MONTANA TWO CONFESS TO A MURDER

QUEER CASE BEFORE MONTANA STATE OFFICIALS.

Waltham, Serving a Life Sentence for Death of a Railroad Man, Likely to Be Pardoned—No Extradition for Miles, Who Confessed that He Was the Murderer.

Special to The Journal. Helena, Mont., June 21.—Governor Toole will not demand of the governor of Missouri extradition for William Miles, the 60-year-old laborer who a few days ago at Kansas City confessed that he had killed a brakeman on the Montana Union railroad near Deer Lodge in 1885, for which crime a man named Waltham is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary. The governor announces that he has reached this conclusion with regard to the case, and that in addition, because of the mental condition of the convict who is paying the penalty for what may have been the crime of another, he is disposed to pardon Waltham. The case is a most unusual one for the reason that in both instances the men who confessed that they were slayers of the brakeman. In 1886 Waltham, who is referred to as Murphy in the confession of the man at Kansas City, surrendered to the police at Minneapolis, confessing that he had killed a brakeman. Waltham was taken to Deer Lodge, tried, convicted and sent up for life. The story Waltham told at the time of the trial was a rambling one, but there were facts sufficient to give it more than a semblance of genuineness. He is 50 and is considered of unsound mind, and taking all the facts in the peculiar case into consideration, Governor Toole has shown a disposition to extend executive clemency in the shape of a pardon. Concerning Miles' confession, Governor Toole said: "I shall not demand the extradition of Miles. It may turn out that he is not mentally responsible. He is more than 60, and certainly there is nothing upon which to convict him but his own statement, which seems far from sufficient."

Hotel in "The Wilderness."

The Inside Inn, Wholly Within the World's Fair Grounds, Affords an Ideal Meeting Place.

Accommodations at Modest Rates.

The broad and splendidly shaded verandas and the mammoth and well ventilated rooms of the Inside Inn are the only hotel within the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis, is an ideal meeting place for friends when they visit the Fair.

This hostelry, which covers an area of 400 by 800 feet, is three stories high and contains 2,257 rooms. Immense wide porches surround the great structure, and as the building was erected in the very heart of what was "The Wilderness," one of the most delightful spots of Forest Park, the giant oaks furnish at all times grateful shade. Rustic benches, settees, and chairs are generously placed on the porches, and while one waits for his friends he may enjoy each moment in watching the passing throng, and in admiring the architecture of the many handsome structures created by the states of the union on adjacent sites.

The inn is in the southeast corner of the World's Fair grounds, near one of the main entrances and of easy access. A short walk will take the guest to any point in the "main picture" of the Exposition. If he desires to reach the athletic grounds, the stadium, the six-acre rose garden, the 40-acre Philippine exhibit or the 20-acre Indian exhibit or any other of the thousand and one features, he may board the intramural railway, which passes the door and for one fare he may be landed at the desired place in a hurry.

Should the occasion require that he go down town he may board any street car that passes the hotel on the south, and on payment of one fare he may reach any point in St. Louis.

One great advantage of being a guest at the Inside Inn is that if one during the heat of the day should become weary, he may retire to his room, take a refreshing bath, indulge in a siesta, and later resume his sight-seeing with renewed energy and more capable of enjoying it, because of the brief rest.

The rates governing this Inside Inn are reasonable and are fixed by the Exposition management. Rates on the European plan range from $1.50 to $3.00 per day, admission to the Exposition included. Breakfast and luncheon are served in a cafe seating 2,500 persons for 50 cents, while evening dinner is served for 75 cents.

MICHIGAN LAKE PORTS ARE SHIPPING FREELY

Grand Marais, Menominee and Cedar River Among the Active Shippers—Sawing of Hardwoods Becoming More and More a Feature—Deal for Match Stock at Cloquet, Minn.

Special to The Journal. Calumet, Mich., June 21.—Lumber is moving freely from upper peninsula lake ports. The schooners Jones and D. P. Dobbins took 1,149,000 feet from Sault Ste. Marie to Cleveland, Ohio. The schooner Fearless left the Bay Shore Lumber company dock at Menominee with 100,000 feet of elm lumber for the J. I. Case Machinery company of Racine, Wis. The lumber will be used in the manufacture of wagons. The schooner Little George took on a cargo of lumber at Cedar River for Two Rivers men. The steambarge Philetus Sawyer took on a deckload of ties at the same port for Chicago. The barge Buffalo of the Fridgdon tow loaded 1,000,000 feet of lumber for Buffalo. Shipments of lumber from Grand Marais have been heavy. A cargo of 550,000 feet of hardwoods went to Detroit; another of 350,000 feet to Chicago, and a third of 775,000 feet, loaded at the Marais Lumber company's dock, to Ogdensburg. The steamer Christy left there with a full cargo of hardwood lumber and two other steamers are loading there. The Nau tugline of Green Bay, Wis., has taken a contract to tow 25,000 cords of pulpwood from the Bay de Noquet district to Green Bay and Fox river points. The Frankrats Lumber company of Sturgeon Bay has sold a large scow to Menominee men for $4,000. SOUTH DAKOTA S. D. DEMOCRATS WANT MR. HEARST

ONLY RAY OF LIGHT IN THEIR HORIZON.

They Would Then Push Lee of Populist Fame for Governor and Make a Big Bid for the State—Barrett and Simmons May Be the Congressional Nominees.

Special to The Journal. Scotland, S. D., June 21.—John W. Martin, chairman of the democratic state committee, having issued his call for the state convention at Aberdeen on July 30, interest in democratic circles once more revives in this state. Aside from the leaders setting their pins to control the convention, however, not much will be done until after the national convention, which will have much to do with shaping the policy of the democrats of South Dakota. Should Hearst be the nominee of the democrats for president a strong effort will be made to nominate Andrew E. Lee for governor. Hearst is strong in the Hills, owing to his connection with the Homestake mine, and with Lee's popularity all over the state the democrats believe they can win. On the other hand should the "safe and conservative" element of the party control the national convention and nominate Parker or some other Cleveland democrat, the leaders realize there would be little use of making a fight for the state ticket this year. They will merely meet, name candidates and keep their organization intact for future campaigns. South Dakota would be hopelessly republican and a minor office here and there would be all that the democrats would strive to capture. Some Talk of E. S. Johnson. Many are also talking of E. S. Johnson, Armour for governor, but it is given out that Mr. Johnson will not be a candidate under any consideration. It is generally known that his ambition is to represent the state in congress, and when the time is ripe for a change in the senate Mr. Johnson will no doubt figure prominently in the canvass for a legislature favorable to his election. He represents the younger element of the party, and is perhaps the wealthiest man in the state. Douglas county will probably have a candidate for a place on the state ticket in the person of Frank Peacock, who has twice represented the county in the legislature. He will ask for the nomination of lieutenant governor. Barrett and Simmons. Major C. Boyd Barrett of Aberdeen will probably be one of the candidates for congress. He has been appointed as the representative of the party on the congressional committee from this state, and is generally regarded as a member of the best known democrats in the state. If the Hills country can be satisfied with some other office than congressman, M. E. Simmons of Huron will be the other nominee. Mr. Simmons is at the head of the Workmen lodge of the state, and is a smooth political wire puller. A Chance for Straneky. John Straneky of Pukwana proved to be a strong man in the state convention at Sioux Falls for the position of delegate to the national convention, and he may figure very prominently for a place on the ticket. The Soo Critics of Sioux Falls, the state paper of the democrats, are pushing Mr. Straneky to the front for the nomination of governor, and in case Mr. Lee cannot be induced to become a candidate the local papers over the state may center upon the Pukwana man.

At present about all of the democratic papers are advocating the nomination of Mr. Lee. The movement was started by the Goddess Record, Mr. Johnson's paper, which is cause for the belief that the well-known democratic politician of Armour believes Lee can be elected. John W. Martin will probably be re-elected chairman of the state committee. He represents the old-line element of the party and the other wing is willing to recognize it. Barrett Full of Fight. Major C. Boyd Barrett has issued the following in circular form to democrats: I have been notified by W. S. Cowherd, chairman of our national democratic congressional committee, that I have been chosen a member for South Dakota. I am ready and anxious to co-operate with our state committee and all other democrats in making an active canvass in this state to elect congressmen, presidential electors and legislative tickets. The convention at Sioux Falls was the most enthusiastic and the most largely attended we have ever held in South Dakota. Our first move is to duplicate it at Aberdeen, on July 30, and if possible increase it in every respect. We should make a united effort to put up a strong ticket of fighters at Aberdeen and in every county in the state for county and legislative tickets. FARGO, N. D.—James W. Campbell was convicted in United States court of selling postage money orders. He was a deputy postmaster at Fargo, in this state, and it is said he received about $200,000 in forged stamps at Devils Lake resulted in a disagreement. LARIMORE, N. D.—Arthur Harris, alias Joe Mitchell, who says his home is in Danville, Ill., is charged here with selling forged stamps. He purchased $27 worth of clothing and in payment presented a check containing the forged signature of J. H. Maguire.

Andrews, executive agent of the forestry board, says that two-thirds of the tract is covered with small timber, and the other third is open land. The board has decided to stock the tract with deer and practically all kinds of wild game.

IOWA

GALLAUGHER CASE AGAIN

Some Sensational Affidavits in Movement for Change of Venue.

IOWA CITY, IOWA.—James McCollister, a capitalist, who was on the bond of Mrs. Sarah Ellen Gallagher, alleged perjurer and murderer of her husband, made affidavit today that he had been threatened with lynchings for becoming surety. Charles Ferntstrom, her present husband, is cashier of the Lone Tree Farmers and Merchants' bank. He made an affidavit, attesting to the fact that he had been "utterly reproached and cursed" for the same service.

These and other affidavits as to prejudice on the part of judge and citizens were cited by Mrs. Gallagher's attorney to show that she was unable to secure a fair and unprejudiced jury for her retrial for perjury. Accordingly, a change of venue was asked. Judge Byington will rule upon it next month.

GRINNELL, IOWA.—The Lake Geneva conference of student Y. M. C. A. associations is being held here. Over four hundred delegates are present from the colleges and universities of the middle west, and noted workers like McDowell, Mott and Cotton address the mass meetings. Class meetings are held in the forenoon of each day and the afternoons are devoted to games and aquatic sports.
