

PILLSBURY CONTEST SPEAKERS AT THE U. OF M.

GEORGE P. JONES, RAY L. DILLMAN, BENJAMIN DRAKE, JR., H. J. BUSHFIELD, JOSEPH THOMSON, JESSE G. STEENSON, J. A. LAYNE, H. J. McCLEARN.

FINE SPEAKERS ALL

Eight U. of M. Orators Will Appear in the Pillsbury Contest Tomorrow Evening.

The Event Will Be of General Interest and the Public Is Invited.

The oratorical contest for the John S. Pillsbury prizes of $175 will take place in the University chapel, Library Hall, tomorrow evening, March 20, at 8 o'clock.

The vigorous stimulus of this splendid prize, supplemented by the generous prizes of W. H. Dunwoody and the late F. H. Peavey, has been rapidly placing oratory at the university on a higher plane.

Competition, though friendly, is becoming intense. Several of the speeches have been in process of preparation for a year and they are very creditable specimens of the college oration.

It is noticeable this year that most of the speakers have passed the amateur stage. Indeed most of them have had considerable experience in public speaking of one kind or another.

Mr. Jones is a senior academic, junior law and business manager of the Minnesota Daily. Last year he won second prize in the Pillsbury contest and has been prominent in other contests.

THINK PLAN VISIONARY

Local Coopers Not Anxious to Merge With American Barrel & Package Corporation.

G. A. Gage, in an interview in the Northwestern Miller, says that the American Barrel & Package corporation will pay cash for the Minneapolis four barrel shops, and in the event of the absorption of the local firms, will assure the working coopers, especially the co-operatives, of permanent employment at present.

Minneapolis coopers generally regard the proposition to them as visionary, and one not at all likely to be carried into execution. There might be some economies realized from concentration of the barrel business in Minneapolis, but not to an extent that would make the scheme practicable.

Mr. Gage was to return to Minneapolis in a few days and requested that a price be set at which the respective companies would dispose of their plants and good will. Only one company is known to have taken the matter seriously.

THE FIRST VICTIM OF SIOUX MASSACRE.

THE STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY RECEIVES A HANDSOME PORTRAIT OF JAMES W. LYNDE KILLED IN 1862.

HON. JAMES W. LYNDE. Whose portrait was presented to the Minnesota Historical Society yesterday.

The Minnesota Historical society was the recipient yesterday of a handsome water-color portrait of James W. Lynde, which had been ordered by the late Charles D. Gillfillan of St. Paul several weeks before his death. The portrait is by C. A. Zimmerman.

Mr. Lynde was the first person killed by the Sioux Indians in the massacre of 1862 after they had decided to exterminate the whites. The Sioux chiefs, sore over the long delay in payment of annuity funds, assembled and armed their warriors, and in full war paint arrived at the Lower Sioux Agency early on the morning of the 18th and began the work of carnage, which, before it closed, resulted in the death of about 900 whites.

Lynde, who a man of fine literary attainments, was acting as clerk at the time of the tragedy for the Nathan Myrick & Co., the Indian traders at the Lower Agency. While he was in college he devoted considerable time to the study of the Dakota (Sioux) language, and came to Minnesota in 1853 for the avowed purpose of perfecting himself in it and writing the story of the red men, with whom his lot was to be cast during the next eight or nine years. He first located at Traverse des Sioux and married the daughter of Napa-schnee-doota (Red Man Who Flies Not). She bore him two lovely, light-haired daughters. Just before the outbreak he left her and took another Indian, the daughter of Rattling Moccasin, one of the sub-chiefs of the Dakota nation. She is now living with her son, Rev. James W. Lynde, Jr., a Presbyterian clergyman in South Dakota.

GRAND LODGE HERE

I. O. O. F. June Meeting May Be Held in Minneapolis Instead of St. Paul.

Northern Light Lodge, No. 131, I. O. O. F., entertained the Odd Fellows of the city at a union meeting last evening. Addresses and instrumental music were given and refreshments were served. Grand Master-elect S. A. Farnsworth, of St. Paul, made an address. The pleasant announcement was made that the money to pay off the remaining debt of $2,000 upon the lodge building was on deposit in the bank. Steps were taken looking to a fitting celebration of the anniversary of the order on April 22, and a committee from each local lodge will meet at John White lodge April 1, to complete arrangements and the next session meeting will be held at the same time and place.

It is likely that the session of the state grand lodge, to have been held in St. Paul June 10, will be held in this city. The Ancient Order of United Workmen will hold their annual convention in St. Paul the week of June 10, and have already secured the only hall large enough for the I. O. O. F. grand lodge. The joint gathering last night voted to appoint a committee to extend a cordial invitation to the grand lodge. The Commercial club has tendered its co-operation.

POOR BOX RIFLED

Thieves Take St. Patrick's Day Contributions for the Relief of the Poor.

Profiting by the knowledge that St. Patrick's Day would bring a large number into the church and consequently swell the contributions for the relief of the poor, a sneak thief entered the Church of the Immaculate Conception Tuesday night and robbed the collection box. It is supposed he secured at least $50, as the St. Patrick's Day contributions were generous.

For some reason the priest in charge of the collections did not empty the box Tuesday night. When he went to the box Wednesday he was surprised to find it broken and empty.

NOBLE DEEDS Prompted by the CURE OF CONSUMPTION. Which is the Greater Philanthropist, This Humble Goal Miner, or J. Pierpont Morgan?

American Bureau, PROFESSOR HOFF'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, New York.

Gentlemen: The Professor Hoff medicine was received in due time. I am not using the medicine myself, but AM SUPPLYING IT TO THE NEEDY FOR THE SAKE OF HUMANITY. Although I must make my living by mining coal I am doing my best to get it into the hands of the consumptive poor. Yours respectfully, Ray, Illinois. G. W. MAHLER.

Recently J. Pierpont Morgan set aside from his many millions a large amount of money—a fortune in itself—to build a magnificent hospital for women, which is now one of the show places in New York city.

Mr. Morgan was very generally, and very correctly, commended for his noble charity. The writer of the foregoing letter is not a millionaire. G. W. Mahler is an ordinary coal miner. Yet, because he has the power to dig coal and enjoy the abundance of health visited upon him, he feels himself richer than a rich man.

He sees the procession of needy consumptives crossing his daily walk, their grim faces set with despair, and having the power to relieve them, he does it.

Fame being the perfume of noble deeds, which is the more entitled to that fame—J. Pierpont Morgan because of his hospital, costing hundreds of thousands, or G. W. Mahler, the Illinois miner?

CO-OPERATIVE PHILANTHROPY THE NEED OF THE HOUR

This sort of co-operative philanthropy, costing no man more than an effort, is more effective than the endowment of all the hospitals in the world. It will CURE tens of thousands of consumptives, visit untold blessings on hundreds of thousands of lives, and remove a large portion of the infectious consumption peril from the world.

Two things only are necessary, and neither of them rob a person of modest means. First, the MORAL COURAGE to recognize consumption and to proclaim it as consumption, even though a feeling of delicacy is violated.

Second, the philanthropic spirit to put the sufferer in the way of absolute relief at an expense so modest as hardly to be considered.

This is what the American Congress of Tuberculosis said in a resolution, after considering the full report of the cury of Frederick Hammann by the Professor Hoff Cure for Consumption in Vienna.

"That it is the duty of every government, municipality and INDIVIDUAL CITIZEN to adopt organized methods for lessening the spread of a disease which causes directly or indirectly, probably one-fifth of the total deaths in almost every country in the world."

ONLY ONE WAY TO ACCOMPLISH THIS

There is but one way to do this—the way in which the present Census Reports of the U. S. Government show it is being done. This is by hearty and philanthropic co-operation between individuals and the American Bureau of the Professor Hoff Cure, the only medicine in the world which has successfully eradicated the disease in a great number of cases.

Before the Summer School in Philanthropic Work, conducted by the Charity Organization Society of New York, Dr. Herman M. Biggs recently dealt a master stroke in the heroic struggle going on between the world's scientists and Consumption.

As a medical officer of the health department of the city of New York, Dr. Biggs knows only too well whereof he speaks when he says that ONE-THIRD OF THE DEATHS IN THE HOSPITALS ARE DUE TO CONSUMPTION.

What a reflection upon humanity this is when Dr. Biggs adds that in the present stage of the progress of science is making with the king of diseases EIGHTY PER CENT OF THE CASES OF CONSUMPTION ARE CURED WHEN THE TRUE DIAGNOSIS OF THE DISEASE IS MADE IN TIME AND THE PATIENTS MADE ACQUAINTED WITH THE TRUE CURE.

According to the report of Dr. Biggs, it is the duty of every discerning person charitably inclined to hunt up some man or woman or child with a cough or with a long-standing cold or with "chronic bronchitis," and to have the moral courage to say to himself and to the person's friends:

"This is tuberculosis. Now is the time to take precautions."

WOMEN ORGANIZING CIRCLES—CHURCHES ORGANIZING CLUBS.

Women, ever the gentler and more humane—organize circles for the cure of consumption, as well as sewing circles to clothe the heathen.

Church clubs search for the most humane and charitable objects to be achieved. Could anything be nobler than the relief of consumption? In every city and hamlet the need of the co-operation of church clubs is pitifully plain.

If the campaign of merciful co-operation is to extend to every charity—who are willing to take the initiative?

"The disease is not only preventable, but curable." Dr. Biggs declared to the Charity Organization Society. "It is simply a question of how early a diagnosis is made. It is the most insidious of all diseases. A specialist may declare no indications of it whatever, and in a few weeks it may be manifest to any one. When there is any question one examination is not enough. When a cough continues for more than six or eight weeks, in a large majority of cases there is back of that cough a tuberculosis focus."

"You may think I am a crank on the subject, but I speak from large experience in autopsy work, which tells the story finally and which has told this story. When any one talks to you about chronic bronchitis and continued coughs," Dr. Biggs continued, "make up your mind that in a majority of cases a tuberculosis focus is back of it. Then is the time to establish this fact, for then it is easily curable; later it may not be. People so dread being told they have tuberculosis, and physicians are so fearful of alarming them, that tens of thousands die because their physicians have not the moral courage to say to them:

APPLY TO THE AMERICAN BUREAU.

Upon application to Bendiner & Schlesinger, New York, in whose well and favorably known laboratories the work of the American Bureau of Professor Hoff Cure for Consumption is carried on, full directions for forwarding specimens of sputum are furnished free.

After such an analysis every patient may know with certainty whether or not he is suffering from Consumption, and until the disease becomes so pronounced that the merest typo can tell it, it is only by such analysis that any certainty may be established. Physical examinations reveal nothing, and this bacteriological laboratory is kept busy by the best physicians in the country.

If a consumptive is doubtful that he can be cured—though ordinarily he is the most hopeful person in the world, unless his friends have freightened him to a degree where his vitality is at its lowest ebb—or if his friends express a doubt, you may truthfully say to the sick person and to his friends:

"IN THE RECORDS OF THE NEW YORK HEALTH DEPARTMENT, WHERE THE SPLENDID WORK OF DR. BIGGS HAS BEEN CARRIED ON, THERE ARE TWO CERTIFICATES—ONE SHOWING THAT A MAN HAD TUBERCULOSIS CLEARLY DEFINED, SO THAT THE ORDINARY MEDICINES OF AN ORDINARY DOCTOR WERE USELESS; AND THE SECOND CERTIFICATE, ISSUED AFTER THE PATIENT HAD TAKEN THE MEDICINE SUPPLIED BY THE AMERICAN BUREAU OF THE PROFESSOR HOFF CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, SHOWING CONCLUSIVELY THAT THE MAN WAS ENTIRELY CURED."

The record of this case was thus made, taken from hundreds of others, so that skeptical people should be convinced and the efforts of the great body of every-day philanthropists engaged in fighting Consumption might be furthered. Here is the patient's own account of it:

TWO HEALTH DEPARTMENT CERTIFICATES.

Messrs. Bendiner & Schlesinger, Gentlemen: I feel in duty bound to tell all suffering from consumption of bronchial affections, and to make generally known, the benefit I derived from Professor Hoff's Cure for Consumption.

For two years I had been in poor health and all run down, when in the month of December, 1900, I had an attack of Is grippe, which left my lungs in such a condition that I had hemorrhages until I was a pitiable looking sight, and had to abandon my work and stay indoors like an invalid.

I went from bad to worse under the treatment of one of the most skilled and conscientious doctors in New York city. He sent a sample of my sputum to the New York Department of Health to be examined, and in reply received a certificate stating I had tuberculosis.

Through the publicity of the Professor Hoff Cure given by the "Journal" my wife was tempted to buy a bottle for me.

On August 3, 1901, I began to take it, and before I had used my first bottle my night sweats had ceased and I had resumed my business. I continued the medicine until November 6, 1901, when another sample of my sputum was sent to the Health Department, and they sent a certificate stating that no tubercle bacilli could be found.

To say that my doctor was astonished would be putting it mild. I have been in perfect health ever since, and this is the first winter in my life that I have not had some kind of a cold. I seem to be immune from colds this winter.

I have only taken three months' treatment of the medicine, from Aug. 3, 1901, to Nov. 6, 1901, inclusive, at a total cost of $1.00. I HAVE IN MY POSSESSION THE TWO CERTIFICATES FROM THE NEW YORK DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH FOR THE ABOVE DATES, ONE STATING THAT I HAD CONSUMPTION AND THE OTHER THAT I HAVE NOT. I am willing to show them to any sufferer to prove that the Professor Hoff Cure did cure me.

I tip the scales at 137 pounds, and I fully believe that owe my present good health, and possibly my life, to my wife's investigation of the publicity the Journal gave Professor Hoff's discovery.

Hoping this testimony will be the means of saving some poor sufferer from falling into the hands of these so-called consumptive cures and false cure-giving doctors, that are willing to take one's life to get money, I am gratefully yours,

P. S.—My doctor is prescribing this medicine to his patients at present.

PREVALENCE OF LATENT CONSUMPTION.

Every physician knows how prevalent latent consumption is. It is frequently taken for malaria or some other ordinary ill, for which the physician prescribes, really not knowing and not wishing to know that it is consumption.

First, there is a feeling of weariness, easily recognizable, a feeling of languor and sensitiveness to cold and exertion, which are the forerunners of the first stage of consumption. At this stage Professor Hoff's Cure gives immediate results.

Chronic bronchitis, asthma and the various forms of catarrh require but a few weeks' treatment.

It has been demonstrated that with the chronic cough or the chronic cold which does not give way to ordinary treatment there is more than the usual chance that there are germs present. It is not necessary even to look for the cough. Frequently a continued running of the nose is a symptom which should not be unnoticed. A cough must be regarded as only one of the most prominent symptoms, but not necessarily present. Loss of appetite may indicate the presence of consumption in its unsuspected form.

Chronic exercise is present in a majority of cases of latent consumption. Persistent or even slight rise in temperature without apparent cause is another symptom, often attributed to something else.

But one way exists to cope with latent consumption. That is, if there is the slightest ground to suspect the presence of the disease, to begin at once with the Hoff prescription, which cured Hammann and which works a cure in every case where the diagnosis is doubtful.

THE HOFF BOOK, CONTAINING COMPLETE DESCRIPTIVE TREATISE ON THE PROFESSOR HOFF CURE, AS TO TREATMENT, DIET AND HYGIENE WITH FULL INSTRUCTIONS FOR SENDING SPUTUM FOR ANALYSIS, IS MAILED FREE ON APPLICATION.

HOW TO GET THE REMEDY.

After Prof. Hoff's Cure for Consumption had become famous through the Austrian and German Empires, the American Bureau was established at the laboratories of the well-known New York Chemists, Messrs. Bendiner & Schlesinger, who import the necessary drugs through their European branch and compound the prescription exactly in accordance with Prof. Hoff's instructions.

The American Bureau sends the compounded prescription for three days and sends a free offer to telegraphically send you the greatest good can be given the greatest number. No deception like a free offer to telegraphically send you for $1.00 we will mail a bottle of Prof. Hoff's Cure for Consumption, containing sufficient medicine for one month's treatment. Six bottles for $6.00.

It is dangerous in the extreme to experiment with Prof. Hoff's prescriptions. See that this triangular trade mark is on every bottle.

All correspondence strictly confidential. We forward all packages and all mail notices in plain wrappers only.

AMERICAN BUREAU, Prof. Hoff's Cure for Consumption.

BENDINER & SCHLESINGER, Chemists and Importers, (Established 1843).

Third Avenue and Tenth Street, New York City.

NOTE IMPORTANT.—Those who desire to aid in the cure of consumption, should remember that Mr. Frederick Hammann, who was cured of consumption, and later insured by the New York Life Insurance Co., as a test case, at the expense of the New York Journal, is connected with the American Bureau, and will personally answer all interviews and inquiries, aiding all sufferers to follow, at their homes, the treatment which cured him. He cautions the public against alleged "Consumption Cures"—irresponsible persons and so-called societies whose purpose is to traffic recklessly in human hopes and human lives. This evil practice has occasioned the publication of their misdoings, and a copy of the New York Journal, cautioning the public against such frauds, will be mailed by Mr. Hammann on request.
