AXEL ORLING'S WORK

System of Wireless Telegraphy Boomed by English Co.

ADVANTAGES OVER MARCONI'S

It is Said to Operate Successfully at Long Distances and With Lower Masts.

Axel Orling, the Swedish engineer who has experimented with wireless telegraphy at the Armstrong works in England, has so far completed his work that a company has been formed to open factories in England and France for the manufacture of his apparatus. The London papers laud the young electrician very highly and place him in the same rank as Marconi.

The new system is known as the Armori, the name being made from the first syllables of Armstrong and Orling, and will doubtless acquire the supremacy in England. The stock company behind it is capitalized at nearly one million dollars. It will place goods on the market at once and has already sent out price lists and illustrated catalogues.

Mr. Orling has been working without cessation for over a year with eleven Swedish engineers as aides. One variety of apparatus which he has perfected is intended for the transmission of telegraph or telephone messages a short distance—up to twenty miles. All that is required is a transmitter and a receiver with wires fastened to gas or water pipes.

For long distance transmission it is necessary to go up in the air in order to employ the Armori system, but the masts or towers need be only one-tenth as high as those found desirable in the Marconi plan. Mr. Orling maintains his ability to send messages through buildings of all kinds and even through mountains, and to send them much further than Marconi. He has also constructed a small combined telephone and telegraph apparatus for the use of armies when on the march or in the field.

THAT CONSULAR PROBLEM

Figures in Which the Norwegians Find Satisfaction. From figures secured by the Swedish-Norwegian consular commission it is shown that Norway contributes 650,000 kroner annually to the support of the joint consular service and that Sweden contributes 271,180 kroner. The Norwegians find much satisfaction in these figures, saying that they sustain their argument that Sweden fill altogether too many consular posts in proportion to Sweden's commerce and share in the joint expense.

As previously stated the commission will recommend separate services for the two governments. Dr. Sigurd Ibsen, one of the Norwegian commissioners, has prepared a draft of his ideas on the Norwegian consular department. He estimates that an appropriation of 100,000 kroner will be required for new office effects. According to his figures the department can be maintained at an expense of 550,000 kroner annually or 100,000 less than it now costs.

OVER THE BALTIC

Long Flight of Three Swedish Aeronauts.

A successful aerial trip over the Baltic sea was recently accomplished by three Swedish aeronauts, Captain Unge, Captain Svedenborg and Engineer Fredrik. They ascended at Stockholm one evening and fourteen and a half hours later descended in a morass a few ferts from Novgorod, Veliki. The balloon had thus traveled 850 kilometers at about forty miles an hour on the average. On the return to Sweden the balloon was immediately purchased by the Swedish Aeronautical society for 6,000 kroner. It has been christened "Svenske."

Captain Unge has made a special study of airships. The Svenske differs in appearance from the ordinary balloon, and has shown itself exceptionally safe. The flight over the Baltic sea was accomplished without any mishap. The wind was strong and varied somewhat, but not until they attempted to land did the navigators have any trouble. The wind at that time was very high and as their ship approached the earth it encountered a thick forest. The car crashed into the trees and was nearly overturned, but this danger was avoided, and a little later the navigators were on firm ground again.

BUMPED NORWAY

Consul General Bordevich Tells of the Illinois Accident.

Consul General Henry Bordevich at Christiania, Norway, has written an entertaining letter to his family at Reville, Minn., concerning the visit of the United States squadron, commanded by Admiral Crowninshield, to Christiania. The cruise ship, the Illinois, neared the shore, she came in contact with "old Norway," as the saying goes over there. The accident, something went wrong with the steering gear as the ship neared the shore. After a four day stay the Illinois left for Chatham, England, where she went to dry-dock. SOLOISTS FOR SANGERFEST

Sweden Will Send Her Greatest Artists to Minneapolis.

Recent Swedish exchanges contain various notices about the engagements of several leading Swedish artists for the sangerfest of the American Union of Swedish Singers to be held in Minneapolis in the summer of 1903. All that is absolutely reliable has already been published in Normannaheimen. Solomon Smith, the oratorio basso, having announced his willingness to attend the song festival, makes his engagement a certainty, as he has been from the first the choice of the members of the American union. Others will be selected, but not until a certain artist of the very highest rank has been secured will any further announcements be made.

For "Valdriener"

Arrangements for the "Valdriener" at Como park, St. Paul, Aug. 31, have been completed. All active at Valdriener and their descendants are invited to meet at the park at 10 o'clock a. m. There will be no special program before noon. At 3 o'clock the formal program will begin. Addresses will be made in Valdriener by Professor John Dahle of St. Paul and Professor A. V. Felt of Iowa university. From society of St. Paul will sing and there will be other music.

Norway's Population.

Norway's population at the beginning of the present year was 2,255,144, or an increase of 12,254 in a year. This is a very small percentage, but note should be made of the fact that emigration from the country numbered 12,745.

Christiania, the capital and metropolis, strange to say, shows a decrease in population of 2,717, but the other cities show an increase of 2,731, and the country districts of 7,722. The decrease in Christiania is doubtless due in some measure to a return of laboring people to the farms, a circumstance which is gratifying, as a there has been complaint of the scarcity of farm help while times have been hard in the capital.

Bethlehem's picnic.

Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran congregation and Sunday school will hold their annual picnic at Spring Park on Sept. 1. A special rate, including a steamerboat tour of the lake, has been made. The special train will leave the union depot over the Great Northern railway at 9 a. m. and will connect with the steamer at Waziatia. The party will reach Spring Park at 12 o'clock. A band of sixteen pieces will accompany the excursion. Tickets for sale by Carl Rangland, 606 Nicollet avenue.

In Wennerberg's Honor.

The Gunner Wennerberg memorial chorus will take up its work for the coming season in the near future. The interest in the high purpose of the chorus has remained unabated since the first concert, and the several organizations composing are anxious to begin rehearsals as soon as possible.

"Svensk enter."

The Swedish Dramatic society will open the new season with a dramatic entertainment at Dania hall Sunday evening, Aug. 31, when three clever farces will be presented. "The Sunday-go-to-meeting Frock Coat," "At the Bookkeepers" and "A Cigar." Miss Emma Nilsson and Richard Rosengren will be seen in the leading roles of all three plays.

In Labor's Field

H. JUST'S ADDRESS

Illinois Man to Speak at the E. & E. Convention.

ARBITRATION'S USES AND ABUSES

Some of the Views of the Speaker on the Above Theme Given.

QUESTIONS FOR CANDIDATES

Minneapolis Union Club Prepares for Campaign.

The members of the Minneapolis Union Club plan to take an active part in the campaign this fall. Much interest was taken at the last meeting of the club in the report of the committee which had prepared a list of questions to be submitted to the various candidates for their approval or rejection. The committee had given considerable study to the questions which cover a large field in which organized labor is interested. The candidates will be asked to say whether they favor day labor as against the contract system, the eight-hour day, the employment of union men in preference to others, the union label on all city and county printing, the establishment of a municipal employment bureau with a union man at the head, street commissioners who are satisfactory to organized labor and who will carry out provisions regarding eight hours, union labor, the adoption of majority rule, and several other equally important questions.

BACK FROM CONVENTION

Returned Delegates From Meeting of Typo Union.

Andrew Henderson and William Cody, the Minneapolis delegates to the national convention of the International Typographical union, at Cincinnati, Ohio, returned to the city this week. They report that the convention was one of the most successful that the union has ever held and that a number of important matters of business were transacted. The next convention will be held in Washington; the 1904 convention will probably be held in St. Louis, while it is likely that the convention for 1895 will be held in the twin cities.

Boot and Shoe Picnic.

The boot and shoe workers have decided to hold a picnic at Taylors Falls. The date has not yet been fixed, but the outing will be held soon.

Among the Boot and Shoe Workers.

C. E. James, business agent of the Twin

City Boot and Shoe Workers, was in the city this week. Mr. James will put in a week or so pushing the organization here.

The Baker's Strike.

The bakers' strike for the abolition of night work is still on and the union has made an appeal asking that friends of union labor refuse to patronize firms affected by the strike. Several shops have granted the union's demands, but about a dozen still hold out against the policy to abandon night work.

Barbers Will Dance.

The barbers' union will give a dance at the A. O. U. W. hall, on Seventh street S., between Nicollet and Hennepin avenues, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 3.

Marshals' Meeting.

A meeting of all the marshals of the Labor Day parade will be held at Alexander's hall Saturday, Aug. 23, at 8 p. m. The meeting is important and every marshal should be present.

THEIR ORDER'S FUTURE

Discussed by Deputy Head Consul of the M. W. A.

This morning's session of the eighth annual school for district deputy head consuls of the Modern Woodmen of America, at Lake Park hotel, closed the meeting. The afternoon was given to a boat ride on Minnetonka. This morning Abb Landis, W. T. Hall and A. E. Bates spoke on the question which has taken the entire time of the school—whether the report of the special head committee on a plan to perpetuate the society is the best that could be formed. W. H. Pendergast, T. Strand, William Markham and Ned C. Kelley spoke on the possibility of retaining the present low death rate.

GAIN IN MINNESOTA G. A. R.

First Year Since 1896 That Shows Increased Membership.

Assistant Adjutant General Orton S. Clark of the department of Minnesota, G. A. R., has presented his annual report as national headquarters showing the first gain since 1895. Between 1895 and 1901 there was a loss of between 300 and 700 members a year. Department Commander Perry Starkweather has made strenuous efforts to get members, who have fallen out to return. The result is that in addition to a gain not a single delinquent post is reported.
