FARMERS AGAINST

Senator McCumber of North Dakota

Talks of Federal Grain Inspection.

Says Farmers Will Not Stand for Plan of the Grain Dealers.

United States Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota, who is a guest in Minneapolis of George W. Sublette, 2616 First avenue S, explained today why he believes the farmers will not support the National Grain Dealers' association in its protest against the senator's bill for the establishment of federal grain inspection.

"The grain dealers," said Senator McCumber, "want the inspection placed in the hands of the exchanges and other commercial bodies. That is to say, the dealers want to inspect the grain they buy, thus fix the grade and price of it. That would hardly satisfy the farmer with grain to sell."

What we evidently need, and what the farmers want, is an impartial inspection, not in the hands of either buyer or seller. This would be supplied by federal employees appointed under civil service rules to permanent positions, and not likely to be influenced by commercial interests.

"The present system is objectionable because the inspectors are usually political appointees, and because, though generally honest, they are often careless, to say the least. In my personal experience I have known an elevator bin to be filled with wheat from a single field, wheat that was uniform to begin with, and that was mixed in the bin. Yet one car from that bin would be graded No. 1, with one pound dockage, and the second car would be graded No. 2, with five or six pounds dockage."

"Then, if federal inspection were in force, it wouldn't be true that three times as much No. 1 wheat was shipped out of the Duluth and Minneapolis elevators as is shipped into those elevators. Cleaning accounts for this difference, but that is covered by dockage. If a farmer grows No. 1 wheat and sells it to a miller, why should he be paid for No. 2 wheat?"

AN UNCERTAIN CASE

Superintendent Barton, Poor Department, Doesn't Know What to Do With Sick Woman.

Superintendent William Barton of the poor department does not know what to do with a destitute invalid who has been turned over to him. She has been cared for until recently by a church society, but the latter apparently has found the burden too heavy.

It was assumed that the proper place would be the poor farm, but County Physician Kistler says that the woman has tuberculosis and as there are no provisions for the care of persons afflicted with infectious diseases at the farm she must go to the city hospital.

City Physician G. E. Ricker declares that the woman has tuberculosis and as there are no provisions for the care of persons afflicted with infectious diseases at the farm she must go to the city hospital.

This case brings to the fore again the suggestion of Dr. H. S. Nelson, when city physician that an institution be established for the care of certain cases which cannot be properly classified.

Herbert Pearce, the woman's outfitter, has just returned from a "hurry-up" purchasing trip to New York. Mr. Pearce has secured a number of new suits and furs is greater than ever this season and that Minneapolis women are buying more liberally than ever before in the history of Minneapolis.

The Pearce store, which has grown rapidly during the past few years, now occupies two floors at 403-405 Nicollet and contains one of the most complete stocks of cloaks, suits, furs, millinery and furnishings for women on the market.

The waist department this season is one of the strongest at Pearce's. Everything in the waist line is to be found here from the severe tailored waists to the daintiest of drowsy waists in all the latest materials. The cloak and suit department also shows an immense assortment of fashionable garments.

PLEDGE THE PARTY

Prominent Politicians Have a Way

Around the Primary Election Law.

They Would Have a Convention Clear the Field for Congressman.

Leading republicans say it was the primary election law that defeated the republican candidate for congress in this county last year. By stirring up feeling within the party it created dissatisfaction and made the election of John Lind possible.

Plans are already on foot to prevent a repetition of this occurrence. In the natural course of events there will be from two to half a dozen candidates fighting for the nomination next fall, and another era of bitter feeling will be stirred up to make trouble for the one who wins at the primaries. The plan is to have only one candidate at the primary election, and to have the party opposed to him for months before. When the first county convention is held, the proposition with the state convention to select delegates to the national convention, the effort will be made to commit the party definitely to one candidate for congress.

This indorsement will then be insisted on as a condition of the party's aid society to be notified to stay out of the field.

Loren Fletcher intended that day and night, and his friends are already urging that republicans drop all differences and present a united front for Fletcher.

Uncle Loren in the primaries last year is a little slow to warm up to a stronger candidate and say that a Fletcher scheme, intended to keep out all other candidates. However, it is being worked hard, and is finding considerable favor.

NO. 1'S AUTUMNAL DANCE

Unique Social Function to be Given by K. of P.

"Old Dan Tucker," the Virginia reel, the Ceilian circle and other ancient and inspiring figures of the dance will be re-enacted in the benefit of the city folk to-night when Knights of Pythias lodge No. 1 gives its first autumnal dance, designed to be an invasion of the city by the country.

Some 500 invitations announcing that "you and the wimmin folks are cordially invited to an autumnal dance" have been issued on the brown paper country butchers are wont to wrap their wares in. It is also announced that "the Punkville Orchestra has been specially engaged to furnish music. Beer, apples and gingerbread" will be served, and "everything free, except street car, if you don't ride it won't cost you nothing."

The invitations have been sent out by a committee consisting of "H. Koller, Wilby Rusty, Reuben Hay, Simon Simple and Elias Slowmore." The gentlemen bid the invited to:

Forget that you are living In this cold and frosty climate. Come up to Number One And have a good old-fashioned time.

The walls of the lodge rooms have been covered with autumn leaves, shocks of corn, bundles of oats, and other indications that autumn has arrived. The refreshments will be served in a rustic hovel, jack lanterns of the pumpkin type will furnish the light and the party will probably be unique in the season's affairs.

DRIVEN CRAZY BY ROBBERS

Theory As to Cause of Joseph Brown's Condition.

Joseph Brown, the harvest hand who caused such a sensation at the county jail a few nights ago by tearing the grating from his window and walking a distance on a narrow ledge 100 feet above the pavement, is believed to have been driven crazy by hold-up men who attempted to rob him while on his way home from the harvest fields. He believes that some one is trying to shoot him. Brown was taken to his home at Kenosha, Wis., yesterday by State Agent W. A. Gates.

HALL STANDS PAT

Enemies of Health Commissioner

Make Charges, and the Letter Courts Investigation.

Matter of Collection of Fees for Inspecting Private Hospitals Is Stirred Up.

Enemies of Health Commissioner P. M. Hall are again seeking to make him trouble thru the grand jury. This body has received several anonymous notes in which charges are made concerning the collection of fees for the inspection of private hospitals.

Whenever the grand jury wants any information on this matter, Dr. Hall says he will supply it. He has collected fees for this work, but is properly authorized to do so by chapter 106, general laws of 1901, enacted by the Children's Aid society to promote the health and welfare of infants born and cared for in other places than the homes of their parents.

This action was made necessary by abuses at private maternity hospitals and "baby farms."

Under the law these places are required to obtain permits from the health department and to be inspected annually. For the permit and the inspection, a fee of $2 may be collected by the department.

He has done more, for several unscrupulous persons who were often connected with private hospitals, but really profiting by the misfortunes of their patients, have been driven out of business as the result of the inspection. This action was made necessary by abuses at private maternity hospitals and "baby farms."
