

THE WOES OF CUBA

Every Cuban Seems to Think a Republic Should Mean a Good Job for Him.

About 14,000 Men Are Now Without Work at Santiago and Trouble Is Feared.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 44, Post Building, Washington, Oct. 18.—Recent advices from the island of Cuba declaring that distress exists there, are viewed to-day by Major George M. Barbour, for four months after the American occupation, as a commission in charge of Santiago and neighboring towns. He had recently received a letter from a Santiago merchant saying that 14,000 men were out of work in that city. In the course of a conversation the major was of the opinion that the Cuban government is without funds when the Yankees had money to burn.

In discussing sanitary conditions Major Barbour said the Cuban authorities were relaxing their vigilance in that direction every day and he could not but foresee a return to the deplorable state existing under the Spanish regime. Senior Meana, a prominent planter of Santiago province, wrote to the major a short time ago asserting that since the municipality of Santiago had charge of sanitary conditions the work had been neglected and the decline and from the writer's view it would only be a short time when the work would cease altogether.

"How soon it was added the senior pathetically, "when we started to miss the Americans."

"The Cubans are a most impracticable lot of people," remarked Major Barbour, "and every one of them has a different idea of what constitutes a republic, each man believing himself right and his fellow wrong. They are a people who, on one point, however, they think the basic principle of a republic is to provide every citizen with a job at a large salary with very little work. There is no doubt in my mind, however, that the land conditions in Cuba are responsible for the unsettled conditions there. Most of the land is controlled by absentee Spanish landlords, who have divided it into small holdings. It would work a wonderful change in the Cuban people. In this direction I favor the suggestion made by the representative Newlands that such a step be taken, and we would have the same happy result that was obtained in Ireland when the English government instituted a procedure, granting holdings to the Irish tenants on long time at a low rate of interest."

Major Barbour said when representative Newlands introduced his resolution in the house of representatives inviting Cuba to become a part of the United States it resulted in a division of sentiment in the island. "On one side," explained the major, "we had the politicians and a large negro following bitterly against annexation, while the men of property, the real business element of the island, heartily favored it, for they are absolutely without faith in the stability of the Cuban republic. As for the negroes ignorant and superstitious, they are, the politicians preyed on their credulity, in telling them that annexation to this country meant nothing but slavery for them, terrorizing them with stories of negro lynchings in the United States. That the present administration of Cuba with a few exceptions is a collection of honest politicians is Major Barbour's belief. He considers President Palma an honest man but a dreamer unable to cope with the serious problems confronting him. "It is means well," observed the major, "but you must remember that he was away from Cuba for twenty-six years and the conditions that prevailed a quarter of a century ago are not the ones that prevail to-day. You can not form an idea of the character of the Cuban congress when I tell you that only seven members of the lower house pay taxes."

Major Barbour said that the late Mr. Bryan and Senator Mason for the roseate oratory they indulged in when visiting Havana.

"Bryan and Mason," said the major, "gave the Cubans a whole lot of splendid eloquence in telling them how they were the best equipped people on earth for a republic. They said that something the Cubans had in their hearts was not true, for the average Cuban not only disbelieves his fellowman but he has no belief in himself and this sort of an inferiority does not constitute the stuff of which successful republics are made. The Cuban's idea can be summed up in a few words so far as the Cuban's attitude toward the United States is concerned. He desires a far position without work and insists that his individuality shall prevail over that of all others."

MILLER FOR PRESIDENT

New Officers of the State B. Y. P. U.—Baptist Convention at Owatonna Adjourned.

Owatonna, Minn., Oct. 18.—The annual convention of the Baptists of the state was brought to a close last evening. At the afternoon session of the B. Y. P. U. officers were elected as follows: President, C. J. Miller, Minneapolis; vice presidents, Rev. W. T. Spriggs, Park Rapids; Rev. S. C. Davis, Duluth; Fred Brinkman, Montevideo; secretary, Rev. C. C. Markham; junior leader, Miss Margaret Hanson, Owatonna; board of managers, U. T. Meers, Curran.

The principal business at the Young People's session was the presentation of the report by the junior leader, Miss Margaret Hanson of Owatonna. Forty-five churches in the association have junior unions with a total membership of about 1,000.

The greatest interest was in the B. Y. P. U. of the Tabernacle church of Minneapolis, which added twelve new members, and the largest union is the Immanuel church of St. Paul, with a membership of seventy-eight.

New unions were established during the year at Money Creek, Northfield, Winona, Blooming Prairie, Brainerd, Granite Falls and Richfield.

The report of the state convention treasurer showed that the total receipts for the year were in round numbers $15,000 and the expenditures $14,000, leaving a deficit of about $1,000. This deficit was more than made up by the collection taken at a previous session of the convention.

ENGLAND ALSO COMPLAINS
She Is Also Made a Dumping Ground for Paupers.

London, Oct. 18.—Major Evans-Gordon, M. P., a member of the royal commission on alien immigration, who has just returned from a two months' visit to Russia, Poland, Galicia and Roumania, where he has been studying the cause underlying the Jewish exodus thence, speaking to a representative of the Associated Press, said to-day:

"The whole question is one of vital interest to England and no less so to the United States."

"Secretary Hay's Roumanian note admirably expresses the reasonable attitude of the United States towards immigration generally. It is perfectly just statement of the responsibility of the Roumanian government for the exodus of Jews from that country and it will have moral if not concrete results. I do not think, however, that the Roumanian is the most vital question to the United States. The Russian question is a more serious problem for America, both as regards number and the class of people involved. Roumania has only about 250,000 Jews, while Warsaw alone probably has a Jewish population of 400,000.

"As a private individual, there is no doubt in my mind that sooner or later England will have to adopt restrictive legislation of some sort."

"Apart from the Jewish side of the question, I believe it will be found that England is being made and has long been made a dumping ground not only for paupers but for the criminals and undesirable persons of all European countries and other continental cities told me frankly that when they want to export a suspected person against whom there is sufficient evidence to secure a conviction, they send him to England; it is so much nearer and cheaper than America and there are absolutely no restrictions upon his landing. Of course America gets numerically a large share of European emigrants, but considering America's vastly larger area and population, the United Kingdom is much the worse off."

"THE AMERICAN MULE"
The English Blue Book Cannot Find a Fault in Him.

London, Oct. 18.—A blue book has been issued containing a detailed report of the officers appointed by the commander-in-chief of the army to inquire into the working of the remount department. The report states that the arrangements of the department and of the class of animals purchased.

Dealing with the case of Captain Smith, who was attached to the purchasing committee at New Orleans, the report finds that Captain Smith received a commission on every animal he purchased, that many of the mules bought by him were absolutely unfit and useless, and that he was guilty of malpractice and brought the greatest discredit upon the department.

The report also finds that Captain E. R. Mandley and Veterinary Surgeon Hayes behaved with extreme impropriety in purchasing for their own use and shipping to England horses brought up for inspection as remounts and which actually had been branded. The report says regarding American mules:

"In our opinion nothing approaches them except the gun mules of the mountain batteries and the mules of the army. Of horses, the officers say:

"Judging them as a class, we think there is the very best of the infantry horses. With time and training the American horse would turn out to be the ideal horse for mounted infantry or to carry light cavalry without equipment."

The report considers that the dealers at first made undue profits, but this was not so at the latter stages. It further says the officers can conceive the possibility of Chicago's becoming a very valuable center for remounts. Dealing with Canada, the report says the Dominion does not appear to be able to furnish a very large number of horses, and that the supply is not likely to increase unless breeders in that country are stimulated by a steady, permanent demand for army horses, and unless suitably selected stallions are introduced.

NEWFOUNDLAND AND THE U. S.
London, Oct. 18.—A dispatch to the Times from St. Johns says that Sir Robert Bond, minister of Newfoundland, has concluded a treaty with the Washington government on the most advantageous terms. The treaty provides for the admission of Newfoundland products into the United States duty free. It is feared that Canada will use every means to prevent the treaty from being signed.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

All Correspondence Is Sacredly Confidential

This is a very important consideration in a woman's correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. It is a great satisfaction to feel that one woman can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, — a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and with a knowledge of woman's ills greater than that possessed by any other person.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence thus entrusted to her, and although she publishes thousands of testimonials from women who have been benefited by her advice and medicine, never in all her experience has she published such a letter without the full consent, and often by special request of the writer.

The reason Mrs. Pinkham is so amply qualified to give advice in cases of female ills is for the reason that over one hundred thousand cases come before her each year, — some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day, and after day. Twenty years of constant success, — think of the knowledge thus gained. Surely, women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

As an illustration of the good coming from such advice we herewith publish two letters and portrait of Miss Hattie DeGroat, the reading of which should give every sick woman confidence in Mrs. Pinkham's ability to help them. This is only one of thousands of the same kind of letters which Mrs. Pinkham has on file.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I have read with interest your advice to others so much that I would write to you, for I have been suffering for a long time. I have such bearing-down pains, and such shooting pains go through me. I have headache, backache, and feel tired. Menstruation is very painful, sometimes have to stop work and lie down. My stomach bloats terribly, and I am troubled with whites. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,
July 24th, 1900. MISS HATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I can hardly find words to thank you for your advice and wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was in a terrible state, every part of my body ached, was very nervous, had hysterical spells. I think I would have become insane had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Your letter told me just what to do, and your medicine cured me, and I can not express my thanks."
March 8th, 1901. MISS HATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unequalled endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as such hosts of grateful friends. Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who suggests something else has no interest in your case. He is seeking a larger profit. Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that the thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

RIPANS A POOR RHEUMATIC

He Will Dose His Poor Weak Stomach With Drugs, Hoping Year After Year to Find a Drug Which Will Cure Him, But in Vain.

Oh! the grinding, nerve-rasping pain! the tender, aching muscles, the swollen, burning joints, the stiffness, the soreness.

"Oh, Rheumatism, ye thousand devils, how gladly would I part with you." And he swallows a drug, which the devils like, and the Rheumatism marks him for his own. He becomes a chronic drug after a while, and you can tell him by the knots in his hands.

It's No Use Swallowing Drugs for Rheumatism. They Can't Cure It.

C. Oelingo of 10732 Indiana Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Having used one of your Electric Belts three weeks for Rheumatism it is needless to say that I am a cured man today. I was troubled so bad that I could hardly get out of bed. The pain was in my right leg and in my back. For days I would not leave the house because I couldn't."

You can cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. Now you know that the cause is the failure of the kidneys to filter the blood. The kidneys are weak. They need strength, and they can get that only from my Electric Belt. You could take all the drugs that were ever made and they would not give your kidneys one ounce of strength.

Gray Hair a Crime?

Thousands of men and women are turned out of positions and many fail to secure situations because their gray hairs make them look old. This need not be.

Hay's Hair-Health makes age halt and keeps thousands in employment because it takes years from their apparent age. HAIR-HEALTH will positively restore gray, faded or bleached hair to its youthful color. It is not a dye. Its use cannot be detected. Equally good for men and women.

Centimen.—At forty my hair and mustache began turning gray. A friend on my road lost his place because his gray hair made him look older than he was. Profiting by his experience, I began using Hay's Hair-Health, with the result that I have the same dark-brown curly hair that I had at 22. Have held my position, although many younger men, whose only fault was their gray hair, have been dismissed. I thank you for my position.
