

he was employed at a gambling-house in St. Paul. "How much did you give him for that diamond?"

"Well, I suppose you have seen a great many men there, first and last, reputable citizens?"

"Wait a minute," interrupted Mr. Smith, "we don't want to try the whole town here."

"On a cross-examination the witness said he had not seen Sargeant since last summer. He had bought the stone, he said, some time late in March or early in April."

"You frequently see policemen there?"

"On raiding expectations, yes."

"That's all," concluded Mr. Welch. "You are still running?" asked Mr. Smead.

This was ruled out and the state called Frank Flick. Mr. Flick said he had bought a diamond from Willey. Some time afterwards he met a number of men in an alley back of Lyons' saloon, where he sold the diamond to one of these men for $60. At this point court adjourned until 2 o'clock.

"Billy" Edwards Testifies. Frank Flick resumed his testimony this afternoon, under a cross-examination. He went over his story as told at the morning session and said he thought Sargeant and paid him for the diamond at the time the stone was made, in an alley back of the Onedia block. Sargeant was the only man in the crowd he knew.

Mr. Welch spent some time in an effort to fix approximately the date of this transaction, but without any marked success. The witness finally said, however, that it was probably in the latter part of the month of May.

"Billy" Edwards was the next witness. He said he had known "Norm" King since the first administration. He also knew Harry Adams.

"Did you ever have a talk with King about the Hooper diamond?"

"I did," in Murphy's saloon, on July 7 or 8 last. He called me over and said: "Edwards, I bet you go to the Hooper diamond, don't you?"

"Liberated," he said he would take it to the Hooper diamond, but he would have to go first. He said he would have to go first, and King said if he got the stone there would be no "red" in the stone, and "You know, Billy, my word is good, isn't it?"

"I said: 'It certainly is.'"

Mr. Welch then asked down to Moss Brothers' again with Charlie Adams and I gave King the stone. He told me to tell Adams to keep a stiff upper lip.

REDEEMED THE STONE Adams' Brother Tells How the Money Was Paid Over.

John Reid, on the stand late Saturday afternoon, testified that the Hooper diamond had been stolen during the mix-up in the Great Western coach, but said he did not know who had taken it, as he was busy with the diamond in the car.

Mr. King talked to Adams first, and then to Reid and Adams to the city hall, where he had not seen the theft committed. The crowd, he said, had gone into the car merely out of curiosity. When the train pulled out they had boarded the downtown district. Later Reid and Adams had been arrested and taken to the city hall, where they had seen Captain King.

"King talked to Adams first," explained the witness, "in his private office. Then he told me about Hooper losing a diamond and said I had better come in with it. I replied that I didn't have any diamond and didn't know anything about it. He asked me who Miller was and I said he knew Miller as well as I did."

Reid's cross-examination developed nothing of importance. George Baban, one of the police inspectors who had taken Reid and Adams to the city hall, was the next witness. He testified that instructions had been given to the downtown district to headquarters as soon as they could be found and said they had not been placed under arrest but were simply taken before Captain King, who afterwards ordered Reid locked up and charged with grand larceny in the second degree entered against him. At that time Adams had been released, but later he was indicted and the witness admitted to his home with a deputy sheriff and had arrested him. Adams was in the bathroom at the time, but was induced to come out through threats that if he did not do so, Thomas Gallagher, another inspector, who was with Baban at the time Reid and Adams were taken into custody, corroborated the story told by his partner.

Charles E. Adams, a brother of Harry Adams, was then called. He said he had met Captain King in front of the Syndicate gambling house in June of last year. "I was walking down town," the witness explained, "when I met Mr. King. He asked me if I would like to see my brother get his liberty and I told him I would like to do it for someone to send the diamond back. He said he had promised the club to which Mr. Hooper belonged that the diamond should be returned, or that everybody connected with its disappearance should be railroaded into Stillwater."

The witness testified that he had raised $65 among his brother's friends and had given the money to the man named Sargeant, who "knew where the diamond was." They had then gone into the alley back of the Onedia block and the money had been paid to a man who accepted a package at Dawson, Minn., has finally been prevailed upon to become the head of the seminary again.

'PINKS' IN THE HUNT

They'll Search for Norbeck if it's Made Worth While.

HE MAY BE HEADED FOR NORWAY SOME WANT TO FORCE HIM

It is Known That He Expected to Return for a Visit There Some Time.

The county authorities are going to make it an object for the best known detectives in the United States to join in the search for the fugitive detective, Norbeck, who was lost in a stolen car Monday week ago. It is believed that the successful escape of Norbeck would put a premium on bond-jumping and that his recapture would have a salutary effect upon the criminal and vicious class.

The $1,000 reward offered by one of Norbeck's bondsmen, while it might cause interest activity in Minneapolis and vicinity, is not sufficiently large to enlist the interest of professional thief-takers in other cities. To stimulate general interest, it is understood that the county officials are now contemplating the offer of a reward of $5,000.

Correspondence already begun through the county attorney's office with the Pinkerton agency has developed the fact that the Pinkertons are willing to get out their men on the trail if there is enough money in it. The amount named is said to be without a history.

Representatives of the St. Paul branch have already looked the ground over.

It is said to be the opinion of the Pinkerton people that Norbeck is not hiding in either Minneapolis or St. Paul, and that if he is still living, he seems to have a favorable view of the country, but thousands of miles between himself and this city. The natural supposition is that he headed for either Canada or Mexico. The fact that it is much more difficult to cross the border from Mexico than from Canada leads to the belief that Norbeck is now under southern skies.

Headed for Norway. Another rumor which gained no little credence to-day was that Norbeck had headed for Norway in his last flight, that he was able to catch a steamer out of New York for Norway last week.

It is admitted that he could have done so with a reasonable degree of success. An attempt has been made as yet to locate the man outside of Minneapolis. He had often been heard to express a desire to return to the old country, and had said to King that he was going to take a vacation across the sea. An opportunity to take a vacation under unusual circumstances may have suggested to Norbeck the idea of seeking refuge in his old home.

The feeling that Norbeck has been and is secreted somewhere about Minneapolis or St. Paul is gradually wearing off. It is being placed in the conviction that Norbeck has either done away with himself or left for parts unknown. There are still those who believe that Norbeck is being held against his wishes by representatives of the police. Even those who support the kidnapping theory concede that, as a matter of fact, such a course would result in the return of the man to the city those yet to come to trial more harm than if the Norbeck trial had not been interrupted.

It was said this afternoon that two deputy sheriffs, who up to date have conceived the most boldly original ideas as to Norbeck's whereabouts, had secured a search warrant entitling them to make a thorough search for Norbeck in the mix-up of one of the mayor's right hand men.

A Duluth Sleuth at Work. James Thompson, formerly a police officer in Duluth, has started out to find Norbeck and incidentally claim the $1,000 reward. Like many others, he thinks that the runaway detective took one of the night trains for Duluth, but that instead of taking the boat for Port Arthur, he went into the iron range country, headquarters of a southerner.

Thompson secured a southerner by the name of Norbeck, and having satisfied himself that the offer of a reward is bona fide, he has gone into the mining districts. If he has a clue, he refuses to disclose it, but it would be presumed that he has something pretty definite in order to undertake an enterprise that will take much time and money.

A Rush City Suspect. Up in Chicago county it is believed that Norbeck is hiding in the rushes near Rush City. Last Tuesday afternoon a large man, answering to his description, put up at the Grant hotel in Rush City. He had money, at least he spent it freely and was much under the influence of alcohol. He remained at the hotel over night, and disappeared the next morning, when the talk about Norbeck's disappearance became general.

Traveling salesman representing one of the big agricultural implement houses in Minneapolis, has reported the incident to Sheriff Dreger, who has asked the village and county authorities to follow the clue.

RUMORS WERE GROUNDED Norbeck Appears to Be as Ubiquitous as Tascott.

A wild rumor that Norbeck had been seen in Jumbo alley, in the rear of the Columbia theater, caused considerable excitement early yesterday morning. Will Adams, colored, who has known Norbeck for years in the neighborhood of Russell and Patrolman Ford that he had seen Norbeck in the alley. A thorough search of the alley and its surroundings failed to locate anyone bearing the slightest resemblance to the runaway detective. It was reported that Norbeck had tried to break into the Columbia soon after midnight in order to surrender to his bondsmen.

SOME WANT TO FORCE HIM THE RACE FOR STATE AUDITOR

Rosing is the Probable Choice of the Convention for Governor.

John Lind's letter was a body blow to the democracy.

Staggered by the shock, they have not yet recovered their composure.

Local democrats refuse to stand for the withdrawal. They would nominate Lind, and then go down to the republican ticket as follows:

Governor—Samuel R. Van Sant, Winona. Lieutenant Governor—Ray W. Jones, Minneapolis. Secretary of State—Peter E. Hanson, Litchfield.

State Auditor—Samuel G. Iverson of Rushford, J. P. Jacobson of Madison, Odin Hatfield of Duluth, and B. J. Miller of Ortonville. State Treasurer—Julius H. Block of St. Peter.

Attorney General—W. B. Douglas, Moorhead. Clerk of the Supreme Court—Dar F. Reese, St. Paul; C. A. Pidgeon, Buffalo; J. A. Everett, Fairmont, and Jacob Gish, Le Sueur.

Near Sant by Acclamation. In nearly every case the county conventions will instruct their delegates for Governor Van Sant, who will be re-nominated by acclamation.

Ray W. Jones is the only candidate in the field for second place, and will have no opposition unless the second district drops Everett and presents the name of Senator H. J. Miller of Luverne for lieutenant governor.

Fight for Auditorship. Interest centers on the contest for auditor. Many of the counties will instruct to-morrow for one or another of the candidates in the district.

Either Iverson or Jacobson will lead, with little probability that either will get a majority on the first ballot. Hennepin and Ramsey will divide the strength.

A. M. Wells of Redwood Falls was in the city to-day. The primaries were held in Redwood county Saturday night, and he says the delegation to the republican convention will be for Jacobson.

For clerk of the supreme court Reese will probably lead the field, but if he falls to get a majority on the first ballot his chances will be small, as the strength of the other candidates represents a strong anti-Reese sentiment.

The state convention will be held in St. Paul July 1.

REVOLUTION GAINS

The Venezuelan Government is Hard Pressed by Rebels.

TROUBLE AT CIUDAD BOLIVAR

Port of Urama Temporarily Opened Allowing Stored Merchandise to Be Shipped.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press) (Willmar, Island of Curacao, Sunday, June 16.)

The revolution in Venezuela is gaining and the government of President Castro is losing ground daily and is obliged to confess in its organs, in spite of the terror which reigns in the capital, Caracas, that its armies are not always victorious.

A revolutionary movement broke out during the night of May 23 in Ciudad Bolivar, capital of the state of Bolivar. A colored named Carrera headed the revolt in the barracks, and after five days of fighting in the streets constrained the president of the state of Bolivar, General H. Sarría, to evacuate the town and fall back on Puerto Tablas.

The revolutionary General Riera, one of General Matos' best lieutenants, whom President Castro represented as fleeing from Bolivar, had appeared last week before La Vela, on the Gulf of Coreo, with 1,100 men and, after a struggle of five hours, took that port.

In the eastern part of the republic, where the government has 5,000 of its best troops, the situation is unchanged. The revolutionists dominate, without, however, any serious occurrences, the towns of Barcelona, Carupano and Cumana.

In a word, the situation is less favorable for President Castro than it was a month ago, and every day becomes more unfavorable to him.

Caracas is believed to be on the eve of grave events. It is positively affirmed that President Castro intends to offer resistance in the capital if he is beaten in the decisive battle which will probably be fought in the environs of Valencia.

President Castro has signed a decree providing for a temporary opening of the port of Urama, on the frontier of the Colombia, for the outlet of Colombian merchandise which has been stored for upward of nine months in Cucuta. These goods belong to German and American firms and consist for the greater part of skins, estimated to number 30,000, and of coffee, said to aggregate 35,000 sacks.

Venezuela charges a heavy toll on the transit and it is, therefore, a clear profit for the government.

SOLDIERS ATTACKED Bolomen Wound Two Americans and Escape.

Manila, June 23.—Fifty soldiers of the Twenty-seventh infantry forming an advance guard which was escorting a wagon train half a mile from Camp Vicars, island of Mindanao, were attacked to-day by ten bolomen. One soldier had an arm badly cut and another was seriously wounded in the head. The Moros captured a rifle and escaped uninjured.

The Badingham Moros say the attackers were Moros from Bondo and that the war party in the morning for the avowed purpose of killing negligent Americans. The First and Second separate brigades have been consolidated.

Lieutenant Colonel Frank D. Baldwin, of the island of Mindanao, reports that the Moros have held a big conference at Bacolor. The sultan urged a policy of friendship with the Americans, but two of the dattos said they would die first. Others declared that if the two dattos caused war they would not assist them.

Three towns in the western part of the island are inclined to be friendly. Colonel Baldwin hopes to win them over to peace.

A WIRELESS TO HAWAII

SPECKELS CONTEMPLATING LINE Would Not Back Pacific Cable Because of the Marconi System.

New York Sun Special Service Los Angeles, Cal., June 23.—John D. Spreckels, multimillionaire, who controls a great share of the industries of the Hawaiian Islands, is contemplating connecting the islands by wireless telegraph with San Francisco.

Experts in his employ are in the city installing a system between this city and Catalina island, forty miles out in the Pacific ocean. If the work here is entirely satisfactory Mr. Spreckels will at once begin figuring on the Hawaiian system.

The experts who have just installed the Catalina system assure Mr. Spreckels that it is only a question of securing a dynamo of sufficient strength to carry the waves 2,000 miles instead of 100 miles, as the dynamo at Catalina is expected to do.

Mr. Spreckels has, it is said, refused to become the backer of a company which proposed to lay a cable to Hawaii, because of his faith in wireless telegraphy. He is the one man whose interests would be enormously enhanced by a quick communication between the islands and the United States. Mr. Spreckels is owner of the Oceanic Steamship company, whose four vessels, the Australia, Alameda, Venezuela and Hawaii, ply between the islands and San Francisco. These also will be fitted up with the wireless apparatus, regulated to the instruments placed at San Francisco and Honolulu.

They Exchange Compliments at a Dinner by the Former.

New York Sun Special Service London, June 23.—The Kaiser's coronation delegation from the German army, headed by Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, have not lost a moment in showing to all the world how their imperial master desires to wipe out the untidy feeling against Germany, who alone among the powers is not cordially welcomed here now.

Count von Waldersee had been in London only a few hours when Earl Roberts, a dinner for him and the other German officers, where the head of the Kaiser's army proposed a health to King Edward in a speech, every word of which was closely weighed. He thanked Earl Roberts for the opportunity of meeting his old guests and said it was a great honor to partake in the coronation of King Edward. He added: "The fact of my having the honor last year to command British troops and see for myself their good training and gallantry adds to my pleasure at being the guest of the ever victorious field-marshal Roberts. We German soldiers all know well how difficult and arduous a task the British army had to accomplish in South Africa. We know also that the men of your army accepted their task with the utmost devotion to their country and with bravery and humanity."

Count von Waldersee toasted the king and the British army. Earl Roberts, in replying to the toast, thanked Count von Waldersee in the most friendly manner for the complimentary terms he had employed in speaking of the British army. He assured him that the British soldiers were deeply sensible of the kindly feeling that prompted him to speak so appreciatively of them. Earl Roberts proposed a toast to the Kaiser and the great German army, of which his majesty is the head.

IRISHMEN IRRITATED They Denounce England's "Unholy War" Against Boers.

Chicago, June 23.—Irishmen who met here last night, passed resolutions denouncing England's "unholy war" against the Boers and pledging support to John Redmond and his associates in the house of commons. It was decided to hold the national demonstration of the United Irish societies at one of the parks August 15. One hundred and forty-eight organizations were represented, and Colonel John F. Finerty presided.

A. O. U. W. Picnic Will be held at Hudson to-morrow. Special train on the Omaha road, Minneapolis Union Depot (Bridge Square) 8:15 a. m. and 9:15 a. m. Returning, leave Hudson 6:00 p. m. and 9:00 p. m.

EDWARD'S HEALTH

Much Comment, but Little Information as to It.

New York Sun Special Service London, June 23.—The morning newspapers mostly confine their references to the king's health to saying they are authorized to state that he has greatly benefited by the rest he has enjoyed during the past few days at Windsor Castle. He returned to Buckingham Palace at noon to-day. The queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales accompanied him. According to the morning court circular the king and queen and several other members of the royal family worshipped Sunday in the private chapel at Windsor Castle. The king drove about the grounds for an hour in a closed carriage in the afternoon.

The Daily Mail's account of the king's treatment states that the royal physicians ordered the king to dine alone, to retire to rest early, to get up late, and to take a quiet drive afterwards when the weather was fine. This course his majesty strictly pursued and it has had a beneficial effect on his health.

The king did not attend the private morning services in the little chapel of the castle during the past week, and much state business was put to one side. His majesty had a great deal of time on his hands and this was filled in by quiet games with members of his household in his own room. It is noteworthy that the queen, who is seldom seen on horseback, rode Saturday with her daughter, Princess Victoria, for an hour in Windsor park. She thoroughly enjoyed it.

THE PAGE THAT KILLS

Look at that man, if he may be called such. He may not be sick, yet he is unfit for work, study, business or marriage.

He is nervous, fretful and irritable. He is bilious, melancholy, dull minded and easily confused. His liver is torpid, kidneys weak, back lame, circulation sluggish, digestion bad and appetite poor. He feels run down, is easily tired and has frequent headaches.

That is what he talks about, and he has troubles of a different nature. THAT IS WHAT HE DOES NOT TALK ABOUT, NOT EVEN TO HIS FAMILY PHYSICIAN.

He goes to him with the first set of symptoms and may get temporary relief. But the latter set, from which the former arises, he keeps to himself, an awful load on his mind and barrier to his happiness. He suffers in secret silence, brooding over his condition. In the meantime he cannot control his actions. His feeble power gives way to unnatural thoughts. His wanton cravings increase as his ability decreases. Finally both sets of symptoms grow worse, and he gets weak and begins to lose weight.

YOUNG MAN, MIDDLEAGED MAN, OLD MAN, If by your own acts, through the folly of your youth, you have violated a single law of nature, against body or mind, especially through any habit by constantly repeating same, then there is no escaping the punishment made and provided for every transgression, which is sickness, decay or death. This is as certain as night follows day. And you, Young Man, must pay the penalty here on this earth, in this life, sooner or later. Call on me at once. Don't wait for nature's punishment.

There is help for you all, and a perfect cure, too, if you will promptly secure the services of a learned specialist; one who can tell you more about your exact condition at one consultation than any ordinary physician can after many weeks of fruitless treatment; one who will make out of you a man, with a man's pride, a man's power and a man's privileges.

Dr. Cole is true to his profession, devoted to the sick and infallible in his treatment. He has called back thousands from the shadow of the tomb. For those who seek his counsel and helping hand the best is none too good, and his motto is TO GIVE MORE THAN HE IS PAID FOR.

Dr. Cole not only restores strength and removes every symptom of weakness in young, middle-aged and old men, but he cures Varicocele, Hydrocele, Enlarged Prostate, Blood Poison, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases, and skilfully treats, speedily and permanently cures, infectious, secret, private diseases not essential to here enumerate, the same being well understood.
