The wedding of Miss Mary J. Martin and John T. Jones was pretty solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin, 1716 Hennepin avenue. Flowers and ferns made a charming decoration thru the rooms. Palms and ferns with delicate sweet peas formed an altar before which the service was read, and roses were with the ferns in the dining room.

A large group of friends gathered to witness the service, which was read by Rev. Mr. Francis of the Baptist church. Miss Nellie Thomas was bridesmaid and wore white Paris muslin and carried pink roses. The flower girl, little 4-year-old Marguerite Chase, was also in white, and she held a basket of white marguerites. The bride's gown was of white and was fashioned with lace appliques. She wore a veil and carried white sweet peas.

Hydrangeas produced a charming effect in the living room and roses were on the table in the dining-room. The chandeliers were wreathed with smilax and the glossy tendrils were placed around doorways and windows.

Mrs. George Hawes entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at her home at Washburn Park. The guests were Mr. Perry R. Day of Bagley. The guests were a group of Mrs. Day's girl friends. The room was effectively decorated with mountain blue and pink flowers.

An effective note to the decorations was given by Mrs. Birkbeck's daughter, Mrs. B. J. Dudley, Misses Grace Saunders and Grace Duntley assisted Mr. and Mrs. Birkbeck. Mrs. B. J. Dudley read an appropriate poem and Mrs. Helen Nelson contributed musical numbers. Mr. and Mrs. Birkbeck were presented with a number of the articles.

Secretary Ross's Resignation. The reported intention of Secretary Ross to leave the cabinet has drawn forth some decidedly complimentary notices even from the opposition press. Mr. Ross has been doing the work laid out for him by the Spanish war and should now be allowed to retire. Most men can't say they have completed their duties, but the man who keeps plugging away and does his best everyday certainly deserves golden grain belt beer to cheer and refresh him in body and mind. It's good for those who work and should be in every home.

WANTED—A TROUSSEAU

Man Made an Attempt to Steal Bridal Gowns of Miss Gladys Brooks. Newport, R. I., Sept. 3.—It is thought that an attempt was made to-day to steal the bridal gowns of Miss Gladys Brooks, who is to wed E. V. R. Thayer, Jr., at noon to-morrow. While Miss Brooks and Thayer and the wedding party were at Trinity church this morning going thru a rehearsal for the ceremony to-morrow a man appeared at Dunston's dressmaking establishment, where the brooks trousseau is stored, and showing a badge said he came for the purpose of examining the gowns. He was shown upstairs and a few moments later he was caught in one of the large trunks belonging to Miss Brooks. He could not explain this, but declared he would go with any one to the gas office to prove his identity.

A man started with the fellow to the gas office, but on the way the impostor slipped around a corner and has not been seen since.
