Taxes Block Charity.

Owing to inability to get the proper legislation enacted by the present legislature, the Wilder charity, created by the wills of Mrs. Wilder and Mrs. Appleby of St. Paul, may not become available until 1906. Under the present laws the property bequeathed is subject to taxation, and it is the desire to have a law passed which will exempt the estate, so that all interests on investments will revert to charitable purposes.

Rev. L. A. Clevenger Resigns Pastorate of Calvary Church.

Rev. Loren A. Clevenger, pastor of Calvary Baptist church for five years, will accept the call of Bowdoin Square Baptist church in Boston. The call was received Saturday by telegraph, and Mr. Clevenger's resignation was read yesterday. Mr. Clevenger had intimated that if the call came he would accept. The resignation will take effect on or before the last Sunday in June.

Mr. Clevenger has spent several vacations in Boston, and is not unknown there as a speaker. He will receive a good salary and will have an assistant.

The Bowdoin Square church is one of the oldest of Boston and is in the heart of the city. It is endowed, and has an income of over $4,500 annually in rents from stores in the building. The auditorium is large and is always crowded, partly because of the down-town location.

During the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Clevenger Calvary church has grown to a marked degree, a fine church structure being erected in the west portion. There have been 276 additions to the church in the past five years and 133 converts have been baptized.

F. R. ROSE IN MEXICO

Man Who Skipped His Parole in Minnesota—Was Well Known Here.

F. R. Rose, who is well known in the twin cities and who is wanted to give important testimony against several Pittsburg, Pa., men who are under indictment for fraud, has been definitely located in Mexico by the United States authorities. Rose was convicted of fraud in St. Paul a few years ago and was given a two-year sentence at Stillwater, but was afterwards paroled. He engaged in the advertising business in Minneapolis and remained here until he learned that he was wanted as a witness in the Pittsburg case when he suddenly disappeared.

TRUSTY WAS UNTRUSTWORTHY

He Took the Commandant's Money at Fort Snelling and Has Disappeared.

Private Lairy Rudd, a trusty prisoner at Fort Snelling, stole $67 from a desk in the residence of Colonel Jacob Kline, the commandant of the fort, yesterday while the family was at dinner, and left for parts unknown. The theft was not discovered until 8 o'clock last night, when Rudd failed to return to the guard house according to rules. He is 24 years of age, of medium height, light complexion and blue eyes. Rudd had only two months to serve on a two-year sentence for desertion from the Thirteenth cavalry.

WILL MEET IN ST. PAUL

Columbian Summer School Committee Makes Plans for the Approaching Session.

The Catholic Columbian summer school will meet again this year at St. Paul. The local committee of 225 is engaged in preparation. At a meeting yesterday the chairman was authorized to appoint an executive of ten to arrange details. Chairmen of parish sub-committees were appointed also. It was suggested that archbishop deliver one of the lectures. Frederick McGee believed that one lecture should be devoted to the negro problem.

The officers of the local committee are: Chairman, Frederick W. Foot; vice chairman, J. D. O'Brien; treasurer, John A. Willerscheid; secretary, William L. Kelly, Jr.; assistant secretary, Miss Agnes Byrne. Rev. Patrick Daney of Minneapolis, formerly of the St. Paul seminary, is president of the Chautauque.

A WRECK AVERTED

Sure Eye and Prompt Action of an Engineer Prevents Accident.

But for the alertness and quick action of Engineer Verdec on the Minneapolis & St. Louis limited train yesterday, a serious wreck would undoubtedly have occurred. The train was running at a high rate of speed near Jordan, Minn., when the engineer noticed that the tire was slipping from one of the drivers. He applied the air suddenly and brought the train to a standstill with a jerk. When the stop was made the tire was resting on the ties.

THE TREES OF ASIA

John Muir, the Famous Scientist, En Route to Explore Siberian Forests.

He Will Be Accompanied by Chas. S. Sargent the Authority on Arboriculture.

John Muir, one of the most famous scientists and travelers in this country, who hails from Martinez, Cal., is about to start on the great Alaskan glacier that bears his name, is in Minneapolis to-day on his way to New York, where he meets Charles S. Sargent, a tree man, less famous as a scientific writer and traveler.

Despite the fact that Dr. Muir is now in his sixty-fifth year, he is en route with his old friend Sargent to explore the forests of Siberia and Manchuria. Sargent is the author of an exhaustive work, "The Silva of North America," in fourteen volumes, and he is recognized as a leading scientist all over the world.

Together these men have explored the cold fjords of Norway and the coral-lined coasts of Polynesia. They will sail for Europe on May 15 and take the Trans-Siberian railway for a journey across the great steppes to their objective in the midst of what is supposed to be the most howling wilderness in the world.

Dr. Muir is the accredited spokesman of nature in the west. Speaking of the tour of exploration which is to occupy about the year, he said: "I have long dreamed of a journey which would be extended to Japan, Java and the Philippines. Dr. Muir explains that he would like to take in the Himalayas, and he is glad to say that he cannot go everywhere he wants to.

"I expect to find some relations of our old friend the sequoia in Manchuria," he said. "They are known to exist in Japan, but I am satisfied before we start that we shall nowhere find trees the equal of our giant Alaskan redwoods.

"The interest of such a journey as Mr. Sargent and I are about to undertake far exceeds its hardships; but these latter are not to be underrated. As for the dangers of a tour of the kind contemplated in Manchuria, I have not the slightest apprehension of being hurt or killed. In every part of the world I have visited, the natives have proved amenable to fair and decent treatment. Some of them have not treated us with respect, but that is not our fault. It is impossible to expect that men lacking interest in the things which concern us should be able to forego suggestion of an ulterior motive now and then. On the whole, however, there is not much to be feared from the natives of any country if they are properly approached. On the contrary, I have found great assistance and hearty co-operation in innumerable instances."

YEP'S UNHAPPY OUTLOOK

Chinamen to Be Deported Sees Nothing Ahead but Suicide or Torture.

Yep Sing, a Chinese laborer, who has been deported from the United States, is in a state of mind that leads him to believe that his future is one of nothing but suicide or torture. He is now in the custody of the United States marshal at St. Paul, but he will soon be taken to Seattle and deported to the land of his birth.

But Yep Sing yearns not for his native shore. He and his brother, he says, belong to an emigration society formed in his native village in China. He likes Yep Sing, drew a lot permitting him to secure a ticket for America, at the expense of the association. He agreed, in return, to reimburse the association. If now he goes back, he will never make enough on Chinese wages to discharge his debt. Hence he will be arrested, found guilty of fraud and frightfully tortured. "You put him China ship," declared the interpreter, "he waikes water vell quick. Must go die. Yes, won't go pilsonist. He will die. All same, you kill him, yek."

N. W. PROHIBITION MEET

Conference at Sioux Falls, S. D., May 7 and 8—An Oratorical Contest.

An oratorical contest will follow the northwestern prohibition conference to be held at Sioux Falls, S. D., May 7 and 8. A mass meeting will take place the evening of May 7. The next morning "Prohibition in Colorado" will be the topic. The afternoon will be devoted to general aspects of the subject. Among the speakers will be W. G. Calderwood, state prohibition secretary, and George F. Wells, editor of "Backbone."

"At the oratorical contest the evening of May 8, representatives will be heard from the prohibition leagues of Northwest. Prizes will be offered for the best of sums ranging from $5 to $25. The Minnesota orators will be selected after the state oratorical contest has been held in Winnebago City, April 24.

HOUSE DROPPED

Gustave Swanson Caught Under House That Was Being Moved—Injuries Serious.

Gustave Swanson, residing at 3631 Bryant avenue S., was seriously and perhaps fatally injured yesterday by being caught beneath the joists of a frame house which was being moved from 3713 Lyndale avenue S. The house had been raised on jackscrews and Swanson was endeavoring to arrange another jackscrew, when the supports gave way and the house came down upon him. He called for help and it was found necessary to remove him to the hospital in order to move him. He was unconscious when rescued.

No bones were broken, but painful bruises and internal injuries may prove fatal.

NEW GRASSHOPPER LAW USE FOR LADYBUGS

How to Make Complaints—The Englishman on His Way to California to Get Millions for Exportation.

In Them Lies Only Hope of Saving Rose Trees of Southern England.

Eugene A. Robb, a traveler from east to west, who registered at the West Hotel, Saturday night, is on route to California on a queer mission. Mr. Robb is going to California for the express purpose of buying and shipping to England several million ladybugs, or at least as many as he can get, for the immediate objective is Salinas, Cal., where he has hope of filling the whole order, because one of the biggest fruit growers there has offered to furnish Robb as many ladybugs as he can carry away for the trouble of capturing them.

"As you may be aware," said Mr. Robb last night, "the rose growing industry is a very important one in England. English roses are in tremendous demand at home as well as on the continent, and when anything happens to the crop that prevents its maturing properly, the price of English roses goes killing.

"For the last year or two English rose gardens have been infested with a specially destructive insect that roasts after the buds and destroys them before they open. Every conceivable thing has been tried to kill these insects off, but they continue to multiply at a rate that threatens to kill every rose tree in the south of England.

"Of the many devices tried to keep these bugs down, ladybugs have been the only successful one. Last year Pagot Norbury, of Sheridge, Malvern Link, Worcestershire, imported from Salinas an immense number of ladybugs. These he turned loose in his rose gardens, with the result that in his case he noticed the destructive insects were done away with. Mr. Norbury is one of the heaviest rose growers in England, and his reports on the efficacy of the ladybug have incited all the rose growers to seek the globe over for the insects. Great numbers are now being imported from India, but those which appear to be best able to do the work with neatness and celerity, are the California variety.

"The ladybugs are shipped in long, shallow boxes with perforated covers. They stand the sea voyage remarkably well, and do not appear to notice the change of climate at all when turned loose on the other side. Of course, we have a native ladybug, but she is not sufficiently numerous to be effective. We hope by effecting a cross of the native ladybug and the imported variety, to secure a breed that will wipe out all enemies of the rose trees.

"The first lot of these California insects that we imported got us into a peck of trouble. The authorities pounced down on us and seized the whole lot, there being a law against the introduction of foreign insects or creatures of any description which may conceivably become a menace to British agriculture or gardening. Before we could get our consignments of ladybugs released, a dozen learned scientists had to examine and pronounce upon their characteristics. They were declared harmless and we were at last permitted to take possession of the boxes, but not until a good many of the insects had become so debilitated through long confinement as to be of little use when released.

Mr. Robb left for California yesterday. He is accompanied by his son, Eugene N. Robb, a midshipman in the English navy, who is on leave of absence.

SCHOOL FUNDS LIMITED

They Are Not Sufficient to Build the Bryant School Addition.

The board of education Saturday decided that the available funds would not permit the erection this year of the proposed addition to the Bryant school. Having already voted to build a four-room addition to the Horace-Mann school, the board finds itself without money for increasing the accommodations at the Bryant school. The board has already contracted to spend $150,000. The Horace Mann school will cost about $20,000.

A stumbling block in the way of the purchase of a lot for a workshop at Fourth avenue N. and Fifth street is the promise of the board to use the money received from the bond issue only for graded schools.

The board accepted the offer of $25 of E. G. Walton for essays at the McKinley school on property improvements in a "city beautiful."

SENATOR FAIRBANKS TO SPEAK

He Will Make the Opening Address at the Next State Fair.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, the eloquent Indiana statesman, has accepted an invitation to deliver the opening address at the Minnesota state fair next September. Having always taken a deep interest in agricultural matters, it is believed that Senator Fairbanks will prefer to discuss some subject bearing upon the agricultural interests of the northwest. Senator Fairbanks is a close friend of Colonel W. M. Liggett, of the state fair association.

FIRE SHOVEL IN EVIDENCE

Case of Disorderly Conduct Results in $25 Fine for a Woman.

A fire shovel, badly battered and bent, was introduced in evidence in police court this morning in the case of Lucile Banks, a colored woman, charged with disorderly conduct. The officers explained that the woman had used the shovel in assaulting Lewis Hansen, a drunken man, who had been previously fined. She was fined $25.

The woman was arrested early Saturday morning by Patrolman Myron Johnson, who said he saw her chase Hansen up Second avenue S. from Second street and knock him down with the shovel. He took the woman into custody while Patrolmen Wald and Anderson sent Hansen to the city hospital.

LEGISLATORS AT CHURCH

Sermon at People's Church by Rev. G. L. Morrill on "The Laws of the World."

Members of the legislature attended the People's church yesterday. Special music and special floral decorations were provided. Rev. G. L. Morrill, in his address, contrasted the laws of the world before and after Christianity came into the world. Christianity had to do with the personal status and the outward conduct of humanity. He said: "The basis of public law is private character. America is nothing save as it assists God's plans in the development of humanity. Christ not only set the example, but he enables us to answer the prayer, 'Thy kingdom come.'"
