FOR A COMPLETE SURVEY

Funds Provided for Surveying Route of Proposed Bassett's Creek Drain.

Committees of the Minneapolis real estate board, the West End, the Linden Hills, the Oak Park and the Golden Valley Improvement associations met Saturday afternoon in the lumber exchange to consider the proposed Bassett's creek diversion.

A committee of two was appointed to investigate the legal and practical way of raising the money and of doing the actual work of diverting Bassett's creek. In addition to the appropriation of $75 made already by the real estate board, an amount was guaranteed by the different organizations sufficient to have a complete survey, profiles and estimates of the proposed ditch between Bassett's creek and Cedar lake made.

One of the questions discussed was as to whether or not the fall of thirty-one feet in three and one-third miles between point of diversion and of Cedar lake was not too great on account of the probable high water. If this is the actual obstacle to the plan it is thought that the difficulty could be overcome easily by flattening the grades and damming or riprapping portions on the steeper grades.

DYNAMITERS DID NOTHING

They Got No $50,000 and Ruined No Property.

Northern Pacific property was not injured anywhere by the gang of dynamiters who had set Sunday as the time limit for the payment of their demands for $50,000 under penalty of disastrous damage to the railroad's property. It is believed that the detectives are close on the trail to get the desperadoes and that arrests will be announced in a few days. Vice President J. M. Hannaford says no apprehension need exist.

LASHED TO A CORPSE

Jocular Medics Have Some Gruesome Sport With an Inquiring Freshman.

Souvenirs of the Dissecting Room Found Their Way Into Visitor's Pockets.

Tied to a cadaver upon a slab in the dissecting room at the university medical school—that was the experience which befell Earl Loomis, a freshman who was looking for a sensation. Loomis had expressed a desire to be taken thru the dissecting room. A group of upper classmen volunteered to show him the mysteries of the secret chamber and without any misgivings he followed them into the gruesome apartment.

Several had preceded the party and were ready for the freshman. He was seized from both sides and properly gagged before he could make an outcry. Strong arms then carried him to the nearest dissecting slab where he was placed beside a cadaver and Loomis was left alone with the two dozen cadavers on the dissecting tables.

When released a short time afterwards, Loomis was thoroly cured of his desire to pursue a medical education and it was some time before his friends persuaded him to make another trial.

Another visitor was making an inspection of the dissecting room a short time ago, leaving his overcoat in the cloak room and the dissection of the building. Two days later when feeling in one of the pockets of the coat he found a number of small bones, some of them partially covered with flesh.

It is reported that one of the medical school fraternities used two cadavers in a recent dissection but for just what purpose could not be learned. As the authorities are strict about the conduct of the dissecting room, the fair man has been investigated to see whether the bodies were taken from the university rooms.

DON'T DODGE TAXES

J. J. Woolley'll Get You—The County Commissioners Say

He May.

The Board Makes Contract With Mr. Woolley to Pursue the Dodgers.

Tax dodgers, beware!

This was the warning issued by the board of county commissioners this morning when they signed a contract with J. J. Woolley, whereby he and his associates are empowered to search for untaxed property and, in the name of the state, to assess the same. For this work Mr. Woolley will receive 25 per cent of the money collected.

The Woolley proposition has been under consideration for weeks and not until the situation had been thoroly investigated was the contract awarded. This scheme of getting the professional tax dodger was proposed in Hennepin county once before but was pronounced illegal. It has since been adopted in Washington and LeSueur counties, taken to the supreme court and found to be legal as well as efficient.

WHEAT IN THE BALANCE

Wheat Is Uncertain in View of Reports From the Country.

Wheat was unsettled when the local market opened this morning, and the price tendency very uncertain. Weakness was shown at first and prices were off 1/2 to 3/4 cent compared with the close of Saturday, December selling at 75 1/2 and May at 76 1/2. The feature was the change in the attitude of traders. For two weeks and up to Saturday's close, the bears have been the aggressors and except for occasional short periods the bulls have been on the defensive. To-day it was more of an even thing as to pit sentiment. Reports from the northwest were not so favorable as might be wished.

Foreign markets uneasy. Liverpool 1/4 off to start, and world's shipments were heavier than looked for at 11,274,000 bu. Last week Russia shipped 4,424,000 bu. and the Danube 1,816,000 bu. all of which was bearish. But India sent out only 464,000 bu. against almost 2,000,000 bu. in the preceding week, which was a different story.

Minneapolis had 726 cars compared with 637, Duluth 409 against 439 and Chicago 75 against 115 last year. The weather predictions is for fair and warmer to-night and possible showers Tuesday. Any more rain over this time would be a help to the bulls.

HOUSEBOAT BURNED

Fred C. Schiffman, St. Paul, Loses Houseboat and Launch Valued at $6,000.

A launch and houseboat, valued at $6,000, owned by Fred C. Schiffman, of St. Paul, was burned near South St. Paul yesterday. Mr. Schiffman and a party were duck hunting and were some distance from the boat when it caught fire and the flames were well under way when they reached the boat. The fire is supposed to have started from a lamp left burning in the houseboat.

SEARCH FOR WENDELL

Authorities Have Not Discovered Whereabouts of Man and His Children.

Every effort is being made by the county and the city authorities to find H. T. Wendell and his mother, Mrs. Harriet D. Wright, who are supposed to have drifted away from the boat. The fire is supposed to have started from a lamp left burning in the houseboat.

CONTRACTORS INCORPORATE.

The Killorin Pullin Contracting company of Duluth has been incorporated by stripping, excavating and other developing work on mineral properties. The incorporators are John F. Killorin of Duluth, J. D. Mason, of St. Paul, Donald M. Pullin and Charles Jenks of West Superior and P. H. Nelson of Hibbing.

THE FARM SCHOOL OPENS

Dormitories Expected to Overflow—Several Changes in the Faculty and the Equipment.

Increased attendance of students is expected this year at the state agricultural college, St. Anthony Park, where registration began to-day. About 150 students will be forced to secure lodgings outside of the college grounds. Seventy of the number will be accommodated in the new three-story dormitory, when that building is completed at the beginning of next term.

The equipment of the chemistry building has been put in place this summer. The old chemistry building, supplanted last year, will now provide quarters for the department of domestic science.

New members of the faculty will be the principal, D. D. Mayne, who takes his post to-day, and Edith Snell of St. Paul, successor of Professor Hood in the department of mathematics; Miss K. Comfort of Minneapolis, who takes most of the duties formerly allotted to Miss Meredith, resigned.

The new physical instructor is John W. Dye, champion of the northwest in indoor athletics. St. Paul graduate of the state university. George Aune, farm foreman of the agricultural college, who was prominent on the Minnesota championship football team two years ago, will assist in coaching the agricultural footballers.

The dairy college will open Nov. 4, and will close a month later. The subjects of general instruction in Minnesota farmers will begin in January and continue until March.

The first term will be available for the first time at the agricultural college two funds in aid of needy students—the Ludden trust, given by John Ludden of St. Paul, and a graduate students fund, given by the class of 1902. The first benefaction will afford an income of $100 a year; the second will some $100 to be loaned without interest.

HILL CASE DEFERRED

The Police Captain Will Not Be Brought to Trial This Month.

His Attorney Says He'll Go Home—It Won't Be With Court's Consent.

Captain Charles R. Hill, charged with bribery under the Ames regime, will not be tried this term of court. With the consent of both the defendant and state, Judge Pond this morning ordered the case continued over the term and the defendant will leave for his farm at Milton Junction within a few days.

The continuance asked because of the rush on other business?" asked the court of County Attorney Boardman.

"What is the reason, then?" "It is not a rush of business. There are reasons which I can and will explain to the court privately at any time, but which I do not wish to give in open court."

Very well, then, the case may stand continued.

This little conversation brought a smile to the face of Freeman P. Lane, attorney for Captain Hill. It is understood among those who have been watching the case that the state's star witnesses have failed them and that the state has been searching in vain for evidence which in its opinion is strong enough to convict.

"The defendant will go back to Milton Junction at once," said Mr. Lane to the court. "I want it distinctly understood that he is a fugitive from justice and can be had at any moment."

"He will not go with the consent of the court," said Judge Pond.

Very well, then, he will go without it, but will be on hand whenever his case is called."

ROBBED HIS MOTHER

Young Henry Simpson Is Given a Reformatory Sentence.

"I needed the money," was the only explanation offered for the robbery by Henry Simpson, who appeared before Judge Pond this morning. Attorney Brady appeared for the youthful defendant and stated that he was the son of a well known family in Southeast Minneapolis, but that for some time he had been incorrigible.

The complaint against the young man was made by his mother with the idea that a little jail experience would be of benefit to him.

"Mr. Simpson," said the court, "any man who persistently disobeys his parents turns his face toward the penitentiary or the gallows."

The defendant was sentenced to the reformatory.

DERMIDY ACQUITTED

Alleged Wholesale Burglar Freed on One Charge.

James Dermidy, accused of burglary on a wholesale plan, has been acquitted on one charge but is held and will be tried on others. After being out about six hours on the street for arrest of not guilty late Saturday afternoon.

ADAMSON DEMURS

Attacks the Indictment Against Him on Two Grounds.

Notice of a demurrer to the indictment against W. H. Adamson, charged with extortion, was filed in Judge Pond's court this morning. It will be argued Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The grounds for the demurrer set out in the formal notice filed this morning are, first, that the indictment does not conform to the provisions of the statute relating to extortion; second, that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense.

SAVINGS INSTITUTION WILL CHANGE ITS NAME

The Guaranty Savings and Loan Association Will Hereafter Be Known as The State Institution for Savings.

The Guaranty Savings and Loan Association filed with the secretary of state to-day an amended and kindred articles of incorporation, changing its name to "The State Institution for Savings." The change will go into effect as soon as the necessary details can be completed, which will be within the next week or ten days.

The new name chosen by the stockholders is a strong one and is much better suited to the business of the company than the old one. "Institution for Savings," is a name frequently used by savings banks in the eastern states, but has not come into general use in the west. It has the advantage of individuality and there is no danger that it will be confused with any of the other savings banks in the state. The only objection to the new name, which can be suggested is its length, however, it is no longer than the old name, and is a vast improvement. The change of name has been contemplated for some time, and was authorized by an act of the last legislature.

RELIGION AND EDUCATION

The Best Solvents of the Race Problem Says Dr. E. L. Parks.

The average negro has in him enough love of country and enough ability to keep faithfully his trust to become a helpful part of this nation, if he is but given the advantages of Christianity and education.

This was the final declaration of Dr. Edward L. Parks, professor of systematic theology in Gammon Theological seminary of Atlanta, Ga., in his lecture on "The Negro, the Nation and the Church," in Westminster Presbyterian church last night.

"Three ways of solving this problem have been proposed in recent years. One is by forcible transportation of the 9,000,000 of negroes to foreign countries. Another is by segregation, and still another is industrial education," said Dr. Parks. "The first way is not practicable. Segregation would only increase the danger of the situation because it would but add fuel to the flame of race hatred. Industrial education such as Booker T. Washington advocates will go a long way toward solving the problem. With the ability to earn a good living the self respect of the negro will be increased and with that self respect will come a desire to solve his own problems in the best way. But industrial education is not the only thing. No race was ever elevated by being pushed up from the bottom. It must be pulled up from the top and it is to the professional men of the race that the negroes of the nation must look to get themselves out of the condition in which slavery and the things which have come after have left them."

The speaker was inclined to favor Booker T. Washington's contention that the time being the negro of the south might just as well waive his right to civil liberty. But in unselfish love of country the negro was the equal of any of his white brothers, and he must be treated as such. It was the superior of any of the whites of the same economic class and conditions.

ST. PAUL DIAMOND LOST

Its Owner Is Out With Two Women When He Discovers Loss.

A St. Paul business man, who refused to give his name to the police, claimed that he was robbed of a diamond shirt stud valued at $50 late last night. As the man refused to give his name or prosecute the suspected persons, the police dismissed the matter.
