"MACBETH" TO-NIGHT

Marshall Darrach Second Reading in Stanley Hill Course.

To-night at the First Unitarian church, Marshall Darrach will recite "Macbeth," the second in the course of Shakespeare recitals. Of Mr. Darrach's "Macbeth" as given in Winona last March, a leading paper says: "Marshall Darrach closed his course of Shakespeare recitals in this city by giving at the high school on Saturday evening the great tragedy of 'Macbeth.' It was evident from the opening of the first scene that the work was to be heavy. When the great tragedy of 'Macbeth' was presented with masterly ability. The strongest piece of work in the play was that given by Mr. Darrach when Macbeth was feasting and the ghost of the murdered Banquo appeared. Mr. Darrach entered so deeply into the spirit of the piece at this point that the entire audience was held actually spellbound."

He Had Tried to Force His Attention on Women.

Arthur Lawrence, masher, paid $10 fine in the police court this morning. Last night he stood in a Third street candy store, much used as a street car waiting room, and tried to speak to every woman who entered. His arrest is the result of a determination on the part of the police to stop "mashing."

MORE CLOTHING NEEDED

Success of Work Exchange Department of Union City Mission.

The Woman's Work exchange department of the Union City Mission established a short time ago, has proved a success. Those in charge report that there are more applications by women for work by which they may secure clothing for themselves and their children than there is clothing to be made up. There is a need of second-hand garments, especially for women and children. Arrangements have been made whereby an expressman will call on all who will notify them in charge of the work of a desire to help the movement by donations of such clothing.

RUNS THE GAUNT OF DRAMATIC ART

LYCEUM LIST RANGES FROM "UNCLE SAM" TO "PARSIFAL"

Miss Grace Hayward Has Already Been Cast as Kundry—Other Parts Not Yet Assigned—In the Minneapolis Version, the Music Will Be Simplified.

Bayreuth, New York, Minneapolis. Such is the march of the production of "Parsifal," proclaimed by many musical experts as Wagner's masterpiece. The production was given in New York after a year and months of preparation and will have its first introduction to a Minneapolis audience at the Lyceum theater during the week of Feb. 23. The local promoters think that the work of the new company will greatly simplify the task of presenting "Parsifal" in this city, altho the task is one which only the bravest hearted manager of a stock company would intelligently undertake.

"Minneapolis will be the third place or city in the world to hear 'Parsifal,'" said Treasurer Frank F. Wisner of the Lyceum theater to-day. Bayreuth and New York are the first two places. Wisner describes it as a music-drama, and as for myself I would rather hear Wagner music than any other. It was an enormous success in New York, and we will make the same here. The ministers of New York objected to it, but after they saw it and were impressed with the solemn dignity and the grandeur of the production, their opposition ceased.

"It is solemn and stately. At 8 o'clock a bugle from the gallery calls for order in that part of the house, and at 8:15 o'clock the bugle will sound from the balcony. At 8:15 the curtain rises, and late comers will not be admitted to the house until after the end of the first act.

"The orchestra, consisting of 120 musicians, will appear in the garden scene. All they have to do is to play the little folk pretty. But maybe we can get them in Minneapolis. We have ordered 500 yards of canvas, so it can be seen that we are doing something in the scene painting line. We have to start in time for this production. We have 'When We Were Twenty-One' on this week. Next week we will present 'Whose Baby Are You?' and 'The Miserable' after that. Then comes 'Parsifal.' It will be the greatest production ever attempted by a stock company. It cost the promoters $100,000 to put it on in New York."

Miss Grace Hayward will take the part of Kundry. The balance of the cast has not been made up yet. Mr. Ferris will not appear in "Parsifal." "When We Were Twenty-One" will be produced anywhere but Bayreuth for thirty years. The music has a great deal to do with the production, and it cannot be done by an orchestra of less than a hundred pieces. Mr. Ferris has made arrangements with the powers that be in New York for the full score and manuscript and the arrangements for Minneapolis is now being made in that city. The music has been somewhat simplified and some of the recitatives in grand opera style have been put into the form of songs. The original music is carried along simplistically by the orchestra, but it will be Parsifal, all right, and it's due to make a hit."

CONVENTION CALL ISSUED

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN FORMALLY ANNOUNCES MEETING FOR SELECTION OF NATIONAL DELEGATES.

The official call for the republican state convention has been issued by Chairman Jamieson, of the republican state central committee. It reads as follows:

A republican state convention for the state of Minnesota is hereby called to be held on Thursday, March 17, A. D. 1904, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Bijou opera house in Minneapolis, for the purpose of electing four delegates at large and four alternate delegates at large to represent the republican party of the state of Minnesota at the national republican convention to be held at Chicago on June 21, 1904, for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for president and vice president. The republican voters of the state are invited to participate in the selection of delegates to this convention.

Representation in this state shall be made on the following basis: Each county shall be entitled to one delegate for each 250 votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for the republican candidate for president in the year 1900. In addition thereto five delegates at large.

All county conventions in the state for the election of delegates to this convention shall be held on Tuesday, March 15, 1904. All primary elections in accordance therewith must be conducted as prescribed in the primary election laws of Minnesota. County committees are reminded that the law requires that notice of primary election for delegates to county conventions must be given in newspapers once per week for two successive weeks, the first publication of which shall be made at least twenty days previous to the day appointed for such primary election.

The state central committee recommends that the congressional district committees call their respective conventions at such time that delegates thereto may be elected at the county conventions called hereunder on Tuesday, March 15, A. D. 1904, and thus obviate the necessity for holding separate county conventions to elect delegates to the state and district conventions.

ROYAL ADJUSTERS AT WORK

Will Pay Cash as Soon as Baltimore Losses Are Determined.

J. F. Calhoun of 500 Oneida building, agent for the Royal Insurance company of Baltimore, Md., issued the following telegram this morning:

"J. F. Calhoun, Agt., Minneapolis:—'Our Baltimore losses do not exceed $950,000. Now in process of adjustment. Immediate cash settlements follow.'"

"Royal Insurance Company."

Mr. Calhoun said: "An immediate settlement of all losses is in keeping with the policy of the Royal Insurance company. Had their losses aggregated $10,000,000, every dollar would have been paid in full, because it is not alone their policy, but it is not a limited liability company, and every stockholder is liable, and they include some of the wealthiest men in the world, besides their surplus is the largest of any company in the world."

"In this state permit any insurance company to take sixty days or take a discount of 6 per cent for immediate payment. The Royal has never done either, but has always paid in full immediately as soon as the loss is adjusted."

POSTAGE DUES ON ESSAYS

Patrotic Essays Held Up by the Postoffice Authorities.

Thirty cents stands between the patrotic essays, written by the school children of the state in response to a prize offer by the State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the justice professor W. M. West of the university is one of the judges. Yesterday the bundle of essays arrived at the university postoffice and the postoffice officials stamped to the effect of 20 cents. The judge did not feel like paying tribute for the privilege of going thru the stories of Washington's experiences in the Delaware ice pack or the burning of the Red Bank. The judge's last reports the essays were still in the hands of the postal authorities.

FEARED FOR HIS FUNDS

John Olson in St. Paul Thought Girls Might Get Money.

John Olson, a retired farmer from Elgin, attracted attention to himself at the St. Paul union depot by telling every one he saw that he had $2,000 in his pockets and was afraid that all the St. Paul girls were after his money. The man was taken in charge by police officers, as they considered him mentally unbalanced. When he was searched at the police station a large roll of bills was found in his sock.

IN A FAST WAR JAPS WILL WIN

BUT THEY MUST BE QUICK, SAYS S. C. HAZZARD.

He Has Been a Close Student of the Science of War and Makes Interesting Comparisons Between the Japanese and Russian Soldiers.

"Japan's better trained army, the patriotism of her people and her stronger geographical position should give her the victory over Russia, if she strikes now, while the iron is hot."

So said Samuel C. Hazzard as he sat in the arm chair in the office of the Lyceum theater, and puffing musingly at his favorite French briar, applied his wide knowledge of military affairs to the war situation in the Far East.

Hazzard's judgment may have been poor in matrimony but no one who knows him denies that he is well posted upon army matters. A graduate of West Point, later an instructor at his alma mater, a first lieutenant of artillery and experienced thru service and foreign travel, Samuel Hazzard is in a position to know whereof he speaks on war questions.

Yes; the little fellows ought to win, but they have got to do it right away," continued the ex-soldier. "They have all the advantage at the start-off. If Russia can ever get her army to the front in time to meet the Japanese, she will tell and the island empire will be crushed beneath superior weight."

Russia's Methods Antiquated.

"The Japanese army as an organization is at present far superior to that of Russia. The czar's fighting machine is the product of the methods of the past. There are well trained men among the Russians as for instance the Cossacks, than whom the world does not know a better fighting machine in guerrilla warfare. Military drill is, of course, compulsory in Russia and she has thousands of well drilled soldiers, but the tactics used are not up-to-date as those of the Japanese, there is not the spirit nor the initiative that animates the mikado's troops."

"Japan started in to form an army long after Russia had a system completed. The czar's army has taken advantage of the little fellows, other nations and have adopted the most improved methods of organization and drill and the best of equipment. The Japanese are the wonder of the world. It proved so in the Chinese war and will do so again. And that is where Russia is going to fall down."

"As has already been demonstrated, Japan is ready for the conflict and Russia is not. With the wonderful activity and energy of the Japanese soldier, the Japanese are in a situation taken advantage of, they should be able to cripple Russia, cut off her base of supplies and win before she can get her army to the front."

Heady Jap; Loyal Russian.

"I have had considerable experience with Japanese officers and am firmly convinced that as individual soldiers they are greatly superior to their antagonists. The Japanese are all heady soldiers, they are obedient, alert and ready to take advantage of every turn of fortune's wheel. They are all brave and wonderful and these qualities make them dangerous enemies."

"The Russian soldiers, on the other hand, are all right as long as their officers are on hand to give orders. The minute the head is gone the army will disintegrate. The individual intelligence of the Russian soldier is very low and what is more he does not know what patriotism or national pride is and that means everything in the world. As long as the American can troops who, practically unoffered, charged up San Juan Hill and won a magnificent victory. The Russians under like conditions would have been defeated and probable annihilation."

Did Not Oppose Van Sant.

The above interview was given at a time when Governor Van Sant was a candidate for a second term, and when strong efforts were being made to induce him to become a candidate in opposition to him. It is needless to say that I absolutely declined to oppose Van Sant, or to permit the use of my name in opposition to him.

The above interview contains nothing that I cannot indorse to-day. In referring to Mr. Hill as I did, I had in mind the great benefits which my home village of Princeton has received from the railroad in common with the whole of northern Minnesota, have received from the enterprise and sagacity of Mr. Hill.

I do not regret at any time sympathize with or uphold violation of the laws of the state by any individual or corporation, railroad or otherwise, and I have never done so, as my record in the state auditor's office will fully bear out. I can point to several instances where I enforced the laws against these lines of railroad. DUNN EXPLAINS HIS MERGER TALK

THE PRINCETON CANDIDATE DEFENDS ORIGINAL POSITION.

He Stands by What He Said Regarding J. J. Hill, but Insists That He Is Strictly in Harmony With Party Declarations on the Merger.

Robert C. Dunn of Princeton has given out a statement explaining his position on the railroad merger question. In it he quotes the famous Pioneer Press article, and says that he stands by it still, but that he also stands by the republican platform of 1902 and its declaration against the merger. As this is Mr. Dunn's first public recognition of the merger question since the campaign started, it will be of considerable interest. The statement is in full as follows:

The Collins and administration machine forces who are opposing my gubernatorial candidacy have been busily engaged for some time past in circulating misleading and false statements and garbled extracts from an interview I have given in reference to my attitude on the question of the merger of the railroads.

These extracts, distorted to suit their own purposes, the machine managers have widely circulated with the object of injuring me and of giving a false opinion of the people of the state.

It is time that such manifestly unscrupulous, unfair attacks should be exposed and the falsity of the statements of my political opponents clearly shown. My friends know my sentiments and opinions on the merger question, and have expressed them in the past in an ability and willingness to deal with the similar questions with an eye single to the interests of the people and the state of Minnesota.

The principal thing to which my opponents have turned their ingenuity and undoubted powers of misrepresentation, is the interview which was printed in the St. Paul Pioneer Press on Jan. 3, 1902, in which I commented on the merger at some length. The machine managers are using this interview as the basis of their attacks, and garbled extracts from this interview with the object of creating an impression that I expressed an opinion favorable to the merger. I wish to state that I never gave any view speak for itself, and that interview is as published in the Pioneer Press is as follows:

Original Interview Cited.

"I believe that the fight against Mr. Hill is largely a rival railway company," said Mr. Dunn. "I am heartily out of sympathy with it because of that belief. It is a fight between the great southern railway syndicate and Mr. Hill, between the apparent trend of popular opinion in Minnesota, and has built up our country. He is not a wrecker and his opponents are."

"I am Mr. Hill's friend, but I can look the world in the face and say that I have never owed him an obligation, and none of the politicians who are fighting him can say that. I have never shown him any favor that I have not shown other railway companies, and I will not. I owe none of them my allegiance or obligations. The official record of my life has always been calculated to rebound to the interests of the state. I have made mistakes, but I have never been unfaithful."

"I realize what an saying is not in accord with the apparent trend of popular feeling, but I have worked for the interests of Minnesota and not for spectacular effect on the grandstand. I am willing to stand on the record of my life in this office, and if the people are not satisfied—well, I'm thru in a year and I don't want any more of it."

"I do not care to be re-elected. The use of my name as a candidate for governor is unauthorized, viciously a part of the fight, and the men who are responsible for it are guilty of perpetrating deliberate falsehood. I have never told any man that I would be a candidate for governor."

"I do not like to discuss my personal business in the public press, but the statement that I was summoned to New York by Mr. Hill is equally false. I went to New York to negotiate the sale of some copper lands in Alaska, in which I am interested with some gentlemen formerly employed as cruisers in this office. My meeting with Mr. Hill was largely accidental and purely social."
