

DR. CAYLEY IS DEAD

Medical Science Could Not Save the Butte Man Attacked by Editor Kelley.

Mme. La Bonte Will if Caught Be Jointly Charged With Murder of the Doctor.

Special to The Journal. Butte, Mont., Oct. 25.—After lingering for twelve days between life and death Dr. Henry A. Cayley, who, it is alleged, was shot by Editor J. W. Kelley, of the Inter Mountain, died at St. James hospital yesterday. Cayley, who has been confined in the county jail for some time, must now face a charge of murder in the first degree, conviction of which means death in this state.

Madame La Bonte, the French dressmaker in the case, thus far has succeeded in eluding the officers although she is believed to be hiding somewhere in the east. If apprehended, she will be jointly charged with the killing of Cayley. Editor Kelley when seen in his cell by a Journal representative, refused to make any statement other than declaring that when the story is known it will put a very different face upon the matter. As to many conflicting stories Kelley maintained a studied reticence.

At an autopsy it was determined beyond a doubt that Cayley received his death wound while he lay in bed. A bullet, twisted out of shape from the bones it had hit, was taken from the region near the shoulder.

The indignation prevails among the members of the French Canadian Institute, a powerful body in this city, against Kelley and a popular subscription is on to secure funds with which to conduct an investigation. For a time, because of the seeming indifference of the officers, open threats were made to lynch Kelley.

Cayley's body is now lying in state in the rooms of the Canadian French Institute, the death chamber being simply a mass of flowers. Cayley was a prominent lodge man, belonging to about a dozen different orders, all of which have announced they will participate in his funeral on Sunday. He leaves a wife in Butte and mother in Montreal.

YONSON, YENSEN, HANSEN

They Have an Exciting Time Reaching America, but Manage to Dodge In.

New York, Oct. 25.—Three stowaways—William Johnson of Cardiff, Isaac Jensen and Oscar Hansen, the latter two of Christiania, have landed in New York, despite the immigrant officials who were bent on shipping them back to Norway and Sweden. They came over on the steamer Oscar I. and Johnson broke the record for ingenuity in hiding himself away by crawling into a coffin, where he remained for several hours. The three men stowed away on the Oscar I. the night before the steamer sailed. On the second day out all were discovered by an officer. They were haled before the captain, who set them to work in the stoke hole. There they heard startling stories of the fate that awaited stowaways when they arrived in New York. It was too much for Johnson. He turned that a steerage passenger, Hilmar Lundgren, had died and that his body had been enclosed in a pine box to be brought to port. Johnson saw his opportunity and, going down into the hold, he crawled into the coffin. He replaced the top so carefully that the nails fitted in the grooves from which he had wrenched them. Twenty-four hours later he was dragged out, after the ship had been searched from stem to stern. He was half famished and badly frightened, but with his companions he managed to dodge about the depot on Ellis Island into the booth for admitted immigrants and so reached shore.

THE CUT IN WAGES

How It Was Brought About in the Tin Trade. Pittsburgh, Oct. 25.—Officials of the American Tinplate company and a conference committee of the Amalgamated association have adopted an agreement that will allow the American Tinplate company to bid on the tinplate orders of the Standard Oil company, now being supplied by the Western manufacturers. The workers offered a concession of a 3 per cent reduction from their wages under the following terms:

The most men should be paid the full rate as at present; that the 3 per cent reduction shall be set aside by the company and placed in the hands of a special fund; that out of this fund the Amalgamated Association shall pay back to the American Tinplate company a sum equal to 25 per cent of the cost of the manufacture of all plates that are sold to the Standard Oil company or any other concern now using the rebate on Welsh tin when it is exported in made-up form. This will provide for the contingency that has caused all the efforts to get a lower wage rate. The 3 per cent will be deducted from the wages of all men and all mills alike, and the total amount, it is estimated, will more than make up the 25 per cent difference required for the 1,500,000 boxes that the Standard Oil company will require at the lower price. The agreement will last as long as the present wage agreement is in force. It will be extended to the manufacturers generally and is not to be confined to the American Tinplate company.

"FREE EVERYTHING"

Mr. McCleary Turns His X-Ray on "Free Lumber" in His Pipe-stone Speech.

Plan of the Democrats, Like Cobden's, Is to "Divide and Conquer," He Says.

Special to The Journal. Pipestone, Minn., Oct. 25.—Congressman McCleary addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting here last night. He paid warm tribute to Governor Van Sant as a man who "believes that it is the duty of a governor to execute the law as he finds it." One subject that Mr. McCleary discussed with special satisfaction to all, even the democrats, was the "free lumber" matter. He told how, some weeks ago, he had sent to his counsel in Winnipeg, W. H. Gowan, a copy of Bulletin numbered 126, issued by the United States department of agriculture, on farm buildings, with the request that the counsel get from the lumber yards of Winnipeg bids for furnishing the bill of lumber given in detail on pages 39 and 40 of the bulletin, the lumber being that required in the construction of a certain barn described in the bulletin. The best bid that the counsel could get in Winnipeg was $528.90.

Mr. McCleary also sent the same bulletin to every county seat in the second district, with the request for bids from the local lumber yards on the same bill of lumber. In order that the bids in all cases should be on a parity, Mr. McCleary asked those to whom he wrote to get the bid in good faith, as if asked for by a bona fide purchaser living in the vicinity, who was desirous of knowing how much the lumber would cost. The bids in the second district varied from $400 to $450. Even the highest bid in the second district was $78.90 lower than the lowest bid in the first district.

Mr. McCleary showed that there is no lumber produced in Canada anywhere near Minnesota, the land in Canada north of Minnesota and Dakota being prairie, so that we cannot hope to get cheaper lumber from Canada than we get from Minnesota lumbermen. He also showed plainly that "free lumber" will not preserve our pine forests. Those forests, he said, belong either to the government or to private individuals or corporations. If the forests yet remaining in the possession of the government, they can be conserved through administrative orders of the interior department under proper legislation for the purpose, all of which is wholly unrelated to the tariff. If the timber belongs to individuals or corporations, it would be cut into lumber and sold, because that was what it was bought for. The tariff would have nothing to do with this result.

Mr. McCleary showed that there is much lumber shipped from eastern Canada into New York, Pennsylvania and other eastern states. The supplies of that section, however, is chiefly drawn from Michigan, Wisconsin and "the head of the lakes." To that the price of the eastern states is fixed by this supply from our lumber states. As a result, the $2 tariff on Canadian lumber is paid by the Canadian lumberman and goes into the United States treasury. For example, if it were "free" lumber would be permitted the Canadian lumberman to keep that tariff money instead of turning it into our national treasury. This subject was Mr. McCleary's best point on this subject was his revelation of the "true inwardness" of this democratic cry for free lumber. He showed that it was simply a part of the general scheme of the democratic leaders to overturn the protective tariff system under which we have prospered so greatly, so that democracy may have some show to win in 1904. "On this point Mr. McCleary said: "The plan is to 'divide and conquer,' as advised by Cobden, the English free trader. That is, the democratic leaders, fearing to make an open battle on the subject of the tariff, are trying to undermine the Dingy law by attacking it in detail and adapting their arguments to local conditions. For example, in New England they are trying to get congressmen committed to 'free hides,' in Connecticut and elsewhere to 'free wool,' in the large cities, where they are workingmen to appeal to, to 'free food products,' and on the prairies of the west to 'free lumber.'"

What would be the result if any republican congressman were so blind as to allow himself to get committed to any of these things? Why, he would, in order to do anything along the line of his pledge, be compelled to cooperate with all the other men who have similar pledges. That is, the man pledged to free lumber would have to work with the men pledged to free wool and with the man pledged to free hides and with other men pledged to free food products. And all of them would have to throw themselves into the arms of the democratic leader, for free everything. That is the man pledged to free lumber would be practically pledged to free everything, and would thus be bound hand and foot and required to work against the really great and important interests of his constituents."

When Mr. McCleary got through, there was not enough left of the "free lumber" plank of the democracy to make a toothpick.

THE PACE THAT KILLS

Look at that man, if he may be called such. He may not be sick, yet he is unfit for work, study, business or marriage. He is bilious, melancholy, dull minded and easily confused. His liver is torpid, kidneys weak, back lame, circulation sluggish, digestion bad and appetite poor. He feels run down, is easily tired and has frequent headaches. That is what he talks about, and he has troubles of a different nature. THAT IS WHAT HE DOES NOT TALK ABOUT, NOT EVEN TO HIS FAMILY PHYSICIAN. He goes to him with the first set of symptoms and may get temporary relief. But the later set, from which the former arises, he keeps to himself, an awful load on his mind and barrier to his happiness. He suffers in secret silence, brooding over his condition. In the meantime he cannot control his actions. His feeble power gives way to unnatural thought. His wanton cravings increase as his ability decreases. Finally both sets of symptoms grow worse and he gets weak and begins to lose weight.

There is help for all and a perfect cure, too, if you will promptly secure the services of a learned specialist; one who can tell you more about your exact condition at one consultation than any ordinary physician can after many weeks of fruitless treatment; one who will make out of you a man with a man's pride, a man's power and a man's privileges. Dr. Cole is true to his profession, devoted to the sick, and infallible in his treatment. He has called back thousands from the shadow of the tomb. For those who seek his counsel and helping hand the best is none too good, and his motto is TO GIVE MORE THAN HE IS PAID FOR. Dr. Cole not only restores strength and removes every symptom of weakness in young, middle-aged and old men, but he cures Varicose, Hydrocele, Enlarged Prostate, Blood Poison, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases, and skillfully treats, speedily and permanently cures, infectious, secret, private diseases, not essential to here enumerate, the same being well understood. CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE. Our treatment at home is a great success. One personal visit is preferred, but the fact that you are out of town and cannot call need not deprive you of service. If you cannot call, write and receive full particulars, mode of treatment, prices, terms, etc. These will be mailed to you free of cost. Ask for Symptom Blanks.
