

AN ELABORATE BOOK

America's Records in the Alaskan Boundary Dispute Are Bound in Russia Leather.

Controversy Will Reach the Argumentative Stage About the First of September.

New York Sun Special Service.

Washington, May 20.—If handsome printing and binding have an weight with the Alaskan arbitration tribunal, the United States will win its suit. According to an amiable custom which also prevails in some of the higher courts, the representatives of either side of this controversy have submitted to each other copies of their contentions or their "case," as it is called. The "case" of the United States which consists of a volume of about 500 pages of printed matter and an atlas of maps, was sent to England about ten days ago, and the British case, which was due the 10th of April, arrived by Saturday's steamer and reached Washington this morning.

The British have made a much more elaborate display of typographical work, but their printed volume and atlas are large and cumbersome compared with those of the United States. Our atlas is only about one-third as large and has flexible covers, so that it can be easily handled, while the British atlas is so large and heavy that you cannot examine it without the aid of a table or some other support. Their evidence is printed in a volume three times as large as that of the United States, and is bound in red cloth, while our volumes are bound in black Russia leather.

MACK SPEAKS OF ISSUES

Tariff Reform, Income Tax and Anti-Trust Legislation Are Important Points.

Buffalo, May 20.—Norman Mack, democratic national committeeman for New York, has sent a reply to the letter of R. L. Metcalf of Omaha, on the possibility of Cleveland's nomination, in which he says the democrats should stick to their attitude against trusts, demand a conservative tariff reform, advocate income tax, protest against government by injunction and the blacklist and condemn the methods employed in the Philippines. Then he says:

It seems to me the friends of Mr. Bryan and those of Cleveland can unite in opposition to these things without surrendering allegiance to any of our party principles. The selection of the candidate must be the result of the enunciation of the platform, which must not be ambiguous on any proposition, but couched in terms clear and definite. It is of course too early to say just what the national platform of next year will be, but it seems to me that one constructed on such a basis as has indicated should not incur the hostility of the friends of Mr. Bryan nor of those of Mr. Cleveland, or any other national leader of the country.

LOCOMOTIVES IN AFRICA

American Engines Are Preferred Above All Others.

London, May 20.—Sir George Whitehouse, manager and chief engineer of the Uganda railroad, who has just returned here after seven and a half years spent in constructing the line, speaks highly of the American locomotives and engines used. He said to a representative of the Associated Press: "We have thirty-six American and thirty-four British main line engines. The American engines and railway like the Uganda road because they are not so rigid and take the curves more easily. Of the steel viaducts along the line twenty-six are of American and eight are of English make. The American viaducts are excellent, but the contractors were greatly behind time, and took a year instead of seven months to erect them."

WOMEN WON'T MERGE. Baptist Societies Decide to Go It Alone. Buffalo, May 20.—At the second day's session of the Women's Baptist Home Missions society resolutions were adopted opposing the seating of Reed Smoot in the senate and petitioned the senate to exclude Smoot and secure an amendment to the constitution making polygamy a crime. The annual report of the board of directors was adopted. The consolidation of the various Baptist organizations was referred to by the committee on resolutions as follows: "Your committee is of the opinion that the board of directors acted wisely in unanimously rejecting any plan for consolidation that falls to adequately recognize and provide for the work of our society. In this connection special attention is called to a conference recently held by certain leading pastors in Chicago, at the invitation of your board, at which it was affirmed with practical unanimity that no plan of merging could be favored that would sacrifice efficiency in carrying forward the specific work for which the women's societies were called into being."

TRIED TO POISON JETT. Stranger Attempts to Give Marcum's Slayer a Bottle of Doctored Whisky. Louisville, May 20.—Persons who procured the assassination of J. B. Marcum are suspected of an attempt on the life of Curtis Jett, the alleged assassin, now in jail at Winchester. It is believed that these persons feared that Jett might tell everything he knows, not only about the killing of Marcum, but the assassination of Dr. Brown, Cox and Sam Cockrell. An attempt to poison Jett was made at the jail here. A stranger appeared at the jail on Sunday and asked to see Jett. He was admitted by Jailer Boone, who remained with him talking. After a while the stranger offered a bottle of whisky to Jett, but Boone seized it. Jett protested, saying that he wanted whisky, but Boone refused and started away with the bottle, when the stranger became nervous and asked for it. Boone kept it and the stranger left, showing signs of uneasiness. The whisky contained poison and it will be sent to Lexington for analysis. A search is now being made for the stranger.
