The Mills of Minneapolis Shipped

Out 111,769 Barrels of Flour Yesterday.

Much of It Went to Duluth for Shipment East by Way of the Lakes.

The railroads took 572 carloads of flour out of Minneapolis yesterday. These cars contained 111,769 barrels. This breaks the record for one day's flour shipments from Minneapolis. Some of this was flour loaded up on Sunday night and turned over to the roads on Monday but the bulk represents business loaded and shipped on Monday.

The fact that there is now a good movement on flour to go to the heart of the Great Northern, took out 18,042 barrels. The Wisconsin Central got 8,678 barrels to go principally to eastern points via Manitowish and the Lake Michigan car ferry. While these roads got the bulk of the eastern business the other lines did well. The Milwaukee got 13,450 barrels; the Omaha, 13,745; the Minneapolis & St. Louis, 9,300; and the Chicago & Great Western, 9,347. The Soo road hauled out 4,177 barrels, and the Burlington, 1,860 barrels. The flour going out by the Milwaukee, Omaha, Minneapolis & St. Louis and Burlington roads represents a large portion of business from smaller points and much of this flour is for general distribution along the line.

The prospect is favorable for a heavy flour tonnage for the railroads this fall. Flour stocks in general are light. The Minneapolis mills are grinding well up to their capacity. Shipments have ranged from 70,000 to 90,000 barrels a day. The showing yesterday is seen, therefore, to be remarkable, and gratifying both to millers and freight traffic men.

POLICE CASES SET

Three Appeals Based on Minneapolis Municipal Convictions Set by the Supreme Court.

The October Term Calendar is Called and Important Cases Fixed for Argument.

The supreme court will hear the appeal in the case of Irwin A. Gardner Dec. 5. The case against N. W. King is set for Dec. 8, and John A. Fichette will have his day Nov. 24.

The supreme court met this morning in the hall of the house of representatives, and called the calendar for the October term. Cases were set for hearing of arguments.

The tax case against the Western Union was set for Jan. 13. This is to enforce the payment of $20,000 taxes for 1901. The company protested against an assessment of $1,000,000 and has refused payment of the tax.

Thirteen land cases were submitted for decision to-day. They follow a case decided last spring, which determined the validity of Archbishop Ireland's land grant, as against the claims of the squatters. This has been carried up to the United States supreme court, and the other thirteen cases are kept going until that is decided. John P. O'Connor of St. Paul purchased the land from Archbishop Ireland, is the respondent in all the cases. His attorneys are Senator E. T. Young of Appleton and H. F. Stevens of St. Paul.

PRICE OF A BURGLARY

Harry J. Taylor Sent to State Prison—Two Others Get Reformatory Sentences.

Harry J. Taylor, a colored man, was sentenced by Judge Brooks this morning to the state prison for having burglarized a house at 412 Seventh street S., occupied by Thomas Coleman.

John Wells, who burglarized the house of C. J. Clayton, 572 Sixth avenue N., got a reformatory sentence, the court admonishing him to reform. He is only 18, and his record has been good.

Lindford Kelly, colored, was likewise sent to the reformatory for making an assault upon three white men and slashing them with a razor.

George W. who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing a quantity of clothing from George W. Fowler of 325 Eighth street S. and Frank Loftus, whose criminal career dates back to 1891, and who has admitted that he is guilty of grand larceny, will both be sentenced later.

JURY WILL FIX PRICE

Value of Land for Northrop Field Addition to Be Settled.

How much must the university pay for the little tract of land which adjoins Northrop field and which the regents have decided should be added to the university property? The question will be submitted to a district court jury noon.

The tract in dispute is only 66x165 feet, but the owners refuse to sell. On the property stand two small frame houses.

Appraisers in condemnation proceedings were appointed some time ago, and they fixed the value at about $3,000. From this, however, the owners took an appeal and the matter came up for hearing before Judge Harrison and a jury this morning. The appraisers were Fred E. Barney, E. M. Johnson and Charles L. Sawyer.

NEGLECT OF HIS WIFE

Charge Against John V. E. Wyatt, a Business Man.

John V. E. Wyatt, state manager of the Union Casualty & Surety company, was arraigned before Judge Brooks this morning under an indictment accusing him of abandonment and neglect of his wife. He entered a plea of not guilty and will be tried later. Witnesses are Mrs. Emma Wyatt and Francis Campbell.

THEY WORKED TOO LONG

Chicago, Oct. 7.—A detachment of police and a book and ladder company from the fire department were required to effect the release of six stenographers imprisoned last evening on the fourth floor of the building at 332 Wabash avenue. The stenographers worked late and a janitor closed up.

They Are Evidently Being Looked Into Again by the Grand Jury.

Joseph Cohen and his relation to the game of graft were subjects taken up by the grand jury this afternoon. Outside, awaiting calls, were a number of women who testified in the Ames case that they had paid Cohen money for protection. In another room was Detective Otto Wirtensohn, whose evidence, more than that of any other one witness was responsible for Ames' conviction.

Women Who Testified in the Ames Trial and Otto Wirtensohn Are Subpoenaed.

Wirtensohn swore that he had been sent around by the former chief with Cohen when the latter made his now notorious tour of the district. Other witnesses corroborated him. He, better than any other man, is able to tell the grand jury what it wants to know.

NEW FUNERAL RULE

Undertakers and Livernymen Favor Ministers' Plan to Abolish Sunday Funerals.

Lodges and Fraternal Organizations Might Find Fault—A Ministerial Protest.

The move made by the union ministers yesterday toward abolishing Sunday funerals is widely discussed here, for whom the custom creates or increases Sunday business, viz, the undertakers and livernymen.

"I am glad of the action. If the ministers succeed in doing away with the custom it will give one day in the week to a large class which for years has been unable to distinguish any difference between the so-called rest days and other days. In spite of the fact that undertakers and men employed in cemeteries are supposed to be continually at the beck and call of the public, and in fact, are they are just as much entitled to their Sunday's rest as any other class."

"I hope the ministers will carry the thing through. They can do it if they want to, for the whole matter lies in their hands," said Mr. Landis of the Johnson-Landis undertaking company. "I think it will be better for the community at large as well as for the undertakers and livernymen. And the fraternal organizations would soon be able to adjust themselves to the new order."

"I do not think Sunday funerals will ever be abolished, but I and the men working for me would be more than pleased if the resolution came to something," said A. W. Harwood, proprietor of the Hvery cemetery at 219 Third street S. "For one thing, it's much more convenient to provide a lot of carriages and drivers on Sundays than on week days. The men want one day in the week to spend as they choose, with their families on in recreation. The rigs are even more in demand on Sundays, and most of the people who order them prefer to do the driving themselves. No," concluded Harwood, "we livernymen aren't at all anxious to join the clergy in breaking the Sabbath when it is a question of funerals."

Rev. H. M. Simmons, pastor of the First Unitarian church, holds, on the other hand, that doing away with Sunday funerals will be a distinct imposition on the public. "It is merely a matter of violating the clergy, or inconveniencing the people," said Mr. Simmons. "Certainly, the custom is no desecration of the Sabbath, on the contrary, it is a particularly appropriate one, for the Sunday funeral is wholly a religious service."

WOULD FIRE RUSSELL

Council Committee Said to Favor Such Action—It Will Take a Two-thirds Vote.

Chairman Schoonmaker of the committee which was referred Mayor Jones' communication recommending the dismissal of Commissioner William M. Russell from the board of charities and corrections, has called a meeting of the committee at 10 o'clock this evening.

It is understood that the members of the "Bill" Russell committee, as it is called, are a unit for removing the absent commissioner. It will require eighteen votes, two-thirds of the council, to declare the place vacant. According to law he has long since forfeited his seat with the board of charities and corrections.

THE JUNIOR BALL

It May Be Given by Entire Class—Association May Be Broken up.

The Junior Ball Association of the university, composed of fraternity men and a few invited "barbs," is in danger of being abolished. The pending junior class election is responsible for the clash and the end of the week may see the disbanding of the organization.

Mrs. Potter of the literature department will deliver a course of six lectures on Milton, beginning next Monday evening, in the Park Congregational church of St. Paul.

NO CHINK, NO DRINK A NEW 'BUBBLE' CLUB

How Some Lyndale School District Parents Interpreted Recent Plans to Secure Drinking Water.

The Teachers Wanted to Procure Pure Water and Were Authorized to Ask Contributions.

The failure of the board of education to provide a satisfactory water supply for the school is responsible for misunderstanding and discomfort in the Lyndale school district. The question of drinking water is troublesome in all the schools, but in trying to remedy the evil this school has fallen into other difficulties.

An investigation shows this story to be without foundation, but the situation is one easily misunderstood by the children and the parents liable to be distorted.

Last year, owing to the strong objection made by many of the parents to city water, application was made to the school building with spring water by subscriptions. The board granted the permission to spend as they choose, with their families on in recreation.

In some of the rooms, in the absence of specific instructions, either the teachers or the other children have made those children who did not contribute to the water fund feel that they had no right to the water.

SENATOR GRINDELAND HERE

He Charges His Defeat to the Unexpectedly Large Vote in Beltrami.

Senator Andrew Grindeland, of Warren, is in the city for a few days to visit relatives and incidentally to look after some business. He takes his defeat in the district he gives Beltrami county the credit for defeating him. For some reason, this county cast more republican votes at the primaries than it did two years ago.

Senator Wilson P. Will will address the Fifth Ward Republican club this evening on the constitutional amendments. The club will meet at 8 o'clock in the municipal court room.

INEXPENSIVE.

THE WOMAN whose capacity for style exceeds her capacity in dollars will find the style of a "Dorothy Dodd" shoe gives her foot all the distinction of a custom-measured shoe. "The style of a "Dorothy Dodd" has become proverbial. It is a shoe that preserves the natural outlines of the foot, yet actually makes it look a full size smaller.

No Other Shoe is Designed Like It.

THE PRAIRIE PARK IDEA

It Doesn't Seem to Be Popular With the Park Commissioners of Minneapolis.

A new aesthetic movement for the prairie park having been vigorously combated by President Wheelock of the Board of Park Commissioners, who fears that the promoters of the movement may find park trees too cheap a fuel, the fact may spread to Minneapolis. But the local park board will discourage reformers. The park commissioners believe that a tree is valuable in producing landscape effects. "It sticks up so pleasantly, you know, and it's green most of the time," observed a gentleman whose poetic vocabulary has been impoverished by commerce.

"The matter may be brought up at the next meeting of the board," said Commissioner Harry W. Jones this morning. "We sympathize with the people who can't buy their own wood, and who will probably find it still harder to get fuel later in the season. We know that our maple trees would be well adapted to the parlor stove, and there is nothing like a scrub oak chunk to keep the furnace hot all night."

Commercial Value of a Partner.

Every business firm insures its property against loss by fire and if its proper amount of fire insurance be not carried the firm suffers materially in credit.

Business partners are just beginning to recognize that their firm is in greater need of insurance on the life of its members than of the firm's property. This is true because of three reasons:

First, property is only the creation of life energy and may be replaced if lost. But the members of the firm are creators of its property and if one of them be taken away by death the partner's death withdraws both his capital and his personality.

Second, a loss by fire is merely a possibility. But death is certain. A firm may lose by fire, but it is certain to lose by death of its members unless the life of the firm be very short.

Third, the money expended for fire insurance is a total loss if there be no fire. It is an expense account which, however necessary, will probably bring no return. But a policy on the life of the members is sure to bring a return. Every dollar expended in this way will be realized some time.

The ideal provision for partnership insurance is a policy under the protection of the Massachusetts law in the old STATE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF WORCESTER, MASS. The current cash and paid-up values under the Massachusetts law are such that a firm runs no risk at all in an investment of this kind. Your age and address to any of the undersigned will secure a specimen policy with full particulars.
