The great business done by this stor

in the past year bears fruit now in the re markable Inventory Sale that opens Thurs day. When a business increases 10 to 1 per cent in a year it is satisfactory and grati fying. When it increases 25 per cent it be gins to be unusual; and 100 per cent wonderful. But the increase of this busine. is nearly 125 per cent, and stands out like monument of achievement in the mercan tile history of the Northwest.

President Morey revived the old quesabolished for lack of interest taken by students in the work. The lists of teach-ers for the various schools were made up and approved as follows:

All State Educational Institutions.

Plan for Conference by Various Boards Interested Is Very Favorably Received.

The state normal school board is favorable to a consolidation of all the educational interests of the state under a single board, independent of the board of control. The proposition for a conference between the university regents, the normal board, the high school board and the state library commission, made by President Morey at yesterday's meeting of the normal board, was very favorably received. It was referred to the legislative committee of which Judge Ell Torrance is chairman. This committee will also consider a proposal to apply to the legislature for an increased appropriation for manual training equipment in the normal schools, and a provision for sum mer sessions at all of the schools.

Grants of 75,000 acres were made in 1865 to the three older schools, but the Moorbach and Duluth schools have no grants.

And may ask for one each. Directors Comstock and Washburn were appointed a committee to consider this, and also to discuss whether the interest fund accumulated from these grants should be distributed to the schools.

The board re-elected all the presidents.

Some Rare Prints and Etchings on Exhibition at Brooks'.

A large and interesting collection prints, engravings, etchings, drawings and water colors were put on exhibition yes-terday at Brooks' book shop. The bulk of the pictures are from Mr. Brooks' col-lection of prints, which is a large and interesting one, containing specimens of value both from their intrinsic qualities and from a collector's standpoint.

One of the most curious and most valuable pictures in the collection is a silhouette of Sir Walter Scott, made from life, as the great novelist sat in his library at Abbottsford, writing. This was made only two years before his death and is a full-length figure, complete in every detail of features and costume and represents Sir Walter in his most characteristic manner. The likness is excellent and an autograph is framed with the picture. An ideal head by Sir Thomas Lawrence is done in crayon, with touchings of color, and is a beautiful piece of work. There is an interesting group of Hogarth prints, including one that is accompanied by the unfinished outline study for it. Among the fine and rare examples of mezzo-tint is one in an unfinished state, showing in the River. William Webber, a 14-year-old boy, was drowned in the river just below the street railway company's powerhouse early last evening. Webber was fishing with sevevening. Webber was insing with several friends when his line caught on something in the bottom of the river. He swam out to loosen it and was drawn under by the swift current. One of his friends, Willie Nelson, threw him a strong fish line which might have saved his life had he been able to grasp it. Webber was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Webber, living at 1003 Third avenue NE. The police were unable to recover the body last night and the river will be thoroly

Florence A. Webster and husband to Louis The Y. M. C. A. boys' camp, July 6-18, this year will be at Elk lake, about five miles from Clear Lake station, Minn. The "Boys' Camp," is an outing for members of the boys' department of the Minneapolis Y. C. M. A. It has proved extremely popular in years past, and suggests to the average boy the acme of pleasure. W. G. Cartlich of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department is in charge, and the complete information he has sent out pertaining to the complete arrangements made shows that he knows how to handle such an affair.

Arrangements are made for taking fifty boys. The cost for each boy for the two weeks is $8.50. That much cash and the wearing apparel and a few other articles are all the boy needs to get "the greatest two weeks of his life." Tents are provided. All sorts of games are played by rival teams in camp, and there is enough bathing, boating and fishing to suit the most insatiable youth who would attend a well regulated camp. Then the "grub." A first-class cook is taken along and gets up menus like these:

Breakfast—Fruit, oatmeal or breakfast food, hot bread or biscuits, coffee or cocoa, eggs, 20-tatoes.

Lunch at 12:30—Cold meat, potatoes, bread and butter, milk, berries or sauce, cake.

Dinner at 6—Hot meat, potatoes, another vegetable, bread and butter, a drink, dessert.
