RED LIGHT SCANDAL

Grand Jury Investigating Ames' Inspection System.

CLARK AND COHEN WITNESSES FOR THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION

"Cigar" Store Women Also Called—Indictments Due This Evening.

When the grand jury met this morning, the star witnesses waiting to be called were Assistant City Physicians Clark and Cohen.

Among the other witnesses were Detective Fairbank, another inmate of Chief Ames, Detective Oscar Hicks and Officers Zalusky and Mike Mealy.

After the business meeting this forenoon the college men had an impromptu musicale in the hotel parlors, and later, when they gathered for dinner, made the dining-room ring with the old and familiar fraternity and college songs.

A trip around the lake, the weather being good, will be taken to-night, and will be followed by a "smoker" at the Ice Yacht club house.

The program for to-morrow includes a trolley ride around the twin cities and a visit to the university, where the buildings and chapter house will be looked over.

After the jury had decided upon what to do with the return it is expected to hear witnesses. Among those admitted were Drs. E. J. Clark and Henry Cohen and Ida Elliott, who keeps a "cigar store" on Third avenue.

It is not necessary to explain what the grand jury is doing at the present session, as the names of the witnesses indicate that the inspection in the red light district inaugurated by Mayor Ames is the subject of the investigation.

There are several women in the Elliott class who are expected to be called to the witness stand. Olive Green, who objected to arrest because she had paid for "protection," will, it is understood, be one of the witnesses.

"BIG MITTERS" LIKE OTHELLO
Their Occupation Is Gone for the Present.

The prominence given to the "big mitt" game in the newspapers of the country as the result of the Minneapolis exposures will, it is asserted, prevent the working of that form of "graft" to any extent at the county fairs next fall, especially in the case of the "Big Mitt" exposition.

According to the testimony of the "square" gamblers who are of entirely different opinion, the "big mitt" game turned in Minneapolis since the recent closing order, except possibly in a few small poker games strictly on the quiet.

Mr. Gorham comes back more convinced than ever that Congressmen Fletcher is the right man in the right place, and that the Hennepin county community will again so testify.

Mr. Gorham thinks the Minnesota delegation has taken the proper stand in the Cuban reciprocity matter. The president, he says, is making his fight on principle alone, and taking no thought of local interests.

MARY MAC LANE EN ROUTE
She Was Due Here To-day, but Did Not Come.

Mary Mac Lane, Butte's genius, who has written a book on the green color industry, about her stomach, liver and other things, was expected in Minneapolis this morning, on her way east, but she did not arrive.

However, Miss Mac Lane is not a medical student. She is a philosopher, a devil-worshiper and perhaps a genius. Some people have called her other things as well. It is certain that she is a most remarkable girl, but whether a genius or a freak not all reviewers are agreed.

DEVOTEES OF 'DORG.'

Brothers of Beta Theta Pi Are Gathered at Minnetonka

FOR THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION

Trip Around Lake Is to Be Followed by "Smoker" This Evening.

One hundred and twenty-five delegates, representing sixty-five chapters of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, are attending the annual convention at Hotel St. Louis, Minnetonka, and more are expected.

A short secret business session was held this forenoon and another was called for this afternoon. It is expected to effect a permanent organization at the present convention, and the business sessions now being held are partly to this end.

After the business meeting this forenoon the college men had an impromptu musicale in the hotel parlors, and later, when they gathered for dinner, made the dining-room ring with the old and familiar fraternity and college songs.

DEATH FROM THE SKY

Sudden and Awful End of Henry McNeil.

A YOUNG MAN OF HASSAN HOLDS RECEPTION ON TRAIN

Was Tying Horse in His Barn When the Lightning Killed Him.

One of the saddest, as well as one of the most startling and peculiar deaths that has ever occurred in Hassan township, Hennepin county, was that of Henry McNeil, who was killed by lightning Saturday afternoon.

The bolt must have been a peculiar one, or else there were two at the same time. The electricity followed the windmill derrick part of the way down, then it seems to have divided, one part going to the house, playing several pranks in the kitchen, and the other taking to the barn.

The untimely death of young McNeil is doubly sad from the fact that he was soon to be married, his wedding day having been set for next Monday night.

MISS STONE HERE

Missionary Rescued From Captivity in Macedonia.

She Will Lecture at the Plymouth Congregational Church This Evening.

Miss Ellen M. Stone arrived in the city this noon and is the guest of Rev. and Mrs. George R. Merrill at their home on W. Fifteenth street.

Miss Stone came direct from Boston. This morning the small army of teachers coming to the N. E. A. convention and delegates to the Luther League in St. Paul became aware that their train carried Miss Stone and they invaded her sleeper until she was forced to hold an informal levee, yielding cheerfully.

Miss Stone expects to return to Macedonia to carry on her work, in spite of her unpleasant experiences there. She does not seem to fear that the case with which her ransom was raised will incite the brigands to repeat their venture.

The six months of her captivity was one long period of suspense and the captives lived in constant fear of death. "When the chief asked us to sign a paper authorizing the payment of the ransom to the persons designated and said that he was willing to take what sum he could get, we felt hopeful for the first time," she said.

Miss Stone will speak of her experiences in Macedonia in Plymouth church this evening and to-morrow evening. The money obtained from her lectures goes to repay the ransom which was raised for her and already the sum of $65,000 is almost guaranteed by her magazine articles and lectures.

CREWS NOW AT WORK
SELECTING INDEMNITY LANDS
Probably Some Set Apart for Forest Reserve by the Government.

State Auditor Dunn has two crews of men at work in Lake and Cook counties making indemnity selections for the state school fund.

The incident has not served to soften the feeling between State Auditor Dunn and General C. C. Andrews, who as fire warden, is supposed to be the auditor's subordinate. In fact, Mr. Dunn himself is chief fire warden for the state.

Mr. Dunn was much amused at a suggestion in a morning paper that he make up for this loss to the state by raising the minimum price hereafter from $5 to $8 per acre. He said that if there were would be hardly a foot sold in north-eastern Minnesota, and to hold land there at such a figure would be to retard the development of that section of the state.

CANDIDATES BARRED
In Selecting State Committeemen—Donahower a Possibility.

W. J. Donahower, assistant attorney general, will probably be one of the Ramsey county members of the republican state committee. He is acceptable to all factions in Ramsey county and a practical politician of ability.

A Frat Incorporates.
The Frat Union association of Minneapolis has been incorporated with $10,000 capital, by John C. Sweet, Ernest T. Hamlin, George E. Cole, James P. Quirk and Ralph T. Boardman.

Rear Admiral Clarke seems to be the kind of man to take his honors without becoming garrulous or otherwise giving offense.

Evils of Segregation.
H. G. Wilson spoke of the evils of segregation upon the reservation. He said there was no quicker way to degrade a white man to the level of an Indian than to put him in an Indian camp and force him to live under their conditions and such life was as degrading to the Indian education. In his opinion the Indian should be forced to live among the whites, to suffer for his indolence.

Supervisor of Schools Spoke of the benefits of thorough training in gardening for the young Indian pupils and told of the keen interest felt by both boys and girls in the growing life about them and the added pride given by a feeling of ownership in individual plots. He made weeding attractive by allowing the pupils to eat the young carrots, radishes and onions weeded out.

Supervisor O. A. Wright advised teaching girls how to milk and build fires and boys to do some forms of housework. The remarks precipitated a long discussion on the advisability of teaching Indian girls to milk or do any part of man's ordinary work as the male Indians was too prone to shirk his work on the woman. Miss Robertson did not believe in such instruction, while others painted glowing pictures of the dress to the cow, if in the husband's absence the wife could not milk. Miss Robertson said she had no objection to their working in emergencies but did not advocate the assuming unnecessary duties in addition to the heavy work belonging to woman's realm on the farm.

The Indian Problem

DISCUSSED BY TEACHERS IN CLOSE CONTACT WITH CONDITIONS

Commissioner Jones Complimented.

We have seen a great many changes and many are yet to come before we shall have a perfect Indian policy. But we have much to be thankful for. We should be thankful that we have at the head of affairs a man who knows the Indian as you and I know him. The President of the United States has spent days and nights in the camps and tepees of the Indian. He knows his difficulties and the need of uplifting him. He knows that we should take the Indian from the average surroundings of reservation life to the system of feeding him as we would swine; from making a mere coffee-cooler of him. President Roosevelt knows that he must be seen as a man of affairs, not a man of words, which makes him servile, sneaking and vile, and pleasure of serving under a secretary who understands the real Indian and his needs and who is doing his best to push forward the industrial side of his education. Commissioner Jones has studied the Indian, and although he has made mistakes, he has not been ashamed to admit them and to rectify them. He knows that the Indian child has been pampered as has the old Indian. We have influences at headquarters leading us up in the efforts to push forward the years to uplift the Indian.

We should be thankful for a superintendent who has the duty to get away from Washington and visit the reservation. We should be grateful, too, for the honor we are doing and to counsel with us and advise. We have influences at headquarters leading us up in the efforts to push forward the years to uplift the Indian.

Monday—Miss Lynch in charge; Misses Alice Leonard, Teresa L. Flahaven, Julie Moore, Grace Hunt, Marion Gale, Jane Long, Nellie Hall, Mary L. Gilman, Standish, Stevenson.

These young women will assist at the frappe table at the reception of Thursday at the university armory. They are asked to report at 7 o'clock.

Normal Reception.
The department of normal schools is to have an informal reception at the university building on Thursday evening from 10:30 to 11:30, following the general reception. The guests will be received by Mr. and Mrs. Van Sant, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Constock of Moorhead; Superintendent and Mrs. J. W. Olson, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Jordan, Messrs. and Misses J. P. Millspaugh, C. H. Cooper, W. A. Shoemaker, F. A. Weld, E. W. Bohannon, Irwin Shepard, J. E. Bell, C. W. Van Tuyl and L. C. Lord. The guests will be announced by Mrs. Kate Barthol, Miss Elizabeth Donaldson and Miss Marion Porcher. Frappe will be served by Misses Lucy Ridgeway and E. Burbank. The ushers will be Misses Frankenhel, Kerr and Gilman.

PALACE DE SCHWAB.
New York, July 8.—President Charles M. Schwab of the steel trust returned to New York yesterday and confirmed the report that he is going to build a house. It will cost him between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000. The building and the laying out of the magnificent grounds on the old orphan asylum in Riverside drive, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets, will take nearly three years. The mansion will combine the chief characteristics of the Chateau de Bois and the Little Trianon, two of the most luxurious and artistic houses in Paris.

J. J. HILL EXPECTED SOON.
New York, July 8.—J. J. Hill is returning from his trip to Labrador and is expected to arrive by July 10.
