The marriage of Miss Cora Joslin and Edgar Barclay Cooper was celebrated last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Joslin, 722 East Franklin avenue, and the appointments were exquisite. The reception hall was decked in green, with foliage covering the stair rail and walls. A string of lights was stationed behind a leafy screen and played softly during the arrival of the guests. In the parlors La France roses lent a touch of color and were massed with the green on the mantel. Sarah wound in the trailing vines that overhung every doorway and window. In one corner of the parlor where the ring service was read by Rev. A. B. Marshall, the roses, ferns and palms were used to stimulate an altar.

The bride, attended by her sister, Miss Joslin, arranged the altar as the "Lohengrin" march sounded in the hall. She wore a white gown over tulle, enriched with real lace and girdled with white silk. The flowers chosen for the bride's bouquet were lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's gown was of white and she carried pink roses. Conductor of the wedding party was Mr. C. P. Fortner, Miss Sarah Joslin and Constance Bull. After a honey-moon trip, Mr. Cooper will take his bride to the lake and they will spend the summer at Excelsior.

The marriage of Miss Flora Hare, daughter of Mrs. Emma Hare, and Loel Houghton will be quietly celebrated Wednesday evening, June 23, at the home of the bride's mother, 517 Ninth street S. Monday evening Miss Hare was the guest of honor at a parcel shower given by Misses Anna McLaughlin, Leta Maki, Esther Schanz and Alma Welz at the home of the latter. The rooms were most delightfully arranged with ribbons and snowballs and the gifts were showered upon the bride from a wedding bell.

The wedding of Miss Alice Cummings, daughter of Mrs. Mary J. Cummings, and Frank A. Wisnom, will take place Tuesday evening, June 28.

Miss Katherine Davies and six girl friends were entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Cowles on Portland avenue at a hosiery shower. The rooms were gay with tea roses and foliage in tall vases and bowls on the tables and cabinets. Games were played during the afternoon. To-morrow Mrs. Louise Barrett Oakland avenue will be hostess in honor of Miss Davies.

Eight girl friends of Miss May Ankeny were guests of Mrs. W. P. Cowles this afternoon at her apartments in the

Miss GILES IS QUEEN OF COTTON

Impaired on Grant street, when she gave a novel luncheon in honor of the bride. The round table was lighted with candles and a mound of flowers was in its center, while the bride's place was marked with a cluster of her favorite blossoms.

Mrs. J. Mulveyhill entertained yesterday at her home on East Twenty-fifth street in honor of her sister, Miss Louise Rouen, a June bride. The rooms were prettily decorated in red and white and on the table, where covers were laid for twenty, a large bouquet of American Beauties marked the place of the bride. Assisting the hostess were Misses Tasse Rouen, Pearl Willgrat and Lida Gilbert. Among those present were Misses Marie Anderson, Marie Henderson, Julia Church, May Logan, Hannah Streed, Ruth McDonald, Josie Kelly, Mayne Akorblad, Josie Krantz, Sadie Barrett, Mmes. J. Gardner, J. M. McDonnell, J. Rouen, Simpson, O. Miller and William Thompson.

Two out-of-town girls, Miss Kay Clifford of Cannon Falls and Miss Flossie Cannon of St. Anthony Park, were guests of honor yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. D. Butterfield, 79 Ninth street S., at an informal musicale. A dainty luncheon was served late in the afternoon. To-morrow Mrs. Will Brace of Eleventh street will be hostess for the two young women.

A group of girls were entertained at a lawn party Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Lottie Heiler and Carl Larson at the home of Miss Margaret Cramer, 2525 Park. The Japanese lanterns lighted the veranda and the lawn, where croquet and other games were played. Later in the evening a program of music was enjoyed in the house. The vocal numbers were by Misses Marie Gordon, Miss Grace Giles and William McPhail, accompanied by Harry Lyon. In the evening, when supper was served, pink flowers offset with green adorned the table, and a rose was used to mark each place. A cluster of iris blossoms was the bride's favor. The Japanese lanterns were the Misses Littlefield and Miss Giles.

The marriage of Miss Grace L. Kelsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kelsey, and Arthur B. Whitney was quietly celebrated Wednesday at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, and the service was read by Rev. J. H. Sammis. The rooms were prettily decked with wild flowers, roses predominating, arranged with ferns. Over the bay window in the parlor a canopy of green had been raised, and on the mantel the flowers were effectively massed. A large cluster of carnations and roses was used as a centerpiece on the table, while shaded tapers burned on either side. Assisting the bride and groom were Miss Charlotte Thorn and Mrs. Weck. Paul Thorn heralded the approach of the bride with the "Lohengrin" march. The bride wore a pink and white gown over tulle, and carried a bouquet of navy blue over tulle, and carried bride roses. A reception was held after the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Whitney of Skayton, Minn., parents of the bridegroom, received with the bridal couple and Mr. and Mrs. Kelsey.

Mr. Whitney took his bride to St. Louis to visit the exposition, and after Aug. 1 they will be at home at 432 Dewey avenue, Merriam Park. Among other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Weck and son and Mrs. Helen D. Skayton, and Miss Josephine Prentice of Batavia, N. Y.

Among the weddings of Wednesday was that of Miss Elnaette Carlton and Edwin L. Haseltine, which took place in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carlton, 315 Eighth street SE. About forty guests gathered at the home, where the service was read by Rev. Marion D. Shutter. The decorations were all in green and white, and the bride couple stood under a canopy of pink and white foliage. The bride wore a white silk, trimmed with lace, and carried bride roses. An informal reception followed, and Miss Frances Carlton presided in the dining room, and was assisted by a group of young men and women. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lange and daughter of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Haseltine of Dorchester, Mass., Mrs. Bennie I. Haseltine and Mrs. Healy of Aberdeen, S. D. Among the many beautiful gifts was a handsome quilt, which Mrs. Haseltine is wearing. The bride's mother when she was a little girl and put away until the day of her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Haseltine did not go away until this morning, when they left for their new home in Dorchester, Mo. They were accompanied by Miss Frances Carlton, who will spend the summer with her sisters at the home of Mrs. Haseltine.

Misses Kate Bennett and Isabelle Stone left yesterday for a river trip to Galveston, Ill., to attend the annual convention of the Delta Delta sorority and represent the chapter at the Minnesota university. Mrs. John Edgar Rhodes will leave Sunday to join them, and the Tri Delta of Knox college have prepared a week of merrymaking for their guests.

Mrs. Ida N. Lindwall, president of the Linnea society, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday afternoon at her home, on E Twenty-fourth street, by a number of the members of the society. The occasion was a farewell to Mrs. Lindwall, who leaves this week for the east. Refreshments were served after an informal program of music.

MRS. KATHERINE M. GILES

A Clever New York Girl Has Mastered the Details of the Cotton Trade and Her Forecasts Are Consulted by Traders—Her Last Estimate Broke the Market by 60 Points.

Now that Daniel J. Sully has been deposed as cotton king, who could be more appropriate than that there should be a cotton queen, and as such Miss Katherine Giles is eligible, for it was entirely due to her work that one day the cotton market broke sixty points.

Miss Giles is a cotton statistician, and she completed her first crop estimate and sent it to her subscribers. Her estimate proved to be a surprise to those who thought they knew the standing of the market, for it showed that the condition of the crop was $2, a few points below the average, but much above the percentage of 74 of last year.

The market opened at 12.55, but dropped to 11.94 just before the close, and Miss Giles is blamed for it all. Only 400,000 bales of cotton were traded in, however, and the slow business of the cotton market has been detrimental to many of the traders.

Miss Giles is about 25, and has been associated with Wall street methods for a number of years. She can tell in a moment how many bales of cotton a state has produced in the last twenty years, and in many other ways is quite a wonderful young woman.

WHAT WOMEN WANT TO KNOW
By Marion Alcott Prentice.
The Latest in Parasols—Tell me, please, what will be carried this summer in parasols? Must they match the gowns?—Style.

The girl who is looking for novelties in parasols will surely find a brilliant array from which to choose. Richings and embroideries are the feature of the smartest designs and the exclusive maid insists that the decoration exactly matches the trimmings of her gown. To be strictly in good form the parasol itself must match the color of the gown, or at least harmonize perfectly with it, so several parasols must be included in the summer outfit. The clever girl will select only such colors as are becoming to her, hence the pale girl will avoid blue or green, which would accentuate her paler, substituting warm, creamy tones, rich dark blue, golden brown, reds, etc. Hand-drawn colors are veritable works of art and materially increase the price. Pearl, precious metals, quaintly carved woods and simple sticks knotted and twisted by nature vie for supremacy. Corals and tassels are represented. For example, of the material decorate the handles, and scarcely a model is seen without a rosette at the top, to cover the joining of the sections of cover. All the fashionable trimmings are represented. For example, a charming parasol is in ecru batiste and has a deep ruff edged with a hem and one nun's tuck above, while three tufts of material are visible above the hem. French knots in the same color above. Richings are set on in rows, in 1830 style, on plain ground in contrasting or self-color, and a thorn is fastened, shirred and ruffled effects galore. For practical purposes, when beauty and utility must be combined, the fine taffetas and peat de sole covers are models of excellence as they are fine enough to accord with the smart afternoon gown and yet do not look too pretentious for the morning.

QUESTIONS FOR TO-MORROW.
To Reduce a Double Chin—I am not fat, but I have a double chin which annoys me horribly. Can you tell me how to get rid of it?—Nella.
Treating Rough Hands—I have to do my own work and I don't want my hands to get horrid and red. How can I keep them soft and white?—Housekeeper.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION
Mayville Society Honors Mrs. H. L. Hankinson of Minneapolis.
Special to The Journal.
Mayville, N. D., June 17.—Mrs. Chandler Star, Edwardy received her women friends in honor of Mrs. Herbert L. Hankinson of Minneapolis, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Horton. The guests were welcomed by Mmes. Edwards, Horton and Torgerson, and the assisting ladies were Mmes. Heiser, McIntyre, Eiken and Wilson, all beautifully gowned. The house was illumined by soft light streaming from daintily shadwed incandescents and tapers with most charming effect. The decorations were planned on a color scheme of green and white. Carnations lent their sweet fragrance, and all about were festoons of asparagus vine. The receiving ladies carried American Beauty roses.

In the music-room, behind a pretty screen of flags and palms, an orchestra discoursed sweet music. The broad veranda, screened in by draperies and laid with Navajo rugs, formed a pleasing retreat where punch was served, and in the dining-room was a table for refreshments. Refreshments were served by pretty young women.

The house was thronged with guests, the invited numbering 125, among them being the young ladies of the graduating class of the state normal school, the board of management of which is presided over by Mr. Edwards.

Another social function in Mrs. Hankinson's honor was the yellow luncheon given by her sister, Mrs. Horton, at which covers were laid for twenty-five.
