PLANS FOR CIRCUS

Novel Features Promised for Performance at the University Armory on Feb. 28.

Menagerie With "Frat" Men as Animals—Side Show Freaks—The Flying Zenos.

Plans for the circus which will be held in the university armory Feb. 28 are rapidly taking shape, and the entertainment promises to be the most novel ever seen at the university. The circus ideas will be carried out to the minutest details. The menagerie, side show, trained animals, clowns, and all the other features of a Forepaugh or Ringling show will be faithfully reproduced.

A huge canvas tent will be erected in the main hall of the university armory. This tent will occupy the whole space of the hall, and will be capable of seating 3,000 persons. The temporary bleachers on Northrup field will be set up in the armory for the accommodation of the audience. Two rings and a platform will be built for the performers. In one of the wings of the armory a smaller tent will be erected, in which the menagerie will be installed. The western odd-farties at the university have promised to provide this feature of the entertainment, and one or two members of each chapter will be trained for the occasion, and will appear on the evening of the show made up as one of the animals commonly seen in the circus menageries.

In the other wing a third tent will house the side show freaks. Members of the literary societies will have charge of this part of the performance. Among the side show features will be the Flying Zenos, a variety strong man, who will perform a few feats of strength. Regulation "barkers" will be stationed outside the side show tent, and vendors of candy, peanuts and other things will ply their trade both inside and outside the tent.

Professor Hoag will be director of the side show and John J. Conroy will act as his assistant. Flynn will also have a prominent part in the performance in the main tent. Attached to each tent a number of free coupons, and each person in the audience will be permitted to vote for the best made-up animal in the menagerie, and the best freck in the side show.

E. J. Johnson as Ringmaster.

In the afternoon of Feb. 28 the university gymnastic contest will be held, and the strong man's class will have a prominent part in the performance. The show will begin with a parade of all the performers, including the occupants of the cages in the menagerie. Captain Guild will be marshal of the parade, and E. J. Johnson will act as ringmaster. A score of clowns will furnish amusement, and the pick of the gymnastic class will appear in the side show. The parade will include a number of strong men, a pyramid of strong men, a feat of strength, and the junior class of the school of mines will furnish a number of vigilantes, etc.

The only feature of the show not controlled by the university is the flying Zeppelins, which will be piloted by a number of faculty members who will be the Flying Zenos, a trio of one-legged trapeze artists, who will make their first appearance in America at the university. A number of return trapeze artists in the world, and their performance is said to be one of the most marvellous ever seen.

The proceeds of the circus will be used for the benefit of the university gymnasium class.

The recent action of Governor Yates of Illinois in suppressing prize fighting is being followed by further restrictive measures against sport if the plans of the state administration do not miscarry. Representative S. E. Erickson of Chicago has introduced a bill which will introduce next week amending the law providing heavy penalties for prize fighting and book-making. The measure is aimed not only against those who record bets on horse races, but applies to all forms of athletics and election wagers. The principal amendment is the elimination of the provision exempting fair and race track associations from its provisions.

In the signing of papers yesterday afternoon at Butte between J. J. Conroy, representing the Daily States, and Zick Abrams of San Francisco, a five-year lease was secured on the Montana racing track, and it was the announcement that the eastern racing circuit was a reality. This is undoubtedly the most important racing combine ever made in the history of the western turf, and in its circuit are included the cities of Sacramento, Salt Lake, Denver, Ft. Collins, Anaconda, Great Falls, Spokane, Seattle and Portland.

Montana will be given fifty days of racing, the season to begin on Jan. 29. About 900 horses will participate.

Professor Andrew A. Bruce of the law school of the University of North Dakota, formerly a member of the athletic council at the University of Wisconsin, has been corresponded with by the university law schools all over the country as to the advisability of law students taking part in intercollegiate athletics. At least a dozen prominent law schools have been submitted.

"The attitude taken by the majority of the law school faculties toward what is known as the 'curbing' of law students is in the following appropriate language of Dean George W. Kirchwey of the law department of the University of Wisconsin: 'We assume a distinctly negative attitude in regard to the participation of our law students in athletic competitions. I think correct is to have the feeling that the average student should put his professional studies. At the same time we are not inclined to give official expression to this feeling by prohibiting or even by actually discouraging our students from going into athletics.'"

Harold S. Weeks of Ann Arbor yesterday announced that he would act as coach for the University of Michigan football team this year. Weeks was captain and quarterback of the Michigan team last year.

TO REDUCE LICENSE

Ald. Holmes Gives Notice of Ordinance for Benefit of Bowling Alley Owners.

Tasmos Take Three Games From the Aces—Tasmos vs. Turners Next Week.

The first definite step in the movement for a reduction of the bowling alley license was taken last night, when Alderman Holmes gave notice at the city council meeting of an ordinance reducing the license from $25 to $5.

Alley owners have long been complaining that $25 a year for each alley is too heavy a burden to carry. The fifteen or twenty bowling establishments in the city pay an aggregate license of about $1,800. The owners take the position that the primary object of a license is not revenue, but a police supervision, and they assert that no police supervision is needed in the average modern alley.

Years ago the bowling alley and the saloon went hand in hand. Of late years, however, the saloon has been driven to a large extent divorced, and there is not the need of supervision that there was formerly. Minneapolis alley owners pay a higher license than those of any other city in the country, and in the majority of the bowling centers, no license is charged.

Mr. Jones, one of the directors of the Co-operative alleys, who is the leader in the movement for the reduction of the license, has circulated a petition asking the council to grant such a license. The petition has been signed up to date by owners representing forty-seven out of the seventy odd alleys which pay a license.

Mr. Jones has also written to the principal bowling centers of the country, asking information in regard to the amount of the license fee. Replies have been received from seventeen cities. In ten of these no license is charged. Boston with 1,448 alleys, charges only $2 for each alley. New York charges $5 for each establishment; that is to say, if an owner puts down twenty alleys in one building, the license for the whole building will be only $5. Where in Minneapolis it would be $500. Chicago charges $10, but the letter received by Mr. Jones did not state the amount of this amount was charged for each alley, or for each establishment, as in Minneapolis. Four cities charge $5 for each alley. In no city does the license fee approach the amount now levied in Minneapolis. Following is a list of the seven cities, with the amount of license charged:

St. Paul	No license
Columbus, Ohio	No license
St. Louis	No license
Cleveland, Ohio	No license
Fargo, N. D.	No license
Wheaton, Minn.	No license
Rockford, Ill.	No license
Dayton, Ohio	No license
Winnon, Minn.	$10
Chicago	$500
Boston	$5 for each establishment
New York	$5 for each establishment
Milwaukee	$5 for each establishment
Duluth	$5 for each establishment

Mayor David S. Rose has been requested by the bowlers to assist in securing a hall for the national tournament for the Iowa town, which is to be held in 1904. Mayor Rose will in all probability go to the big meeting at Indianapolis, which is being prepared some interval for argument when called upon to support to the bowlers the Exposition building and finds that it will be possible to erect sixty regulation alleys there if necessary. The number would not be needed for such a tournament, but Mayor Rose desires to let the bowlers know just what Milwaukee can do in that line.

Fifteen alleys would probably be plenty, but the number can be increased to twenty or thirty if the occasion demands. The Bowlers' Association of Minneapolis has agreed to build the alleys, and they are satisfactory to the Milwaukee people, so there is no hitch on that point.

Mayor Rose has also had conferences with some of the mayors of western cities and they have promised their support to the bowlers in the event that the west gets the congress.

L. E. Parker, of the Tuxedo bowling team, broke the record for the Co-operative alleys yesterday afternoon, scoring 270 in a practice game.

The Harlem bowling trio defeated the All-American trio at New York last night, scoring 2,405 plus to 2,262 for the All-Americans. BADGER CREWS AT WORK

Nine Boat Loads of Freshmen Are Training in the Gym at Madison.

The athletic board at the first meeting of the year approved $500 for the use of the department in the purchase of two four-oared boats to be used in giving the new men a first experience in rowing.

This will enable Coach O'Dea to handle more crews on the water and will be a great improvement over the pair-oared boats that have been previously used. These two boats have already been ordered from Davy, the Cambridge boat builder, and will be ready for use when the ice breaks in the spring.

Coach O'Dea will make a trip east during the examination week to select a model for the new boats. When the construction of the craft is completed, immediately after the return of the work of all the crew candidates will begin on the machines in the gymnasium and will be continued regularly until the ice goes out of the lake.

The two four-oared boats are to be built on the general lines of a shell, and when constructed will weigh but little more than a shell of the same size would weigh. The length of the boats will be 40 feet, with a depth of 8 inches and beam of 21 1/2 inches. The decking at the end will be the same as on a shell.

The freshmen candidates who reported in the fall were kept at work until the beginning of the Christmas vacation, there being seven crews in all. These were under the direction of the several of the varsity oarsmen. Coach O'Dea being busy with the football team, the freshmen stopped training they were rowing the full stroke with nearly a full slide, having been carried along gradually from a very short stroke with no slide at all. Immediately after the vacation a second call was issued in order to further canvass the class and two more crews reported, making nine in all.

The basketball team of the state agricultural college will play the South Side high school at 8:30 this evening at the farm school.

The Stillwater high school basketball team defeated the junior team of the agricultural college by a score of 48 to 8 at the Stillwater high school gymnasium. The night school team has not yet been defeated this season and has won nine consecutive victories.

AT A 120-MILE GAIT

Henri Fournier Expects to Make a Mile in Half a Minute in His Auto.

Says There Is No Limit to the Speed of the Modern Machine.

Henri Fournier says that he fully expects to do a mile in his automobile in half a minute this season. Fournier covered a mile on a straightaway road in forty-six seconds, and he holds the official record at a fraction more than that.

"There is no limit to the speed of an automobile," said Fournier in an interview recently. "At least it is not for me to say where the ingenuity and scientific attainments of the designers and makers of automobiles will stop. And the automobilist? Well, no matter how fast a machine is going, there will always be men willing to take all the chances involved in running at full speed. Really, the danger is not so great if you are careful and quick and know the game thoroughly."

"How does it feel to run a mile in forty-six seconds?" Fournier was asked. "It is like flying," replied the king of the chauffeurs as he smiled. "Perhaps I am wrong, though. I have never flown. No railroad train has ever gone at such a terrific pace. I suppose if a man could sit astride of the projectile of a thirteen-inch gun he would feel about as we did in that record-making trip. And the automobilist? Well, no matter how fast a machine is going, there will always be men willing to take all the chances involved in running at full speed. Really, the danger is not so great if you are careful and quick and know the game thoroughly."

Fournier to Race Winton. Fournier and Alexander Winton, the Cleveland expert, have agreed to race three 25-mile races for a $1,000 trophy cup offered by the Empire City Trotting Club of Yonkers and the Cleveland Driving Club of Cleveland.

The date of the first race was set for July 25, or if delayed, on the following Saturday. The second race will take place a week or so later on the track of the Cleveland Driving Club, and it was agreed to hold the third on the fastest track of the two on some date to be selected day.

The contestants will start from opposite sides of the track and pace one another. Fournier has a record on a track of 1:08 4/5 and a road record of 45 seconds, while Winton, who has no road record, is credited with a mile in a track in 1:02 1/2.

One hundred thousand dollars will be expended in America in the manufacture of racing automobiles for the international cup race. Alexander Winton has three cars on the stocks, of which two will be used by himself and Percy Owen, C. W. Matheson has three others, two of which will be used, one by himself and the other by J. B. Hodges. For L. P. Moores of Cleveland, there are three Peers cars under way. Harry Harkness is reported to have three, but will give no information.

Where more cars are being made than can be used, the fastest will be selected while Winton, who has no road record, will be the others may be entered for the Paris-Madrid race with other drivers. America is constructing twelve cup racers, but only three will be used in the Gordon Bennett trophy race, for which this country challenged England and in Duluth, Minn.

JEFF HAS COME OUT

Champion Leaves the Woods and Says He'll Fight Corbett for $10,000 a Side.

Kid McCoy and Jack Root May Meet Before International Club of Buffalo.

To give ex-Champion Corbett an opportunity to show whether he is sincere in his statements regarding a match with Jeffries, the champion yesterday announced terms on which he would meet him. On receiving a report from the east that Corbett would give any man $2,500 who would hit him a set of articles signed by Jeffries to him, Otto C. Floto immediately wired the champion.

Jeffries' reply was as follows: "If Corbett will deposit said $2,500 in a bank subject to your order, I will sign articles to fight him to a finish for $10,000 a side at Carson City
