

ROOSEVELT AND TARIFF

The President's Position Analyzed and Explained—Not Sounding a Retreat

He Would Only Have a Truce, Waiting for a More Favorable Opportunity.

Still a Revisionist, He Will at the Right Time Lead the Advance.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, April 14.—Treading on the heels of the most intelligent and... the administration had concluded not to invite any further reciprocity negotiations...

What puzzles most persons is the president's change from an enthusiastic and zealous revisionist into a rather cautious critic of times and seasons and methods.

Mr. Roosevelt did not begin his public life as a protectionist. His training at Harvard and the natural bent of his mind were wholly toward the free-trade side.

Bearing these facts in mind, and remembering that a convert, however zealous he may be, is never able to get quite out of the atmosphere of reminiscence, it ought not to surprise any one that Mr. Roosevelt largely grasped at the best of the free-trade mixture in the tariff revision.

"Now," said he to congress, in effect, "we have seen the miserable failure of every previous attempt at reform of the tariff by its friends."

By way of the tariff revision, he said its skinny forefinger against the side of its long, sagacious nose and silently winked. It was a sign to which the candid Roosevelt was unaccustomed, and he supposed it meant assent to the tariff.

The people were still clamoring for tariff revision, none harder than his warm supporters in the free west, as he loves to call it. He sympathized with their demand.

While it may be true that the administration will make no overtures looking to the revival of the reciprocity treaties which lapse by limitation this year, it is well known that a suggestion that and from any other government in interest will be met with good will, but also with entire frankness.

Strong Decline in London. London, April 14.—Business on the stock exchange in America. There was not excitement and only small transactions.

Continued on Second Page.

ROCK ISLAND DEAL IS OFF

The Purchase of the St. Louis & San Francisco Will Now Be Allowed to Lapse.

This Is the First Result of the Merger Decision—Both Parties Agree to It.

Mr. Schiff Predicts Some Further Liquidation and Then a Recovery.

New York, April 14.—As a first result of the Northern Securities decision, the purchase of the St. Louis & San Francisco...

Mr. Schiff Not Pessimistic. Jacob H. Schiff of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., members of the Harriman syndicate, and a director of the Northern Securities, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Union Pacific railroad, in an interview in the Evening Post on the Northern Securities case, said:

"The result of the decision, if it be confined upon appeal, will be far-reaching. The decision practically establishes that anything done which will put it in the power of any company to restrain industry and trade is illegal, even if the very reverse of such restraint is intended, as has no doubt been the bona fide purpose of the corporation of the Northern Securities company in this case."

Further Liquidation, Then Recovery. "With all this, I do not feel particularly pessimistic. We shall, no doubt, for some time, find a great unwillingness to embark in new affairs, but that is no misfortune, for promotion has been carried too far, and in this respect, perhaps the Northern Securities decision may prove a blessing."

What Mr. Hill Says. "We will have our appeal papers ready in a day or two. We expect to win. But even the United States supreme court should compel the Northern Securities to back the stock to the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific companies, the control would still be the same."

Further Proceedings. Assistant Attorney General Day Drops an Interesting Hint. Washington, April 14.—Attorney General Knox and Mr. T. T. Morgan, who was associate in the government's case against the Northern Securities the case today, considered the decision of the court and mapped out the decision of the future action of the department of justice.

Wall Street Sentiment Improved. Special to The Journal. New York, April 14.—A noticeable improvement in the sentiment of the Wall street district this morning was due largely to the belief that any way will be found for continuing the northwest railroad combination, also it may be necessary to change the form of the securities company. A decided improvement in prices for stocks began in London before the local market opened.

The Employer Has the Advantage. Syracuse, N. Y., April 14.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce last night. Senator Hanna discussed "Capital and Labor" speaking of the present situation of the great struggles between the two advantages always with the employer, who is fighting to maintain his position.

TO LUBRICATE STATE WHEELS

The Omnibus Appropriation Bill Makes Its Appearance in the Legislature.

Total Appropriations Provided for the Two Years' Amount to $3,107,373.

An Allowance of $4,000 Made for Securing Prisoners From Without the State.

The omnibus appropriation bill was introduced in both houses of the Minnesota legislature this morning. Senator Brower brought it into the senate, and Ambrose Tingle in the house. It was made a special order in the house for Thursday at 10:30 a. m., and in the senate at 2 p. m. the same day.

When former Mayor A. A. Ames appears for trial in Judge Elliott's courtroom a week from next Monday he will have to answer to the charge of accepting a bribe from several women as set forth in the bill now commonly designated as the "omnibus indictment."

Gardner Understood to Be Familiar With Case—Will Be Put on the Stand.

Ames' attorneys, F. M. Nye and H. F. Mead, were notified yesterday afternoon, according to an agreement by which the county attorney was to notify them as to the indictment to be moved at trial.

Miscellaneous Items. The miscellaneous appropriations, adding together those that are made annually, foot up $67,129.83. Following are the amounts for state institutions:

Table with 2 columns: Institution Name and Amount. Includes Anoka state insane asylum, Duluth state normal school, etc.

Drainage and State Fair. The drainage appropriation is what was agreed upon in the senate some time ago, $25,000 for each fiscal year. The item of $10,000 for expenses of the merger litigation is in addition to the $25,000 appropriation at the extra session.

New York, April 14.—Letters from former President Cleveland, William J. Bryan and ex-Senator David B. Hill were read at last night's Thomas Jefferson dinner at the Tammany Hall general committee of the thirty-fifth assembly district.

Mr. Shepard Says He Is Teaching the Nation to Desire War—Cleveland on Issues.

From The Journal Bureau, Room 45, Post Building, Washington.

Washington, April 14.—Captain Henry M. Chittenden, who has been in charge of improvements of the upper Mississippi river for several years, has been ordered to Washington to take command of a company of engineers now under orders to the Philippines. His district is placed in temporary charge of Major Hoxie at St. Paul.

Trans-Mississippi Congress. Arthur H. Francis of Crippled Creek, Col., is in Washington to invite Secretaries Cortelyou and Hitchcock to attend the next annual trans-Mississippi commercial congress at Seattle, Aug. 15 to 21.

INSURGENT MOORS' VICTORY. Madrid, April 14.—Dispatches from Mellilla, Morocco, announce that the insurgent Moors have captured the fortress Fraxina, part of the garrison escaped and took refuge in Mellilla. The insurgents exploded a mine beneath a portion of the wall of the fortress, killing fifty men, and then delivered the assault through the breach.

ON "OMNIBUS INDICTMENT"

Dr. Ames Will Be First Tried on Charge of Accepting $600 Bribe.

County Attorney F. H. Boardman Announced His Decision to Ames' Attorneys.

The President Is Camped in Hayden Valley, a Timbered Spot Famous for Elk.

Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk. In the dense timber bordering the valley, bear, deer and antelope can be counted by the score. Small herds of buffalo also roam in this section of wonderland.

While the president is absent from his special to the Journal.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

While the president is absent from his special to the Journal.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

MR. LOEB IS PREX PRO TEM.

And Assistant Secretary Barnes Appears to Be Acting as Cabinet Pro Tem.

While the President Is Playing Tag With Game They Run the Nation and Fish.

The President Is Camped in Hayden Valley, a Timbered Spot Famous for Elk.

Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

While the president is absent from his special to the Journal.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

Special to The Journal. Cinnabar, Mont., April 14.—With a small escort of cavalrymen, President Roosevelt is believed to be camped in the Hayden valley, a spot famed for its numerous herds of elk.

NON-UNION UNION FORMED

Definite Steps Taken in Indiana by the Filing of Articles of Association.

The Purpose Is to Protect Non-Union Men and to Maintain Amicable Relations.

The Employers' Association in Chicago and What It Will Try to Accomplish.

New York Sun Special Service. Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—Definite steps were taken here yesterday for the organization of a national union of employers of labor and non-union men when articles of association were filed incorporating the American Association of Independent Mechanics.

The purpose is to protect non-union men who do not care to affiliate with unions, to encourage industry, economy, thrift and honesty among members, to maintain amicable relations between employers and employees, to assist its individual members in obtaining the highest wages consistent with the general good, to promote all forms of productive energy, to prevent all unjust discriminations against any person; to furnish favorable conditions for apprentices, to provide trade education for members, to compel labor unions to observe and respect the laws. Members are required to take the following obligation:

I do sincerely pledge my word and honor as well as my name and credit to the organization and to use all honorable means to further and strengthen the same and to cause this organization to be maintained in accordance with its objects and no time try, by foul and unfair means, to wrong a member of this organization; and should I at any time violate this pledge, I will be held as a man devoid of principle and destitute of honor, so help me God.

Similar articles of association will be filed in a number of states. Non-union unions have been formed at Anderson and Muncie.

EMPLOYERS' ASSOCIATION. It Will Oppose Sympathetic Strikes and Favor Non-Union Labor.

New York Sun Special Service. Chicago, April 14.—Frederick W. Job, secretary of the Employers' Association of Chicago, today set at rest the speculation which has been indulged in for months in labor circles regarding the objects and personnel of the association. He announced the names of the officers and the objects of the organization. Regarding its membership he was reticent, although he said it included practically every association of employers in the city.

President, John G. Reed, Marshall Field & Co.; first vice-president, S. W. Thorne, Montgomery Ward & Co.; second vice-president, Frank H. Anderson, J. C. G. & Co.; treasurer, William E. Clow, James B. Clow & Co.; secretary, Frederick W. Job.

The objects of the association as set forth in the constitution are: To foster and protect the business interests of Chicago; aggressive only in maintaining the laws and progress of our city.

To unite the action of its members and affiliated associations upon those matters where a fixed policy may seem wise and necessary. To secure for employers and employees freedom of contract in the management of their respective businesses, and to prevent any restriction of output, sympathetic strikes and boycotts, which, thru their frequent occurrence, tend to create a constant menace to its industrial progress.

To prevent any interference with persons seeking work and employment. To avert industrial disturbances; to harmonize difficulties between employers and employees, so that a part of the same may be the arbitration of serious differences between employers and employees.

Mr. Job denied that it had any connection with the National Association of Manufacturers of which David M. Parry of Indianapolis is president. In fact, he said, the employers connected with the local association are "very few."

AN ORGANIZER KILLED. United Mine Workers' Official Has His Head Crushed With a Stone.

Keystone, W. Va., April 14.—George Reed of Indianapolis, a national organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, was waylaid at Norton, W. Va., last night and his head crushed with a stone, causing skull fracture and fatal injury. Reed was en route to a conference at Huntington when the assault occurred.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

HEAVY BLOWS AT LABOR UNIONS

President Parry of the National Association of Manufacturers Is Emphatic.

He Tells of the Work of Defeating "Semi-Socialistic" Measures in Congress.

Chicago a Union-Ridden City—Annual Convention of the Manufacturers.

New Orleans, April 14.—The National Association of Manufacturers, representing business and labor interests, American capital, began at Tulane hall today what promised to be the most important annual convention in the history of this organization.

The open and avowed hostility of President D. M. Parry towards the methods of organized labor has attracted wide attention and the largest increased attendance representation from the various manufacturing states of the north was declared by the members to be largely due to the interest taken by the members in the labor question.

Large delegations from the eastern and New England states arrived Sunday and yesterday and the special train bearing representatives of the middle states sections came in this morning with President Parry and other officers of the association. Immediately upon the arrival of the train the delegates gathered at Tulane hall or University place, where James W. Porch, vice president of Louisiana called the convention to order.

Mayors of the cities of New Orleans and Governor W. W. Heard welcomed the delegates and President Parry responded. Then the convention began its work with the reading of the president's annual report. The report follows:

Mr. Parry Has His Ax. After calling attention to the marked growth of the National Association of Manufacturers, which now has over twenty-one hundred members, on his roll, Mr. Parry immediately took up the question of the battle between the manufacturers and organized labor in connection with the eight-hour and anti-consumption bills, which were defeated at the last congress. Referring to this contest, Mr. Parry said:

The mere defeating of these two bills does not tell the story that was done that was much more important and far-reaching, was to give an opportune check to socialistic impulse. It is impossible to hide our eyes to the fact that a large mass of the people, forgetful of the liberties and blessings they now enjoy, are with restless ardor striving to force the nation into a system of government which is a disaster, if not anarchy and despotism.

"Organized labor, an army presumably two million strong, feeling its strength well and exulting over many victories it had won, concluded last winter that the time was ripe to make congress engraft upon the statute books of the nation its sprigs of socialism, legalizing those denials of individual rights which the government has sought to enjoin by force. It drew up and fathered the eight-hour and anti-consumption bills, the former of which would have been entitled an act to repeal the bill of rights guaranteeing the freedom of the individual," and the latter should have been termed "A bill to legalize strikes and boycotts."

"The introduction in congress of such measures as these and the support they received there and from the press and public, can only be regarded as ominous manifestations of a policy which is the work of an organization which in late years has had such an insidious growth that we find it dominating to a dangerous degree the whole social and political and governmental system of the nation. Who can take note of the hundreds of strikes of the last year, of the many acts of aggression and ruthless violation of the principal tenets of the law of the land which it has been the subservient and apologetic tone of many newspapers and public men towards those things, and also of the all too prevalent slogan, 'The laborer is the hero of the hour,' and being impressed with the gravity of the situation? If organized labor had succeeded in getting its two bills enacted into law, more than a million men would have been forced to follow close upon the heels, and we should have found socialism rearing upon us at a rapid rate.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

It is well that those who would revolutionize our order should at the very inception of their national program meet with organized resistance, and it was fortunate that there was an association of men who could be counted on to back the influence of organized labor this last winter, and that at a time when, in the full plenitude of its power, it seemed certain to succeed.

"UNDIGESTED SEEDS"