SIGNS OF LIFE IN CITY POLICERS

A RUSH FOR THE PLACE OF COL. S. E. ADAMS.

Republicans in the Eleventh Ward Have a "Hunch"—It Says Alderman Peter Nelson Will Be Easy to Beat—Situation in Some of the Other Wards.

Local politics begin to show signs of activity in spots, the most active spots being the fourth and eleventh wards.

In the fourth ward the expected retirement of Colonel S. E. Adams, the Nestor of the council, has caused an early rush for his mantle. Merrill P. Lovell, who gave Alderman Merrill a race last year, is again the avowed candidate. He sat in the council from 1888 to 1892 as a representative from the fifth ward and was conceded to have been one of the most valuable of men and the hardest of workers. Preliminary work is also being done for Perry Starkweather.

There are many well known citizens "on the hill" who would like to go to the council, but there is an unwritten law in the republican organization for the ward that "the hill" shall have no representative in the council and the upper or down town district the other. As Alderman Merrill comes from the Lowry hill district, any candidate from that territory would have a very little chance to be nominated.

In the eleventh ward the republicans have a "hunch" that Alderman Peter Nelson will now be an easy man to beat and they are bestirring themselves. This ward is the most populous ward among the three divisions of the city. Also normally good for a clear republican majority of from 700 to 1,000 votes, it often has a democrat in the city council and at present has a republican leaning with political leaders, most of whom are very poor losers, for when the primaries go against them they become very busy with their knives. But the people of the ward are realizing that it is a positive detriment to the ward when the city council is constituted as at present, to send democrats to that body, and every one is preaching the gospel of republican politics.

At the same time the omnipresent candidates are seeking to take advantage of the movement. Former Alderman Claus Peterson is said to be writing to serve the ward, and it seems to be accepted that Swan Nelson will not lie down after one defeat. George D. Craig is spoken of as likely material, and there will soon be others.

The Eighth's Case. Matters are somewhat mixed in the eighth ward. Some of the chiefs declare that Alderman Powers showed conclusively at the last election that his strength lay with the republicans, but that, while he may not get out for mayor, he is a good alderman. Should he be nominated he will, of course, be elected. Close opponents are deciding to keep their party. At the same time the republican business men goes after the nomination Powers will be "nowhere."

Cloudy in the Third. In the third ward the situation is not clear. The republicans have every confidence in the ward, especially since the charges against him have fallen flat, but they know that the democrats will not hesitate to distort and magnify the fact of the indictment. Alderman Malmgren is placed in a position which annoys him greatly. He was just preparing to start the preliminary work of the campaign, when the Sutherland grand jury let him spruce. Nevertheless, he is regarded as the best man to oppose the Kilchik organization.

McCoy-Larson Combine. There will be a determined effort in the ninth ward to break the McCoy-Larson combine. The ward is ruled that ward for five years. This ward, like the eleventh, is normally a republican ward, but frequently performs some queer political antics. Harry McLaskey is said to be sure of renomination in the seventh ward. The recent elections by the Seventh Ward republican club is construed by the students of the game to indicate that everything is coming his way.

It seems to be assumed that C. B. Holmes in the fifth, Nels J. Nelson in the sixth, and S. E. Adams in the seventh, and F. L. Schoonmaker in the thirteenth, will be "indorsed" if they care to be, but matters are framing up for some friction for John Ryan in the first, James S. Lane in the second, and James Dwyer in the tenth.

NEW BOSS AT ST. PAUL

O'Connor Allows His Mantle to Fall on Ed L. Murphy.

Ed L. Murphy is the new Tammany "boss" of St. Paul, vice E. T. O'Connor, who is withdrawing because of ill health. Murphy, who was formerly a saloon-keeper, but now a member of the board of public works, has been getting his hand in for some time, and will appear as still the real authority and will appear as the leader of the organization until after the spring election. The details are being looked after by Murphy, who is intended to keep his quiet until Murphy had time to strengthen his hold, but Mayor Smith allowed it to leak out on the occasion of his recent break with Daniel Lawler, especially in the case of the mayor that the lighting company for which he is attorney was not being given a fair show in advertising for bids, the mayor replied that "Murphy would have it that way." When the police commissioner demanded to know what Murphy had to say about it, the genial "Boss" replied: "Well, you know Murphy is kind of looking after things now."

A few days later Lawler resigned his office.

HOW TO MASTER THE BIBLE

DR. GRAY'S SIMPLE RULE IS TO READ IT.

It Must Be Read Again and Again—Dr. Gray Got His Plan from a Layman and Tried It with Very Satisfactory Results.

For the first time in the Bible conference, Dr. Gray last night departed from his uniform custom of expounding a portion of Scripture to give an address upon "How to Master the Bible." He was so well received that there were many ways to study it, but only one way to master it. The address was largely a relation of his personal experiences in arriving at this method, which he termed "the master key." Although a minister, he was conscious that he was not getting hold of the Bible as he should. The first real help he got was from a layman who was a delegate to a religious convention and a guest in the same home. Dr. Gray realized that this New York merchant experienced a peace and exhibited an equanimity which he himself had mastered. When asked how he had come into possession of these things, the layman explained that it had come from the repeated reading of the epistle to the Ephesians, which he had mastered. He had found in the study of the Bible an education he had never known before. The scope of his intellect was enlarged, his spiritual life deepened and his ministerial labors lightened.

A movement, started at about this time, for the establishment of Bible institutes in various sections of the country, has been going on for some time. Dr. Gray has been a member of the training of a minister for Christian work offered by Dr. Gray the opportunity for introducing his method of study. Out of these institutes have grown the great inter-denominational Bible classes meeting weekly for the synthetic study of the Bible, with memberships ranging up to four thousand, as in Toronto.

Dr. Gray gave six rules for the guidance of those wishing to master the English Bible.

First—Begin at the beginning. He told how Dr. Ashmore of China began teaching a Chinese class the Epistle to the Hebrews, and asked so many questions, he had to take them back to Leviticus as explaining Hebrews. The questions continued, and they went back to Exodus as explaining Leviticus, and then to Genesis as explaining Exodus.

Second—Read the book. Many people read books about the Bible, but don't read the Bible. Dr. Gray said that the Scriptures were the reading of them.

Third—Read each book continuously. Almost every book has a pivotal thought that should be discovered and grasped.

Fourth—Read the book repeatedly. Each reading will bring out something new.

Fifth—Read it independently. Master the book before you go to the commentators.

Sixth—Read it prayerfully.

Dr. Gray will have the young people in mind in his exposition to-night of the Messianic Psalm, or Jesus' Knight of the Quiet Hours. On Wednesday and Thursday evenings he will speak upon the person and work of the Holy Spirit.

SELLS $16,000 RESIDENCE

H. E. Ladd Negotiates Sale of Sabra Crittenden Property.

H. E. Ladd has sold the Sabra Crittenden house and lot at 139 Groveland avenue to Dr. Fanny A. Anderson, who will move in next spring. The house is now occupied by Dr. F. L. Schoonmaker, who vacated when he takes possession of his new residence on Groveland. The property stands at the highest point on Groveland avenue and has a frontage of 135 feet. The price paid was $16,000, all cash.

A good demand for houses of this class is reported by Mr. Ladd. He has many inquiries from persons who wish to buy houses of this class, and he is making deals to get exactly the right house for the applicant.

I. O. G. T. MEDAL

It Was Won by Miss Lizzie P. Cole at Last Night's Contest.

Miss Lizzie P. Cole won the gold medal for the best of the series in the contest of the Good Templars of Minneapolis at Good Templar hall, Washington avenue S and Cedar street, last night. The winning selection was "No Saloons Up There."

At a meeting of the association last night it was announced that there would be on exhibition 2,500 birds and 600 pigeons. While nearly all the building will be given over to poultry the old council chamber will be devoted to the cat show.

Among those who will give addresses in the course of the week will be James J. Hill, and former Governor Hoard of Wisconsin. Exhibitions will be made from several towns in the state, the premiums will be awarded and the catalog printed the first night, and rates will be granted on all railroads.

POULTRY SHOW PLANS

Great Exhibit in Old City Hall, Jan. 13-19.

During the days between and including Jan. 13-19 the old city hall will once more become a scene of activity and the public will once more through its hallways—to cap the climax—see the premiums in the annual show of the Minnesota Poultry association.

SHORT MEASURE BY WOOD DEALERS

COMPLAINTS THAT SOME ARE SELLING SCANT CORDS.

The City Sealer of Weights and Measures Allows Fourteen Feet Shrinkage for Sawing, but One Firm in Particular Has Exceeded This Allowance.

When is a cord of wood not a cord of wood? It is a conundrum propounded by Ralph Whitney, sealer of weights and measures.

The answer is: "When it's sold." Seriously, Whitney asserts that while there must be 128 cubic feet in a cord of four-foot wood, this same wood when sawed will make only from 108 to 112 feet. In the presence of various dealers packed a cord rack as closely as possible with four-foot wood. This wood was then sawed and removed to a fuel yard and was found to have shrunk to 112 feet. The shorter lengths made closer packing possible.

Acting on the result of this and similar corroborative experiments, Mr. Whitney agreed that dealers might deliver 112 feet of sawed wood as a cord.

Some Short Measure Dealers.

It appears, however, that some dealers have allowed for more shrinkage than the agreement provided. Against one firm in particular, complaints of short measure have been made. The two cases where the shortage has been checked up and reported back this dealer has made it up without question, but the suspicion exists that if short measure has been detected by the purchaser in two instances there must be many more cases where buyers have accepted a scant cord without knowing the difference.

In some cases there has been a disposition to criticize the city sealer for failing to prosecute in such instances. The victims hold that inasmuch as the city sealer is an official he should be sufficiently active to insure full measure without any trouble on their part. Mr. Whitney, on the other hand, insists that he can not bring a successful prosecution unless he can bring the purchaser into court as a witness.

LUTTBEG THE STAR

Lightweight Wrestler Draws Crowds to the Dewey Theater This Week.

Sam Devere's "Own Company," at the Dewey theater this week, presents a rather conventional program except for Max Luttbeg, the wrestler, who provides the unusual and surprising performance. Mr. Luttbeg offers to wrestle any local celebrity—feather, light, welter, middle or heavyweight—and will forfeit $25 to any man who can stay on the mat with him fifteen minutes without being thrown.

The two burlesques are up to the average in chorus, comedy and dress—not beyond it. The olio contains some features of real merit. Sam Devere has several good songs and his conversation is entertaining, although most of his gags are old. The real hit is the burlesque boxing scene, furnished by Jack Burke and William McEvoy. Knockout blows made famous by old and new champions are illustrated, and Mr. McEvoy's comedy work makes the turn pass quickly.

His brothers-in-law in a comedy acrobatic turn receive merited applause, and Larry Smith and Mame Champion in a comedy sketch do well. Miss Champion's singing of "Bellini" is the best thing in the act. The Century Comedy Four is less tiresome than most quartets of this character.

A WHISTLING MARVEL

Wonderful Work of Charles D. Kellogg, Who Produces Three Tones Simultaneously.

Mr. Kellogg will not fail to delight any audience. Whoever heard of three and ten tones being produced simultaneously from the same throat, tones of wonderful sweetness, outwitting the birds themselves? Mr. Kellogg actually accomplishes this extraordinary feat. He has prepared the most difficult musical compositions in bird language. At the same time a magnificent series of photo-stereoscopic views of birds and bird life is exhibited to the audience.

Eastern and southern papers are extravagant in their praise and descriptions of Mr. Kellogg's wonderful work. He will be heard at Wesley church next Monday evening. Reserved seats without extra charge are now on sale at the Metropolitan Music store.

The Attractive Series of Entertainments Will Net Nearly $3,000.

St. Stephen's church fair closed last evening with an auction sale, and the prizes were awarded as follows: One year's supply of butter, Oscar Gustafson, 611 Third street S.; one year's supply of coffee, M. C. Burns, 2521 Stevens avenue; a handsome buffet, T. F. O'Brien, 13 W Twenty-ninth street; an elegant heating stove, J. Ryan, 404 Abbott avenue; barrel of apples, Mrs. Mary Griffin, No. 156 will be awarded the bagatelle table if the holder will call upon Rev. Father Danely at his residence, 2209 Clinton avenue. Peter Houle acted as auctioneer, and a large sum was realized.

Rev. Father Danely expressed himself as well pleased with the result of the bazaar, and said that the net proceeds would probably amount to $2,700.

ALDERMEN WERE THERE

They Hear Electric Plans Discussed at Retailers' Dinner.

Mayor James C. Haynes and the thirteen aldermen composing the special committee of the council, who are considering the franchise for the Minneapolis General Electric company were the guests of the Minneapolis Retail Dealers' association at its dinner at the Nicollet hotel last evening. The occasion will be remembered particularly in view of a paper on electric plants read by C. F. Pillsbury, formerly electric inspector in the building inspection department. Mr. Pillsbury stated the cost of erecting and maintaining electric plants and the cost of producing electricity.

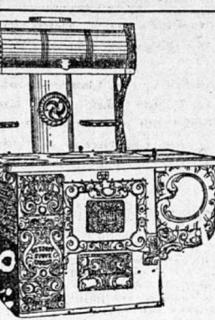

The members of the association were invited to attend the next meeting of the committee, when former City Engineer F. W. Cappelien will submit a report on the cost of electric plants and the comparative figures on the charges for electricity in various cities.

State Entomologist Makes His Annual Report to Governor.

In his annual report submitted to Governor S. R. Van Sant yesterday, Professor F. L. Washburn, state entomologist, says that with the exception of chinch bugs in a limited locality, insects did little damage in Minnesota last year. This gratifying condition is attributed by Professor Washburn to climatic influences, to greater familiarity with methods of combating the pests and to the operation of a law passed by the last legislature for the extinction of grasshoppers by requiring farmers to plow infested fields.

Professor Washburn has established a correspondence department and has appointed persons in nine counties to observe insect conditions. Special investigations have been made of the Hessian fly and of the use of adulterated paris green. Professor Washburn says that there are at least two broods of Hessian fly in the state, and that paris green often contains arsenic, which is fatal to plants, and often does more harm than good. The cost of carrying on the work of the department for the year was $4,387.40.
