BANK IN BAD SHAPE

Light Is Shed on the Disappearance of the Minneapolis Lumberman.

His Sudden Departure Was a Surprise Even to His Attorney.

Badly tangled seem to be the Montgomery affairs of George S. Brainerd, a lumberman of this city, who is president of the collapsed Farmers and Merchants' bank of Montgomery, Minn., the story of which was told in The Journal last night.

Under a writ of attachment the sheriff searched the bank at Montgomery and found $75 in cash, but was unable to get into the vault. An examination of the books showed cash on hand of only $604, whereas the deposits are close to $50,000.

Altho Brainerd was usually conservative, it has been learned since his disappearance that he was working on a "wildcat" banking scheme to establish an international bank whose operations should extend around the globe.

A. H. Hall, Brainerd's attorney, says his client's disappearance is a total surprise to him. "I have been his attorney for some time," he adds, "and I thought I knew his business affairs thoroly, but it seems I did not. The lumber company here is in good shape." The company represents the Brainerd, Decker & Blumer company.

Judge Dickinson of the municipal court finished the breaking up of a tough gang which has infested the neighborhood of Twenty-sixth street and Twenty-seventh street for the past year. He sentenced Charles Rohlean to sixty days in the workhouse, Rudolph Leahy to pay a fine of $50 and the workhouse for sixty days, and John McArthur to pay a fine of $15.

The boys were charged with assaulting Norman McNeal. The fight took place in the hallway leading to the rooms over hardware store at 2314 E. Twenty-sixth street, the night of July 27. Patrolman George Thmet arrived too late to save McNeal a broken collar bone. Leahy was arrested after a hard fight, but the other two boys escaped and were not arrested until last night.

Leahy acknowledged that he had been in court on several occasions, having been arrested for boarding a moving train, for stealing brass and again for assaulting a policeman. The other two had never been in court before.

"Any man or boy coming before this court for the first time," said Judge Dickinson, "is entitled to some clemency, but when he returns repeatedly and shows no intention of reforming, he cannot hope to receive a light sentence."

Those who live near Idle Hour fear an epidemic. There were thirty decorators and painters at work on the building preparing for the fall season. It is believed that the typhoid and has been hurried to this city by the house is situated in the middle of a swamp and the cellar of the mansion is filled with water and ooze.

SWIM NIGARA

Practically all of this crop will be milled and manufactured into macaroni in Cincinnati, E. L. Lohr, the twin cities and other places in this country. WORD FOR MACARONI Variety of Wheat New in Northwest Defended by Government Expert.

C. S. Scofield Says It Will Thrive Where Spring Wheat Will Fail.

"A consistent and helpful consideration of the whole macaroni wheat problem will discover to farmers in this region certain varieties of macaroni wheat much surer in doubtfully than the best of spring wheats," said C. S. Scofield of the United States department of agriculture, when questioned here yesterday as to the future of macaroni wheat.

Mr. Scofield, in recent years commissioned to study the subject in Algeria and Marselles, is in the position of a specialist on the best in the production of this cereal an opportunity for the grain men of the northwest to become established in the Mediterranean flour trade, just as they have done in the foothold in England, Germany and other north European countries.

"There is no reason that I know of why macaroni wheat should not be as valuable to the farmer as the old fashioned spring wheat," said Mr. Scofield. "There is a broad belt stretching from the Jim river valley on the north to western Nebraska on the south where spring wheat produces a crop about once in six years but where the harder macaroni wheat will grow every year, and will run on an average 30 per cent over the spring wheat."

"If you were to go out to the state experimental farm at St. Anthony Park and see growing side by side the ordinary spring wheat and the macaroni wheat, you would readily see that the macaroni wheat is the more hardy and why it is that it will thrive on two or three less inches of rainfall than the spring wheat."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
