In Social Circles

The marriage of Miss Bessie MacKenzie and Leonard Jackson of St. Paul was quietly solemnized at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents on Bryant avenue S. Only the immediate relatives were present. Miss Elizabeth MacKenzie presided at the piano, and as the Mendelssohn march was being played, the bride and bridegroom took their places before an altar of palms and vines, where Rev. Dr. Mackay awaited them. Little Mabel Woodside, in a fluffy white frock, scattered flowers in their path, and Master Fred Reilly, in black velvet, carried the ring on a white cushion. The bride was gowned in white organdie over white silk and carried white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie MacKenzie, who wore a simple gown of blue and carried pink roses. Stanley Jackson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. During the reading of the vows, Schubert's "serenade" was softly played and a reception followed. The parlors were fragrant with pink sweet peas and roses, while the hall was made inviting with oak leaves and winter lilacs. The dining-room green vines were effectively used, and a large bowl of sweet peas brightened the table. The places at the table were marked by name cards daintily hand painted. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside in St. Paul, where they will be at home after Sept. 1.
