Fifth District Meeting Considered per Capita Tax Plan.

At the fifth district federation meeting, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. H. F. Brown, no decision was reached in regard to the 10-cent per capita tax plan proposed for the state federation. There could be no disagreement on the justice and desirability of such a tax, but it was feared that the per capita tax plan without some modification favorable to the large clubs would force them out of the federation, a result that all desired to avoid, as their value is fully appreciated. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. B. Elliott, district vice president for the state federation. It was decided that the district federation needs a manual guide in its deliberations than the present standing rules, and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution, including Mrs. M. B. Lewis, Mrs. W. W. Sykes and R. C. Palmer. The expenses of the presiding officer to the annual state convention in Albert Lea next week were ordered paid from the district treasury. The question of filling the various state offices that will be vacant was discussed, but the only name endorsed was that of Mrs. G. O. Welch as vice president at large, in place of Mrs. W. Mitchell, who has declined to serve longer.

NEARING THE END

A Most Successful G. A. R. Encampment After a Particularly Happy Year.

Gen. Torrance Has Done Much for the Good of the Order—His Work Is Appreciated.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.
Washington, Oct. 8.—The Minnesota visitors have not plans for returning home. After the close of the encampment they will scatter, some going east, some south, some north and some to the middle west before returning home. It is likely that quite a number of them will take in some of the interesting side trips offered by the railroads, and there is talk of a party to Gettysburg, although no plans have been made.
A good deal of talk is being heard in favor of Washington as a permanent encampment city, but this plan is not likely to carry, for as the years multiply the veterans will be less and less able to withstand the physical weariness of the trip, so the encampments must go to them, and to this end they must be held in the several sections of the country from year to year. There is talk also of having no more grand parades, but probably no action looking to abolishing them will be taken this year. The veterans will march in the city and encampment from year to year. The time is not far distant when the annual encampments will be little more than the assembling of a few hundred delegates.
Notwithstanding the large crowd in the city the encampment proper, which assembled to-day, consisted of about 300 delegates. The west generally, including Minnesota, is believed to favor General Black for commander-in-chief. A good deal of opposition to the Vice Commander McElroy of this city, who aspires to succeed General Torrance, is manifested, because of his radicalism. Several Minnesota delegates openly said yesterday that if he were elected and were then to try to carry out the policy advocated by him in the newspapers he would do the Grand Army organization untold damage. In this connection it is worth noting that back upon the record of Judge Torrance who, on Friday, will vacate the position of commander-in-chief. Without desiring to make comparisons of an offensive character, it is a fact that his administration has been one of the most noteworthy in the history of the order. His official trip through the southern states was a triumphal march and both blue and gray did him honor. In England he was received as no commander-in-chief has been received for many years. His fine tact, perfect poise, sound discretion and the qualities of heart and mind which have endeared him to so many people in Minnesota, have appeared to splendid advantage during the past year and he has left an impression upon the high officials which is decidedly for the good. This has been one of the few years in the history of the Grand Army when there has been no friction, no internal dissensions and bitterness. His general attitude towards the confederate veterans and particularly his effort to secure northern aid in the building of homes for them has done much to obliterate sectional lines and the south-to-day feel friendly towards the north than ever it has felt as a result. His policy towards the south in an important sense supplemented the southern policy of President McKinley. It is worthy of note that the chief of the Grand Army who has in full measure the respect and love of those who were the gray. We in Washington are by no means the folks at home and it seems very fitting now, as Judge Torrance is about to make way for a successor, that his friends and neighbors should have just this brief word of commendation for the year now closing.

A Badge for Captain Collins.

The members of E. B. Wolcott post, No. 1, Milwaukee, presented last evening to Captain John W. Collins of the revenue cutter service of this city, a beautiful badge. The presentation was made at the headquarters of Wolcott post, Raleigh hotel, the speech being made by Commander D. W. Howie. It was a solid gold badge with the seal of Wisconsin as a pendant. On the back is an appropriate inscription. Captain Collins has been a member of Wolcott post since 1885. Among those present were Past Commander-in-chief A. G. Weisert, who presided, and the following: the national encampment was in Washington; Past Commander-in-chief of the Naval Veterans Daniel N. Kelly; Aide-de-Camp Louis Sholes, and many comrades of Wolcott post.

THE MINNESOTANS CHEERED

Their Ranks Yesterday Were In Strong Contrast to Other States.
Washington, Oct. 8.—The Minnesotans, headed by Department Commander Perry Starckweather, excited the most popular applause along the line of march. They were uniformly dressed in their contrast with the nondescript appearance of thousands of the veteran marchers. The lines of the Minnesotans were firm and compact, instead of general and unsteady, as with most of the commands. A veteran from the state carried a banner which elicited much applause. It bore the inscription, "Bread and Butter State." The E. B. Wolcott post of Minneapolis reflected much credit on the state.
The numerical strength of the South Dakota command was a matter of general comment among old-time visitors to G. A. R. encampments. At least 200 men were in line. This contingent attracted attention on account of the unique mimic rifle carried, consisting of a long which was surmounted a luxuriant ear of South Dakota corn.
The North Dakota command carried a cane made of wheat and a bouquet of the cereal in the lapels of their coats. The command was led by J. H. Briggs of Wahpeton, a veteran 84 years of age, who was gorgeously attired in the familiar Uncle Sam costume.
For several hours last night General Torrance received the ladies of the various organizations auxiliary to the Grand Army. The reception took place in Convention hall and during the evening many thousands of handsomely gowned women filed past the commander-in-chief and bade him a cordial greeting. Music was rendered by the United States Marine band and by the George W. Cooke drum corps of Denver.
A pleasing incident in connection with the reception was the presentation by General A. Noy Blakeman, on behalf of General Torrance's staff, of a handsome gold watch to the general and a diamond ring to Mrs. Torrance.

SCHACHT IN THE LINEUP

Varsity Team Has Open Practice Are at Halves.

Varsity rosters saw the football squad practice yesterday afternoon for the first time this week, but they, or any scouts from other colleges who may have been on hand, learned little more about the strength of the team than they knew before. Knowlton, Bidlake, Davies, Harris, the entire back field as it has been played in the last two games, were out of the line-up, and Flynn and Rogers also were missed from the first team. Van Valkenburg played at half, with O'Brien on the other side, but O'Brien's knee still bothers him, and he was forced to quit after a few minutes' play.
Schacht was back at tackle, and Gray played quarter, running the team in fine style. He got the men away fast, and was strong on running back punts and kick-offs. Bergen and Boeckmann played the ends, but their work was decidedly below the standard.
The work was snappy, and some improvement was noted in the interference. The defensive work of the first squad was good, also.

NEW BOAT WILL BE FAST

Sir Thomas Lipton Says Shamrock III. Will Be Much Speedier Than Her Predecessors.

A correspondent interviewed Sir Thomas Lipton in London yesterday afternoon in regard to the latest change for America's cup. Sir Thomas was in a cheerful mood and in reply to a number of questions made the following statement:
"We have dispatched a challenge for a race for America's cup in 1908, in behalf of the Royal Yacht Club, against the White Star liner Oceanic, which sailed for New York yesterday. I have definitely proposed a date and given indications in the case of boat I purpose building for Shamrock III, but I cannot disclose the details until they have been received by the New York Yacht Club.
"Until they are accepted nothing will be done, but as soon as the New York Yacht Club gives notice of the acceptance of the challenge we will start to work, both designing and building. Although there is little doubt that the designers have got a portion of their plans laid.
"We expect to make great improvements on Shamrock III. I cannot disclose our intentions to our opponents, but the new challenger will not be clothed in the same material that made Shamrock II. She will be made of steel. Those men (the designers) would not design a new boat unless they were sure they could improve on the old one."

SPINE TROUBLE

OFTTIMES THE DIRECT CAUSE OF Nervous Prostration.

Bone-Setter, at Hudson, Wis., Quickly Relieves and Permanently Cures This Fearful Condition.

COLD, NERVOUS AND MISERABLE WOMEN

"A number of the best doctors said that I was suffering from Nervous Prostration, but could do nothing for me; I was miserable, and a wreck, with no hope of recovery. The Bone-Setter cured me, and now I am a New Woman."—Mrs. ESTHER MAXON, Winthrop, Minn.

Middle-aged women, and those well advanced in years, who are weak, very nervous, cold all the time, mind flighty, with severe spells at times, unable to concentrate their thoughts or to put what they think in connected words, so as to convey what they mean; poor rest at night; poor appetite; no ambition; loss of energy; despondent at times; eyesight blurs, dizzy spells; difficulty in walking or steadying themselves when walking; unable to sit still or remain quiet any length of time; restless, listless, with no interest in anything; increased heart action; seized with a fearful feeling, expecting the worst to happen; a mental disturbance that borders on insanity.

A critical examination of these cases reveals the spine to be the seat of trouble. For the spine is the great center of the nervous system and the controlling factor of the brain. Such a condition may be produced by a jar, a fall, a wrench, or any depleting trouble, as La Grippe, or some other enervating disease which attacks principally the nervous system and brain action.

The Bone-Setter's success in quickly relieving and permanently curing this complicated trouble, is simply phenomenal, and that after all medicines, electricity, massage and other methods of treatment have utterly failed.

He so operates upon the spine, with his bare hands, as to at once reach and remove the cause which produces the trouble from which you suffer, as indicated by the symptoms here stated, and that without the least pain or inconvenience to the patient.

His work is simply the wonder of this age, and patients are coming to him from every section of the union. Long distance telephone in the office; Northwestern, call "Hudson, 130," and talk to the Bone-Setter. In writing enclose stamp. Address, Bone-Setter, Hudson, Wisconsin, and mention The Minneapolis Journal.
