CITY NEWS.

400,000 NICKELS RUNG UP MONDAY

TWIN CITY STREET CARS HAD A BIG DAY.

Success in Handling Crowds Taken as an Indication That State Fair Business Will Be Amply Provided For—Holiday Receipts of Railroads Heavy.

Should every man, woman and child in Minneapolis determine to take a street car all on the same day, the task presented to the street railway company would seem impossible. Nevertheless the records of the Fourth of July traffic of the Twin City Rapid Transit company in the office of General Manager W. J. Held show that more than 400,000 nickels and transfers were taken by the conductors, or more than the combined population of the two cities.

This was a record day, as large as any in the history of the company. The management can point with particular pride to the fact that this traffic was carried without serious accident and without particular discomfort. Power, equipment and employees were equal to the enormous business suddenly thrown on to them. The policy of the company in enlarging its power plants and in constantly adding to its equipment was justified by the success attained Monday.

Railroads Did Business.

Nearly $50,000 was carted to the banks by the railroads this week as the result of the three-day sale of the Fourth of July excursion tickets. St. Paul $40,000 was taken in a lump from the union station to the First National bank and extraordinary care was taken to prevent the holding of the bus which had been impressed into service. The Minneapolis ticket agents made frequent deposits, but the total was $10,000, better than St. Paul showed.

The St. Louis road did an $8,000 business, the Milwaukee station reported $4,700 and the union station came in with nearly a million. A large part of the St. Louis road receipts was from Lake Minnetonka traffic. General Passenger Agent A. B. Cramer reports lake traffic to be 50 per cent better than a year ago, and the 1903 season business was considered rather phenomenal. Other lines report a good business also. The hop night late trains are well patronized also.

MONKEY STOPPED A TRAIN

WENT TO SLEEP HANGING BY HIS TAIL TO AIR-BRAKE LEVER IN GENTRY BROTHERS' SPECIAL.

There was unusual consternation and excitement on the Gentry Brothers' show train late Saturday night, between Faribault and this city, with the result that it became necessary to side-track the cars at Farmington and make a thorough inspection of each coach. Shortly after leaving Faribault at 1 o'clock the train, which is regularly equipped with air brakes, came to a stop so suddenly that everyone was awakened, with a shock. Someone in the train, with the air and engineer, fireman and brakeman left their posts for an investigation. They could find nothing out of order, but the train, after testing, resumed the journey toward Minneapolis.

A few miles from Farmington, while running at a high rate of speed in order to make up the lost time, the train again came to a stop with a suddenness that convinced the engineer that some person was tampering with the brakes. Dishes were thrown about and broken to pieces, elephants bumped one another and roared; a hundred dogs barked and monkeys screamed out their displeasure at the rude awakening. The engineer determined not to proceed until the trouble was located. The train was stopped at a spot where the sleeping apartments of the trainheads were inspected. Even the staterooms of W. V. Gentry and manager and treasurer were investigated, but no irregularities were found.

The last car to be visited was that in which the great family of dogs and monkeys generally are. A picky bottle of meantime, had gone to sleep again, but careful scrutiny revealed that the door of one of the monkey cages had been left open, and "Monkavolo," one of the largest animals as famous as the looprider, was missing. Mr. Gentry was at once awakened and notified. Someone in the sleeping party raised a lantern above his head, near the door, and yelled: "Why, here's 'monk' hanging to the air lever!" There was a rush for the spot where the searchers saw the daredevil Brazilian suspended by his tail from the air lever, his head resting on the edge of a convenient shelf. He had left his cage, leaped upon the lever, released the air and stopped the train. "Monkavolo" was returned to his cage, and the employee whose duty it is to lock all cages was discharged and paid off.

The adventurous Simlan was only captured through his own greed, his monkey generally are. A picky bottle was secured, and a stout cord tied to it. In the bottle was placed a nut, and the bottle thrown near where the animal took refuge. "Monkavolo" immediately spied the morsel in the bottle, and reaching in for the same, released the lever, and was drawn toward his captors.

WATER REPORT SOON DUE

COMMISSION ON MINNEAPOLIS SUPPLY WILL REASSEMBLE TO AGREE ON A PLAN.

The Minneapolis pure water commission expects to be ready to report to the city council within a month, outlining a plan whereby Minneapolis may secure at the least expense a pure water supply.

The commission consists of F. W. Capellen, consulting engineer; City Engineer Andrew Rinker, and Allen Hazen, consulting engineer, of New York city. Mr. Hazen is expected to arrive in Minneapolis within a week or ten days. In New York he has been supplied with complete plans of the topography of Minneapolis and vicinity. The local members of the commission refuse to assert what they have done so far because their ultimate report may be entirely different from the present line of their investigations.

One Price Versus Discounts

Every day—in fact many times a day—our store patrons make requests for discounts on their purchases. When informed that we do not give discounts, they justify the request on the ground that "so-and-so" gives them a discount, and they ought to be entitled to the same privilege here.

We believe that there is only one fair and legitimate method of merchandizing today, and that demands ONE PRICE TO ALL. Your dollar should have the same purchasing power as your neighbor's, and vice versa.

The merchant who, in pseudo-confidence, grants you a discount once will, in all probability, victimize you the next time to offset the special price given to some one else. The balance of profit must be maintained. It stands to reason that a store that resorts to such methods to cajole the purchasing public into buying, must ask more for its merchandise regularly than one where there is absolute impartiality.

We aim to have prices at the lowest possible notch always, and to give all the same price privileges. We are building for the future on the foundation of honest merchandizing, and desire your confidence in so far as we merit it.

Furniture at Reduced Prices

The July clearance of furniture is in full swing. There's not a piece of furniture on the floor that is exempt from reduction. Figure the saving out for yourself. The price ticket gives the regular price and below the sale price. The difference is what you save if you buy now.

While reductions are in force the entire month, like the proverbial early bird, first comers will pick the biggest bargain plums.

The immense assortment of furniture shown here, its refined character and fair prices, need no comment. Take the elevator to the fourth floor and judge for yourself.

EARLY DUSKY BELLES OF HARRIET AND CALHOUN

Daughters of the Old Chief, Man-of-the-Skye, Left Descendants Who Have Become Famous—Some Are Successful Business Men and Others, Like the Eastmans, Are Authors and Ministers.

In the early '30s, society at Fort Snelling and around Lakes Harriet and Calhoun was composed mainly of officers, soldiers and fur traders. There was a dearth of women and women's charms. There were, however, some very handsome daughters of the forest and the prairies, who partly compensated for the absence of their Anglo-Saxon sisters.

Among these were the daughters of Man-of-the-Skye, then the leading Sioux chieftain of this region. He was a man of high character for a pagan savage. Before the advent of the missionaries, he advocated the cultivation of the soil as a means of livelihood for his people, and many small fields of corn in those early days waved around Lakes Calhoun and Harriet, on whose shores he and his band then dwelt. He also taught his warriors that it was wrong to kill non-combatants in times of war and to kill anyone in time of peace.

He adopted these principles when he was 25. He had time six notches on the handle of his tomahawk, representing six Ojibways slain by his own hand. He favored peace and the advance of civilization among the Indians. He died in January, 1863, and was buried just outside the entrance to the Catholic cemetery at an advanced age. Many missionaries came, he welcomed them, invited them to make their home at his Lake Calhoun village and shielded and assisted them all the while.

He was the father of seven children, all of whom are dead, except his youngest son, David Weston, his successor in the chieftainship, who resided at an advanced age at Plandreau, S. D., and was for many years a catechist in the Episcopal church.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED

Your Money Back if Hyomel Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hyomel and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it find that disease say to their friends. It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh at its beginning if you use Hyomel. Just breathe the health-giving, balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured. In the worst cases of this disease, chronic or acute, Hyomel used four or five times a day is all that is needed to soon effect a cure.

In this city and neighboring towns there are hundreds who can testify to the remarkable powers of Hyomel to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy today began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as the Dillin Drug Co. offered to refund the money if it did not cure, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health.

A farmer near Tracey, Minn. The other two are bankers and rank high among the best business men of North Dakota. They are leaders in the business circles of that busy state. Few who transact business with these dark-haired, brown-eyed men suspect their Indian origin, so smoothly has Hushes-the-night transmitted her great beauty to her descendants, and as gently diffused her nut-brown color among them.

Stands-like-a-spirit was married in Indian form to Captain Seth Eastman of the United States army, who was stationed at Fort Snelling in 1830-36. To this couple was born a daughter called Mary Nancy. She was a fine, intelligent child and one of the most beautiful of her race, and when she grew to womanhood was called "The Demigoddess of the Sioux." Her Caucasian features predominated. She married Many Lightnings, a full-blood Sioux, a leader of the Leaf Dwellers' band of the Wahpeton tribe at the same place. He is a strong factor in Indian policy and politics.

The youngest son, Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, has become famous as an author and a lecturer. He has also been successful as a physician and worker among his own race. He received his preparatory training at Belfast, Wis., and at Knox, Ill., and is an honored alumnus of Dartmouth and the medical department of Boston university.

BEST OF ENCAMPMENTS

Company A of Eureka Vouches for Success of Waterworn Rendevous.

EUREKA, S. D.—Company A of this city has returned from the encampment this year to be the most instructive and helpful of any held. John Pfeiffer was honored by being appointed orator on the governor's staff on governor's day. The Fourth of July celebration was a complete success, from the parade at 10:30 a.m., in carriages, to the evening party at the company floats, etc., until 3 a.m., when the last weary dancers retreated homeward. The attendance was large, all of the neighboring towns being well represented. Ipswich won the ball game with Astor. Elaborate fireworks were a feature in the evening.

VOLGA, S. D.—Five thousand celebrated the Fourth here. The purse for tennis was won by Brookings players. The game of ball between Aurora and Orlam, for a purse of $50, was won by Orlam. The game between the Volga team and Plandreau Indians, for $150, was taken by Plandreau. The foot race was won by Kelsey of Volga.

ST. LOUIS, N. D.—While working about a stove Miss Thora Johnson, a domestic employed at a hotel, was burned from head to foot. Her recovery is impossible.
