RUSSIA HOLDS THEM

Many More Dukhobors Would Move to Canada, but Cannot Get Czar's Consent.

Dietrick of Moscow Says the Western Colonizers Are Beginning to Thrive.

Special to The Journal.

Winnipeg, Man., June 19.—Captain F. Dietrick, a Russian of Moscow, who has great sympathy with the Dukhobors, was here yesterday. He spent seven months in the various colonies of these people and is about to return to his home. In an interview he said they were thriving and had a progressive leader in Peter Veregin.

"There are 12,000 Dukhobors in the Caucasus," he said, "and I believe a large majority would come to Canada if they had the permission of the Russian government. Not only is this withheld, but other influences are brought to bear to make them more contented. There are also about 25,000 Molokans, the race from which the Dukhobors sprang, who would settle in Canada, but the Russian government does not want to lose these people who are splendid agriculturists, and without the fanaticism which characterizes the Dukhobors. Count Tolstoy tried his influence with the government of Russia to secure permission for these people to leave the country for Canada on two occasions, but failed, and it is probable that no further effort will be made.

"The last occasion on which a petition was made was just about the time that the Yorkton and Swan river Dukhobors started north on the march in search of Jesus. The reason for their starting out was misrepresented in the Russian newspapers and was understood to be because they were so unjustly treated by the Canadian government that they were leaving the country in a body. There were many articles in the Russian newspapers about the treatment they were subjected to. This did much harm to immigration to these colonies and the Russian government was greatly benefited by the Dukhobor fanaticism, the effect being to make the remaining Molokans more contented with their conditions."

Peter Veregin, Dukhobor leader, will proceed to western Canada to purchase 250 head of the best class of farming horses. He intends that bringing in his colonies shall be conducted on a large scale. The Dukhobors have now 2,000 homesteads occupied and the products of these will be very large. The Dukhobor women are strong as the ordinary men and are not afraid of work in the fields.

A JUDGE MUST SHOW CAUSE

Supreme Court of Montana Goes After Judge Clancy of Mining Case Fame.

Special to The Journal.

Helena, Mont., June 19.—Orders to show cause have been issued by the supreme court in four applications for writs of supervisory control were made to the court by A. J. Shores on Wednesday in behalf of the Amalgamated Copper company or its constituent companies.

The first was that of the Parrot Silver and Copper company, which seeks to have vacated the order of survey granted by Judge Clancy in the case of the Nipper Consolidated company against the Parrot company. The second was to have the supreme court command Judge Clancy to desist from proceeding with the trial of the case of Edward Hickey and others against the Anaconda and Washoe companies, which the latter have appealed. Two other applications of a similar import were made in actions in which John MacGinnis is plaintiff and the Boston and Montana company defendant, and in support of his applications the products of the mines are alleged to be biased and prejudicial on the part of Judge Clancy.

The supreme court granted the orders and made them returnable June 24. Judge Clancy is ordered to show cause why the writs as sought by the Amalgamated should not issue.

Diamond merchants, and even the great diamond trust itself, have suffered from the same cause and are now imploring us to abandon their sale, offering all sorts of inducements. Custom house officials in the principal American ports offer the same complaints and have repeatedly seized and exacted enormous duties on Montana Diamonds, believing them to be real gems. # Sunstroke Insurance

When the summer's heat gets about 90 degrees, you are liable to be sunstruck any time you are out in the sun, unless you take proper precautions. Several years ago, the writer of this, who has spent much of his life in the tropics, thought he was safe from sunstroke. One day he collapsed remained unconscious for five hours, and at times his life was despaired of. As a matter of fact, any person whose stomach and bowels are in bad shape in the summer time, is liable to be sunstruck in temperature that would be harmless under normal conditions. That's all there is to it. Stomach and bowels full of fermenting, fermenting refuse that forms acids and gases, raise the heat of the body and blood many degrees. Scientists have found that natives of the South Sea Islands, living on laxative fruit, bananas, coconuts bread-fruit, have a temperature 20 degrees lower than that of white men who are careless about their food or their bowels. It has been found in years of experience, that a CASCARET Candy Cathartic taken a bed-time every night will keep the body clean and cool inside all day, and forms a safe and thoroughly reliable form of sunstroke insurance.
