SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered. Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of the hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labor in one laboratory, the dandruff germ destroyer was discovered; and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Sold by leading druggists. STATE MUST AID IN IMMIGRATION

CONVENTION SAYS LEGISLATURE SHOULD ESTABLISH BUREAU.

Tide of New Comers Now Goes to Canadian Northwest and Elsewhere, Ignoring of Minnesota's Offering—Commercial Clubs Asked to Co-operate—Papers to-day.

The state immigration convention in session at the People's church, St. Paul, to-day went on record in favor of the establishment by the legislature of a state immigration bureau, and arranged for the formation of a permanent committee on immigration.

General M. D. Flower, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, made a report which was adopted recommending: First—A central state immigration committee, with the presidents, secretaries and immigration committees of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth Commercial clubs as members.

Second—That this committee invite all commercial bodies and citizens generally to co-operate.

Third—That the committee have one vice chairman appointed from every county in the state.

Resolutions were adopted calling attention to Minnesota's exceptional natural resources, its large areas of uncultivated rich prairie lands and virgin forests, its mineral deposits, its healthy climate and its railway and water transportation facilities, and to the fact that no concerted or systematic action on the part of the citizens or officials of this state has been taken to encourage immigration, while on the other hand powerful organizations are at work to influence the tide of immigration to the wheat fields of western Canada, as well as the southwestern states, all of which is detrimental to the natural development of Minnesota.

This resolution concludes that it is necessary that some action on the part of the legislature be taken to stimulate immigration and that the best results would be obtained by the establishment of a state bureau of immigration with sufficient appropriations for its creation and maintenance.

Land Values Increase. W. M. Hays of the State Agricultural school, spoke on "Agricultural Resources." He asserted that the past five years many settlers in Minnesota have refused to sell their lands at double their price when purchased. As the state becomes thickly settled, Mr. Hays predicts that southern Minnesota will reach $150 an acre and equal northern Minnesota, to-day presents great opportunities for the poor man to make a good home at little financial outlay.

Professor Green of the state agricultural school read a paper on "Orchards and Gardens." It is important to know, he said, that in Minnesota the soil is rich in potash, and the degree of horticulture, for otherwise there is a large class that would not be attached here. The climate is well adapted to fruit-growing; and so are the soils.

Secretary M. J. Donnelly read a number of letters of regret from absent delegates. F. S. Ives of Cass Lake wrote desiring an investigation of what he termed "a monstrous steal" by the state forestry board. He asserted the board held 200,000 acres of land as a "forest reserve," but illegally had included in the selection thousands of acres of fine agricultural land which should be thrown open for settlement.

Daniel Shaw, chief river falls wrote a lengthy plea that the convention demand of the next legislature a large appropriation for the drainage of the thousands of acres of swamp lands in northern Minnesota. He termed the $25,000 annual appropriation now made for this purpose "ridiculous."

MILLER CASE DEFERRED It Comes Before Bookbinders but Is Not Discussed. The Miller case bobbed up before the convention of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders this morning, but the matter was sent to a special committee to be appointed by the chair. The morning and part of the afternoon were devoted to reading of reports.

The report of Secretary Dougherty made the following recommendations: That strike benefits be paid only after the second week of a strike; that either the per capita tax be increased or mileage abolished; that some measure be taken to prevent friction between local unions in cities where there is more than one local; that a committee be appointed to promote the interests of women's local unions; that the committee be appointed to consider the stamp-due system.

This evening the visiting women delegates will be entertained by the local women.

DIRT WAS PLENTIFUL Pure Water Commission Will Establish Sediment Standard. Supervisor J. H. McConnell of the waterworks department took about 600 cubic yards of dirt out of the first basin at the reservoir in the semiannual cleanup. This is considerably more than usual, as cleaning was delayed about a month. The dirt was measured at the request of the pure water commission, to enable that body to ascertain how much sediment there is in a given unit of Mississippi water.

PROHIB VOTES COME HIGH

CHAIRMAN OF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE FOR THE STATE SAYS EXPENSES AVERAGE $4 A VOTER.

It costs about $4 a vote to run a prohibition campaign in Minnesota. This has been ascertained by Chairman G. W. Higgins of the state campaign committee after comparing the election returns with the money placed in his hands. This, he said, was a heavy handicap to the party, but he placed the blame on the election law which exacted big filing fees from the candidates.

He said the republican party passed the law to force the little parties out. The prohibitionists would not be forced. The Minnesota branch was the best of all because it spent the most money per vote.

The business of the afternoon was devoted to the nomination of candidates for state offices and the selection of a state committee.

It was reported that C. W. Dorsett of Minneapolis would secure the nomination for governor, the C. J. Anderson of Belgrade and C. A. Fowble of St. Paul appeared to have friends.

Delegates to National Meeting. Oliver W. Stewart, national chairman for the prohibition party, addressed the delegates and visitors to the state prohibition convention last evening at the Y. M. C. A. on the purposes of the party. The speaker insisted that the cold-water party was a real political party and the only one with a truly live issue.

Mr. Stewart declared that the party's national convention would nominate for president a man who had been prominently identified with the party.

The following names were seen delegates-at-large to the national convention: W. G. Calderwood, B. B. Haugen, Ferguson Falls; George F. Wells, St. Paul; George W. Higgins, Minneapolis; J. B. Dilliey, Dakota; H. T. Meyer, LeSueur; C. A. Fowble, Ramsey; W. J. Dean, Hennepin; W. H. Knotts, Stearns; L. P. Lawson, Freeborn; Charles M. Way, Hennepin.

UNIVERSALISTS AT WORK Devote Morning Session of Convention to Routine. This morning's session of the state convention of the Universalist church, held at All Souls' church, was devoted almost entirely to business, listening to reports and appointing committees to serve during the convention. Chairmen of committees are as follows: Credentials, Rev. A. R. Tillinghast; nominations, E. W. Herrick; business, William B. Roberts; resolutions, Rev. H. B. Taylor. The treasurer reported $1,794 raised and expended in church work thru the convention, the sale of real estate at Clearwater. The increase in church membership as shown by the clerk's report is 150, and the Sunday schools have been slightly augmented.

The morning session was presided over by Rev. H. B. Taylor of St. Paul, who spoke on the modern tendency to a weakened sense of morality, and the confusion of mind and action by the misinterpretation of individual duty. It was a plea for optimism.

The afternoon's session opened with an address by Mayor J. C. Haynes, president of the local organization, which was followed by a missionary meeting in charge of the women. Mrs. Effie K. Jones, pastor at Waterloo, Iowa, spoke upon the necessity of home based work as evidence of the Christian spirit. She urged the churches to extend their activities outside their own borders. To-night address will be made by Rev. W. H. McClaudin and Mrs. Effie Jones.

Rev. C. Ellwood Nash, national field secretary, gave an address last evening, in which he considered the necessity of adequate work and the evils of its misapplication. Rev. W. H. McClaudin followed with a review of the excellent work of the society during the past year. In the afternoon the following were elected officers of the Sunday school convention: Rev. Dean Ellenwood, president; H. W. Adams of Rochester, vice president; Miss Alma Campbell of Minneapolis, secretary, and Arthur J. Jones, treasurer.

CANNED FRUITS SCARCE A Minneapolis Broker Predicts Continued High Prices. Prices of dried and canned fruits are likely to stay up. Unsatisfactory conditions on the coast have resulted from heavy rains, which destroyed the flowering fruit. A broker said to-day: "The canners and dried fruit buyers are setting a pretty hot pace in the fruit districts of California in their anxiety to get stock. Not a pound of fruit will be dried for some time, but the demand for canned goods is quite active. The buying agents are scouring the country for stuff at prices that no grower can refuse, based on the present selling prices for dried fruit."

Minneapolis, the broker says, eats more olives per capita than any city in the union. If prohibitive prices should rule on dried fruit, Minneapolis can fall back on its staple.

Sanborn, Thayer & Gale and Wyvell & Harrington were admitted.

ARTESIAN WELL UNDER THE CITY

TESTS BEING MADE ON AN INTERESTING THEORY.

Professor Winchell Says Part of the Mississippi Flows Somewhere Beneath the City, and That It Might as Well Be Used—It Would Save a Lot.

Artesian wells as a possible source of a water supply for Minneapolis are now being considered by the pure water commission. Messrs. F. W. Cappelen and Andrew Rinker have visited the big artesian wells at Anoka, Coon Creek and other places and are having samples of water tested for chemical impurities and bacteria.

It is the theory of Professor N. H. Winchell, the eminent geologist, that part of the Mississippi river water disappears somewhere below St. Cloud and takes a subterranean course. This subterranean stream is thought to be under Minneapolis and it is believed to be large enough to furnish all the water the city can use.

Mr. Winchell advanced this theory many years ago and urged the authorities to take steps to ascertain if it was not correct, but nothing was ever done.

If the water is there in sufficient quantities to furnish a reliable supply for a big city, say of two or three times the present size of Minneapolis, there will be no need to spend vast sums of money on other plans for artesian water to be had in these parts is much purer than could be obtained from the river by ordinary filtration.

$6,000 REALTY TRANSFER

Milwaukee Man Buys Lot in Pioneer Residence District. Charles P. Preston & Co. have sold the tenement property at Sixth avenue N and Third street, belonging to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, to Jacob Rosenberg of Milwaukee for $6,000. The sale is significant, as it is one of the first transfers in this pioneer residence district for years. The property lies 100 feet on Third street and 150 feet on Sixth avenue.

The only improvement is an old building with a frontage on both thoroughfares and almost as long as the lot. At one time it was used as an orphan asylum by the Orphan Asylum association; later it passed to the Christian Brothers, and in 1881 became the property of the church. The building was remodeled into tenements, which have been occupied almost continuously by the same tenantry. The improvements cut little figure in the sale. Mr. Rosenberg will put the building in good repair. E. Eichhorn & Sons represented the buyer.

WALL MAY PROSECUTE Denies Story of Automobillists with Regard to Accident. Mrs. Wall, wife of Deputy Sheriff John Wall, who was injured last Friday morning, said this morning that her husband thought he had sufficient evidence to convict Dr. Philip R. Thomas and Dr. E. W. Alger of running into and smashing his buggy on the Calhoun boulevard, and insisted that the case against them would be pushed as soon as Mr. Wall was able to be out.

The injured man objects to the story of the chauffeurs published in yesterday's Journal and says that he was not standing up when taken in charge by the automobillists, but that he was sitting in the trip home was he in his right mind.

LOOKED AT FOREST LANDS The executive committee of the state forestry board met at St. Paul last night from the northern part of the state, where it was selecting the land for the forest reserve provided for by the 1897 congress. According to this act the land selected must be rocky and hilly and unfit for agricultural purposes. The site of the reserve has not been selected, but the board is favorably impressed with the land about Tower and Ely.
