

WOMEN OF INTELLECT MAKE BEST WIVES

In Long Run They Have Decided Advantage Over Beauty With Inferior Mentality—Wiser Among Men Do Not Want Wives Who May Prove Too Attractive to Other Men.

By LILLIE DEVEREUX BLAKE, Authoress and Lecturer, President National Legislative League. Copyright, 1903, by Joseph R. Bowles.

"MY SON," said the mission priest to the Spanish child, "define matrimony." "Matrimony," replied the boy, "is a state of torment to be endured in the blessed hope of purifying the soul for heaven."

"No, no!" gasped the horrified catchist. "You have given the definition of purgatory." "Hush, brother!" counseled the father superior. "Perchance the child is right."

There may or may not be a modicum of truth in the lad's blundering assertion and in the father's doubting indorsement. At any rate there can be no doubt that on two points hang all the difference between married happiness and married purgatory. These two requisites to happy conjugal life are mutual affection and unselfishness.

Unhappiness in married life is most often due to lack of community of interest between man and wife. The man of literary tastes cannot find an enduring companion in the mindless butterfly of fashion.

Common sense is a strong factor in married happiness, and the intellectual woman knows best where to find it in matters of real importance and does not magnify trifles.

Men are always attracted by a pretty face, but the wiser among them do not want to marry a woman who will be too attractive to other men. "You admire Miss —," I once said to a man of the world. "Why don't you marry her?"

Similarity of tastes and pursuits is the firmest foundation for that precarious structure known as a matrimonial alliance. Self-control, too, is a dominant factor in household peace, and this is found to a much greater degree among intellectual and highly educated people than among those of a lower order of mind.

The happiest unions are found where both husband and wife have intellect. Man and wife, by constantly living together, have such a strong effect on the formation of the other's character that it is surprising this point of view is not often considered before alliances are entered upon.

For instance, the man who marries a fool usually becomes lowered in ideals and mentality. The woman who marries a boor sinks to his level or else raises him nearer to hers.

The question of marriage yearly grows more complex. Society's double standard of ethics for man and for woman are cruelly hard upon the latter. Were the same code made applicable to both the aspect of marital life would undergo a vast transformation for the better.

THE WEATHER

Minnesota—Fair to-night, probably followed by snow flurries in north portion Friday; rising temperatures; winds shifting to easterly. Wisconsin—Fair to-night and probably Friday with rising temperature. Iowa—Fair to-night and probably Friday with rising temperature; variable winds, shifting to southeasterly. Upper Michigan—Generally fair to-night and Friday with variable winds. North Dakota—Fair to-night, probably followed by snow flurries Friday; rising temperatures; southeast winds. South Dakota—Partly cloudy to-night and Friday; rising temperatures; southeast winds. Montana—Probably snow to-night and Friday; warmer to-night; colder Friday; variable winds.

UP-TO-THE-MINUTE FASHIONS.

A Daily Hint of Practical Value to Journal Readers of the Fair Sex.

The fashion pictures given daily in this department are eminently practical, and the garments pictured can be reproduced easily from the paper patterns, which may be obtained at trifling cost thru The Journal.

Unhappiness in married life is most often due to lack of community of interest between man and wife. The man of literary tastes cannot find an enduring companion in the mindless butterfly of fashion.

Common sense is a strong factor in married happiness, and the intellectual woman knows best where to find it in matters of real importance and does not magnify trifles.

Men are always attracted by a pretty face, but the wiser among them do not want to marry a woman who will be too attractive to other men. "You admire Miss —," I once said to a man of the world. "Why don't you marry her?"

Similarity of tastes and pursuits is the firmest foundation for that precarious structure known as a matrimonial alliance. Self-control, too, is a dominant factor in household peace, and this is found to a much greater degree among intellectual and highly educated people than among those of a lower order of mind.

The happiest unions are found where both husband and wife have intellect. Man and wife, by constantly living together, have such a strong effect on the formation of the other's character that it is surprising this point of view is not often considered before alliances are entered upon.

For instance, the man who marries a fool usually becomes lowered in ideals and mentality. The woman who marries a boor sinks to his level or else raises him nearer to hers.

The question of marriage yearly grows more complex. Society's double standard of ethics for man and for woman are cruelly hard upon the latter. Were the same code made applicable to both the aspect of marital life would undergo a vast transformation for the better.

give the lines that are most becoming to the figure while the fronts blouse becomingly over the belt. The waist is made over a smoothly fitted lining that closes at the center front. On this lining are arranged the various parts of the waist, the vest front, the fronts and the back. The fronts are laid in two box plaits each, with horizontal tucks between the two, and the closing is made invisibly beneath the plait on the edge of the left front. The sleeves are made over fitted foundations and consist of cuffs, full portions, and caps that are tucked and stitched with corticelli silk in harmony with the waist.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 5 yards 2 1/2 inches wide, 4 3/4 yards 2 1/2 inches wide or 3 1/2 yards 4 1/2 inches wide, with 3/4 yards of cotton and 1 3/4 yards of ribbon. The pattern 4579 is cut in sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches.

In ordering pattern fill in this coupon: PATTERN NO. — Size — Name — Address —

CAUTION—Be careful to give correct Number and Size of Patterns wanted. When the pattern is dust measure you need only mark 32, 34, 36 or whatever it may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26, or whatever it may be. When "misses" or child's pattern, give only the figure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "years."

WASTE OF A CASE. Secretary of War Root, before he sailed for England on the Celtic to take his place on the Alaskan boundary commission, said: "It is the purpose of the commission to put a finish to the years of squabbling over the boundary, but with a lot of international law and lawyers to deal with it is hard to say how far short of this purpose we will fall."

Then Secretary Root told a story illustrative of the law's delays. "There was a lawyer," he said, "and he had a son. This son was bred to the law, and on the day of his admission to the bar his father transferred to him a very important, very complicated, very old case.

"The case had been running a matter of seventeen years. The son attacked it diligently, unwound its many tangles and in six months had it settled. With this news he visited his father, joyously.

"Hurray," he said, "I have settled that case you gave me." "Settled it?" the father exclaimed, reddening with vexation. "Why, I gave you that case as an annuity. I intended it as a right little income to last you all your life."

Emmanuel church, Newport, which was erected by Mrs. John Nicholas in a memorial to her husband, is to have a pediment of the gift of Mrs. John Nicholas in memory of her son, John Nicholas and Harold.

BUYING, SELLING AND BUILDING

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Charles H. Robbins and wife to Bertha J. Wilkes et al., lots 13 and 14, block 12, second division of Hennepin park, $700. Chute Brothers company to John Westlund, lot 6, block 13, Chute township, first addition $300.

John A. Pearson et al. to Johannes Pearson, lot 18, block 3, lots 1, 2 and 3, block 9, Mound Bay park, $1,700. J. C. Pearce and wife to William F. March, lots 12, 13 and 14, block 11, Gale's subdivision, $1,700.

William C. Carlson and husband to Maurice E. Moriarty, part of lots 12 and 13, block 5, Gilpatrick's addition, $3,300. Victor J. Welch and wife to Francis W. Bresse, part of lot A, Bennett's addition, $1,000.

William C. Carlson and husband to Maurice E. Moriarty, part of lots 12 and 13, block 5, Gilpatrick's addition, $3,300. Victor J. Welch and wife to Francis W. Bresse, part of lot A, Bennett's addition, $1,000.

THE BLASE SHAH. The Shah of Persia, who received some months ago from his English friend the Order of the Garter, is said to have the most tired appearance of any of the reigning sovereigns.

Some people ask the difference between beer and ale. To brew a barrel of the former requires one and a half bushels of malt, to brew a barrel of ale one and a half bushels are required.

THE MARVELOUS BLIND GIRL. New York Sun. No student returning to Cambridge is an object of more general interest than Miss Helen Keller, now a senior at Radcliffe. Almost as soon as she had taken up her work Miss Keller was elected vice president of her class, an honor which was accorded her by her classmates during her freshman year.

SOME DOCTORS ARE SO IMPRACTICAL. Doctor—Well, Mrs. O'Brien, I hope your husband has taken his medicine regularly, eh? Mrs. O'Brien—Sure, then, doctor, once!

$5,000 EAR GRAFTED SUCCESSFULLY

Young German Submits to Operation Which Deprives Him of His Ear for Cash.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Bound together so they cannot move their heads, and stretched out on a bed in a private hospital, lie a western millionaire and a young German restaurateur of New York. The German's ear has been partially severed from his head and grafted upon that of his companion, who had lost his own and who has paid him $5,000 for the organ. The operation was performed yesterday by Dr. Andrew L. Nelson of New York, who describes his task thus: The two men were placed in opposite directions on an elongated bed. One-half the volunteer's ear, the upper half, was cut off, together with about four inches of the skin from behind the ear. This was twisted around and fitted to a freshly prepared wound upon my patient's head. The half ear was held in place by bandages and the lower half of the ear was bound so that they cannot move their heads. They must remain in this position for at least twelve days to allow the circulation to come thru the flap of skin which remains a part of the volunteer's scalp.

SHE WANTED THE GREEN STICKERS

Woman Demands Trading Stamps With Her Husband's Monument.

Springfield, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Trading stamps with monuments is the latest phase of the "stamp craze" which has made its appearance here. Yesterday a well-dressed woman selected a stone valued at $110 for her late husband's grave. She did not haggle over the price, but demanded the little green stickers when she got ready to pay it.

THE MARVELOUS BLIND GIRL. New York Sun. No student returning to Cambridge is an object of more general interest than Miss Helen Keller, now a senior at Radcliffe. Almost as soon as she had taken up her work Miss Keller was elected vice president of her class, an honor which was accorded her by her classmates during her freshman year.

SOME DOCTORS ARE SO IMPRACTICAL. Doctor—Well, Mrs. O'Brien, I hope your husband has taken his medicine regularly, eh? Mrs. O'Brien—Sure, then, doctor, once!

CRADLE, ALTAR AND GRAVE

MARRIAGE LICENSES. Duncan McMurchy and Made G. Hiley. William F. Durand and Theresa Wimmer. Max C. Hiley and Made G. Hiley.

BIRTHS. Callahan—Mr. and Mrs. George M., 18 University avenue NE, a daughter, William H., 1619 Chicago avenue, a daughter.

DEATHS. Filipek—Mary, 132 Cooper street S. 104—Mrs. Elsie, 8 Cedar Lake road. Tracy—Widow, 104 Southwestern avenue N.

4579 Fancy Blouse, 32 to 40 bust.

4579 Fancy Blouse, 32 to 40 bust.

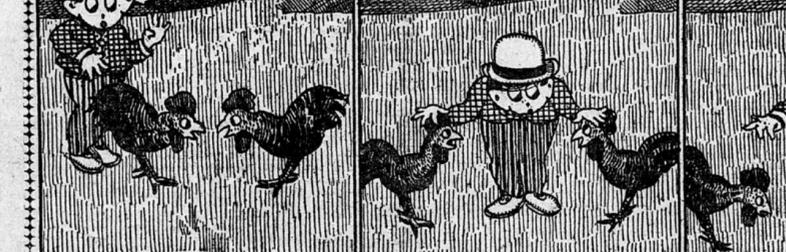

FANCY BLOUSE 4579. Fancy blouses, that give a vest effect, are much liked and are seen in a variety of materials and many combinations. This one is made of white shantung poplin, with a front, and cuffs of tucked chiffon and trimming of deep cream colored lace, and makes suits many materials equally well and suits many materials equally well and the old waist as well as the gown. The box plaits at the back are brought together at the waist line in a way to

COMPLIMENTARY: THE CHAMPION.

"Ach, Fritz, you are tearing shedding. Der moose moves you, yes?" "I can't help it, Heinie. Your playing reminds me so much of dot little bet pig I had ven I was a boy alretty."

Oh, Fudge! It Can't Be True!

I came upon two roosters who were raising quite a din. I reasoned with them, and explained that fighting was a sin. They really looked ashamed, and so I thought they understood. But this is how they treated me. Child & Harold.

THE MISSING MAN

By MARY R. P. HATCH, Author of "The Bank Tragedy." Copyright by Lee & Shepard, Boston, Mass.

CHAPTER XLV.—(Continued.) "Is this your handwriting?" asked the justice. "It looks like it, but I don't think it is." "What are your reasons for thinking so? If your faculties were temporarily eclipsed you would not be expected to know much about it." "I reason thus: If I did not know my name at the date when that letter seems to have been written, then I have not signed it? As I did not know it, I think the letter must have been written by some other person. That letter to me, sir, is the best proof that I never took the altered note to Simon Low, but that it was presented by some other man who personated myself—the man who wrote that letter and signed my name." "A stir in the courtroom and a gleam in the eyes of Bruce indicated that the declaration had taken effect. It was certainly a strong point, but, as some immediately reflected, the statement that the cashier did not know his name rested solely, up to this time, with himself.

plained, and the matter of the two altered notes, $9,000 in all, were the only points in the case. "Did Mr. Hamilton's books satisfy you on other occasions?" "When my other examinations took place, yes; that was what I meant to ask." "They did, invariably. Mr. Hamilton's accounts were always in good order." "Did you ever see the Estes note before it was altered?" "I did." "Is this the note?" showing him the note which was afterwards falsified by Mr. Estes himself, who also stated that it had been altered from $500 to $5,000. The original amount had been paid to him, as the bank directors, he said. Then the letter found thrust under the president's door was produced, and was pronounced a forgery by Mr. Hamilton, for it said that he would not have been likely to sign his name when he was unaware of it himself at that date.

subject. He may make the subject do, or think, or say what he will." "Could an operator make a subject think he was another person?" "Undoubtedly he could." "Can you tell whether a person is capable of being hypnotized?" "Justice's glance moved toward Simon Low for an instant. Every heart stood still for an answer." "No, sir. To determine that with certainty, one must possess the power to hypnotize, which I am thankful to state I do not possess." "Mr. Low looked much relieved, but the audience correspondingly disappointed." "Has hypnotism ever been proved a factor in crime?" "Yes, sir; more than once." "Does the condition of Mr. Hamilton's brain imply that he has been hypnotized?" "I cannot say at present. I should want counsel before making any statement in regard to a matter of so much consequence and involving so many issues. Perhaps Mr. Hamilton can himself give some explanation of the matter."