RUSSIAN SHIPS ARE DISMANTLED

Only Three of Port Arthur Squadron Capable of Going to Sea.

5,000 SHOTS IN COLORADO BATTLE

Every Indication Points to Imminent Fall of Port Arthur Forts.

Chi-fu, June 9, 9:30 p. m.—A Chinese formerly employed in the machine shops at Port Arthur, who arrived here to-day, says that only five of the nine largest Russian ships at Port Arthur are capable of going to sea, and that steam is kept up on but three of the five sound vessels. All guns from the damaged ships have been removed, and the forts and the sailors have gone to the front with the troops.

TALE OF JAP REPULSE

Russians Retell Story of Port Arthur Storming.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—Special dispatches from Liao-yang report Chinese as bringing news that the Japanese on June 2 attacked Port Arthur by land and sea, but were repulsed with a loss of 3,500 men and four vessels, which were destroyed in the description given of them were torpedo boats.

New York Sun Special Service. Asheville, N. C., June 9.—Mrs. Mary Virginia Rhodes Baker, an heiress of Cecil Rhodes, the diamond king, who has been a mystery for several years, has turned up here.

JAPS BOMBARD PORT ARTHUR

Chi-fu, June 9, Noon.—Chinese arriving from Port Arthur say the entrance to the harbor is still blocked by large warships unable to pass in or out. Gunboats and torpedo boats can only effect a passage at high tide. The Russians have several fortified positions, extended for a distance of seven miles out and under the forts at Port Arthur.

5,000 SHOTS IN COLORADO BATTLE

Union Men Behind Rocks Resist Military and One Is Killed in Conflict.

Victor, Col., June 9.—A squad of mounted infantrymen left to-day in pursuit of fifty-three union miners said to be encamped in the woods east of this city. The troops have orders to shoot the men when found if they resist arrest.

Cripple Creek, Col., June 9.—After a night of intense excitement due to the battle between troops and strikers at Dunnville, a small skirmish on Big Bull Hill, and the wrecking of the Victor Record office, matters have quieted down in this military district and it is generally believed the worst is now over.

Adjutant General Bell of the Colorado guard headed the party of 100 deputies to Dunnville. The posse was in search of union men supposed to be in hiding on account of the dynamiting several days ago.

The union men, numbering twenty-five, had heard rumors of the approach of the posse and but for a touch in which they fortified themselves.

General Bell ordered his men to fire. The volley was returned, but owing to poor marksmanship no damage was done to Bell and his men.

The firing continued for ten minutes, 5,000 shots being exchanged. The union men surrendered after one hour of participation. Fourteen were wounded, three so badly that they are not expected to live.

After the firing ceased Bell and his followers engaged in a discussion of the miners and with the wounded returned to the train. None of the posse was wounded.

The citizens were armed with the latest patterns of Winchester and Remington. It is considered remarkable that only one man was killed in the Dunnville battle. The contesting forces were 200 soldiers and deputies, under personal command of General Bell, and sixty-five miners, who were scattered behind rocks and trees in the hills.

The attacking party left its train and walked through a narrow canyon into the open gulch where the town of Dunnville is located and was met by a hail of bullets from the rocks high above.

Bullets struck about General Bell and literally splattered his forehead with earth and broken rock, but he was cool and gave orders deliberately. He even thought to turn to a newspaper man who was standing a few feet away and shouted: "How does that white vest and take off that Panama!" They were excellent targets.

After several minutes' hot work the miners participated for an hour. About twenty men were captured and fourteen of these, who are members of miners' unions, were brought to camp and imprisoned, the others being released.

General Bell will not call for more troops, believing that the two companies now on duty assisted by the posse are capable of coping with the small parties of miners scattered among the mountains.

To queries on this point, General Bell answered: "See how those men fought without cover and death singing about their ears."

General Bell was informed that men were being taken to the mine, and that at Victor were at Dunnville and he made the raid for the purpose of capturing them.

George R. Krner, proprietor of the Victor Record, whose office and machinery were wrecked last night by a mob, said to-day that he would establish a new publication in the town and resume publication of his newspaper. He estimates his loss at $8,000.

The Record has been the official organ of the miners' union since the strike began in August. It has vigorously denounced the assassinations which took place at Independence on Monday, and has been outspoken in support of law and order.

A grim reminder of the Independence tragedy was furnished at Victor to-day by joint funeral services over the remains of five of the victims.

SHIPPING TRUST ENTERS RATE WAR

Fares to America Tumble—Cunard Company Now Stands Alone.

New York Sun Special Service. London, June 9.—Under the heading, "Morgan Shipping Trust Joins in Rate War," the Daily Telegraph publishes a special dispatch from Hamburg, saying that an important extension of the Atlantic rate cutting war is announced.

The conference lines have also adhered to combative measures in Scandinavia by further reduction of rates. In view of the competition with the Cunard lines, the German companies will be allowed to forward emigrants to ports by rail and thus further undercut their rivals.

The Cunard company now stands alone. Every possible rival has joined in the attack. Steamer passengers will be taken from London and Glasgow not only to America but to Canadian ports. It is believed that the Cunard company will increase its second cabin space for the expense of the steamer, and it is suggested in shipping circles that when the Cunard does start retaliation the cutting may be expected to spread to other rates, rather than in emigrant traffic.
