Savings Bank Dividends.

The Savings Bank of Minneapolis makes a special feature of long time Certificates of Deposit, enabling it to pay a higher rate of interest than would otherwise be possible. Certificates are issued in sums of $100 or multiples. To draw interest, the money must remain in the Bank till the first of next year. Withdrawals before then lose the interest.

These Certificates are especially intended for depositors who are not likely to need their money before the first of the year.

Deposits made up till 3rd July draw interest from the first. Deposits made later draw interest from the first of the next month.

Interest on Certificates is mailed to the holders on the first day of every year.

Certificates are self-renewing. They need not be presented to the Bank till payment is wanted or till the Bank calls for them. By them the small depositor has a constant incentive to increase his deposit to $100, and so get higher interest.

After 3rd July the interest will be 4 1/2 per cent.

PRESENT RATE 5%.

An extremely handsome Booklet, entitled "The Seven Ages of Man," vividly illustrating in fourteen pictures the difference between the thrifty and thriftless life may be had free for the asking. It should be in every household.

REMOVAL.

The Bank will open its new quarters on Second Avenue and Fourth street S. Walton building, on 1st August.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED

Judge Elliott Grants Motion of W. H. Johnson, Superintendent of City Poor Department.

Evidence Tending to Help Defense Was Not Introduced at the Trial.

W. H. Johnson, superintendent of the city poor department, convicted of the misappropriation of public funds, has been granted a new trial by Judge Elliott. The grounds on which defendant's motion was allowed is the failure, during the trial, to introduce evidence which may have accused from the defendant and which should have gone before the jury.

Johnson was indicted about a year ago in the late municipal investigations. He was charged specifically with appropriating to his own use $150 of the city's money, which came into his possession through virtue of his office. He was convicted about two weeks ago. Sentence was deferred until after the decision on the motion for new trial, made a few weeks ago.

The defense offered at the trial was in brief that the money said to have been misappropriated was simply laid aside, with the full knowledge of members of the board of charities and corrections, of which Mr. Johnson was secretary, to be used as a sort of an emergency fund.

In the motion for a new trial argued for the defendant by Judge John H. Stiel and A. H. Hall, it was stated that through an oversight and partly through the extreme confidence on the part of Mr. Johnson, evidence of bank officials and others, which the jury in question had been deposited as city funds, was not introduced. After careful consideration Judge Elliott has decided that this evidence should have gone before the jury, and because it did not, a new trial is necessary.

Both the defendant and his attorneys have expressed the most gratified in the outcome of their motion and now state that no stone will be left unturned to secure and introduce all the evidence obtainable and to secure an acquittal next time.

PAVILIONS FENCED OFF

Private Establishments at Minnehaha Get No Relief in Court.

Judge Brooks yesterday afternoon refused to grant the injunction asked by the Minnehaha pavilion owners to prevent the Milwaukee road from erecting a fence along its right of way and in front of certain places. Men were at work this morning and the obstruction will be in place before another Sunday's profits can swell the pavilion owners' bank accounts.

The program of retaliation is being planned by the owners against the park board and the park rectory, and war is imminent.

The petition for an injunction was filed by Irwin A. Gardner, owner of the largest pavilion in the group. The chief argument urged was that in putting up the fence the road would obstruct a highway by prescription.

Under Joint Control.

The estate of the late D. F. Morgan presents the peculiar condition of being in charge of an administrator and an executor under a will. The conditions arose by refusal of Judge Lovely to serve as executor. An executor cannot be appointed by the court and therefore C. P. Walman was appointed for handling the estate jointly with E. A. Prendergast, executor.

BRAND NEW MAIL WAGONS

Will Be Used Between Postoffice and Railroad Stations Beginning To-morrow.

The wagons to be used in carrying mail between the local postoffice and the railroad stations were exhibited yesterday in front of the postoffice by C. B. Dickens of this city, who has secured the contract for handling the mail for the next four years. He will begin the new service to-morrow morning.

These attractive wagons, together with the harness, boxes and drivers to be furnished with them, were admired by Postmaster W. D. Hale and other business men. The wagons are of the best service yet obtained in Minneapolis, and the contract for handling the mail established when he did the same work eight years ago.

Lindemann Brothers of Faribault built the wagons at a cost of $2,400. There are four two-horse and six one-horse vehicles. Two of the big wagons are have a capacity of five tons and the smaller wagons are painted dark red, the body navy blue, the wire springing on the sides cream white. Plate glass windows on each side of the driver's seat are inscribed "U. S. Mail."

DAYTON'S DAYLIGHT SHOW

Holds a three days' sale Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—the greatest of the town has ever known. Everything in the store reduced.

MISS HEISSER GOES ABOARD

She Will Spend the Coming Winter in Art Centers of Europe.

Miss Margaret Heisser leaves to-night for Chicago and New York and will sail for Europe July 7 on the steamship Carpathia of the Cunard line. She will spend the winter in London, Paris and Rome in England and will go to Paris at the opening of the fall art season. She will spend a part of the winter in Florence and will probably go to Egypt before her return.

Mrs. Heisser has not exhibited any of her recent work in Minneapolis, although she has been working for several years that have been exhibited in New York and Chicago and have received very favorable consideration. Several of the best of these Minneapolis art patrons have secured privately. The art show will be held in Minneapolis during the summer at Brooks.

LIVED LIKE A BRUTE

Negro Arrested at Waseca Believed to Have Mised Several Small Boys.

Under arrest at Waseca, Minn., is a negro who is said to have enticed 15-year-old Felix Wrogack away from his home at 408 Main street, E. 2nd street, and compelled him to tramp about the country, living in a most revolting manner. Two Stillwater boys, Lloyd Campbell and Roy Blanchard, were also enticed away from their homes. The negro returns to give any information about himself and will probably be charged with kidnaping.

WENT DOWN IN LAKE

Joseph Prohaska of St. Paul Drowned in Round Lake—Leaves Large Family.

Joseph Prohaska, a carpenter, residing at 1045 Arcade street, St. Paul, was drowned in Round Lake last night. He was surrounded by several expert swimmers at the time. He made no outcry and his friends did not know he had drowned until his absence was noted. He was married and leaves a wife and eight young children. Two of whom are still in the cradle.

TWO MORE TO COME

The Kishinef Relief Committee Approves the Applications of Two More Sufferers.

Two more sufferers from the anti-Semitic outbreak at Kishinef, Rumania, will be brought to Minneapolis at the expense of the local Jewish relief committee. This will make fifteen sufferers to be aided in like manner by the committee. The committee will meet to-morrow night to consider other applications for relief.

Letters received substantiate the telegraphed reports that anti-Semitic sentiment is spreading to Russian cities heretofore unaffected.

CENSOR WAS SASSY

Letter of F. H. Forbes to Boer Officer Returned With Curt Note by Britisher.

Answer to Subsequent Letter Gives Light on Present Conditions in South Africa.

Memories of the South African war are recalled in a letter received a few days ago by F. H. Forbes of this city. General Grobler, in command of the southern division of the Boer forces, was a commissioner from the Orange Free State at the Columbian and Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893, and visited Minneapolis. While here he and Mr. Forbes established a strong friendship.

During the Boer war Mr. Forbes wrote to General Grobler. About two months later his letter was returned him by the British military authorities in the field, opened by a censoring officer with the initials "C. M. G." and had been remailed to Minneapolis at Bloomfontein.

The officer had scribbled at the foot of Mr. Forbes' letter the following: "You had better employ a Boer post to deliver your letter. Why send such trash to England?"

The only reference that Mr. Forbes made to the war in South Africa was in the following: "I have been deeply interested in the British-Boer war, especially so when I chanced one day to see your picture in one of our local dailies and noting that evidence of bank officials and others, which the jury in question had been deposited as city funds, was not introduced. After careful consideration Judge Elliott has decided that this evidence should have gone before the jury, and because it did not, a new trial is necessary."

Mr. Forbes was advised by his friends to call the attention of the United States government to the insulting note of the British censoring officer, but did not think the fellow worth the powder.

When peace had been declared Mr. Forbes again wrote to General Grobler and a few days ago received a long letter containing, among other things: "The case will be closed by the United States government and independence which was so sacred to us, at enormous sacrifices. We ourselves have been ruined entirely, which is the case with every people; our homes have been burned down and destroyed, and all our property taken away, so that we have to struggle very hard for a living. We are not able to pay you back, but we are gradually as best we can, although I am afraid it will take a considerable time before we can quite recoup from the 'black war.' It would like nothing better than that another trip to your lovely country, but I will not be able to afford it for a long while to come yet. Perhaps it would be more interesting to you now to call the time to have your letter in a day or two. But you would be astonished indeed to hear of some harrowing atrocities which I have experienced during the late war. However, it is perhaps wiser to forget."

"If you will be kind enough to forward the letter mentioned by you, with the request that the censor will, indeed, be very interesting to me."

A WIRELESS TO DULUTH

H. P. Hall Says Marconi Will Install a System in the Fall.

Marconi, the inventor of wireless telegraphy, is coming to Minneapolis and St. Paul this fall to superintend the installation of his system from the twin cities to Duluth. H. P. Hall, secretary of the St. Paul Jobbers' association, and G. J. Whelan, secretary of the Northwestern Manufacturers' association, returned yesterday from Chicago, where they have been conferring with the western representatives of Marconi, who promised that he would arrange to come this way early in the autumn.

Mr. Hall says that the Marconi system is now admitted to have passed the experimental stage, and is now a commercial proposition with a greater future than the telephone, the electric light or other inventions which were the marvels of the world when they made their appearance.

IN CISTERN TWO HOURS

Trying Experience of Domestic in Chicago Avenue Home.

In a cistern, under the floor of the basement in the residence of Chauncey Foster, 3487 Chicago avenue, Sadie Kugler, a domestic, struggled for two hours to get her head above water. She was nearly exhausted when her frantic cries for help were heard by pedestrians on the sidewalk and she was rescued.

Miss Kugler went to the basement early yesterday morning and stepped upon the covering of the cistern. The boards broke and she was plunged into the water. She was unable to get her head above water. She caught hold of the pump rod and shouted for help, but her cries were unavailing until Captain Nick Jergins of the central police station yesterday, showed that the man had been suffering from pneumonia as well as alcoholism. The alcoholic symptoms doubtless misled the examining physician from the city hospital who refused to order the man taken to the hospital. Roach's remains were claimed by his relatives in St. Paul.

HAD PNEUMONIA, TOO

Roach's Alcoholic Symptoms Probably Misled City Hospital Exam.

A post mortem performed upon Martin Roach, the man who fell into a well at the central police station yesterday, showed that the man had been suffering from pneumonia as well as alcoholism. The alcoholic symptoms doubtless misled the examining physician from the city hospital who refused to order the man taken to the hospital. Roach's remains were claimed by his relatives in St. Paul.

CAMILLA URSO'S BIOGRAPHY

Charles Barnard of the Century Company Will Compile It.

Admirers of Camilla Urso, the violinist who made her home in Minneapolis for a time and was so greatly admired by Minneapolisians both for her art and her charming personality, will have an opportunity before long to own her biography. The New York Times Saturday Review announces its approaching publication thus: "Charles Barnard, with the Century company, has received from Frederick Luere, husband and manager of the late Camilla Urso, a correspondence, diaries and papers, and will compile from them an authorized biography of the distinguished woman. Mr. Barnard desires to be brought into correspondence with the friends of Camilla Urso who have letters or copies of autographic material, criticisms which might help in this work."

THOUGHT AMES MAYOR

A Chicago City Official Who'd Have Made a Good Juror.

Dr. A. A. Ames received a request the other day from John O'Neill, superintendent of the track elevation in Chicago, for information regarding doctor crossings and dogpits, and Ames, who was added to Mayor Ames, the doctor forwarded the epistle to Mayor Haynes with the following humorous note attached: "Dear Mayor: I am in a position to make reductions in its clearing sale that will attract buyers far and near."

A NOTEWORTHY SALE

The Importance of the July Clearing Sale at Dayton's.

The public of Minneapolis will find the July sale of the Dayton (formerly Good-fellow) Dry Goods Company, which begins to-morrow a selling event of unusual importance. It is now a little more than a year that this store moved to its present location at Seventh and Nicollet. The growth of its business during that time has been nothing short of phenomenal. The inventory, just completed, fulfills, in its showing, every expectation. The sale is in a position to make reductions in its clearing sale that will attract buyers far and near.

MISHAPS ARE RARE

Accidents Caused by Automobiles in Minneapolis Almost Unknown—Chauffeurs Careful.

The fact that no fatal accidents, and few accidents of any kind have been caused by automobiles in Minneapolis indicates that most of the chauffeurs are careful in the operation of their machines, and that reckless drivers are in the minority. A prominent automobilist has estimated that the aggregate number of miles covered by automobiles daily in this city is more than 6,000, and that on favorable days the aggregate mileage will reach 10,000 or 12,000, but in spite of this accidents are exceedingly rare. The Automobile club is working hard to keep its members mindful of the rights of pedestrians and drivers of horses, and it has addressed the following open letter to the members of the club, as well as to owners and drivers of automobiles who are not members:

Owing to the efforts of the Minneapolis Automobile Club a law was passed last winter governing the use of automobiles in this state. Liberal speed regulations were incorporated, and the friendly attitude of legislation and the success of the automobile clubs that in the operation of machines the drivers would use great care and the careful of the rights and feelings of others. It is the duty of every automobilist to observe the law as well as in the villages, as no municipality can pass an ordinance conflicting with the state law.

The park commissioners of this city have made liberal speed regulations for automobiles upon our parks and boulevards, viz: fifteen miles an hour, except upon crossings, and then four miles an hour if persons upon same. These were the speeds asked for by the Minneapolis Automobile Club, and the park commission was assured that the club would do its utmost to have the ordinance complied with. Fifteen miles an hour is fast enough upon our boulevards and park roads, but it is not safe for animals or machines. Now the question arises: Shall we, by careless running and reckless operation, bring upon ourselves the contempt of the public, or shall we, by reckless operation of machines or seemingly reckless operation, bring upon ourselves the contempt of our neighbors and friends, and soon bring out drastic regulations by the park board and at the next session of the legislature, and the result of our own carelessness? We do not believe that a high rate of speed should be the chief aim of the automobilist who is not a professional driver. The chief aim of any person, due to carelessness of drivers of machines, will be a sad memory for life, and will be compensated for by the temporary exhilaration of fast running. The stringent laws recently passed in New York and some other states are due to the reckless operation of some of the larger machines.

The great majority of users in this city are careful. It is the few who bring discredit upon the many, and it is hoping to deter all from reckless running that this communication is published.

The public is requested to report the number of any machine which is being carelessly operated, to the secretary of the Automobile Club, and the owner will be dealt with according to the rules of the club, which are designed to prevent unsafe operation of machines.

—Robert A. Hastings, Secretary,
 1031 Guaranty Building.
 By authority of the board of directors.

WEATHER FOR A WEEK

Report of Weather Bureau on Climate and Crops.

The weekly climate and crop service bulletin of the weather bureau, issued today, says:

The week opened cool, but the temperatures rose slowly all the week. There was hardly any rain during the week, except in the extreme southwest. All the weather in the middle south and the middle west; in the dry regions the rains will afford only momentary relief.

From the counties of the Minnesota valley northward the oats, barley, fax, corn and grass on spring plowed land and on sandy soil are injured by the drought, or they are in danger of injury, but on the fall plowed land and on clay soils these crops and wheat are in good condition to stand the dry weather, though they are not progressing much; on all fields the surface is very dry, but on the latter soils there is moisture under the surface. In the poor places wheat only six inches high is shooting to head, and late sown barley and fax are unprospered. Grass and pastures are poor.

In the Minnesota valley and southward there is plenty of moisture in the uplands and in the southwest corner of the state the lowlands are wet; in the middle south and the southeast the soil is very dry, and the hard surface soil. There is some rust on the wheat and oats in the middle Minnesota valley, but the dry weather has checked it, and also the rank growth of these grains. Barley is generally heading well, and oats are coming into head. Clover and timothy hay is being saved. Rice is ripening.

J. W. RAYMOND RETIRES

W. H. Dunwoody Succeeds Him as President of N. W. Nat'l Bank

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Northwestern National bank directors today, action was reluctantly taken on the election of the new president to succeed J. W. Raymond. Some months ago, on account of ill health, Mr. Raymond tendered his resignation, but the directors declined to act upon it at that time in the hope that he might ultimately be able to resume his duties. However, it still being Mr. Raymond's determination to retire the directors, to-day elected W. H. Dunwoody as president. Mr. Dunwoody has been a director since Jan. 1, 1876. He has twice been vice president, has been chairman of the board of directors and executive committee, and has taken more than a merely formal interest in the affairs of the institution. Judge M. B. Koon, a director since Jan. 1, 1881, was made vice president. The directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, thus maintaining the Northwestern National's reputation as a steady dividend payer. Since its organization in 1872 it has averaged 8 per cent dividends every year.
