THE D. A. R. LUNCHEON

An Elegant Social Function Which Followed the State Conference.

The luncheon that followed the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution on Saturday at Westminster church, was a most attractive affair that reflected much credit upon the three local chapters which were hostesses.

Each chapter had a group of tables with a hostess at each to represent the chapter as follows: Mmes. John Bigelow, W. H. Dunwoody, Frederick Payne, James T. Morris, John Washburn and J. W. Wetherby, for colonial chapter; Mmes. Fred. A. Moore, a past state win, O. E. Shepley, C. W. Keyes and A. J. Brant, for Minneapolis chapter; and Mmes. H. E. Ladd and C. M. Shove and Mrs. Rietine, Monument chapter. The serving was in charge of a committee of six, Mrs. J. E. Bell, Mrs. Elue Hodgson, J. F. Flather, Mrs. J. E. Mooney, Mrs. J. Harnden and Mrs. O. S. Chapman, assisted by thirty-six young women.

The tables radiated from a large round table at which the guest of honor, Mrs. C. W. Fairbanks, president general, was seated, with the state regent, Mrs. F. A. Rising, Mrs. D. A. Moore, a past state regent, Mrs. Jerusha Brown, a real daughter from St. Paul chapter, and the chapter regents present.

The regent's table was decorated with a broad, shallow, circular basket filled with red carnations and delicate ferns, the tall handle being wound with deep blue ribbon and white tulle. This was surrounded by a circle of silver, long stalks bearing white tapers. The long tables were adorned with vases of roses and carnations and lighted with candles; at each place a tiny American flag stood erect. Roster's orchestra played during the luncheon and the reception for Mrs. Fairbanks which followed. The joint chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Kimball and Mrs. William Bigelow of Colonial chapter.

Mrs. F. A. Rising, in her greeting at the preceding conference, referred to the membership of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Minnesota as being 700 in Minnesota and more than half of that number were present at the conference and luncheon. From the regent's table she made a statement that it is very general custom among the Minnesota chapters to offer prizes to the schools for essays on patriotic subjects whose purpose is to stimulate the growth of patriotism in the youth. Colonial chapter of Minneapolis carries on extensive educational work through the college settlements and missions and gives annually ten prize flags to the public schools. Others doing a similar work are Ferguson Falls, Winona, Fairbault, and Nathan Hale chapters.

The Daughters of Liberty chapter of Duluth has expended $200 in the purchase of a room in St. Luke's hospital and Minneapolis chapter has furnished a room in the Jones-Harrison home for old women, as a memorial to its "real" daughter, the late Mrs. Mary McDonald. Minneapolis chapter has also added a second library to its traveling collection on American history donated to the Minnesota Library commission and charter Oct. 15. Fairbault has made donations to the town library. St. Paul chapter gives regularly $25 a year for the Continental hall fund and also half of the dues of its members, which amounted last year to another $25. Daughters of Liberty chapter has a "real" daughter, Mrs. Anna Cook Hammond, aged 102 years, the mother of Mrs. W. B. Leach, a Minneapolis resident and grandmother of Mrs. Victor Stearns, a member of the Duluth chapter. St. Paul has a real daughter, Mrs. Jerusha Brown, and Winona chapter carries every year a list of the Revolutionary soldiers in Minnesota is in Winona, and during the last year it has been supplied with a marker, the chapter conducting the exercises when it was put in place. On this occasion the wreath was laid on the grave by one of the "real" daughters.

Mrs. E. R. Sanford of St. Paul chapter said that she did not enter every year that her chapter was acting as a matronial bureau, but that during the year two Episcopal rectors had chosen help-meets from its membership and she was willing to vouch for the fact that there is good material left.

University Woman's League. All of the girls of the university were entertained at a reception given by the woman's league in the armory this afternoon. The league was organized two years ago to establish and promote a personal relation between the college girls and the women of the faculty and two general receptions are given during the year, one in the fall and the second in March. The members are divided into groups, which are entertained every six weeks informally and two senior girls and one woman from the faculty have charge of the entertainment of each group. Miss Laura Robb is president of the league.

The armory was prettily decorated for the affair and the corners in which the patronesses received were made attractive by different business firms.

In one of the corners decorated by Boutell's the national colors were used. The New Store arranged an oriental nook and the stage setting was placed by the Minneapolis Dry Goods company and represented an artistic oriental room. The general reception group included Misses Robb, Ursula James, Ada Comstock, Miss Firkins, Mmes. J. W. Downey and B. White of the advisory board. The senior girls assisted informally through the hall and a group of junior girls presided at the frappe tables. From 4 until 5 o'clock an interesting program was given. Miss Ethel Works, pianist; Miss Amy Cook, violinist, and Miss Fannie Vincent of St. Paul, vocalist. Professor F. S. James gave a talk and Misses Grace Den-

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMIC WORKERS

The tenth annual meeting of the National Household Economic association will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Milwaukee.

The association was formed in Chicago during the world's fair, and its object is to promote scientific study with relation to its practical application along economic and hygienic lines in the home and its environment.

Friday morning officers will be elected and the reports of the state vice-presidents will be given. In the afternoon there will be talks by noted workers, and in the evening Mrs. May Wright Sewell of Indianapolis will speak on "How Classification and Kitchen Skill May Be Combined."

The members of the Clio club were entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith of the agricultural school at St. Anthony Park will speak on "The Home as a Factor in Civic Life."

Others who will appear in the program are Mrs. Alice Peloubet Norton, Chicago university, and L. H. Harvey, superintendent of public instruction of Wisconsin. Thursday evening there will be a reception under the auspices of the Social Economics' club of Milwaukee.

After luncheon the regular program was given and talks on subjects under the general topic, "England," were presented by Mmes. John Taylor, H. A. Kernan, C. G. C. W. Keyes, J. K. Wetherby and A. J. Williamson.

The Young Women's Missionary societies of the Presbyterian churches of St. Paul and Minneapolis will hold their annual meeting in Stillwater, Saturday. The members will leave Hennepin and Sixth streets at 8 a. m., or the Milwaukee station at 8:15 a. m. A basket lunch will be served at noon.

Exhibition Net Representative. The Woman's Exhibition under the auspices of the Professional Women's League, which held forth for two weeks in Madison Square Garden, New York, was an unqualified success, a fact patent both to league members and to outsiders.

The Ladies' Social circle of Westminster church will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at 1410 Yale place, for a thimble bee and to transact the annual business.

The Women's League will hold a parents' meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Carlson, 2810 Fifth avenue S. Dr. Mary Wiestone will speak on "Hereditry."

Furs and Fur Garments. Best at the Plymouth Clothing House.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE. A musical and literary entertainment will be given in Wesley church, Friday evening, at the auspices of the Epworth League. The program was arranged by Mrs. W. H. Cooke, and included readings by Miss Rosa of Emerson college, Boston, and Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Stockell of Hamline university and Mrs. E. E. Smith; instrumental numbers, Miss Grace Tilton, and a character sketch of ten famous women in costume by members of the league.

Tschakowsky's setting of Goethe's "Der Schwan" and Schumann's "Du bist wie eine Blume" were sung at the regular Sunday morning service in the First Unitarian church yesterday by Miss Marion Lindsey. A violin obligato to the Tschakowsky was played by Miss Golden. Two movements of one of Mozart's earlier string quartets were also played.

TWO-STEP BY NED ABBOTT. Minneapolis musical circles are interested in a two-step recently composed and published by Ned B. Abbott, son of E. T. Abbott of Minneapolis, the well-known club singer. The two-step is entitled "Princess Butterfly," and unlike most of the latter-day two-steps it has the merit of improving with acquaintance. The two-step is original and originality in the composition that marks it as out of the ordinary.
