W. Q. JUDGE IN 'SPOTS'

His Spirit in Mrs. Tingley's Spaniel Dog Directs a Theosophical Movement.

Cuban Children for Kittie Tingley's School Are Excluded From the United States.

New York, Nov. 8.—The shroud of mystery enveloping Mrs. Kittie Tingley and her dog school at Point Loma, Cal., was a pretty well ventilated garment when the board of special inquiry closed a three hours session at Ellis Island yesterday.

Mrs. Tingley's universal brotherhood lawyers abandoned the case before the board. At the conclusion of the testimony the board of inquiry decided at once and unanimously that the children should be excluded from the United States.

Mr. Davis of the Gerry society read a letter from Henry J. Bohn, a publisher of Chicago, in which the writer recited at length details of the case of the wife of John J. Bohn with the teachings of Mrs. Tingley, an infatuation which led her to abandon her husband and take her children to the Point Loma school.

At Newburyport, Mass., Mrs. Tingley's native place, Mr. Parker said he learned that she had broken up at least one family. He was there informed also that she brought young girls to New York on visits, who, after their return, told of entertainments in the nature of carousels.

Mr. Parker said that the first met with Mrs. Tingley in Chicago in May, 1897, at her request. He had heard that she had been a medium at Memphis and had been guilty of reprehensible conduct.

"I applied for the place of bookkeeper," he said, "and Mrs. Tingley employed me, after a long conversation with me alone. She said that 'Spots' employed me. 'Spots' is her Spaniel. Mrs. Tingley told me that Spots could always tell a lover of theosophy at a glance and knew me at once."

"Spots was given to her, she said, by William Q. Judge. Mrs. Tingley said to me: 'I know that Mr. Judge's spirit is in Spots, directing this movement.' Spots is an object of reverence to most of the persons at Point Loma, as well as to Mrs. Tingley.

WORLD MUSIC FESTIVAL

It Will Be Held in Berlin in October, 1903—A Day to English and American Music.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—An international musical festival will be held in Berlin from Oct. 1 to Oct. 7, 1903, in connection with the dedication of the Richard Wagner monument. One day will be devoted to American and English music. The committee expects Mmes. Emma Eames and Nordica and Walter Damrosch, Sousa and perhaps, Dudley Buck, to take part in it.

"The early marriage of the younger officers of the army, many of whom are entirely dependent upon their pay and allowances for support, is greatly to be deplored and should be discouraged. A young officer should have but one allegiance and that should be to the service. Those without private means must necessarily divide their pay between the demands of their office and family. A considerable number are required for service in the Philippines, where living is expensive and the accomplishment of this tour of routine results in actual hardship to officers with families."

STEEL BILLET CASE

An Interesting Decision by the General Appraisers.

New York, Nov. 8.—General Appraiser Jewell's recent decision in the steel billet case has been affirmed by the United States general appraisers. When the case came up before Appraiser Jewell the importers took ground that the correct value of the billets upon which duty should be assessed and at which they should be entered was the price actually paid in the open market.

The following statement was made after the general appraisers' decision: "The testimony before the board tended to show that the selling price to the consumers in the principal markets of Germany was more than the price for export. Following the decision of the supreme court in the Passavant case the board felt constrained to appraise the merchandise at its home market value without regard to the price at which it was sold to purchasers. The decision of the board will not make any serious harm to importers in this country inasmuch as the appraised value does not carry the merchandise over the dividing line between the higher and lower specific duties imposed by the tariff which is the subject of the present case."

AN ARMY OF 60,000

Corbin's Annual Report—The Old Canteen Favored.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The annual report of Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, deals with every feature of the army, and begins with a statement showing the army to be reduced by Dec. 1 to 60,000 men, of which 2,877 belong to the staff departments. The report shows that during the fiscal year there were 308 officers killed in action or died of wounds and disease; twenty-one resigned, and sixty-eight retired. Of the enlisted men 1,377 were killed or died of wounds and disease; 35,896 were discharged on the expiration of service; 5,498 were discharged for disability or dismissed by order of court-martial; 4,657 deserted; two were missing, and 203 retired. General Corbin recommends legislation providing that Major Generals Merritt, Brooke and Otis, now on the retired list, be given the rank of lieutenant general and that Colonels Gilmore and Williston be given the rank of brigadier general on the retired list. He has the following to say concerning early marriages in the army:

"The restoration of the exchange of the 'canteen' as it existed prior to the passage of the act of Feb. 2, 1901, prohibiting the sale of beer, is desired and urged by the great majority of officers and men and by none more than those of pronounced temperance views. Numerous reports confirm the views long held by this office that the old exchange contributed to sobriety, health and contentment of the men. The increase of desertions and of trials for infractions of discipline, by those best informed, attributed to the abolition of the former privileges of the exchange."

THE AMERICAN INVASION

What the Dominion's Emigration Commissioner Says.

London, Nov. 8.—Wholesale emptying of Canadian lands by American emigrants has given British interests in the same direction a tremendous impetus, according to William T. Preston, the Dominion's emigration commissioner in Europe. Mr. Preston said: "It required nothing short of a first-class American scare to arouse the mother country to the industrial possibilities of Canada."

"We can frankly say that we welcome cordially the extensive influx of Americans now in progress and only regret that there are not more of them. They bring into the country the peculiar species of pioneer energy exactly suited to Canada's economic requirements."

"When I visited St. Paul and Minneapolis a few weeks ago I found real estate offices booming Canada in more glowing terms and in far more extravagant fashion than we ever attempted. Altogether, Canada says 'amen' to these efforts to transplant American citizens, realizing that the exodus can only do the country good."

Sir Gilbert Parker, who is attempting to promote a scheme of imperial migration regulation, said: "I would be happy if half a million Americans annually crossed the Canadian border, but if Canada is to remain British or Canadian it is necessary that the emigrants who go there be content with the institutions they find there."

THE RICH WIDOW'S GRY

Fake Love Letter Sent Out by a Fraudulent Matrimonial Bureau.

New York Sun Special Service Chicago, Nov. 8.—J. W. Schlosser, the matrimonial bureau fraud who barely escaped arrest yesterday by flight, had been sending out letters supposed to be written by a lovely widow with $38,000 in her own right. One of these epistles was as follows: "My happiness is sometimes so new and so wonderful to me that I am almost afraid of it. I thought, I dreamed—yes, I prayed, dear, that what came last night would come some day, but who could have foretold that sudden and beautiful sweeping away of all barriers before the irresistible? You did not tell me that you were coming, but somehow I felt your presence hours before I knew you were here. Then, when you did come, I supposed that you would be here for a long period of waiting, patient, but oh, how sweet, before the inevitable joy of mutual confession should come to pass. But, as the song says, 'You had not sown seeds.' You were impetuous, my dear; and I—well, I suppose I was nothing but that most unreasoning of all mortal creatures, a girl with a heart. You were the flower, and I the leaf; on the tide of your passion I was swept away and became a tiny mita of nothingness, unconscious of and indifferent to everything, save that I was of you and for you, wholly and irrevocably, joyously and forever."

After reading this effusion from this fair maid, one cannot wonder that Mr. Schlosser made money and secured patrons. In fact, his circulars were all as alluring. Mr. Schlosser, according to Detective Woolridge, has sent his circulars all over the country and has been receiving many replies, each of which brought $4. He had the stock pictures of "rich widows" and "retired merchants," used by the other matrimonial agents, whose places recently have been raided by Detective Woolridge.

NEW IDEA OF PUBLICITY

Perhaps you have noticed some of the late magazines have had five or ten pages devoted to advertising some great manufacturing plant. Sometimes it is a shoe, sometimes a piano factory, but in one way or another, the process of showing how quality is secured at a low price and putting the buyer into intimate relations with the product. This is all modern and is a great advance, but it would take pages for us to tell how the Minneapolis Brewing company is different from other breweries, why the beer is purer and so is great news to the public. A visit will explain all this and we will be pleased to see you. Come any time.
