The team was driven by August Wronquist, who succeeded in guiding them through the crowded street as to avoid collision.

A WEEK OF GAIETY FICHETTE IS O. K.'D

Planned by Minnetonka Club for Tennis Tournament.

FIFTY OUTSIDE PLAYERS COMING

They Will Be Entertained at Expense of the Club—Program of Events.

If the tennis players from Chicago, Ohio, and other eastern cities who visit Lake Minnetonka for the northwestern tournament the week of July 28, do not vote Minnesota the queen of hospitality, it will not be the fault of the Minnetonka club, on whose courts at Deephaven the tournament will be held.

Plans are well under way for the social entertainment of the visitors, and the fifty players from outside the twin cities are expected to take part in the tournament, and the Minnetonka club expects to entertain all of these men. The upper floor of the yacht clubhouse will be fitted up as a dormitory, and the visitors who do not find rooms there will be housed at Woodford's Inn at the expense of the club.

A sacred concert will be given at the Yacht clubhouse Sunday afternoon, and Monday night a dance will be given, which promises to be one of the most novel and enjoyable ever held at Minnetonka. Both the Yacht clubhouse and the Yacht club will be given up to the dancers, and an orchestra will be stationed in each place. A large steamer will ply back and forth between the two islands, making trips every ten minutes.

Wednesday night a grand display of fireworks will be provided and the festivities will close Saturday night with a German, in honor of the visitors, at the Ice Yacht clubhouse. The German will be an invitation event, and the committee in charge is sparing no effort to make it one of the most elaborate social events of the year.

William Johnson, colored, was shot in the hand yesterday by Alfred Elam, another colored man at the new Great Northern shops on Dale street, St. Paul. The two men had quarreled before and had been arrested for fighting. They met at the shops and Johnson threw bricks at Elam, and that he fired in self-defense. Johnson is at the city hospital, but his injuries are slight. Elam was arrested.

SAFE THRESHER BOILERS

Boiler Inspector Johnston Will Try to Decrease Accidents.

State Boiler Inspector R. H. Johnston is going after owners of threshing outfits hard this season in an effort to reduce the number of boiler explosions. Every year there are disasters in the threshing field due to gross carelessness on the part of engineers, and considering the condition in which he finds so many engines the wonder with him is that there are not many more accidents.

TWO BOYS DROWN

Frank Nelson, aged 7 years, and George Regan, aged 11, were drowned in the river near South St. Paul yesterday. The boys were playing on a raft which they had constructed, and were carried from the shore by the current. The bodies have not been recovered.

Disorderly Conduct

LEGAL SPEED LIMIT NOT NEEDED

He Will Not Proceed With the Work He Started Monday Night.

Judge Holt, in police court yesterday afternoon, dismissed the disorderly conduct case against the chauffeur of Metropolitan Fichette. What is more, he commended Fichette for the stand he took in making an effort to drive disreputable women out of the streets. When proceedings were finished the doctory captain stated emphatically that he should not abandon his course, but would continue until the instructions of the mayor had been carried out, whether Acting Superiorintendent of Police Hill and Captain Krumweide liked it or not.

Robert Hill, a newspaper man, followed Inspector Williams upon the stand yesterday afternoon. He had accompanied Captain Fichette on his recent tour of duty, and he told what had occurred. He said Fichette had ordered all women he found in the resorts to leave at once and had warned them not to return. Regarding the melee in the Columbia theater-saloon, he said he had seen Fichette strike at an old soldier named Logue, but could not say whether or not the blow landed.

Edwin M. Connor, another reporter, who was also a member of the captain's party, corroborated Mr. Hill. He testified that Logue was drunk, and was not responsible for what he did. Logue himself, called to the stand, admitted that he was right, and that he could not remember much that had happened, but was positive that Fichette had not struck him, although he thought the captain had probably struck Logue. He evidently regarded the affair as a huge joke and created much amusement by his answers to questions. At the conclusion of his testimony, Attorney Freeman P. Lane moved to dismiss and the court granted the motion.

THE DIGNITY OF THE LAW

SCOTCH LAW PAPERS RECEIVED

They Are Stamped and Sealed Most Impressively—Bear on Clarke Bankruptcy.

George H. Hitchcock, deputy clerk of the United States District Court, is about to forward to William L. Parsons, referee in bankruptcy at Fergus Falls, the most portentous document he has ever had occasion to handle in government service. It is enclosed in a long, heavily made envelope labeled across the top "On His Majesty's Service, to His Majesty the King, Law Courts of Scotland." Within is a similar envelope labeled in a like manner with a description of contents.

This is sealed in Scotch paper, and contains an imprint in Latin. The inner document it is not permitted to Mr. Hitchcock to open as this solemn duty falls to the referee. The documents pertain to the bankruptcy of the late John H. Clarke, of St. Cloud.

Last spring, when the day was at hand for the final hearing in the Clarke case by Judge Lochren and the discharge of the bankrupt, a principal creditor, through Montreal, bought and Nathan H. Chase, objected, making serious charges as to the validity of motive in the proceedings which had lasted some seven years. The bankrupt was postponed and time given for the production of testimony. One important witness, Andrew Montgomery, lived in Scotland, and a commission was issued for his testimony was ordered.

According to the accompanying letter of J. A. Fergus, clerk of the commission, the document is a copy of the commission of W. E. Mackintosh, "the relative productions made by the witness and also the letters rogatory to the court."

A FLATTERING OFFER

Received by Viola Burton of Percy Haswell Company.

Miss Viola Burton, ingenue of the Percy Haswell company, now playing at the Metropolitan, will probably have the part of Madge Brierly in a big revival of "In Old Kentucky," which Manager Jacob Litt intends to create at his New York theater, the Broadway, next season. The part has been offered to her and her friends are urging her to accept it. Miss Burton is a Baltimore girl, only 18 years old, and has been on the stage less than a season. Mr. Litt saw her work in St. Paul and was so highly pleased with it that he asked her to play the part of Madge Brierly on the young woman. Mr. Hays did so, and evidently his report was satisfactory, for Miss Burton has been offered the part.

MR. HAY'S POSITION

CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE'S ATTITUDE ON PHILIPPINE QUESTION.

Letter to George F. Moulton in Answer to One He Awaiting for the Facts.

George F. Moulton, whose office is in the Corn Exchange, to-day received from Eugene G. Hay, republican candidate for congress, the letter below, in answer to one asking Mr. Hay for an explicit statement of his position on the Philippine question. Mr. Moulton says he was prompted to write for such a statement because a report repeated frequently in local political circles to the effect that Mr. Hay had not been in sympathy with the government's Philippine policy, enunciated and inaugurated by the late President McKinley and his cabinet, and that worded out by President Roosevelt, and had even gone so far as to oppose Mr. McKinley's re-election because of this lack of sympathy. Mr. Hay's letter, Mr. Moulton says, is entirely satisfactory to him and he consents to its publication as a matter of news.

My Dear Sir—Your letter of the 15th inst., in which you set forth the following paragraph, is just received by me:

I regret to state that it has been reported and believed by many that you were in opposition to the Philippine question, as evidenced by President McKinley and his cabinet at the time of his last presidential campaign, and that you had not been in sympathy with the nomination and election of President McKinley at that time.

A report similar to the above has been systematically circulated for the past ten days, undoubtedly for the purpose of checking the rapid growth of my candidacy for congress.

In Chicago no man is allowed to drive a motor car unless he has passed an examination upon his ability to handle a machine efficiently and has secured a chauffeur's badge. Mr. Pawkes said in response to a question that he had seen a requirement was quite necessary in Minneapolis. Said he:

Any man of ordinary intelligence can learn to handle a motor car in two hours, and after that he can drive with perfect safety. A steam id is more complicated, and no one should attempt to drive without instruction. You will find, however, that Minneapolis chauffeurs are quite efficient, and a driver who does not know how to handle his rig will practically never be seen on the business streets.

W. E. Wheeler took issue with Mr. Pawkes, declaring that few automobiles exceeded a speed of seven or eight miles an hour, and that the city should have admitted that a few cases of reckless driving might be cited, but held that the great majority of chauffeurs were careful and prudent.

COSTA'S GREAT OPERA

Italian Band to Play a Long Selection From It.

To-morrow evening the Italian band at Harriet will play a grand selection from Costa's pantomime opera, "Historie d'un Pierrot." Signor Costa is one of the finest of modern Italian composers and his music is distinguished by great melodic beauty, originality and grace. The selection to be played by the band lasts twenty-one minutes, and was arranged by Rivalta himself, which is to say that it will be thoroughly artistic and satisfying. In the course of the selection a serenade will be played as an obsequy by Signor Ferullo. These are the current programs:
