THE WAR FOR A WEEK.

Interest in the war is apparently transferred permanently to the land operations. The only naval items of interest have been the confirmation of the destruction of the Bogatyr, Russian cruiser, at Vladivostok, and Japan's notice to the nations that an effective blockade of the whole Liao-tung peninsula has been established.

The first "big news" of the week came Thursday in rumors that the Japanese had taken Kin-chau, the key to the outer land defenses of Port Arthur. This was amply confirmed yesterday by circumstantial accounts of the fierce battle in which the Japs, by superior strategy and unexampled bravery, had stormed the Russian defenses, captured their guns and driven out the enemy.

The Japanese are now moving southward, taking Tallenwan and Dalny on the way, and the next great battle is likely to be fought in sight of Port Arthur, which is surrounded by several lines of strong defenses.

A FIERCE, BLOODY BATTLE

Every Soldier in Jap Ranks Shot Down in First Charge. Tokyo, May 28.—4:30 p. m.—The Japanese assault on Nan-shan hill was one of the fiercest and bloodiest affairs in modern warfare.

In the earlier rushes of the engagement, every man participating was shot down before he reached the first line of the Russian trenches.

It is possible that the fortune of the day hinged upon these mines. If the Russians had been able to explode them at the right time, the losses among the Japanese troops would have been tremendous and it is possible also that the Russians would have been able to hold the hill.

TAKE A TOWN; CUT OFF DALNY

Part of the Army That Captured Kin-chau Occupies Nan-Kwan-ling.

In Thursday's Battle 3,000 Japs Fell—Russians in Retreat Left 400 Dead.

Washington, May 28.—The following cablegram from the foreign office at Tokio was received at the Japanese legation today:

"The commander of the army attacking Kin-chau reports that a detachment of our troops, consisting of infantry, artillery and engineers occupied Nan-kwan-ling on the morning of May 27. The enemy fled in the direction of Port Arthur after burning a railroad at Shan-shi-pi on the morning of May 27.

"On the 28th our troops captured fifty guns, besides many other things. The number of the enemy's dead alone and left on the field amounted to 400. Our casualties, including dead and wounded, is estimated at 3,000."

Russians Vacate Dalny Chinese Merchant Reports—Not Occupied by Jap Forces.

Niu-chuang, May 28.—Morning.—A Chinese merchant just arrived, who left Dalny five days ago, says the Russians have vacated the town, which, at the time of his departure, had not been occupied by the Japanese forces. The latter were still engaged in landing troops at Kin-chau bay.

It is said upon excellent authority that the Japanese plan is to use a force of 100,000 men in their operations against Port Arthur and take it by storm in a fortnight.

THE NAN-SHAN BATTLE

Description of Operations Following the Capture of Kin-chau. Tokyo, May 28, 12:30 p. m.—Japan paid heavily for victories at Kin-chau, Nan-shan and Tallen-wan, losing 3,000 men in killed and wounded in the repeated assaults against these positions; but she secured a sweeping and valuable victory over the Russians, capturing fifty guns, clearing the way to Port Arthur and inflicting losses on the Russian ranks in the end are expected to total 2,000 men.

It is doubted if the Russians will stand again north of Port Arthur. They retired from the field beaten and they failed to hold the position where it was expected a second stand would be made.

Nan-kwan-ling was occupied yesterday by a detachment of Japanese infantry, artillery and engineers under the command of General Nakamura. The main Japanese force spent Friday night billeted in the villages around Nan-shan.

The soldiers were greatly fatigued as a result of the constant fighting, but they entered with much spirit upon the new operations. A force of Russians held San-chi-li-pu station, which is northwest of Dalny, but the Japanese drove them out. The Russian force at Port Arthur and the station and retired in the direction of Port Arthur.

The estimates of the Russians engaged in the defense of Kin-chau, Nan-shan and Tallen-wan vary, but it is evident that the Russians drew for men from the forces at Port Arthur and offered all the resistance possible.

LOSSES AT KIN-CHAU

Four Hundred Russian Dead on Field—3,000 Japs Fell. Tokyo, May 28.—(Noon.)—The Russians have abandoned Nan-quanting and have been driven from Sanchi-pu, retreating towards Port Arthur. The Japanese have captured fifty cannon.

COMMANDER HAYASHI KILLED

What the Navy Did at Kin-chau Is Told. Tokyo, May 28.—(11 p. m.)—The Japanese squadron which was assigned to co-operate in the attack of the second army on Kin-chau and Nan-shan hill, composed of the gunboats Thukishi, Amagi, Helyen and Chokai and the first torpedo boat flotilla, entered Kin-chau bay on Wednesday. A heavy sea prevented its participation in the fighting of that day.

Early in the action a shell passed over the forward deck of the Chokai, killing a lieutenant and two petty officers and wounding two men. The torpedo boat flotilla shelled the railroad near the Sanchi-pu. The torpedo boats took soundings and guided the larger ships. The squadron advanced with the Japanese right flank and aided in covering it. Later in the day it was reported that the Chokai was hit by a shell.

IT LOOKS LIKE A HOME RUN.
