W. J. BISHOP, REAL ESTATE

He Talks about the Heating Plants that He Puts into His Houses. W. J. Bishop, the real estate man who for a number of years has made a specialty of reasonable priced modern homes, is authority for the statement that the most satisfactory heating plant he knows of is the Andrews Celebrated Home Heater. It is built in four sizes, for houses from six to twenty rooms, and using the Andrews regurgitating safety valve, the radiation has an efficiency 50 per cent greater than the ordinary practice. Besides, it is so easily managed that all who use it are delighted, and so economical that it gives general satisfaction. Find out more about it by writing or calling at Andrews Heating Co., Globe building, Minneapolis.

He will arrive in Honolulu early in December and will remain in Hawaii about six weeks. He is to make a report to congress and will go to Washington before returning home.

EYES FOR SYMPTOMS

Teachers Should Be Instructed in Diagnosis and Sanitation, Says State Board of Health. Teacher knows almost everything of course, but in the opinion of the state board of health, she should also know something of sanitation and diagnosis. The board will recommend, in its next annual report, that public school teachers should fit themselves to co-operate with health officers. Such assistance would be especially useful in preventing epidemics of diphtheria, scarlet fever, and other contagious or infectious diseases among school children. The symptoms could quickly be recognized by teachers before all their pupils had been exposed.

WILL ROOST IN MINNEAPOLIS

State Poultry Association to Bring Its Fancy Birds to the Flour City.

The Minnesota State Poultry association will hold its annual exhibition this winter in Minneapolis. The association will not hold the show at St. Paul as was reached only Saturday night. The question came before members of the association at a meeting held in the county commissioner's room at the courthouse. St. Paul representatives repeated their inducements—a fine hall, light and heat, and a grant of $100 from the city council. After discussion the Minneapolis men won by promising to give the association here all that it could get at St. Paul.

The local committee will now seek subscriptions for the purpose of making the next "chicken show" the largest ever held in this state.

FILL ALL THE CHURCHES

Rev. G. L. Morrill Says a True Spirit of Thanksgiving Should Do So.

At the Chicago Avenue Baptist church, last evening, Rev. G. L. Morrill expressed regret that the true meaning of Thanksgiving Day had been so lost sight of that four large central churches were forced to join in a union service in order to get "one-fourth of one congregation." Conditions should be such, he declared, that every church should be filled to overflowing at such a time. He also expressed regret that some business houses would give their employees only a half holiday in the afternoon, which would prevent their attending divine services they desired.

People had more reason, he said, to thank God for mental, material and moral blessings than the forefathers.

The lot at Post Siding, given by order of Former Mayor Kiefer of St. Paul, will be raffled off. It is worth $750, and 2,000 tickets are to be issued at 50 cents apiece.

Minneapolis members of the society want the home erected here.

STILL A CLOSE RACE

Both Sides in the Minnesota Speakership Contest, Are Still Claiming Victory.

Caucuses in the Second and Ninth Districts To-morrow May Settle the Matter.

Administration and "anti" forces in the speakership fight fought another round to-day, but victory remains undecided. This morning both sides were still claiming victory.

The fifth district stands pat by Johnstone. The first district steering committee declared for Babcock, but several of the delegation refuse to be bound by it, and say they will never vote for Babcock.

Two district caucuses will be held to-morrow. The second will meet at Mankato, and the ninth at Crookston. Leaders of both sides will be present at these caucuses, and which may set the stage for a fight on one way, it would practically finish the fight. Up to date, the gladiators have been well matched, and the contest is still very close.

The first district steering committee refused to come to a caucus at its meeting Saturday afternoon, and because Hennepin would not leave Johnson and come out for some first district man, the caucus failed. Inside Parkville, the caucus men claim that this carries with it the fifteen votes of the first district, but seven of the fifteen have already made pledges not to vote for Babcock. S. A. Solberg, of Lanesboro and William Wolhuter of Freeborn county were present and declared they would not be "sold out" by the steering committee.

The Hennepin delegates are very indignant at Burns of Fillmore. They say that Burns was one of the principal causes of bringing Johnson out. He undertook in the presence of men from the first in line seventh districts to bring the first in line Johnson out. He was not to be a candidate. The first district caucus at Austin was attended by nine members, of whom seven were anti-Babcock, including Burns. The steering committee appointed the men supposed to be against Babcock, with one exception. Burns immediately came back to St. Paul and wanted promises from Johnson. The Hennepin men held to their position, which was forced from the first. He will promise no committee appointments. He told Burns that he would be fairly treated. ## THE BATTER GAVE OUT

Buckwheat-Cake-Eating Contest Results in a Draw—Score 23 Each.

For a little while this morning it looked as though there would be a famine in buckwheats in a certain home on a street, a street of comfortable homes in one of the twin cities. It was all because of the buckwheat-cake-eating contest previously announced in The Journal a few days ago.

The contest was a draw. Each contestant ate twenty-three cakes and then the buckwheat-cake-eating contest was adjourned. The contest was a draw. Each contestant ate twenty-three cakes and then the buckwheat-cake-eating contest was adjourned.

SHAVINGS OF REALTY

Deeds Recently Filed Divide a Minneapolis Lot Into Two-Hundred-Thousandths.

They Bring to Remembrance an Obsolete Way of Handling Real Estate.

Deeds filed a few days ago at the courthouse split the title to the property deeded into two hundred-thousandths. The Guaranty Savings Bank of Manchester has insured $2,184,500, the property at 1227 Jefferson street NE of Fred Barney and to the joint owner, Elizabeth C. Newton, 47,816-200,000ths.

The deeds disclose an obsolete way of doing business, that of making "fractional" mortgages, as they were called, or mortgages "equal, co-ordinate and contemporaneous," in which two persons combine to make a loan, both having an interest in the first mortgage. It was found in time that, after foreclosure when property had passed into the hands of the mortgagee, the debtors of the property would tie up in the probate court the interest of the live one remaining. Other complications arose and the method was abandoned.

In the present case Elizabeth C. Newton and the Guaranty Savings Bank of Manchester loaned together $1,000 on the Jefferson street property in 1892. The mortgage was foreclosed and the sheriff's certificate of sale vested the title jointly in the two. When they sold to Mr. Barney deeds were made in 200,000ths.

For the agent, David P. Jones & Co., in handling the rents and charging expenses, the fractions 10-12 and 3-12 were sufficient. For a final division the line was made extremely fine and a high denominator was used. Such fractions rarely appear in deeds and now serve only as a reminder of the passage of old ways of doing business.

STANDING ROOM

Seats for All at the Great Thanksgiving Day Football Show at the Expo.

The Minn.-Mich. Game Will Be Played by Bulletin in Most Realistic Style.

Are you going to the game, the football game, the game between Minnesota and Michigan? You had better go with the crowd, if you want to be in close touch with the great event of Thanksgiving day, turkey can wait.

The brick and mortar to-day indicates that not less than 5,000 people will be there—not at Ann Arbor, where the struggle between the gophers and Wolverines actually takes place—but at the Exposition building, where the great contest is to be reproduced faithfully in its every detail.

The Journal and the Minnesota Daily, the official newspaper, have combined to give Minneapolis' great football public the most original and altogether unique portrayal of a football battle ever yet undertaken in the history of the game. Sweet charity will be the beneficiary of The Journal's share of the receipts, which will be devoted to the cause of the Free Kindergarten association. University interests, to be designated later, will benefit by the Minnesota Daily's share in the proceeds.

Each ticket sold will be a guarantee of seating accommodations. Every one who buys a "paste board" may do so with the absolute assurance that the seats will be reserved for him. The total seating—not standing—capacity of the Exposition is a little more than 5,000. To make doubly sure that no one who buys a ticket will fail to secure a seat, the seats will be carefully counted before hand and their number will correspond exactly to the number of tickets issued.
