Kenwood Reception Mrs. A. M. Cory and Mrs. L. F. Daniel Entertain for Mrs. Alexander Hughes.

Wedding of Miss Emma Eustis and James W. Talbot This Afternoon.

Mrs. A. M. Cory and Mrs. L. F. Daniel entertained 250 women at a reception this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cory in Kenwood.

The decorations were charming and the flower-decked rooms were lighted with tapers which twinkled like stars among the foliage.

A quiet wedding of the afternoon was that of Miss Emma Eustis, daughter of Mrs. Emily S. Eustis, and James W. Talbot of Benton Harbor, Mich.

About seventy-five guests witnessed the marriage of Miss Frances Agnes Harmer and Dr. C. F. Brigham of St. Cloud, which took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride window was hung with white and yellow chrysanthemums which filled the window with white tapers in silver candelabra.

Russell Patterson was at the piano and played the "Lohengrin" march as the ribbons were attached by Misses Edna and Claire Bertrand.

The bridegroom was in a white tuxedo and the bride in a white gown with a blue sash. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Irving P. Johnson.

At the reception which followed Miss Florence Brigham of St. Cloud served frappe from a prettily decked table and Mrs. George Bethany assisted through the rooms.

Miss Ethel Margaret Faxon and Adolph Johnson were married at the home of Mrs. J. H. Kerr, the Misses Frederica and Eda Schultz were in the dining-room.

A wedding which rounds out a pretty romance took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. White on Bladell avenue.

Two movements from Liszt's "Sonata No. 3" were played by musicianally style by J. Victor Bergquist, the local organist, and Gustav Johnson, the pianist.

Itasca, N. Y., Nov. 11.—The Cornell "co-ed" seniors of Cornell university issued an edict to prohibit freshmen girls from "fussing."

Second—No freshman shall have male callers in the small drawing-rooms in college, except in the presence of an upper class woman as chaperon.

Third—No freshman shall give a fudge party in any of the small drawing-rooms in the college, unless attended by a chaperon.

A concert by the Jennie Osborn company at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium began last night, to the satisfaction of a large audience.

The company and its program were well adapted to popular taste. Miss Osborn, a light soprano, self-possessed and pretty, sings ballad and art with unusual tone in the middle register and enunciates with welcome distinctness.

Mr. Hanna, a barytone, displays a cherry moon-like countenance, that explains his special success in such comic numbers as "Father O'Flynn" and "Better Ask Me." His enunciation is also to be commended.

PRACTICAL REFORMS

Concrete Social Problems Occupy Chief Place of Interest in Federation Conventions.

Illinois Women Propose Scholarships for Children of Dependent Widowed Mothers.

State federations have been going on steadily at the rate of from one to four a week for six weeks.

It is also worthy of note that all phases of self-culture, as represented in the programs and reports, seem to have sunk to a secondary place of interest, where they have not been quite overshadowed by social aims and plans.

Perhaps the most interesting convention was that of Illinois, held in Cairo, which, in spite of its spirit of hospitality, was much overcast by the throng of club women.

children occupied a prominent place as the public work of the federation last year was largely centered in securing a new child labor law, which is one of the best in existence.

The enforcement of the child labor law has raised a ghost with which the convention dealt. This is the widowed mother, dependent upon the labor of a child for support.

Mr. Florence Kelley came to the defense of the plan, saying: "My son won a scholarship at Harvard. I was proud of him. A scholarship is not charity, it is self-defense."

Miss Mary MacDowell, head of the University settlement, urged unionizing for the sake of self-protection on all women workers and asked the club women to support them in their unionism by using only those garments bearing the union label, and otherwise encouraging them in organization. In Chicago 60,000 women have been organized and as a result there have been no strikes this year.

The domestic science program set the women to thinking and talking. Mrs. Sarah Tyson Rorer, as a teacher of cooking, protested against existing ideas of higher education on the ground that it does not sufficiently recognize the fact that most women marry and consequently do not prepare women for their life work.

The domestic science discussion was supplemented by an exhibition of a model kitchen and dining-room provided by a house furnishing firm. In one portion of the kitchen were placed the articles necessary in a home where the strictest economy would be exercised.

Another interesting object lesson was a model schoolroom. Rabbi Emil Hirsch aroused the women greatly by his address on "Civil Service in Illinois." He told of the great evils existing in the penal system of the state and in the state institutions for defectives, due to the system of appointing men on the ground of political pull instead of merit. He said civil service was the remedy for the existing evils of which he told, and believed the state should have laws similar to those of the government regarding this.

Dr. Hirsch's appeal resulted in the passage of a resolution demanding the immediate enactment of a civil service law applicable to all state charitable and penal institutions. The federation was already pledged to the principle and had a committee that worked last year to secure a merit system law, but this will undoubtedly be taken up with renewed energy.

TERRITORIAL WOMEN'S BAZAR. The Territorial Pioneer Woman's club will open its annual bazaar to-morrow morning at 612 Nicollet avenue, and continue it thru Friday.

A "similarity" will help a little, but Journeaux wants a large and complete assortment of pretty and useful articles. A dainty handkerchief has come all the way from Porto Rico to be sold for the bazaar, and there are other handkerchiefs, aprons and needlework galore.

Thousands of satisfied advertisers say so.
