Fall Knox Hats
Main Floor—Corner Entrance.
Opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday—come see the show—the hats that set the styles for Fall and Winter.

This is the label that every man who can afford to carries about with him inside his hat.

There is a depth and richness about the fur, a quality about the trimming, and a something in the shape that nobody but Knox seems to have found out how to get.

There is not a very great change in the shape of the Derbys this year; the new have a little closer, broader brim and the band is broader. It is a neater, tidier hat than the last Knox Derby, but just as distinguished for its quiet dignity as any Knox ever sent out.

Knox is a young man's hatter. Some people say his hat takes five years off the age of a man. So it depends upon how old a man is as to whether he wants to wear a Knox hat or not!

The silk hats are quite different. The crown is a trifle higher in the new; the band is broadcloth instead of silk; the brim a little broader and a little looser curl. Perhaps you might say the hat is a little more formal, this year, on the whole.

How Knox ever came to reach his enviable position in the hat world is unexplained, but it is as certain as can be that he holds it fast.

The Derbys are $5, the silk hats $8.

Besides the Knox Derbys and silk hats, the Stetson hats are ready. Men have been asking for fall hats by the hundred during the past week.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FAIR

Annual Exhibit Might Be Broadened Says J. U. Barnes.

J. U. Barnes, president of the Minnesota Title Insurance and Trust company, believes that the annual fair of the state is a great northwestern exposition are limitless. He believes that the people of the two cities do not appreciate its value and do not have a true conception of the power that the fair might become as a help to business interests and as an educator of the public.

Mr. Barnes suggests an auditorium in which a course of lectures by noted speakers might be given. Said he: "We can have musical attractions second to none, and by properly arranging for the housing and caring for works of art, we may draw such exhibits as will help wonderfully in education along these lines and in making these cities more than ever the art and music centers of the northwest. We should give the best attractions in the amusement line."

Haggerty boarded at 20 Sixth Street N. and last night other boarders heard him moving about his room. A few minutes later he was heard to fall. When the incident reached his room, they found him lying dead with his throat cut from ear to ear. Coroner Williams decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

SIFTING PROVES A HARD TASK

Mayor Jones and Supt. Willie Confer Long and Earnestly—Will Announce Results To-morrow.

The execution was postponed. The large ax which was to fall to-day upon the devoted necks of upward of a dozen officials of the police department is still being whetted. To-morrow is the fatal day.

Acting Mayor D. P. Jones and Chief of Police E. F. White spent away from the madding crowd to-day. They held a secret session in Mr. Jones' office in the Omeida block, and were in close consultation relative to prospective changes all morning.

In the meantime, a long line of place seekers and wire pullers who had congregated at the mayor's city hall office were kept waiting patiently hour after hour until Mr. Jones called up his private secretary just before noon and instructed him to give it out that there would be nothing doing in official police circles to-day. It was also announced that he would not be at the city hall to-day.

"We find this task of sifting the chaff from the wheat a much more difficult proposition than we had imagined," Mr. Jones explained at the conclusion of his interview with the press. "We had expected to be ready to make a public announcement to-day as to who would be retained, appointed and dismissed from the department. In the meantime, developments in individual cases have prevented us from giving out any information until to-morrow. We know what course will be pursued in a majority of the cases, but we prefer to make no statement until we can include every case which we feel demand immediate action. By to-morrow noon we will be in a position to make a definite declaration."

It is regarded as reasonably certain that Detective James Howard and John E. Morrissey and Ernest Wheelock, former secretary to Colonel Fred Ames, will be asked to go. Captain John Landberg, of the South Side station, is still on the anxious seat, and Detective John Stavio is a likely candidate to succeed him.

"SOO" IS MOVING AGAIN

THE COMMON GOES TO SEVENTY This Is an Advance of Five Points Over the Closing Figure Saturday.

Soo stock broke all records again to-day, the common selling to 70 in the early trading on the New York stock exchange. The preferred stock also struck a new high point on a sale to 184. There has been a successive advance in Soo, extending over a period of a year. For a time during the summer it lay quiet on a level about 18 points under the present figure. But certain developments in the crop along the road interest began to revive, and now that a heavy grain tonnage is assured, there is more activity in the stock.

The local speculative element is active in it. About 8,000 shares changed hands yesterday, and of this over one-half the business originated here. To-day the trading ran to 3,500 shares to noon, of which over 2,000 shares was Minneapolis business, and the remainder principally from Toronto, where there is an active interest in the stock.

On Saturday the common closed at 65, the Monday gain representing 2 1/2 points advance, and the Tuesday to-day a further advance of 2 1/2 points.

NOT SETTLED YET

C. C. Bovey Again Writes on Wheat and Flour Rates.

Interest in the discrimination by the railroads in favor of an against flour has been revived by an article on the subject by Charles Cranston Bovey, of Minneapolis, appearing this week in the New York Commercial. The article was there appeared in print an exhaustive argument, written by an eastern traffic manager, and giving the situation from the viewpoint of the railroads. It is in reply to this that Mr. Bovey has again taken up the subject.

The most interesting part of the article is that bearing upon the loading of flour. It being a stock argument of the railroads that more wheat than flour can be carried per car, hence the discrimination. Mr. Bovey shows that the average traffic manager is not well informed on the subject. Citing the instance of the president of one of the greatest roads in the country, who would not believe that an 80,000-pound car could be made to hold 88,000 pounds of flour until he was shown a photograph of a car nominally of 80,000 pounds capacity which had been made to hold 101,640 pounds. The Western Crosby company has photographs of 60,000-pound cars loaded with 84,000 to 91,000 pounds of flour, and these any traffic manager may see for the sake of the transportation companies will not accept cars loaded to more than 10 per cent over marked capacity, and since flour can be loaded greatly to exceed the nominal capacity, there is really nothing in favor of wheat from the tonnage standpoint.

BUCKETS FOR BAIT

'U' Party to Make Analytical Catches at Minnetonka.

A baitless fishing party, sworn to drink water for an entire week, started for Excelsior yesterday. The party consists of professors from the state university, and members of the state board of health. Their intention is to troll for water and to analyze the catch. They will pass the first half of the week on the steamer Twin City in the lower lake and the last half in the upper lake, so as to ascertain the peculiar properties of all the Big Water.

WILLING TO MAKE A SACRIFICE

His Application Only a Sample of Many Received From Non-Residents.

From away down in Iowa, where boys are trained in the paths of honesty and virtue, and where there is never even so much as a suspicion of municipal corruption, comes an application, to Acting Mayor Jones, for a position on the police force of this city. While dozens of applications from non-residents are being received almost daily, this particular application from the hawk-eye state places it decidedly out of the ordinary.

The applicant is apparently a man of more ability than is usually possessed by policemen. His penmanship is excellent, and he says he can converse fluently in five languages. At the present time he says he is assistant cashier of one of the leading banks in a town of 5,000. He says that in point of salary he could hardly give it up at the present time, but that for the good of "suffering Minneapolis," even at a financial loss, he might make the change. His ideals of the moral standards of the police force are high and he wants to aid in the work of uplifting Minneapolis.

From the number of outside applications received for the position, it is estimated that the mayor's office it would seem that the idea has gone out that the Minneapolis police force is so honeycombed with corruption that an attempt to remove the guilty parties will virtually result in the appointment of a new force. Such is not the case, but even if it were, there would be no objection to the appointment of a policeman as the charter requires that a policeman shall have had three years' residence in the city.

PRICES DECLINE

Chamber of Commerce Memberships Are Down $300.

Chamber of commerce memberships were offered to-day at $7.00. This is a drop of $300 from the late high point. In the past few days the prices of exchange memberships are much higher than in Minneapolis. The most notable declines are in Milwaukee, where memberships in the Milwaukee chamber sold last spring for $1,000 and are now obtainable at about $400, and in Chicago, where $3,375 was paid recently and memberships are now offered at $3,200. Dulles is also showing a decline, with memberships for the lower figures for Milwaukee and Chicago memberships.

Locally there is quite a business being done in exchange memberships. By this arrangement the owner of a membership may, without forfeiting his claim to it, lease it to another person, who then has access to the chamber and may trade on the floor.

Members look upon the present setback as temporary and expect the $5,000 mark will yet be reached here.

HOLD PRISON SERVICE

An I. O. G. T. Party Visited Still-water on Sunday.

Sunday a party of Good Templars and their friends from the twin cities and Hopkins, to the number of seventy-five, visited the penitentiary at Still-water. A fine dinner was served at the prison on their arrival, after which they held service in the chapel from 1 to 2 o'clock for the prisoners. By this arrangement for the occasion, mostly by Minneapolis talent, and selections by the prison choir, at the close of which resolutions of gratitude for the state penitentiary at Still-water were adopted. The program was offered by the organization. After the departure of the 600 prisoners, only four of whom are women, the warden conducted the party through the grounds, explaining the many points of interest.

A public meeting was afterward held in one of the parks overlooking the city, and about 5 o'clock, after a most enjoyable trip.

THE M. W. A. SCHOOL

District Deputy Head Consuls Will Be the Pupils.

The afternoon session will be taken up by a debate on the subject of "The Society and a Talk on How to Organize a District to Get the Best Results. The debaters will be F. A. Johnson, George Orchard and C. Kelley. The speaker on the second subject will be E. C. Olds, T. Strand and J. Mickelson.

TO KEEP OUT FLATS

St. Paul Park Board May Buy Land Near Capitol.

The prospect of a costly apartment house near the site of the new capitol in St. Paul has spurred Channing Seabury, the capitol architect, to make strenuous efforts on the part of the city park commission to secure the triangle west of the capitol for park purposes.

It is covered with shacks and may be secured for about $70,000. The price is what discouraged the commission nine months ago when the project was considered.

Life has been infused into the plan for a parkway from Shadow Falls park to the Fort Snelling bridge. It would skirt the river for about three miles and a half, and would cost $75,000. The project has hung fire for eight years.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS TIGER

Said to Be Busy at the Same Old Stand.

Reports from Columbia Heights say that there is no truth in the rumor that the gambling den at that place has been closed. On the contrary, the gambling is in full swing at the present time and that it will continue to be until the officers compel the place to close.

The proposition to buy the residents of the village prefer to have the place open, and that if any interference is offered, it will be by county officers. They also say that the sheriff and county attorney will act only when complaints are made and that no complaints are likely to be made.

RAILROAD ASSESSMENTS

Colorado Man in Minnesota After a Few Pointers.

The Colorado board meets in September, and Mr. Gray has been instructed to report on improved methods of assessing railroad property. Assessments in Colorado are now fixed by the state board of equalization on a valuation basis, and much friction has been caused. Colorado officials and localities get their proportion of the railroad tax, but the state levy is 4 mills.

C. S. ABBOTT INTERESTED HERE

Head of the Boston Combination, However, Connected With Twin City Houses.

Charles S. Abbott, of Jamestown, N. Y., president of the new company formed to take over the photographic supply houses of Boston, is an old friend, who invested heavily in Minneapolis when the local photographic supply houses were merged in the O. H. Peck company, of Minneapolis. He retains his interest here.

H. W. Kixmoeller, president and treasurer of the Peck company, says that the Minneapolis concern by its acquisition of the Boston houses, formed under the laws of Minnesota, and will remain so. In St. Paul the combined firm is Zimmerman Brothers, which also a separate Minnesota corporation, formed under the laws of Minnesota, and will remain so. It is understood that Mr. Abbott is interested also in the St. Paul firm.

The Horgan-French company, the new Boston concern, is a separate Minnesota corporation, formed under the laws of Minnesota, and takes its name from the two combined Boston firms, the Horgan-Robey company and Benjamin French & Co. It is expected that ultimately, in addition to Boston, the Horgan-French company will cover all of New England. Rudolph Speth, of Chicago, is treasurer.

PHILIPPINE WARFARE

Letter From Cary I. Crockett Formerly of Minneapolis.

Cary I. Crockett, a former Minneapolis man who is now in the Philippines, has written a letter to G. I. Talmadge, of 2709 Hennepin Avenue, in which he tells something of the methods of warfare pursued in the islands. Mr. Crockett is senior officer of the Philippine constabulary, his troop consisting of 150 men, mounted and armed with carbines and revolvers. On Feb. 15 he left Bulacan province at the head of fifty men and for over a month kept continually on the move, averaging fifteen miles each day. He was then sent into Lyte, where the troop was attacked by 200 bolomen who were soundly thrashed. This was the first of four fights, each of which opened with an ambush, the Americans coming out successfully in all four, although not without loss of life. On this expedition the troop captured three breach-loading and four muzzle-loading cannon, with ammunition and supplies.

SKETCH OF JOHN WASHBURN
New York Commercial's Compliment to C. C.'s President.

John Washburn, president of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, is the subject of a sketch in the New York Commercial, which makes a feature of short biographical articles about men prominent in commercial and financial circles. Well-known names connected with the rise of the city were passed over for one representing a type of the younger element of business men. Mr. Washburn was taken as most representative of this younger element.

The progress of the Minneapolis chamber under his tenure of office, the growth of the grain trade, the building of the new chamber, and his activity in the matter of bringing Canadian wheat into Minneapolis for grain are dwelt upon in the Commercial article.

DOES DAIRYING PAY?

THE EXPERIENCE OF A FARMER

Milk and Cream for Ten and Income of $898.50 From Sixteen Cows.

"Does dairying pay?" asked Dairy Commissioner McConnell, 1-day. "Well, we have a good many reasons to give why it pays, and here is an instance that has just come to my attention. A farmer near Lintonville has sixteen cows and sends his surplus cream and milk to a cooperative creamery. There are ten in his family and they use all the milk and cream they want themselves, yet in the last year he received from those sixteen cows, the following cash returns: For cream, $622.55; skimmed milk at 20 cents a hundred, $116.25; cases and sends his surplus cream and milk to a cooperative creamery.
