injuring the parts. My charges will be as low as possible for conscientious, skillful and successful services. Consult me before consenting to any surgical procedures upon important blood vessels and organs.

If you cannot call, write for our book free, which will explain the diseases we cure and how we cure them to stay cured, when others fail.

Diseases of women promptly and thoroughly cured by our combined Electro-Medical Treatment.

Consultation Free at office by letter and strictly confidential. A Legal Contract and guarantee of cure given to every Patient. Office Hours—8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays—10 a. m. to 1 p. m. References—Best banks and leading business men of the city.

State Electro-Medical Institute

Longest Established. Thoroughly Reliable. Authorized by the Laws of the State.

301 Hennepin Ave., corner Third St., Minneapolis, Minn.

Cherry is the best wood for embalming; the counterfeit can only be detected by an expert.