Grand Jury Considers Jail Cases.

Jail cases are occupying the attention of the grand jury. Several days will probably be required to complete the work and after that the grand jury will take up new matters. It does not seem probable that much housecleaning will be done, at least not until the courts have disposed of the several municipal cases now pending.

JOLTED HIM BADLY TO HIRE AN EXPERT

Young Mr. Fairbanks Found That The Park Board Will Employ Warren Manning as Its Adviser.

At Least That's What the Genealogical Book Said—The Family Incorporates.

His grandfather died in infancy, so that a certain Minneapolis named Fairbanks could not claim official connection with the well-known family of that name. After he had discovered his unhappy part in the "Fairbanks Genealogy," some months ago this young man disappeared. Yet he has local relatives de facto if not de jure, and several of them will attend the next annual reunion of the Fairbanks family at Denham, Mass.

The Fairbanks-es are not only a family but a corporation. They have organized to preserve family records and traditions. The Fairbanks association thus begun will soon gain possession of the family residence, which is a house containing twelve rooms. Even the most congenial people may quarrel when they try to live too snugly.

Francis M. Fairbanks, insurance agent of this city, is a Fairbank or a Fairbanks, according as he cares to write his name. He's in the "Genealogy" also, and his grandfather did not perish prematurely.

"But I was a member of the family," said Mr. Fairbank yesterday, "I know he was one of ours. He was a Fairbanks by birth and had an uncle named Jonas Jones who has been a favorite name of ours ever since the Jonathan Fairbanks first moved to Dedham. They had a son named Jonas. 'Yes, this young man certainly belonged to us, but one day he came across the 'Genealogy.' He never recovered from the shock. He had arranged to attend the reunion at Dedham, but he saw the book worth while. He didn't protest. He realized that he had been effaced, that his whole existence had been unauthorized. He began to fall physically. He said with some bitterness, 'I do not wish to live a lie. When he bade me good-by last fall he said he was going away for his health. I wrote to him as he requested, but I have never heard from him since.'"

"But about our association—it will be something unique, I think, a family existing, so to speak, according to bylaws and a constitution. But, of course, you can't get in merely by being born a Fairbanks. You have to purchase a share of stock and you must have parents in the 'Genealogy.'"

The old home that we're going to buy at Dedham is a rare relic. It's one of the very few wooden houses that still remain in good preservation from the early colonial days.

"Jonathan didn't have a big family according to the Roosevelt standard. He had only six children—George, John, Jonas, Jonathan, Susan and Mary. But there was nothing suicidal about those six. They multiplied and divided until now they've got 3,000 little families of their own inside the 'Genealogy,' not to speak of some outside and scattered from Nova Scotia to Southern California, from Florida to Alaska. Our most distinguished relatives, I suppose, have been the scotch whisky soap-maker, and the senator from Indiana."

Need Not Pay Judgment. Michael W. Nash Released From Claim in Connection With Irish-American Bank.

Judge A. M. Harrison has filed an order satiating a judgment of $18,174 held by William C. Dwyer against Michael W. Nash, a former director of the defunct Irish-American bank. It is held that Nash was duly discharged from all liability by the decree of a judge having jurisdiction of the United States district court in May, 1899.

The bank was alleged to have received the deposit of $18,174 made by the insolvent. The contention of George C. Robinson, attorney for Mr. Baxter, was that the money for which the judgment was granted had been secured from his client by fraud and that the judgment was therefore an exception contemplated in the law, and was still in force and valid.

Collect on Forfeited Bail Bonds. According to the report made by the county clerk to the county commissioners there have been since Jan. 1, 1898, eight forfeited bail bonds which have not been realized upon. The sum represented by these bonds is $3,850. Every effort will be made to collect these outstanding liabilities.

WORKING IN UNISON

The Twin Cities Entertainment of Roosevelt Drew Them Nearer Together.

Their Joint Plans Were Carried Out Without a Particle of Friction.

The recent visit of President Roosevelt has been the means of cementing friendly relations between the business men of the two cities and bids fair to be a process that will be continued in the future.

The plan for the joint reception originated in the mind of President A. C. Paul of the Minneapolis Commercial Club. It was so well carried out that not a single particle of friction between the two cities was manifested.

THE PACIFIC TROLLEY

Would Aid in Bringing Quiet in Philippines Says Captain Alfred Sperry.

The occasional outbreaks on the part of the Philippines, although without political significance, are without political significance.

This is the belief of Captain Alfred Sperry of the United States navy, who has been visiting Dr. A. A. Law on his way eastward.

"All the armed opposition to the Americans in Luzon at least," says Captain Sperry, "is caused by brigands pure and simple. They will not disappear, until the country is provided with railroads or other means of rapid transportation. Trolley lines are likely to be extended throughout the island. It was much the same way with our Indians. They indulged in uprisings from time to time until the country where they took refuge was invaded by the shallow waters of the Philippine rivers and inlets. Only police duties are to be performed, and a bit of surveying now and then."

The squadron that Captain Sperry commanded is composed of gunboats and other small craft, suitable for navigating the shallow waters of the Philippine rivers and inlets. Only police duties are to be performed, and a bit of surveying now and then."

Dr. Egan is a member of the executive committee.

AMES CAN'T COLLECT

Wasn't a Resident and Therefore Couldn't Be Mayor, 'Tis Said.

There has been some talk about the city hall that ex-Mayor Ames would attempt to recover $266.66 the amount of his salary for the four months while he was in West Baden and D. P. Jones was acting mayor. It is even claimed that he will sue the city for the amount of his salary.

From good authority it was learned today that Dr. Ames will be unable to collect the salary account, as he was not a resident of the city during the four months from Sept. 1 until Jan. 1, and for that reason was ineligible for the office of mayor. He left the city in the month of August and at that time shipped his household goods to West Baden. This change made him a citizen of Indiana and he lost his residence in Minnesota.

BAKERS MAY STRIKE

They Adopt a Schedule Which Master Bakers May Refuse to Accept.

A strike of bakers, similar to that of a year ago, is one of the possibilities. May 1 the contract made with the Master Bakers' Association expires and a new schedule will be presented. It is doubtful if some of the master bakers will sign the schedule, and if they refuse, a strike is promised.

For several weeks the Bakers' Union has been considering a new schedule of wages, and at the meeting last Saturday night, this schedule was unanimously adopted. It raises the wages in all lines of work, but confides one point to the master bakers—that of allowing union men to work nights.
