HORTICULTURAL BANQUET HELD

MEMBERS OF STATE SOCIETY HAVE THEIR ANNUAL FEAST

Society Thinks It Should Be Represented on State "U" Board—Joint Session with Forestry Association—Elections Are Held and Prizes Are Awarded.

About 130 members of the State Horticultural society sat down in the dining-hall of the Young Women's Christian association last evening at 6:30, and after having partaken of a substantial meal, were entertained by members of the society and others who responded in a variety of vocal and instrumental music. Professor Samuel B. Green of the state agricultural school talked of "The Deeds of the Illustrious Departed," a Common Heritage, citing some of the results attained by pioneer Minnesota horticulturists. Roy Underwood of Lake City sang a parody on "It Was the Dutch." It contained many local hits. A. J. Phillips of West Salem, Wis., the humorist of the society, told "Some of the Things I Have Not Forgotten." Miss Bessie McKean gave a recitation of "The Withered Tree," which was discussed by Mrs. Florence Barton Loring. W. Walter Ellis, "the whistling wonder," imitated the songs of birds. Rev. C. S. Harris of St. Paul, Minn., who was one of the pioneers of Minnesota and is very prominent as a horticulturist in Nebraska, told of interesting incidents of the early days in Minnesota. President Charles Northrop of the state university, talking of "The Nobility of Service," paid a glowing tribute to the horticulturists of the state.

The toastmaster, L. R. Moyer of Montevideo, called a second time upon Professor Green, who brought forward a life size picture of Wyman Elliot, taking occasion at the same time to compliment the horticulturist for his persistence in advancing horticultural conditions in Minnesota and the intense interest he has taken in the society. The picture was shown in Horticultural hall at the state farm.

The program closed with a song by Professor Crosby Hoppes.

A Joint Session.

C. M. Loring, president of the Forestry association, opened the joint session of his association and the Horticultural society with an address. The other speakers were General C. C. Andrews, S. M. Owen, Mrs. W. E. Bramm, Rev. C. S. Harris, President Northrop and O. C. Gregg. A resolution was adopted proposing that the legislature provide tree bounties to encourage farmers in arboriculture.

Speak Place Among Regents.

That "some representative farmer in close touch with the agricultural interests of Minnesota" be appointed a member of the board of regents of the state university, was the resolution adopted by the Horticultural society yesterday in a resolution adopted by the State Horticultural society. A committee of three will present the resolution to the Governor and the board of regents, recognized the agricultural department of the university as a great aid to the farmer of the state; expressed surprise that some of the regents are opposed to the continuation of the Owatonna tree station.

Elections.

Elections of officers yesterday resulted as follows: Horticultural society—Clarence Wedge of Albert Lea, elected president. A. B. Lyman of Excelsior re-elected treasurer. A. W. Latham of Minneapolis secretary. Wyman Elliot re-elected chairman of executive board. Dr. J. W. O'Dell, re-elected secretary. Mrs. Jennie Stager of Sauk Rapids vice president. Mrs. Lucia Danforth of Northfield, Mrs. T. F. Akin of Farmington, Mrs. P. F. Westbrook of Hutchinson, executive committee.

Forestry Association—C. M. Loring of Minneapolis re-elected president. W. T. Cole of Lovelock re-elected secretary. C. Gregg of Lynd and S. M. Owen of Minneapolis, vice presidents.

The Beekeepers' Association—Dr. E. K. Jacques of Robbinsville, president. Mrs. W. S. Wingate of Excelsior, secretary. Dr. Leonard of Minneapolis treasurer. S. LaMont of Jerry, Walter Ansel of St. Paul and John Doll of Minneapolis, vice president. H. H. Russell of Minneapolis, president. Russell and William MacCuen of Minneapolis, executive committee.

Awards of Prizes.

The awards for prize fruit exhibited at the Howard A. Hammond, first on apples kept in cold storage; A. B. Lyman of Excelsior, first on both late and early winter seedlings; R. A. White of Twin Lake, second on late winter seedlings; Gertrude Calms of Ellsworth, Wis., second on early seedlings; J. A. Howard of Hammond, first on best collection of apples; the Jewell Nursery company of Lake City, second; W. L. Parker of Farmington, first on peck of wealthy apples, the Jewell Nursery company, first; J. A. Howard, second, and P. H. Perry, third. For grapes, Gus Johnson of Excelsior, first, and H. L. Crane of Excelsior, second. For best collection of plants, E. Nagle of Minneapolis, first.

USED ACID FOR GARGLE

A. N. Wilcox Took Great Precautions When He Went Hunting, But Forgot that He Had Put Carbolic Acid in the Listerine Bottle.

A. N. Wilcox, with the Leslie Paper company, went deer-hunting in Northern Michigan and lost his voice. At that he counts himself in luck to be carrying on whispered conversations on this earthy sphere instead of playing a golden harp elsewhere. Like a careful sportsman, Mr. Wilcox provided for all emergencies when packing up his kit by putting in a bottle of carbolic acid for sterilizing gunshooting wounds.

The first mistake was made when Mr. Wilcox put the acid in a Listerine bottle without removing the old label. A few days later, after tramping thru the woods with wet feet, a severe case of sore throat developed, and a Listerine gargle seemed just the thing. Forgetting that the contents of the bottle were not indicated by the label, Mr. Wilcox filled his mouth with the poisonous acid and started to gargle his throat. Altho the mistake was discovered at once, his throat and mouth were severely burned. A liberal dose of laudanum helped to alleviate the inflammation, and the only bad effect now apparent is a loss of the voice, which, however, is not permanent.

MONROE SCHOOL PICTURES

Presented at an Entertainment for the Improvement Fund.

The concert and recital given last evening in the South high school assembly hall for the benefit of Monroe school improvement fund was an unquestionable success, judging by the very evident enjoyment of an enthusiastic audience. An attractive program was given by Misses Clara Williams, soprano, and Myra Stock, alto, contralto. Mrs. Marie Gertsen, piano; reader, Frank Forsell, tenor, and Hamlin Hunt, accompanist. The numbers were as follows: "Over the Desert" (Kellie), Mrs. Williams; "The Ballad of the East and West" (Kipling), Mrs. Fischer; "Where the Lindens Bloom" (Buck), Miss Williams; "The Wind in the Willows" (Schumann), Mr. Forsell; "My Rose" (Langtry), and "When I Gaze on a Rose" (Tortore), Miss Stock; "A Goodly Heritage" (Hill), Mrs. Williams; "Dedication" (Schumann), Mr. Forsell; "My Rose" (Langtry), and "When I Gaze on a Rose" (Tortore), Miss Stock; "A Goodly Heritage" (Hill), Mrs. Williams; "Dedication" (Schumann), Mr. Forsell; "My Rose" (Langtry), and "When I Gaze on a Rose" (Tortore), Miss Stock.

The feature of the evening of absorbing interest to the young people of the school, who were present in full force, was the presentation of two pictures. One was a beautiful study in oils called "The Willows," painted by Arthur Patton of New York city and valued at $100. It was won by Karl Eckstrand of the seventh grade, Monroe school, in the October contest of the Fine Arts society. In presenting the picture, Mr. Eckstrand said that the organization which he represented is an association of peculiar and recent spirit, which he feels leads to the extent particularly of art in the schools, and in teaching children the trust and best in life. "With that aim they should give a prize to the pupil arranged to give a picture to the school in fourth, fifth or sixth grades who should write the best essay on any picture in the October exhibit at the public library, and a second prize to the seventh grade winner of the same contest. The latter prize picture had been won by Karl Eckstrand for Monroe school, and Mr. Eckstrand congratulated Karl as well as his school.

The other picture, "The Horse Fair," by Rosa Bonheur, was a prize won by Joseph in the fourth grade, June contest of Nov. 28. Both the successful young people were too modest to take part in the exercises, so the Journal Junior picture contest presented by J. G. L. Morrill in behalf of "The Journal," Mr. Morrill made a sparkling little speech which caused ripples of merriment to sweep over the audience again and again. In closing he said this is the age of the child, the culmination of preceding ages; that the world is a beautiful one, and that it should be the highest aspiration of educators to teach the child to think and to live beautifully.

W. K. Hicks accepted the pictures in the name of the school board, and Dr. Jordan made a few remarks complimentary to Monroe school.

FUNDS FOR T. C. EXHIBIT

Method of Raising Minneapolis Share Will Be Considered To-morrow.

The Minneapolis end of the twin city municipal exhibit at the St. Louis exposition next year will be considered to-morrow at the Commercial club. The matter of raising funds has not been taken up by any organization, but Chairman C. E. Holmes of the municipal committee, and Chairman D. P. Jones of the joint committee, were invited to chair a meeting for Saturday at the club. Representatives of the railroad, manufacturing and other business men will be invited and the question will be considered in all its phases. At that time it will undoubtedly be decided how the money shall be raised. It will be necessary to secure at least $10,000.

WORLD SLIPPING AWAY

Dr. Gray Tells the Difference Between the Apostle John and Chauncey M. Depew—One Shown as Slipping Away from the World, the Other as Having the World Slipping Away from Him.

"What is the difference between Chauncey M. Depew and the Apostle John?" asked Dr. Gray last evening at Westminster. He had just told of Senator Depew's letter to his friend, Senator John, on the occasion of the latter's recent marriage, in which he had expressed the sentiment that after all, for men who had reached their age and status in the world, it is left but the fringes and a companion at the hearth. This sentiment, coming from a man of his gifts and graces, who had achieved critical success and had been singularly honored, he thought to be deeply significant.

Then the speaker answered the question, "The difference between the Apostle John and Chauncey M. Depew is slipping away; while in the Apostle John we have a man who is slipping away from the world, the world is passing away and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." He was expounding the first and second chapters of the First Epistle of John, the theme of the section is, "Walking in the Light."

He characterized the passage, "The lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the pride of life," as a satanic formula expressive of the devil's grasp man's spiritual senses. The tempter seduced Eve after this manner, but the second Adam, that is Christ, resisted the devil when in the wilderness, he was assailed by him with temptations of the same nature. "Walking in the light" involves separation from the world; "Love not the world, for the things that are in the world."

"Walking in the light" means keeping God's commandments, living as he entered the world, and while he labored at the bench to support his mother and the younger members of the family. Carrying his kit of tools he entered the world as a neighbor, or renew a threshold for that. The yokes he made never galled the neck of an ox. It was just before he entered the ministry that he said that the heavens were opened and a voice came from God, "This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased." So, Dr. Gray, by his expounding the words of the commandments of God in the common daily round of duties, and as "walking in the light" sort of a demonstration of the city of Minneapolis needs to impress it with the reality of Christianity. He said it was by Christians "loving the world" in the light of the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians: "Love suffereth long and is kind, envieth not, vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave discourteously, is not selfish, is not easily provoked, is not suspicious." Such an exhibition of spiritual love, such a distinguished from natural love, which is marked by emotion and passion, would at once bring the desired revival.

In the afternoon, during the exposition of the last chapter of the First Epistle of Peter, the ministers came in for a share of the truth which Dr. Gray hands out impartially to all. He read the book of the words of Peter, "never mind the crowds. Give up much of your topical sermonizing. There is a wide difference between sermonizing and preaching. I know how you get up a topical sermon, for I was a pastor for twenty years. You decide on a text, get a text, and give a sermon on it, and evolve a sermon out of your brain much as a spider spins a web out of its own body. That is sermonizing, but it is not preaching. Feed the flock by giving it the word of God." He gave it as his experience that such preaching never failed to draw or hold the people. He has announced that on Monday night he will speak on a subject that will be of special interest to the ministers of the city, "How to Master the English Bible," in which he will give his own experiences which led him to adopt the expository form of preaching.

To-night Dr. Gray will speak on "Divine Guidance; How to Stay on the Path and How We May Know We Are Being Guided by God." There will be no meetings on Saturday.

U. OF P. ALUMNI DINE

Annual Banquet and Election—Dr. H. J. O'Brien President.

College songs, yells, stories and reminiscences were the order last night at the annual banquet of the Northwestern alumni of the University of Pennsylvania at the Minneapolis club. Many were present. As guests there were Dr. Alexander Abbot, director of department of bacteriology and Professor Felix Schelling of the department of literature, both of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. H. A. Tomlinson, superintendent of the state hospital at St. Peter, was toastmaster, and many were the pleasantries which he introduced at the expense of his fellow collegians. Professor Charles F. McClump of the department of English, University of Minnesota, was one of the guests, and appeared in the role of a Princeton defender against the attacks of the Pennsylvanians. Dr. P. F. Westbrook of the Minnesota medical department, Rev. Alex. J. D. Haupt of St. Paul, Dr. H. L. Williams, Minnesota's famous football coach,
