A COURT IS NO CLUB MOURNED BY GIRLS

Dorothy Hazard Pleads Guilty, But A Teacher of Dressmaking Takes Their Money and Then Departs.

Police Tried to Force Her to Release Goods Held as Security.

Prosecutions bordering on persecution will not be sustained in Judge Dickinson's court, according to a decision rendered this morning in the case of Miss Dorothy Hazard, charged with keeping a disorderly house. Altho the woman pleaded guilty, the court refused to impose a fine and suspended sentence. The woman was arrested last week on complaint of C. B. Marshall, who accused her of keeping a disorderly house. She appeared in court last Friday and paid a fine of $100. Within five minutes of the time she arrived at her home she was rearrested upon a similar complaint sworn out by Marshall and her case came up this morning. The woman's attorney, in entering a plea of guilty, explained the circumstances surrounding the woman's arrest. He said that she had retained possession of a dress suit case, belonging to the complaining witness, because of some unpaid bills. An officer from police headquarters called for the grip and when she "talked back" induced Marshall to swear out a warrant. After paying the fine, the woman still declined to give up the case and the second warrant was issued. He thought the woman was being persecuted by the police and that there was a wrong purpose in view in arresting this woman the second time. I am convinced, and therefore will suspend sentence.

"This court cares but little how often these women are arrested and is inclined to impose the maximum sentence provided by law so long as the prosecution is made in good faith. In this case I feel that if a fine is imposed, it would simply be allowing the power of the court to be used for private purposes. That there was a wrong purpose in view in arresting this woman the second time, I am convinced, and therefore will suspend sentence."

HAD RELATIVES HERE

The Late Sybil Sanderson's Sister a Minneapoli Resident. Miss Sybil Sanderson, the well known opera singer who died Saturday at Paris, was the sister of Mrs. R. D. Herrick of this city.

"Miss Sanderson," said Mr. Herrick yesterday, "had been in feeble health ever since the death of her husband four years ago. At that time Madame Terry, as she was called in private life, had a stroke of paralysis. Later she suffered two more strokes.

"But in spite of her bad health she was very anxious to get back on the stage. About the first of the year she started to appear at Nice. A few weeks ago she fell ill while on the stage. From that time her friends lost hope. She was 50 years old. She was born at Sacramento, the daughter of the late Judge W. Sanderson, chief justice of California. While she was a young girl she went to private school with her mother and she had lived there ever since. Yes, she was very much of a favorite in France and especially in Russia. She was married in 1897 to Antonio Terry, a Cuban capitalist. His death took place in 1899. Two of her sisters and her mother were with her when she died. "I should like to mention Madame Terry's generosity. Nobody but her own family knew how liberal she was, not only to her friends but to everyone in need of charity."

WON BY BETHANY

A Kansas Orator Wins the Swedish Oratorical Contest.

Adolph Anderson of Bethany college, Lindsay, Kansas, was awarded the first place in the Swedish oratorical contest Saturday evening at Augustana Swedish Lutheran church. His subject, "The Last Carolinian," as the followers of Karl XII. were called, gave him an opportunity for an enthusiastic and impassioned address which seemed to win the admiration of all.

Joel Olesen, representing Augustana college, Rock Island, secured second place for his oration on "The Glory of Man," in which he dilated on the new epoch which intellect would have its proper influence.

R. F. Walters of Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, had a very meritorious oration and in some respects excelled his competitors, but the judges placed him third.

The judges were Dr. S. M. Hill of Wahoo, Neb.; Dr. J. Bongren, Chicago; Rev. M. J. Englund of East Greenwich, N. J.; composition and oration, I. A. Smith of Minneapolis; Dr. H. Hegstrom of Jewel, Iowa, and Rev. C. B. L. Boman of Cokato on delivery.

At the close of the contest C. A. Smith of Minneapolis offered to present a banner as a sort of a trophy to be taken by the winner by his school and there returned and until won by another. It also means an offer of three cash prizes of $40, $20 and $10, the same amounts to be duplicated if an English contest was also held.

ITS NEW HOME DEDICATED

Appropriate Services Held in the New Quarters of the Union City Mission.

"Miss Sanderson," said Mr. Herrick yesterday, "had been in feeble health ever since the death of her husband four years ago. At that time Madame Terry, as she was called in private life, had a stroke of paralysis. Later she suffered two more strokes.

TRAVELED 600 MILES

A Minnesotan on Northern Border Makes a Long Journey to the Twin Cities.

Fred Smith of Laurel, Minn., traveled over 600 miles to reach St. Paul, where he will be in charge of the new branch of the C. W. Stanton of Appleton, and others interested in the new town and other enterprises in that section. Laurel is on the extreme northern border of the state, and is situated on the Big Fork and Rainy rivers, and about eighteen miles west of Koochiching. To reach the twin cities of the Laurel people go by boat to Koochiching by rail to Winnipeg over the Canadian Northern, and thence south. There are three railroads headed in the direction of Laurel, and they expect to have direct connection southward with the rest of the state in a year or two. Mr. Smith is interested in the Northwestern Navigation company, the only American company operating on the Rainy river.

"We have the finest agricultural land there that there is in Minnesota," said Mr. Smith this morning, "and one of these days it will be the garden spot of the state. There is an abundance of good timber, cedar, spruce, tamarack and pine, which will make lively times up there as well as we get our railroad connections."

Laurel is in a beautiful country, but is about sixty miles across country to Grand Rapids, the county seat.

TO ADOPT CLOSURE RULE. Fort Wayne, Ind., May 18.—Senator Beveridge, at a banquet given by the bar association here, which was to provide a check against action which does not represent the sober second thought of the people. The Minnesota State Poultry association will hold its next annual chicken show in Minneapolis Jan. 13 to 20, inclusive. The directors decided to expend $2,000 in installing the Empire system of cooping. This system is said to be the best in the country for show purposes.

Important Notice. It is often asked why it is that T. K. Gray, the old druggist at 108 Hennepin avenue, can sell paints, oils, varnish, etc., at less than the regular prices. The reason is because he has millions of other articles to sell and don't have to depend upon paints to meet the expenses.
