

KNEW WHAT HE WAS DOING

Wyandot Miner Killed and Another Injured in an Explosion of Dynamite.

Special to The Journal. Houghton, Mich., March 30.—Abram Lakasso was fatally injured and Joseph Draszich severely hurt about the head in an accidental explosion of a dynamite charge while blasting the Wyandot mine on the South range. Lakasso died four hours after. Draszich was brought to a hospital in Hancock. Lakasso, it is reported, was charged too hard, and when cautioned by Draszich said he knew what he was doing. It was the first fatal accident in the mine. Isaac Hill, age and residence unknown, was run over near Sidway and so severely injured that he may not live. He was lying on the track, and an engine and three cars passed over his body before the train could be stopped. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Marquette. He is apparently a laborer and is unable to speak English.

An Entertainer of Presidents.

Theodore Roosevelt is said to be on terms of intimate acquaintance with a greater number of public men than any other private citizen of the United States. For years he has been the proprietor of the famous Arlington hotel of Washington, where every president of the past quarter century has been entertained, where cabinet conferences have been held, and many affairs of national importance transacted. In the entertainment of visitors golden grain beet beer plays as important a part as a hospitable host. It is a delicacy you may be glad to offer your friends, for it is good for their health as well as pleasing to the palate.
