TOWN TALK

Rev. J. H. Lewis of Monmouth, N. J., will speak this evening at Christian Workers' meeting at 29 Washington avenue S. on "The Devil in Modern Life."

Rev. J. M. Cleary will give an interesting address at the St. Charles church St. Patrick's Day entertainment to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock in the Hotel Nicollet and Fifth street, on his trip thru Ireland.

At the annual banquet of the Northwest alumni and active chapter of the Phi Delta Theta last night in the Hotel Nicollet officers were elected as follows: President, Hillary Murray; secretary and treasurer, Calvin Conroy; reporter, E. Williams of St. Paul.

William Pickett, who has peddled in Minneapolis for fifteen years without a license, was finally caught and this morning in police court admitted his guilt, saying that he had never been asked for a license. He was there in condition that he would take out a license.

Cleo Johnson, a colored woman who weighs about 250 pounds, was crossing the street car tracks at Third avenue and Fourth street yesterday when she slipped and fell in front of an approaching Bloomington avenue car. Detective Tom Gallagher ran in front of the car and dragged the woman from the street.

Samuel N. Nicholas, deputy collector of internal revenue in this district and a strong political factor in South Minneapolis has returned to his office in the federal building after being ill with stomach trouble since last November. Almo not assured of absolute recovery he feels able to resume light work.

To keep into people's windows, is to threaten a breach of the peace, according to the statement of Judge Dickinson in police court. The decision was given in the case of Charles Haskins, arrested on complaint of his wife, for threatening her. She said she had parted from her husband six months ago and moved across the street. Since that time she says her husband has been peeping in the windows and moreover has made threats. Haskins was released with a warning.

TALKS TO BUSINESS MEN

NO. 2.

In considering the value of a newspaper for advertising "quality and quantity" have the same meaning and significance that they have when applied to other articles of commercial value.

The cheap, sensational paper, mainly sold by newsboys for cents, read by men under such restrictions that women and children are never permitted to handle them. These publications have very little value for advertising.

The second are of the dull, dreary variety, with fits of extravagance and parsimony, bombastic and boastful of its stipulations.

The third class are the independent, carefully edited and enterprising newspapers, which print all the news of the world promptly, without bias, and analyze it in the public interest. This is the highest grade daily newspaper now published in the United States, and is printed on a paper of the highest quality, readable, type, properly displayed, arranged and classified, and attractive in appearance and convenient to the reader.

This grade of newspaper is friendly to all business enterprises of a commercial character and free from sensationalism, and its news department is entirely free from the influence of its advertising patron.

To this class belongs the Minneapolis Journal, which has served Minneapolis and the Northwest for the last twenty-five years, maintaining a confidence between itself and its readers as the most reliable, responsible and enterprising newspaper in Minnesota and its patronage as an advertising medium of the highest quality, tested by the factor of time, so that its value for advertising is recognized and appreciated by all who would address the best, growing Northwest.

TELEGRAM'S "SPECIAL"

South Minneapolis Paper Gets Out Twenty-four-Page Edition.

Following the example of several of its daily contemporaries, the Minneapolis Telegram has attempted a special edition and has achieved a distinct success. This morning's paper in this number, with numerous advertisements and profuse illustrations. The edition is devoted to the "progressive men" of South Minneapolis, and is a most interesting and interesting lot of men.

That Editor F. O. Bjorklund has faith in the South side is shown in the following: "Just now we are laying stress on the men—what they are, what they do—we shall later show the heavier business interests, the great manufacturing concerns, the fine residences, the beautiful parks, the many churches, the overcrowded schools, the modern transportation facilities, the street car service, the immense trackage, the giant warehouses, the enormous elevators and other public buildings, the solid business, manufacturing and residence section of the city."

"SOCIALIST" IS CINCHED

Socialist Labor Party Barred from Use of Name.

The socialist labor party cannot go on the St. Paul city ballot, according to a ruling from Corporation Attorney Michael. The socialist party, which filed its nominations yesterday, cast the required 10 percent of the vote in the election and is entitled to the sole use of that name. The socialist labor candidates cannot go on the ticket with that designation. The socialist named C. H. Stratton for mayor and the socialist labor candidate was Hans Carlson.

NATIONAL GUARD SUPPLIES

They Are Shipped from War Department to National Guard of Minnesota.

Supplies have been shipped by the war department for the Minnesota national guard to bring the guard up to the same standard of equipment in the regular army. The equipment is valued at $10,750.16, and includes service uniforms, shirts, caps, leggings, belts, buttons, canteens and national and regimental colors.

TO KEEP VICE WITHIN BOUNDS

POLICE ACTIVITY ENCOURAGES UP-TOWN RESIDENTS.

Some Vicious Resorts Have Invaded Decent Neighborhoods Which Have Been Scandalized but Have Suffered in Silence—Now They Will Seek Official Relief.

Since the police have shown a desire to clear the respectable business districts of vicious resorts, it is probable that Superintendent Conroy will be asked to do as much for certain residence districts. Of late the proprietors of down town resorts have taken quarters farther uptown in respectable residence districts, where the residents are already up in arms. In a few days demands will be made on the police to clean these places out.

One resort bitterly complained of on Twelfth street, just south of Hennepin avenue, has been closed. Neighbors say that it is not an uncommon occurrence to be awakened in the middle of the night by persons in the vicinity of the questionable place. This annoyance has become more marked in the last month and residents in the vicinity have notified their rental agents that unless something was done to rid the neighborhood of the place they would move. All of the tenants in the vicinity say they would have complained to the police long ago had it not been for the fear that they would be compelled to furnish evidence themselves. They now hope that the police will take the case into their own hands.

A similar resort on East Seventh street has closed since the present agitation began.

HELD ON ARSON CHARGE

A NORTH SIDE RESIDENT ACCUSED OF TRYING TO COLLECT FIRE INSURANCE FRAUDULENTLY.

Rolla Chrisman, living at 2309 Sixth avenue N., was arraigned in police court this morning on the charge of arson. He is alleged to have set fire to his house after he had taken out $700 insurance. He waived examination and members of the family are said by the police to admit that he took out the insurance with the intention of burning the place, but the prisoner denies that the fire was set by him. In this case they say it was accidental and can prove it.

The detectives who are working on the case for the fire got two more witnesses to swear that he was the owner of the place when, in reality, it belonged to his mother. They say that if he cannot be convicted of arson an attempt will be made to prosecute him for deliberate fraud against the insurance company.

CARE OF POOR AND SICK

Board of Charities and Correction Hears Reports.

Passing bills and receiving reports was all that the board of charities and corrections was called upon to do last evening. The plans for the emergency ward at the city hospital and for the women's ward of the workhouse were not produced. The February report of City Physician George E. Ricker showed the average number of patients to have been 138, and the monthly expense $1,074.11.

MEMOMONIE WANTS IT

Wisconsin Town Bids High for the Globe Iron Works.

Three towns are after the Globe Iron Works of Minneapolis, which is seeking a location in some smaller place where the labor problem is not so acute. The Red Cedar river at Menomonie, Wis., is capable of developing nearly 80,000 horsepower and the Advancement association of that place has raised $40,000 toward the purchase of stock necessary to induce the location there of the big plant. Menomonie seems to lead, but two Minnesota towns have claims which they are willing to back up to at least $100,000 each to secure the prize.

IN CAMPAIGN GARB

Cadets at the "U" Likely to Try Practice Marches.

The university cadets will probably appear in campaign uniform this spring. The outdoor drill will consist largely of battle exercises, and as the corps may take some practice marches, the regulation cadet suits will be modified. It is proposed that the blouse be dispensed with and that the men wear the gray flannel shirts required in gymnasium classes. The regulation cap will be replaced by the campaign hat, and the men will wear leggings. The officers will also distinguish with the heavy uniform and wear blue flannel shirts, khaki trousers, hats and leggings.

SEMIFINALS DEBATE

South High School to Meet St. Paul Debaters Friday.

There is much interest in the semifinal debates of the State High School Debating league, which will be held Friday night in the auditorium of the South High school. The Minneapolis team consists of Milton Frestone and Paul Gauger. The Minneapolis boys will have the affirmative of the question of municipal ownership and operation of public utilities.

WHO WILL LEAD THE CITY TICKET?

MAYORALTY POSSIBILITIES ARE BEGINNING TO LOOM UP.

Since the Salary Has Been Doubled, This Place Is More Nearly Worth While and a High Class of Candidates Is Probable.

The coming mayoralty campaign is beginning to take shape. No candidate has made any formal announcement, but there is considerable speculation for the time being. John A. Schlener, who was a republican candidate four years ago, is practically a candidate now and word is being sent for him by his friends, in lining up influential republicans for the Schlener cause.

U. G. Williams, the present coroner, has been looking the ground over to determine whether the circumstances justify an inquest, and his friends say that any such inquest will enter the race.

Walter W. Herfelinger's signal success in yesterday's convention has started his boom afresh, and without doubt if he should decide to become a candidate he would be a formidable factor. He has proposed to entertain the idea so far, on account of business reasons.

There is a strong sentiment in favor of David E. Jones, president of the city, who gave such a satisfactory administration during the few months at the end of Dr. Ames' term, when the "genial" deal was away for his chin and we have it on good authority that there is no other dimple in the twin cities so deep as yours. We'd like to have you come down here to headquarters.

"Why should I go down to headquarters just because I've a dimple in my chin?" shouted the irate Esterly. "Let me talk to Mr. Conroy."

"Neighbor Conroy," said Mr. Esterly, in his most mellifluous manner, "I don't want to go down to police headquarters, just because I have a dimple in my chin. I don't hold anybody up in St. Paul, and I came back from there right after the 'Baron Humbug' show Saturday night."

"You don't go it, even on a bet?" asked the chief.

"No, honest, I didn't," was the earnest response. "And, besides, it's my dimple."

"You needn't come down for the present. Just let us know where you are, so those St. Paul detectives can take a look at you when they come over," was the finale of the inquest.

READY FOR BUSINESS

Minneapolis Business College's Spring Class Is Graduated.

The commencement exercises of the spring class of 1904 of the Minneapolis business college were held last night in the city hall. The class consisted of a college journal, gotten up in a very interesting and instructive manner. Advice on commercial education and the value of a college education was given by the speaker, Rev. J. M. Cleary, who was received with enthusiasm by a large audience.

The following is a list of graduates: Accountants' Course—David Anderson, John F. Brice, Frank Bryden, August Gylgarr, E. B. Johnson, Martin Young, Ed. Reed, W. L. Tompkin, Signo Holmberg, Jacob Hoffman, William Larson, Clara S. McIntyre, S. E. Mogstad, John McComb and Benjamin McCallan. Commercial Course—Jane Robertson, Alma Carlson, Ella Carlson, Charles Freeman, Josephine McLaughlin, Inga Strom, Bessie Haney, Myrtle Kaut, Margaret Nelson and Harry Wolfe.

HENNEPIN AVENUE SITE

Seems to Be in Favor of Catholic Pro-cathedral.

Hennepin avenue is the street for the pro-cathedral, in the opinion of Archbishop Sheil. The site of the cathedral will be two or three weeks before the committee will decide upon a site, but it will likely be on the five-acre tract owned by the church at the corner of Hennepin and Thirteenth street; the south side of the vacant lot between Thirteenth and Eleventh, and the corner of Eleventh, above the library.

FEW ILLITERATE CHILDREN

Minnesota's Showing Is Good—Only 1,365 in the State.

Minnesota now stands twenty-fourth among the states and territories of the United States in the number of illiterate children between the ages of 10 and 14 years. The number in this state is only 1,365, as compared with 68,072 in Alabama. The ten states having fewer illiterate children than Minnesota all have a population of less than 1,000,000.

According to the special report being prepared by Julius Moersch of the state labor bureau, Minnesota is one of the twelve states that have the highest percentage of illiterate children under 14 years of age in mines or at any labor during school hours, and the law provides for exceptions in the case of dire necessity.

BIDS FOR FAIR BUILDING

Last Chance to Submit Them at 10 a. m. To-morrow.

The last opportunity for submitting tenders for the erection of a new manufacturing building on the state fair grounds will be at 10 a. m. to-morrow, the time set as the limit for competition. Bids should be in the hands of Architect J. H. Johnston of St. Paul by that hour. Concurrently with the expiration of the time limit the board of managers will meet at the Merchants' hotel to open bids, and to vote as to awarding the contract. Other important business comes before the board to-morrow, and the session will probably last all day.

HAD THE SILK ON

Two Men Suspected as Shoplifters Arrested Last Evening.

James Harold and George Franklin were arrested on a street car last evening by Patrolman Bevens and Special Officer Stuart charged with stealing two bolts of silk from a department store. The men were taken to the police station and the officers had the silk with them, but refused to explain matters, saying they would wait until their trial. They were followed by the store detectives and arrested at their home. When they were near their home the officers made the arrest.

Both men saved examination in police court this morning and were held to the grand jury in $500 bonds.

MAX' ESTERLY OF ROOSEVELT CLUB CAN SO TESTIFY.

His Chin's Beauty Spot Puts Police on His Trail as Possible Dimpled "Highwaywoman" of St. Paul—"Max" Is Inclined to Be Resentful.

"Dogged by a Dimple; or Who Set the Cops on Me," is the title of a tract which Frank C. (Max) Esterly, secretary of the Roosevelt club, is circulating in which he writes in case worst comes to worst and he is placed behind the bars.

It was not Max's fault that he was born with a dimple in the middle of his chin, but it was his fault that he had a fault that two masked and armed persons, supposed to be women in men's garb, held up and robbed two men on a St. Paul street Saturday night and that the men the robbers displayed a dimpled chin.

Nevertheless he was a little alarmed this morning when he was called to the telephone and the voice of Eddie Conners, private secretary to Police Superintendent Conroy, said: "Mr. Esterly, we are sorry to disturb you, but haven't you a dimple in your chin?"

"Why, of course," replied the astonished Max, "but I don't see that it's any of your business."

"Excuse me," replied Mr. Conners, in his most flute-like tones, "but we are looking for the person who stuck up two St. Paul men Saturday night. One of them had a big dimple in his chin and we have it on good authority that there is no other dimple in the twin cities so deep as yours. We'd like to have you come down here to headquarters."

"Why should I go down to headquarters just because I've a dimple in my chin?" shouted the irate Esterly. "Let me talk to Mr. Conroy."

"Neighbor Conroy," said Mr. Esterly, in his most mellifluous manner, "I don't want to go down to police headquarters, just because I have a dimple in my chin. I don't hold anybody up in St. Paul, and I came back from there right after the 'Baron Humbug' show Saturday night."

"You don't go it, even on a bet?" asked the chief.

"No, honest, I didn't," was the earnest response. "And, besides, it's my dimple."

"You needn't come down for the present. Just let us know where you are, so those St. Paul detectives can take a look at you when they come over," was the finale of the inquest.

"Some of those Indians in the club think it's funny, I suppose," said Mr. Esterly, after he had mopped his brow, "I can prove to you that I have more than DeLaittre or Ingersoll or some of that crowd can."

APPLE TREES IN MINN.

Professor Green Tells Where They'll Grow—Arbor Day Plans.

"There are many places in Minnesota where the apple tree can thrive and produce as well as in other states," said Professor S. B. Green of the state agricultural school in the course of an address delivered at the Commercial club of St. Paul last night. "Apple trees will grow in any soil that will grow soft maple or hickory and where you have the conditions that will produce these two you may rest assured that there apple trees will grow."

Dangerous seasons for the life and health of trees were outlined and the subject of bud and root grafting were entered into at length. It was decided that in addition to the regular planting of Arbor Day the children of the public schools be supplied an apple or plum seedling to plant at home.

HAD GUNS AND MASKS

"Pugnose Charlie" and "Prairie Pete" Looked Up on Suspicion.

Two young men were arrested and looked up at Central station last night suspected of being implicated in some of the robberies in the city and in the districts. When taken to the station and searched, two revolvers and two silk masks were found in their pockets, but they were the whole matter. The joke on some friends and they would stand trial on any charge. They gave the names of "Pugnose Charlie" and "Prairie Pete." They were looked up and will probably be charged with vagrancy.

PROTECTION FOR BIRDS

Horticultural and Educational Associations Act Together.

Concerted action looking toward protection for the birds of Minnesota is to be taken by a joint committee of the State Horticultural society and the State Educational association. A meeting was held yesterday at the Commercial club, St. Paul, and it was decided to issue an eight-page pamphlet relating to the value of birds in Minnesota. The committee is: Horticultural Society, Mrs. E. H. Hudson, Lake City, chairman; E. A. Stockwell, Minneapolis; Professor F. L. Washburn, state experimental farm; Mrs. E. M. La. Peterson, of the Minnesota Education Association—Professor D. Lange, chairman; A. W. Rankin, Professor O. T. Denny, Miss Sarah Putnam, St. Paul.

SOUR MILK BUTTER

Experiments in Making It Prove Successful in East.

"Sour milk is at last to come to its own and take a place among the commodities of value. Reports have been received by the state dairy and food commission of experiments made in the east with pasteurizing sour milk and afterward making excellent butter from it. The most successful experiments have been made at the Michigan school of agriculture. Such experiments have never so far as known, been made in Minnesota.

VICTIMS OF JOHNSON

They Write to Inquire About the Indianapolis Swindler.

Police Superintendent Conroy has received inquiries from the southern part of the state regarding Johnson, the alleged swindler who was taken to Indianapolis Monday to be tried on various charges. The letters are from men who were about to enter into a partnership with Johnson and they are anxious to know the facts. From these letters it would appear that Johnson has worked the small towns extensively.

ONE "FULL DRESS" BID.

Some of the officers of the National Guard have longed for full dress uniforms and to all the want Adjutant General Libbey advertised for bids for uniforms of the pattern recently adopted by the regular army. But one firm, a Chicago concern, quoted figures. The full dress uniform as a "thing of beauty and joy forever" to the owner, but is not required by the regulations. Its possession depends upon the condition of the purse of the officer. It must be purchased from private funds and not by the state.

NORTHWEST LAND MEN ORGANIZE

AGENTS OF FIVE STATES AGREE TO JOIN HANDS.

Will Work Together to Encourage Immigration into Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Montana—Name of New Organization Is the American Immigration Association of the Northwest.

About 250 northwestern land agents assembled at the St. Paul Commercial club to-day and organized a strong association under the name of the American Immigration Association of the Northwest.

The land men of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Montana have felt for years that their efforts were being wasted, and that much could be accomplished by a compact organization. Men in similar lines had organized in the southwest and in Canada, and the present was considered the right time to join forces in this part of the country. For some time a great deal of immigration that would naturally have come to the northwest, had been diverted to the southwest, largely through the efforts of the southwestern immigration association. Hence the convention of to-day, a convention composed of delegates from the five states mentioned.

J. A. Felthous of St. Paul presided at the morning session. H. S. Hunter of Minneapolis was temporary secretary. In a brief opening address Mr. Felthous referred to the movement that led up to the convention. The twin city land men, he said, had already held one or two meetings, and had organized. The land fever had appeared first in the northwest, and had gradually spread to other sections of the country, where no systematic work looking to increased immigration was being done. It behooved the people of these parts to be alive to the necessity of settling their own lands. Much could be accomplished by organization and well directed effort.

The principal work of the forenoon was the adoption of a constitution and by-laws. Meetings will be held annually the first Wednesday in February.

A question of membership fees created considerable discussion. The constitution placed the annual fee at $5 and the dues at a like amount. Each member of a corporation could become a member by paying $5, but no corporation should pay a greater sum than $25. There was quite a sentiment favorable to allowing land men from outside states to become members without payment of fees, others thought that a flat rate of $10 for corporations would be ample. It is the intention to pay the secretary a salary of about $1,800.

GAMMIE WILL QUIT

Her Sentence Commuted on Her Promise to Be Good.

"Camille" Cameron, convicted last Saturday of conducting a disorderly house at 251 Hennepin avenue, and of the charge of selling liquor without a license, reported to Judge Dickinson this morning that she had moved her furniture from the place. She was sentenced to sixty days in the workhouse, but given a stay in order to clean out the place. This morning the sentence was changed to $50 or sixty days and the fine remitted on Miss Cameron's promise not to reopen a place in Minneapolis.

Black Thibet Suits, $15

We know that most men like to pay about $15 for a sack suit, and that many men wear black from preference.

That's why we have made special effort to turn out the best black suits it is possible to sell for $15—and in this present line we have succeeded well.

These suits are cut in single-breasted sack style, are made of fine all wool black thibet. They are lined throughout with black wool serge—a lining that gives excellent service.

We carry a full assortment of these suits, in regular, long and stout sizes.

They are quite popular for semi-dress as well as for business wear. And for style, wearing qualities and all-around serviceability they are unequalled.
