WHAT WOMEN WANT TO KNOW
By Markin Alcott Prentice.
TO INCREASE FLESH.—I am as thin as a rail and I do not want to get fat. What shall I do?—Mrs. M. P.

The very thin woman must follow an entirely different regimen from that ordinarily pursued if she expects to put flesh on her bones. If she is inclined to worry she should try and not be so intense in unimportant matters. The troubles which worry may diet is of paramount importance and destroy the health more completely than important events. Read only pleasant books, and talk as much as possible to cheerful, jolly people who are not hearted to relate harrowing tales to enlist your sympathies. Hurry is a twin brother to worry, so try to take life as leisurely as you may. Diet is of paramount importance in growing flesh and while overfeeding must not be confused with a liberal diet, the thin woman must eat plenty of only such food as will yield substantial results. Sweet milk and cream, eggs, starch and sweet vegetables and fruits, beef, mutton and fish will certainly increase her weight, unless she is suffering from chronic night in a room well ventilated and a half-hour nap during the day, if you can. If inclined to be restless during the night, eat a light lunch before retiring. A glass or two of warm milk and a slice of thick buttered brown bread will be sufficient. Coffee and sweets should never form a part of such a repast.

ABOUT BIRTHDAY GIFTS.—I cannot afford to make expensive gifts to a wealthy friend and yet I want to remember her birthday. Would it be all right to send flowers, pansies are her favorites?—Doubtful.

If you feel under obligations to a friend who is blessed with an abundance of everything within your power to give, do not attempt to send a pretentious gift, which she will know you cannot afford, and which may be inferior to her other possessions. Choose the safer way and send a bunch of perfect flowers as a birthday gift; flowers are always in good taste and acceptable to rich and poor alike. As you know she has a decided preference for pansies, why not send her a generous box of pansy blossoms from your own garden? The florist, a box and a few sheets of white waxed paper. Lay the blossoms in loosely over the ferns, wrap the box neatly and tie with pansy colored satin ribbons and send by a messenger. A card should always be enclosed in the box and you may write a bright quotation appropriate to the occasion, across your engraved card, enclosing it in a small envelope to prevent soiling and address the envelope to the recipient.

QUESTION FOR TOMORROW.
TREATING SUMMER RASH.—What causes the irritating rash which troubles one in summer and how can it be relieved?—Dora M.

The World's Fair and How to Get There.
The Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad has these advantages:
Two trains a day.
An eighteen-hour schedule.
Dining Cars serving hot meals.
Dandies you at the gates of the Fair.
Reduced rate tickets.
Its rates are no higher, but its service is much better than that of any other line.
For a free map and guide to the Fair, or other information, call or write to J. G. Rickel, 424 Nicollet avenue, Minneapolis.

Longevity of Animals.
The camel is said to live forty years; the horse thirty; the cow twenty; the cat, ten; the dog, nine; and, although the allotted span of man is given as seventy years, it will be easily extended to one hundred when everybody gets to eating Pillsbury's vites. This unequalled cereal food is made from the very best portions of the wheat, and feeds both body and brain.

FINDS FAULT WITH CONGRESS

GERMAN POLITICAL WRITER EXPRESSES HIS OPINION.

German Secretary Snubs the Suffrage Movement, but Offers the Leaders Strawberries and Cream—Overflow Meeting Marked the Close of the Congress.

Special to The Journal.
Berlin, June 21.—Count von Hoensbroeck, the well-known political writer, has created a sensation in the women's congress by his fourth section, which was discussing woman's suffrage, had completed the list of program speakers, threw the subject open to discussion, Von Hoensbroeck asked permission to speak and criticized the delegates to the congress for accepting invitations to garden parties, those of Chancellor and Countess von Buelow, and Interior Secretary and Countess von Posadowsky-Wehner. Immediately after the government had declared that it would not accept the woman suffrage amendment to the law creating boards of arbitration for the law chancery and their employees. Von Hoensbroeck said the women should have politely informed the ministers that they were unable to accept social courtesies under the circumstances. "The secretary of the interior," said Von Hoensbroeck, "immediately after the government had given you strawberries and cream."

Fraulein Frandenberg of Munich, who presided, instantly repelled the count's criticism, and later Fraulein Helen Lange said the advocates of woman's rights hoped to have an opportunity to meet their direct enemies socially and explain their views.

The congress closed Saturday afternoon with an enormous meeting. The Philharmonic hall was filled and a large overflow meeting was held in an adjacent hall, where the speeches made in the Philharmonic hall were repeated. The leading speaker in the main hall was Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, who discussed Professor Lester F. Ward's theory of the biological origin of the sex, according to which the female became the established type prior to the male. Mrs. Gilman turned the theory to account, discussing in a brilliant way the relations between the sexes to-day, claiming that society will not be perfect till woman has the same rights as men.

Helen Lange discussed the ultimate aims of the woman's movement. Lady Aberdeen, president of the international council, cordially thanked the German organizers for the splendid success of the congress.

Frau Marie Stritt of Dresden, president of the German league, declared the congress adjourned amid a scene of great enthusiasm. The American delegates, as the German attendants point out, made a general impression owing to the superiority of their oratory, clear, concise statements and distinct, deliberate speaking. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of Wyoming, the Rev. Anna Shaw and Mrs. Gilman developed into great favorites with the audiences, and Miss Susan B. Anthony received an ovation whenever she intervened in the fewest simple remarks, often writing autographs in the intervals for her German admirers. The delegates were worn out with the work of the congress and the numerous social functions, at which they were overwhelmed with kindnesses. The municipality gave the delegates a great farewell reception at the city hall Saturday evening.

MAY NOT HAVE ELOPED

Belief of Police, Who Investigated Disappearance of Mrs. McKennett.

Recent investigations into the disappearance of Mrs. Earl McKennett lead the police to believe that the woman did not elope with young Earl Summers of her own will. She disappeared from her home, 1427 East Franklin avenue, on June 7, and Summers, was was visiting at the home, disappeared at the same time. Her friends now say that if she is with Summers it is not of her own accord. She was ill the day of her disappearance, and many think that her mind was deranged, as she was often delirious when suffering with a fever.

THE UNDERGROUND OCEAN
The investigations of the geological survey have brought to light facts about the enormous quantity of underground water contained in the crust of the globe which are calculated to astonish the ordinary reader. Below a depth of about six miles it is believed that no water can exist in the rocks, because the tremendous pressure probably closes all pores; but above that level the amount of underground water is estimated to be equal in quantity to one-third of all the water contained in all the oceans. If poured over the land surface of the globe the underground water would be sufficient to cover it to a uniform depth of from 3,000 to 3,500 feet.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the causes of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful. I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MARY FAIRBANKS, 210 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." Old Pianos Rejuvenated

While your home is closed for the summer is a good time to send your piano to us, and have it repaired, or refinished. Restringing will freshen the tone, and refinishing will restore the "newness" to the case. It needs tuning at least. Of course such work must be done by experts and we have been very careful to employ only such men as are capable of the finest work and as a result we can guarantee satisfaction.

Our line of pianos is a tower of strength upon which you can rely absolutely. If you think of buying or exchanging, you are not doing yourself justice if you do not investigate such pianos as the Steinway, Knabe, Ivers & Pond, Emerson, Gabler, Ludwig and Metropolitan.
