MASONS ALL BUSY

A Montana Contractor Seizes but Few Men Here.

Thomas J. Tubb, a contractor from Lewiston, Mont., is thoroughly convinced that all the stonemasons in Minneapolis are at work, in spite of the strikes and rumors of strikes which he has read about recently. Mr. Tubb, who is badly in need of stonemasons, came to Minneapolis and advertised from the Rogers hotel for men. Altho he advertised in all the papers, he received but two replies in two days.

We sell roofing paint and repair all kinds of leaky roofs. W. S. Nott company. Both phones, 375.

CONSERVATIVE PEOPLE.

A Few Suggestions to Those Who Will Appreciate Them.

Some of the most intelligent and otherwise broad-minded people in this community would not buy a medicine of any kind simply because it was advertised. Yet they would buy a breakfast food, suit of clothes, brand of tea or coffee, crackers or dress goods, anything to eat or wear, because it was advertised. It is really a matter of prejudice and the reader is apt to remember that many of the good things of life would have been hidden from him forever but for the form of publicity known as advertising.

This is especially applicable to Chase's Dyspepsia Cure, which is not one of the "curealls," but a sterling specific for the prompt and reliable treatment of dyspepsia and stomach troubles exclusively. Neither you nor your doctor would probably ever have heard of this incomparable remedy but for advertising, and if you have any symptoms of derangement of the digestive organs, try it and you are promised a speedy cure, and, more than that, relief at the first dose.

Chase's Dyspepsia Cure is prepared in liquid form so as to reach the affected parts without taxing the weakened stomach to dissolve it as becomes necessary in the use of tablets and pills. This enables it to act quickly and effectively, as the virtues of the ingredients are immediately available and act in harmony. To prove the integrity of the remedy, every bottle is sold under a positive guarantee by the druggist to give satisfaction, or the money will be refunded.

LIMBS STRAIGHT NOW

Successful Operations on Little Eleanor Skinner.

Little Eleanor Skinner of Oakland avenue, this city, whose treatment by Dr. Lorenz has attracted attention among surgeons, arrived a day or two ago from Chicago, where the final operation was performed by Dr. Mueller. Dr. Mueller and the parents say that the Lorenz operation was a complete success and that by the middle of October, when the present cast is taken off, the little girl will be perfectly normal.

Eleanor suffered from a double congenital dislocation of the hips. She appeared to be crippled for life. Her limbs were worked about twice a day and when they stood out at right angles from the body, when the trunk and the limbs to the knee were encased in a plaster cast for several months and when the sockets would eventually be formed thru the pull of the tendons, the play at the joint and the course of nature. This cast remained on several months and when removed, all that was expected had been accomplished. The next operation was to bring the limbs to their normal position, for which another cast was necessary. This was performed by Dr. Mueller.

A VOLUNTEERS' MATCH

A Wedding Rounds Out a Romance Begun in School.

A wedding which rounded out a romance which began three years ago, took place last evening, when Captain John Herbert Berry of the Volunteers of America and Miss Amelia Evelyn Rasmussen of Shawano, Wis., were married at the home of Rev. George Andrick on Western avenue. About thirty officers and soldiers of the Volunteers were present and the service was read by Adjutant Andrick. Miss Helen Stromberg was bridesmaid and Fred Walker acted as best man. A wedding supper was served from tables decked with carnations and ferns.

Captain Berry met Miss Rasmussen while he was attending school in Evanston, Ill. For a time Captain Berry was engaged in special work for the Volunteers in Michigan, but he has recently returned from active work and is now in business.

$1,000,000 FOR FUZZY

Legal Contest for a Pug Brings Out Dog's Great Value—No Bidders.

To retain possession of her pet pug dog, Mrs. C. E. Bonbach, wife of Claudius E. Bonbach of the state auditor's office, St. Paul, furnished yesterday a bond of $50, after a constable had served upon her writ of replevin issued by O. E. Dodge, a real estate man. Mr. Dodge maintains that he lost the dog two years ago. "Why, I've owned Fuzzy for at least ten years," declares Mrs. Bonbach. "I wouldn't take $500,000—no, not even $1,000,000, if anyone should offer it for my little dog!"

Market dull; no bids.

HE'S A DEAD DOG

Ponderous Formality Observed in Case of a Toy Terrier.

That all policemen are not impolite was proved in police court yesterday when Lieutenant Burnell, in charge of the court detail handed the following note to Judge Dickinson:

Dear Sir: This is to certify that the Lumber dog is dead and is not back and ready to the pleasure of the health department. Your truly, P. J. Quaker, Lieutenant Second Precinct.

The note was the final report in the case of Miss Lumber, who was in court yesterday charged with keeping a microscopically vicious dog. She was fined $5 and the fine suspended until the dog was killed. Judge Dickinson dismissed the case this morning when he received the note.

CREEK BEHEADED

Bassett's Creek Will Be a Creek Sometimes Even if Cut-off Is Dug.

So Says Sewer Engineer—But Cut-off Would Be of Great Benefit.

"Bassett's creek will never run dry, even if it is diverted to Cedar lake and Minnehaha," says Sewer Engineer Carl Istrup. "I notice that many of the people interested in the Bassett's creek problem infer that there will be no creek in the city at all when Mr. Henry's plans are completed. This will not be the case and it would not be desirable even if it were possible. North Minneapolis needs Bassett's creek to assist in carrying off the surplus rainfall. If it should be cut off, the question to think of caring for all the rainfall by sewers; not from an engineering standpoint, but on account of the great expense. On account of the formation of the land, water will collect in the valley in great quantities after heavy rains, and the present creek must assist in carrying it off."

"The proposed ditch from the creek to Cedar lake will greatly relieve the situation, but it will not take all of the water in Bassett's creek for the latter, in addition to being the outlet for Medicine lake, is also the outlet for Keegan's lake, Twin lakes and other small bodies of water which discharge below the point from which the proposed cut-off ditch to Cedar lake is planned."

In order to guard against a repetition of the floods in the Bassett's creek valley, it may be necessary to establish gates at the outlets of the various lakes feeding Bassett's creek, to hold back the water in cases of unusual rainfall.

"The spirit shown by the North Siders in this matter is very commendable and they should keep the agitation going, providing the necessary funds. The North Side is more directly interested in the matter than the South Side, and, but if the proposed improvement is a public matter, it will be of benefit to the whole community."

The feasibility of F. M. Henry's plan is confirmed by Professor F. W. Sarsden of the state university, who has studied the geology of that part of the county, and who formally suggested a plan similar to Mr. Henry's to the city engineer three years ago.

MONEY FOR SURVEY

Minneapolis Real Estate Board Makes Appropriation.

The Minneapolis Real Estate Board at its special meeting at the Commercial club called to discuss the diversion of Bassett's creek to Minnehaha creek, appropriated $75 for a survey of the new route and appointed a committee of five to act with committees of other bodies in regard to the enterprise.

F. M. Henry, who originated the plan, explained the scheme, showing that with economical management it would not cost more than $12,000 to carry out the plan. The new ditch would drain swamp land, while the district now drained by the creek would be freed from the diversion. Mr. Henry said that Medicine lake, the source, is 3 1/2 feet higher than Lake Harriet.

DRIVERS MAKE RUTS

Habit of "Following" Causes Bad Condition of Streets in North Minneapolis.

Appropriation of $25,000 Will Be Asked to Improve Suburban Thoroughfares.

Teamsters are often the greatest enemies of good roads. The teamsters for the big lumber companies on the Second street and Portland avenue roads, all other agencies combined, including the rains. It is the teamsters that cause the ruts, for the habit of "following" the wheels of the lumber trucks, and no amount of advice from their employers is of any avail.

C. A. Smith and C. A. Boye, representing the big lumbermen of the North Side, admitted this deplorable state of affairs, when discussing the matter of paving in North Minneapolis. Between Twenty-second and Fourth and between Third and Washington avenues is in very bad condition, but as there was nothing before the council paving committee, the city, Sir of interesting the property owners to agree on some kind of pavement was referred to the lumbermen.

The committee refused to interfere between the First ward aldermen and the property owners on Thirteenth avenue NE in the matter of selecting a paving material for that street. The aldermen have ordered creosoted blocks, but the property owners now clamor for granite. This cannot be obtained this season, but the creosoted blocks will be used. The first ward aldermen and their constituents were told to fight their battles at home.

$25,000 for Good Roads.

An appropriation of $25,000 for beginning the work of improving the main arteries of travel from the city to the suburbs, the country is recommended by the council's special committee on good roads. A report on that subject will be presented to the council to-morrow evening and the council will undoubtedly request the board of tax levy to include such a sum for street improvement in the budget for 1904.

Favor Street Vacation.

The council committee on railroads has voted to favor the application of the Chicago Great Western Railway company for the vacation of Eleventh avenue S north of Second street, and the street north of First street and half a block on First street between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues. As the railway company owns all the land on both sides of the street which are to be vacated, the streets will become its property and will be used for railway purposes.

W. H. Vanderburg, who owns some real estate in the vicinity objects to the vacation, alleging that they will decrease the value of his property. In all likelihood there will be another law suit brought by the property owners in the neighborhood to recover damages from the Great Western.

FIVE MORE COTTAGES

Wisconsin Syndicate Will Build on Third Ave. N. Near Penn.

The Wisconsin Syndicate, which built the Wisconsin apartment houses at Seventh street and Hennepin, has bought five lots in Mason's addition, on Third avenue N, 200 feet east of Penn avenue, and will build five attractive modern cottages, following a series of nine already built for sale on the modern plan of small payments without advance payment down. Work will begin at once. The syndicate is made up of the Moffett brothers, several of whom live in Minneapolis, namely, C. T. F. L. W. Z. J. B. and R. L.

A LECTURE'S EFFECT

Jennie Harve Censures Husband for Drinking—He Deserts—She Gets Divorce.

Wife After Thirty-six Years Seeks Release, Her Husband Having Deserted Her.

"I have not seen my husband for over a year and the last time I heard of him was in jail at Stillwater for living with another woman." This statement made to Judge Elliott yesterday by the defendant, constituted a solid foundation of evidence upon which Jennie Harvey secured a divorce from A. J. Harvey.

"The young woman had married a man six years her junior and only 18, in 1899. 'We lived happily enough until within a year or so,' she explained. 'The principal trouble was that Mr. Harvey drank a good deal. April 7, a year ago my husband came home drunk. I read him a little lecture about it and he went away. Since then I have not seen nor heard directly from him. After he had been gone a few days, I came to get my furniture which he said Mr. Harvey had sold him for $10. I redeemed the goods and since then have made my own living and that of my little girl.'"

An Aged Applicant.

One of the unusual cases that came up in the divorce court this morning was that brought by Mary O. Duprey, an old lady who has been married to Joseph Duprey for thirty-six years. In the matter of the divorce, she now asks for a legal separation. Desertion was alleged and proved.

Susan Schumacher told her troubles to the court and is not a free woman. She stated that she was married to Jacob Schumacher in Belgium, January, 1900. In August, 1900, the husband became insane and some time later he was without any ceremony deserted his youthful helpmate. He has not since been seen or heard from by his better half.

George Rowley's Case.

Five other unhappy wives and one lone dissatisfied man appeared in court this forenoon, told their stories and were given the relief they prayed for. George H. Rowley had the distinction of being the only male plaintiff in the list and he swore that he objected to being deserted by his wife and also to having her live with another man under his name.

Other divorces were granted to Marie Pearson from Swan Pearson, desertion; Gama R. Ferguson from Henry L. Ferguson, desertion; and to Mrs. Van Van, desertion; Jennie Louise Boettcher from Herman Boettcher, desertion; Maud V. Bean from Vernon E. Bean, drunkenness, cruelty and gambling; and Little Orr Barber from Calvin Corrie Barber, cruelty.

SOME HAT DREAMS

Big Millinery Opening Is On at Minneapolis Dry Goods Store Today.

A Grand Prix Hat Was the Object of Many Envious Eyes.

There is a beautiful display of rich millinery at the Minneapolis Dry Goods company store this season. The department has been greatly enlarged and improved in every way and there was a thing of a revolution in store for the hundreds of women who attended the first fall opening to-day. There were palms, cut flowers and goldenrod in profusion, and the large floor space was literally covered with the splendidly colored original rugs. And the hats—they simply beggared description. There was no more of the same old, same old, but all of them so different. Hats from Paris famous for their artistic productions, hats from the leading New York importers and the best of the best in the millinery department of the "Minneapolis" by Miss Wesselman, whose name is well known to lovers of fine hats in the city. In fact, the store is a fashion center that can boast of originality and artistic skill.

The opening was a treat for every woman fortunate enough to be present, and there was headgear to satisfy the bulgy or the gaunt purse.

Possibly the gem of the whole magnificent collection was the Grand Prix hat, designed by Virot & Benthé, a firm famous the world over. The body of the hat was made of moire velour and its high crown was circled with exquisite Jacques-milrot roses shaded from the deepest red to the palest pink. There were three Prince of Wales plumes in front and wide lace streamers in the back. The creation was something to talk about and wonder at. Many a woman lost her heart to the Grand Prix.

Another beauty was designed by Mme. Pouyanne, in fact, the Grand Prix hat was edged with the same fur. It was trimmed with shirred malin and valenclennes lace, and a beautiful white snake plume found its way gracefully around the crown. Pompons gave it a final graceful touch.

There were other beautifully designed hats from Helitz-Boyer, Virot, Josse and other famous designers.

There were many modest black hats of beautiful material in the way of Persian lamb trimmings, paon velvet and cross hatched.

The pattern rooms in the department are attractively furnished and perfect in appointments. Roses and palms are there plentifully. On the trees are beautiful oriental throws and the floors are strewn with oriental rugs.

The department is making a specialty of pretty bonnets for elderly women and a splendid selection has been provided.

Cloak and Suit Department.

There is a very many changes in the cloak and suit department, which adjoins the millinery parlors. There are new wardrobe rooms and new furnishings throughout. The stock is new and one of the largest ever brought to the northwest. The prevailing colors are black, blue and brown, and there are any number of suits in the long, stylish, masculine coat effects in plain and fancy zibeline goods, pan chevrons and hundreds of mixed goods styles.

DR. FROST MARRIED

Dean of Bible School Takes a Wife in Denver.

Dr. A. J. Frost, dean of the Northwestern Bible school, was married in Denver, Sept. 12, to Miss Louise Avery. Dr. and Mrs. Frost are expected to arrive in the city to-day. For two months he has been lecturing on the Pacific coast, and returns in time for the opening of the Northwestern Bible school.

The opening meeting of the school will be held in the evening of Sept. 30 in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, and will be addressed by Fred S. Goodman of New York city, religious secretary of the International Y. M. C. A. work. Oct 1 will take place the enrollment of students and the organization of classes. Four new members have been added to the faculty and the school will undoubtedly enroll a larger attendance than last year.

Rev. W. B. Riley will leave Thursday night for St. Paul, where he goes to hold evangelistic services. Five Baptist churches in that city combine in this invitation.

JAMES HAYES' DEED

The State Submits Its First Evidence Against the Colored Man.

Ruby Steele, Man's Alleged Victim, and Her Mother Appear in Court.

Evidence in the case against James Hayes, the colored man, accused of an attempted assault upon 13-year-old Ruby Steele, and on trial on the specific charge of burglary was introduced to-day of the defendant, represented by Attorneys McGhee and Curtis, listens without any apparent interest. Ruby Steele, her mother and sister, were in court early and form the center of interest to the crowd which filled Judge Pond's courtroom.

Mrs. Edith Steele, the complainant's mother, was the first witness called by the state. She told the story of the alleged attempted assault with a considerable display of feeling. She related how, between 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning of Aug. 24, she was awakened by screams coming from Ruby's bedroom. The mother hastened to ascertain the cause of the screams. She found Hayes, whom she positively identified this morning, leaning over the bed of the sleeping child.

"Before I hardly knew what had happened the man struck me in the head with his fist," explained the witness. "He hit me several times and once in the ear which bled profusely. The attack stunned me and before I could do anything more the man had grabbed Ruby and dragged out of the bedroom. He grabbed her feet but was not strong enough to keep him from pulling her thru the window, out onto the roof and off it to the ground."

Following this Mrs. Steele related how a search was instituted and later that girl was found bruised, bleeding and almost unconscious in the corn field back of the house.

Attorneys Exchange Words.

M. C. McGhee objected to some conclusions of the witness.

"The defendant's counsel has to be technical for fear too much of the truth will come out," said Mr. Boardman.

"We want the truth," retorted Mr. McGhee. "But I do object to your testifying through this witness."

"You will get enough testimony without me before we are thru."

Oh, it's all very well for a county attorney to bluff. But when it comes to leading the witness. After this the examination was continued.

The handkerchief said to have been found in Ruby's room—and to have smelled of chloroform—was introduced in evidence; also the ladder said to have been used by Hayes in reaching the porch leading to Ruby's room.

Cross-Examination.

The cross-examination of the witness conducted by Mr. McGhee was searching and exhaustive and based upon a transcript of the testimony taken at the preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Steele showed some discrepancies under counsel's rapid fire of questioning, but in the end she stood by her story.

Following Mrs. Steele, Fred A. Benjamin, Hayes' employer at the time of the alleged crime, identified the handkerchief and said he had seen the ladder in the corner of the room.

Ruby Steele on Stand.

Ruby Steele was put on the stand after the noon recess and corroborated her mother's story.

DELICATE TAX PROBLEM

Judge Elliott Overrules Demurrer in Case Involving Deeds.

Judge Elliott has filed an order overruling County Auditor Hugh R. Scott's demurrer to a writ of alternative mandamus, secured by Edward F. Goodnow. The relator asks the court to compel the county auditor to certify deeds to property near Lake of the Isles upon which back taxes have not been paid. The relator claims that the county official holds that he cannot certify the deeds until the taxes are canceled and the taxes cannot be canceled until they are paid or ordered canceled by the court. The question of practice is a delicate one, and Judge Elliott's order will bring the question into court on all fours. It will be placed on the November term calendar.

MOTION TO QUASH DENIED

Jury Secured in Hayes Case—State's Case Stated.

Yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of County Attorney F. H. Boardman's statement of the case, the state's case against Fred Hayes, Mr. McGhee moved to quash the indictment; first, on the ground that two crimes are charged; second, that the indictment does not contain facts sufficient to constitute a public offense and third that the state must stand on the charge it proposes to stand. Judge Pond overruled the motion.

The jurors in the case are: John M. Norris, Henry C. Koerner, Frederick Peterson, William H. Gray, Frank W. Van Sant, West P. Hulbert, Henry A. Cady, George Wilson, Neil W. Nelson, and A. N. Bray.

SWIFT JUSTICE

Two Men Tried, Convicted and Sentenced in Three Hours.

Thomas Treadwell and Jerry Heardon, on trial yesterday before Judge Simpson for stealing a piano stolen from 232 First street N, were convicted by a jury and sentenced by the court, all in less than three hours. Heardon was given four years and Treadwell eighteen months in the penitentiary.

JUDGMENT FOR DR. EITEL

Wine Suit Charging Malpractice Under Two-Year Limitation Law.

Judge Brooks yesterday filed a formal order giving judgment to the defendant in the case of Dr. Eitel against Dr. George C. Eitel for alleged malpractice. The court holds that the case comes within the two-year statute of limitations, and therefore the plaintiff has no ground of action. Plaintiff's lawyer contends that the six-year statute applies, and the case will be taken to the supreme court.

AMES APPEAL PERFECTED

Return Forwarded to Supreme Court—To Be on October Calendar.

Former Mayor A. A. Ames' appeal to the supreme court has been perfected and the return was forwarded to St. Paul to-day. The case will be placed upon the October term calendar.

For Fish Company Stock.

W. S. Laton, Nellie L. Cooley and Fannie E. Cooley, stockholders in the Pacific Coast & Norway Packing company have begun an action for the cancellation of certain stocks held by Milton R. Straight. Plaintiffs say that 5,000 shares with a par value of $5,000 was fraudulently given by the company to the defendant.

The court holds that the case comes within the two-year statute of limitations, and therefore the plaintiff has no ground of action. Plaintiff's lawyer contends that the six-year statute applies, and the case will be taken to the supreme court.

William H. H. Day's Estate. A final account in the estate of the late William H. H. Day has been filed in the probate court showing that a balance of $33,068.77 remains to be distributed among the heirs.
