These assingnments were made with reference to the places occupied by the men before they were discharged by Ames, the men in each instance being returned to their old stations. It is quite likely that the commanding officers of the various precincts will carry this plan out still further by assigning the men to their old beats.

Ex-Sergeant Paul Mousso, formerly of the second precinct, and who was a mem-ber of the force from April, 1883, until dismissed by Mayor Ames, was intro-duced to Superintendent Waite by Mayor Jones this morning with the intimation that it would be well to consider Mr. Mousso's application for re-instatement. The mayor expressed himself as feeling friendly toward the applicant' whom he had known for years and it is likely that Sergeant Mousso will soon be at his old Minnesota Editors Return From Most Enjoyable Outing.

A BIG SWING AROUND THE CIRCLE

They Left an Echoing Wake of Superlatives Up and Down the Lakes.

Early this forencon, the Minnesota edtorial association came into Minneapolis returning from the annual outing.

The editors have seen and done many things in the eight days. The trip was planned for recreation and was all of that and more.

The Eastern Minnesota carried the party to and from Duluth in a most satisfactory way.

At Duluth the editors boarded the magnificent new steamer Huronic belonging to the Northwest Transportation company, of Toronto, and operated by the Northern Navigation company. All en-loyed the steamer comforts and the de-lightful ride around the north shore of Lake Superior. There was a short stop at Port Arthur the second day out and then began the southward journey. Superior was in fine, entertaining mood and all were happy.

Early on the third day, too early for most of the editors, the boat went through the locks at the Soo. There was time later in the morning to see other boats being raised and lowered. How the inhabitants of the twin Soos get time rom watching the locks to watch Mr. Clergue's enterprises and their own is a

On the Beautiful St. Mary's.

From Sault Ste. Marie the editors went into the beautiful St. Mary's river. Their vocabularies of adjectives were exhausted before the first five miles had been covered. The drive about Mackinac necessitated a repetition of the vocabulary of each member of the party. With the ex-ception of a slight carriage accident all was perfect. No one was injured.

Friday morning the Huronic reached Sarnia and all left her with regret. After lunching at Hotel Vendome the editors were given a ride through the tunnel in the open cars of the Grand Trunk railway company. After a car ride around Port Huron all went back to the attractive souvenir shops of Sarnia to wait for the sailing of the steamship United Em-She proved to be comfortable,

Where Neptune Had His Fun.

The first night back on Lake Huron was somewhat rough. Within two hours the editors had begun to absent themselves from the saloon on one pretext or another. Almost every passenger was sea-Those who came nearest escaping were proud of it and those who were the sickest were proud of that. The betwixt and betweens had little to complain of, so everybody was satisfied.

Returning to the Soo, the party was met by a committee from the Commercial Club and the newspapers and driven about W. B. Rosevear, traffic manager of the Clergue company, took the editors over to the Canadian steel works after dark. The editors and their near relatives learned how to make steel rails, and said it was better than fireworks. On the ferry back to the Michigan Soo, Mr. Rosevean explained the different processes. Rous-ing cheers were given Mr. Rosevear and W. F. Knox, managing editor of the Soo

Port Arthur was reached late Sunday evening. Monday was spent in Port Ar-thur and Fort William, loading and un-loading freight. The ride through Victoria channel, with its beautiful islands, in the wilight and moonlight Monday night, was one of the finest features of the trip, Tuesday morning at 10:30 the United Empire came safely into Duluth. W. B. Mitchell, E. C. Huntington and H. P. Hall joined the excursionists here. After din-ner at the St. Louis Hotel, a special train was taken on the Duluth & Iron Range road for Two Harbors. railroad commissioner, had charge of this feature. At Two Harbors Mayor Bryan and James Coggswell of the Iron Trade Journal received the editors and showed Journal received the editors and showed them the great ore docks and the Duluth & Iron Range machine shops. The Commercial Club held a reception for the gentlemen. The ladies were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Coggswell, who was assisted in receiving by saveral ladies of Two Harbors. several ladies of Two Harbors.

Banquet at Duluth.

Tuesday evening at 8:30 the Commercial Club of Duluth banqueted the editors at the St. Louis Hotel. Much credit was due A. L. Preston, secretary of thte Commer-cial Club. Mayor Hugo presided at the banquet in a most happy way. The speeches by R. S. Mitchell of Duluth, President Leicht of the association, P. V. Collins of Minneapolis and H. F. Greene of Duluth were especially good. Wednesday morning, through the courtesy of the Missabe and Duluth & Iorn Range roads, the editors were taken to Eveleth to inspect the mines. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett of the Eveleth Mining News won the hearts of the editorial visitors by won the hearts of the editorial visitors by their hospitality. Through the courtesy of Mr. Bryan, master mechanic of the Duluth & Iron Range, the Journal representative had a ride on the engine from Duluth to Allen Junction. One mile was made in fifty-two seconds.

At 11:15 Wednesday night a tired company said good-bys and got on special cars for the return to the twin cities over the Eastern Minnesota. The cars were large and fine, and the night ride was in truth a rest. The trip was one of the most successful the association ever had, Ithough not so many as usual went. The executive committee is composed of Frank Meyst, Captain C. C. Whitney and H. P. Hall, and was given full credit by the editors. Expressions of warmest praise were heard on every hand.

THE FINEST IN NORTHWEST Knoblauch's New Shoe Store on Upper Nicollet.

What is undoubtedly the finest shoe store in the northwest is now located at 515 Nicollett avenue-Knoblauch's nev store, which was put in readiness for the shoe trade of Minneapolis the first of the week. The Knoblauch Shoe Store when located at Washington and Nicollet was very popular with the very best-class of customers, and the new store on upper Nicollet will be even more in keeping with the high class trade the old Knob-lauch store enjoyed.

The new store is strictly up-to-date in every particular, and willi undoubtedly be a model for many years to come. The store has a thirty-five foot frontage on Nicollet avenue and runs back 135 feet. The fixtures and shelving are done in cherry, and the luxuriously upholstered settees are of the same material. The effect is most pleasing to the eye, and the entire store gives one an impression of roominess and completeness.

The show cases are made entirely of plate glass and are of the very latest and best make. The big show window is tastefully decorated and gives Nicollet avenue passers-by some excellent ideas in fashionable shoes. The big stock is entirely new and fresh from the best shoe factories in America, and the new store to bound to be a favorite with levers of is bound to be a favorite with lovers of good footwear.

The Knoblauch store, which was established in 1857, is the oldest exclusive shoe house in the northwest and has always been deserving of the fine patron-

LIKE FARM GRANARIES

AGRICULTURAL HALL CROWDED

Not Room in New Building at Fair to Meet This Year's Demands.

When the state fair management last year erected a new agricultural hall with floor space of more than an acre, it was supposed that this would accommodate agricultural and horticultural exhibits for some time to come. To everybody's surprise, however, the building was com-pletely filled last year and this year it is a problem for the superintendent, N. S. Gordon of Crookston, to stow away the displays of the many exhibitors who have applied for space. Mr. Gordon is rushed death and will be at the fair grounds all of next week working like a beaver to get things into shape. Writing of the prospects, he says:
I now have twelve counties assigned for space, with the prospect of the largest number of first-class exhibits in this department that was ever seen at a state fair, and you know they have been good for the last three or four years. The only question that confronts me now is what to do with them. There will be an unusual number of farm exhibits, a number of individual exhibits, and in the general display in all departments it will tax the utmost capacity of our new building. It is only a question of whether we will have to turn away exhibits or put up another building for the horticultural department. The agricultural resources of our state alone would this year fill this building from top to bottom, without any other exhibits, and you can readily see that, with the horticultural department occupying one end of the building and the honey department another corner, that we are going to be crowded for space.

Ditto Poultry Division.

In the poultry division, the same state of congestion prevails that is found in other departments of the fair. Leslie Parlin of St. Paul, superintendent of this division, says that the display will be larger than ever, which means, of course, that the poultry building will be over-crowded and that it will be the finest poultry show ever seen in Minnesota. At least three incubators will be in operation and possibly more.

Colonel W. N. Liggett of the cattle divison continues to receive letters from intending exhibitors in which they tell of the fine cattle they are going to bring to Minnesota and speak in the highest praise of the fair as a well conducted institution and one in which it is possible for breeders to make exhibits. The work on the grounds is progressing satisfactorily. A large amount of small jobbing is being completed, while the larger work is now being rounded up for the finish. Everything will be in first

This afternoon, from 2 to 4, the first hal fof the closing exercises of the city vacation schools was held in the Franklin school. Fourth street and Fifteenth ave-nue N. The exercises were quite informal, and parents of the pupils in inspecting the exhibits of industrial work and manual training. Pretty baskets of raffia in Indian and Mexican designs, aprons frilled and beribboned as well a plain, hats, dainty bags for holding pencils and paint brushes, and gayly colored specimens of rug-weaving, testified to the industry of the little girls who have been seasoning their vacation with a good share of profit-able work. While book racks, footstools, flower trays, keyboards, match safes and dozens of other articles, both useful and ornamental, showed excellent results in he boys' course in manual training. David H. Painter, supervisor of the schools, gave a general report of the past six weeks' wowrk. He highly commended the various features of the work in the classrooms, but suggested that in the future the playground be isolated, as its near proximity to the school building tended to divert the attention of the pupils from the more serious part of the summer's program. Other teachers gave accounts of the work in their department nd there were informal responses from various members of the audience.

Mr. Painter advocates the general dis-tribution of the vacation schools all over the city, and said this morning that, with sufficient funds and equipment, there would be 2,000 instead of 400 children at-The closing exercises of the Clay school
