CANNOT FIND JOBS ENOUGH

ASS'D CHARITIES HAS NUMEROUS APPLICATIONS FOR WORK.

Organization Desires to Extend Its Field as an Employment Bureau—Fewer Jobs Now Than a Year Ago, but Idle Men Are More Numerous.

The Associated Charities is desirous of extending its usefulness as an employment bureau. The association is receiving many applications just now from men that need work, especially those who want temporary employment.

Such applications are always common during the winter months, when many industries are less active, when sickness is more prevalent, and when the cost of living is higher than at other seasons. But more men than usual are seeking work this winter, because business in general no longer feels the impetus of the high tide of prosperity that distinguished the beginning of 1903. "Still, there's nothing like hard times," says Secretary James P. Jackson of the Associated Charities. "It's merely a relative slackness."

"During December, 1902, for example," explained Mr. Jackson, "we got jobs for 245 men; last month we could get work for 154 men only, although the number of applicants was greater. These men, of course, are not, as a rule, skilled workmen, yet we've had a few applications lately from common laborers who were holding jobs as mechanics a year ago.

"Our recruits are usually able-bodied men, quite competent to do such things as sawing wood, shoveling snow, and 'general work' about a house or store. Often we can supply regular artisans.

"The labor market, I think, is not actually overcrowded. If we could keep better track of vacant jobs nearly every man that needs work could get it. The women are rather better off. Last winter there were not enough women to fill our applications; this winter more women have needed work and we've been able to give out 50 per cent more jobs to women. In fact last year we furnished women with employment in 8,760 cases, with a surplus of 1,200."

"We make no charge against either party for our services. We can receive applications from 7:30 o'clock a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m.; but better satisfaction is given if notice of men wanted is sent in between 10 and 12 a. m., or between 3 and 5 o'clock p. m. I should like our friends to remember that our employment bureau has separate telephones."

KING EDWARD'S COFFEE. King Edward is becoming an inveterate coffee drinker. Wherever he goes his Egyptian coffee maker follows him with his little coffee mill, and after luncheon and dinner prepares a special brew for his majesty and the fortunate few who are privileged to taste it. King is able to hold this little mill in his hands, grinding the perfect particular kind—and the coffee is served in very small cups, which have almost the appearance of eggs.

It is, of course, served by Esma, himself, in all the glory of Oriental drapery. The people who have tasted the king's coffee are very few, and not all of those admire the flavor of it, the none would dare say so, knowing his majesty has such a high opinion of its quality.

MRS. SMITHERS. Milwaukee Journal. "The new mayor of a town in central New York was elected by one vote," said Smithers, looking up from his paper. "My goodness, if a man can be elected to office by one vote, why don't you run for something and vote for yourself?" asked Mrs. Smithers, and Smithers went to the cellar and shook the furnace twice.

MINNEAPOLIS DRY GOODS CO.

Every Piece of Furniture Reduced

Here's a common experience: Some firm advertises a special sale of Furniture. You look the stock over and find something you like, only to be told that that piece has not been reduced. No such disappointment here. You select your goods as usual and then ask "What's the discount?" It may be 10 per cent, generally it is more, but never less. You may save a half. This certainty of some saving on every piece makes the sale a delight to every purchaser. It also removes the last suspicion that the reduced prices may mean reduced qualities. The best and newest submit to discount along with the rest.

Reduced Jacket Prices Now Halved

All our Ladies' Short Jackets have already been reduced once---largely too, the present prices ranging from $2.50 to $20. They are made of Kersey, Cheviots and fancy materials, most of them lined with satin, and all up to the exacting requirements of quality and workmanship. They are recognized as bargains of the first grade, especially after the first reduction. Still there are too many unsold. Now we cut the reduced prices in two, so that on Tuesday the range will be $1.25 to $10.

Linens and Cottons

STILL AT FLOOD TIDE.

The importance of this sale of Linens, White Goods and Cottons is not overlooked by anyone. Of course we shall have a sale next year, but unless there is a great drop in the cost of raw material, the prices will then be higher. No manufacturer will take contracts at the figures we paid for these goods. We might hold the goods for higher prices, but it is better policy to give you every advantage we enjoy ourselves. A good list for Tuesday:
