SELMMA, Iowa, Jan. 4, 1903.

Dr. Rucker—Dear Sir: My daughter, Mrs. Noble, of Des Moines, attended your lectures at that place, and thinking perhaps that it would do me some good, bought three boxes for me which I have been taking, and since taking there have been two worms pass me in length between one and two feet long, and looking something like the skin of a snake. I have suffered death many times with my stomach, and I would not take $500 in place of your medicine, and what it has done for me.

Yours very truly, MRS. J. S. PEPPER.

The governor of each state and territory may appoint delegates, the mayor of each city of less than 25,000

RAILROADS.

HOBOES NOT SO NUMEROUS

Harvest Hands Will Not Be Molested as Last Year.

In the opinion of the railroad men of the northwest, the vicious and harvest-hand robbing hobo will not be in evidence in this region this year.

Last year and the years before that the hobo infested the wheat belt for the sole purpose of preying on the harvest hands when he was returning from the fields with the returns for his toil in his pocket. This custom has had a tendency to discourage the honest harvest hand, but last year the railroads got after the hobo so strenuously that they will probably fight shy of this region this year.

The low rates to the harvest fields went into effect yesterday, and while the business will be confined to business men going west for the next few days, the industry already made indicate an increase of 100 per cent in the number of harvest hands.

WAR BY STRONG LINES

They Are Making It Hot for Convention City Scalpers.

The passage of the Elkins law has paved the way for the systematic attack now being made by the strong railroads on the scalpers at convention points. At San Francisco and New Orleans injunctions have already been obtained prohibiting scalpers from handling any sort of tickets, thus effectually putting them out of business.

In disposing of the ticket scalpers, the roads have also tied the hands of the weaker lines, which have been accustomed to sell cut-rate tickets thru the scalpers. It is the announced determination of the big roads to make no special rate to convention or similar points until injunctions against the scalpers have been obtained under the Elkins law.

RECORD FOR A VETERAN

Man of Sixty-five Makes Seven Centuries on Wheel in Seven Days.

On his way to Syracuse to visit his brother-in-law, Jeremiah Sullivan of Chicago, 65 years old, a retired business man, rode 700 miles from Chicago to Batavia, N. Y., on a bicycle, and abandoned his wheel in the latter city only because of heavy rain. His average was 100 miles a day. Sullivan is a veteran of the civil war days.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES

Adam Bard, of this city, made a record catch of fish at Buffalo lake, on the Soo road, Sunday. He caught one pickerel, which weighed twenty-two pounds, and three others which weighed two, two and one-half, fourteen and twelve pounds. A four-pound bass brought him total to seventy pounds in addition. Mr. Bard caught a bunch of crappie.

Plans are under consideration for the re-establishment of the defunct Illinois motorcycle racing association, in an effort to put exciting races into the corner places in college sports. Columbia and Yale are the prime movers in the matter.

The health of Harry Vardon, the noted British professional golfer, has broken down and he has been ordered to rest until late in the season.

Ray Chase, of Alexandria, who was challenged to a glass ball shooting contest by A. H. Hardy, of Grand Haven, Mich. this year, so as to better fitted for a hard campaign against the rest of the college of the west when the season opens. George H. Hardy, athletic director of Illinois university, was in Grand Haven yesterday completing arrangements for training quarters, etc.

"The outlook at Illinois is rather uncertain," said Huff. "Of course, I hope to have a good team, but there is always a doubt about it. Some of the men are very promising. Wisconsin will not play Illinois this season. I hope to be among the leaders, at any rate."

LIKE A VAMPIRE.

Remorselessly Saps the Vitality of Its Victims.

The story of the blood-sucking vampire makes the strongest nerves "creep," but in the case of dyspepsia familiarity often "breeds contempt." The confirmed dyspeptic often looks gaunt and yellow and cannot smile at the merriest jest. But many more people reach the fatal stage of stomach trouble before any external signs of the ravages of the disease are noted. The appearance of the victim is seldom as repulsive as in the case of many other diseases which are less dangerous.

Chase's Dyspepsia Cure is a positive remedy for ANY CASE of dyspepsia or stomach trouble. It is a liquid preparation, immediately effective, and the first dose gives relief.

There is nothing equal to it in the world for curing indigestion, heartburn, gastritis, distress and belching after meals, sick headache, nausea and other stomach disorders. Do not stick to the old-fashioned pills and tablets, on the hit-or-miss plan, but try a modern remedy which will surely cure you.

It is not this statement of Mr. Frank Shinn of Yardville conclusive? "I do gladly say that your Dyspepsia Cure which you sent me has greatly relieved the distress from which I have suffered for the past three years. I can recommend it to any one who has dyspepsia. God bless the good man who invented it; long may he live and prosper!"

Guaranteed by all druggists to cure, or they will refund the money paid.

THE SHADOW OF GREATNESS

It Is Too Much for the Son of John Brisben Walker.

New York Sun Special Service.

Denver, Col., July 28.—William Walker, son of John Brisben Walker of the Cosmopolitan Magazine, is charged in a criminal warrant sworn out by M. J. Moore, clerk of the district court, with disturbance and carrying concealed weapons.

Moore says that young Walker and he had a rough and tumble fight at Troutdale, a summer resort in Platte Canyon and while Moore has a black eye, he claims that he thoroughly whipped Walker. The cause of the fight as given by Moore, was Walker's brutal threats and insults to two reputable Denver ladies, one of them the wife of a Pinkerton official. Moore says the ladies, who were living in adjoining cottages were so badly terrorized by Walker that they did not dare to go out doors for two days when Moore says, he learned of their trouble, hunted up Walker, demanded an explanation and became involved in the fight. The ladies then hurried to their homes here.

They confirm Moore's story and will appear in court if necessary. They say Walker carried a large revolver and terrorized everybody in the vicinity of Troutdale. Moore says he was told by the landlord of Walker's hotel that he knew of the outrage but would not interfere because it was Brisben Walker's son.

RIVER TRAFFIC GROWS

Quincy Arrives with Full Passenger List and Big Cargo.

Reports from steamboat agents in St. Paul indicate a revival of steamboat travel on the Mississippi as a means of enjoying a summer vacation. Freight traffic is also big.

The steamer Quincy came in yesterday with every stateroom filled and a large cargo on board. Most of the passengers booked were from St. Louis and other down-river points and were making the round trip. June was a very satisfactory month to the steamboat people and July promises much. The Quincy brought up a large cargo of general merchandise and will return with a larger cargo of machinery, flour and other heavy freight for St. Louis and neighboring points.

Much Trolley Line Building.

The activity in trolley line building in the vicinity of Chicago promises to connect Chicago and Dubuque and Chicago and Madison within the next few months. There is already building a line from Galena, Ill., to Elgin, Ill., which will connect at Elgin with the Aurora, Elgin & Chicago trolley line. A spur from this line will run from Winneago, Ill., to Byron, where a connection and a traffic arrangement will be made with the Great Western. The completion of the Galena-Elgin road will fill the gap between Chicago and Madison, Wis.

RAILROAD NOTES.

President D. J. Kimball of the Norfolk & Western railroad, who died yesterday, spent his life in railroad work, beginning as a road man on the Pennsylvania in 1862.

After a visit to the wheat fields of the far west, Vice President J. M. Hansford of the Northern Pacific returns with the belief that the crop harvested in Minnesota and the Dakotas

FOOTBALL

The University of Illinois football team will put in about two weeks' preparatory work at Grand Haven, Mich. this year, so as to better fitted for a hard campaign against the rest of the college of the west when the season opens.

George H. Hardy, athletic director of Illinois university, was in Grand Haven yesterday completing arrangements for training quarters, etc.

"The outlook at Illinois is rather uncertain," said Huff. "Of course, I hope to have a good team, but there is always a doubt about it. Some of the men are very promising. Wisconsin will not play Illinois this season. I hope to be among the leaders, at any rate."

That Curse Called Rumor.

A vivid illustration of the gross injustice a rumor can do is seen in the "Force" Food Company's advertisement of this date, wherein a reward of $5,000 is offered for the conviction of the parties, who initiated the suggestion that a single package of the fifty million sold contained anything except Wheat, Barley and Table Salt. It is, of course, a complete refutation of the rumor, even if the State Supervision of Foods was not in itself ample protection.

People who love fair play in business, as well as in other matters, will read with indignation that it has cost The "Force" Food Company over $50,000 to publish a refutation of this "rumor" in the newspapers of the United States and Canada, and, probably, as much more in loss of sales resulting from the baseless gossip which did the harm.

The absurdity of the rumor is apparent when it is known that the public has consumed fifty million packages of "Force" without a single instance of any ill effect upon any one of the users.
