RAILROADS.

FEAR NEW GRAIN ROUTE ALLIANCE

TRUNK LINE PEOPLE WATCHING CANADA ATLANTIC.

If It Should Fall Into the Hands of Canadian Northern It Would Prove an Expensive Thorn in the Side of Competing Roads.

Special to The Journal. New York, July 25.—Trunk line people are more disturbed than they like to admit over the prospect that Canada Atlantic is to be made a stronger grain route by alliance with one of the big western railroads or by falling into the hands of the government. One Northern official says: "The anxiety of the Booths to sell Canada Atlantic is perfectly natural. They have not made it pay very well."

FAIR FOLKS Don't Blame Nature, but Investigate.

Many claim they are nervous "by nature" when it is really only because they are slaves to the coffee or tea habit, and this is easily proved by cutting out the coffee or tea for ten days and using well boiled Postum Food Coffee instead—then comes the change.

"I seemed endowed by nature with a nervous constitution," says a lady of Knoxville, Tenn., "and although I felt tea and coffee were bad for me, the force of habit was so strong I just couldn't give them up."

"Someone suggested that I try cereal coffee, but I remembered what insipid drinks we used under that name during the civil war, and so without ever looking into the subject or realizing what progress science had made in this direction, I just wouldn't give Postum a trial until finally the W. C. T. U. in our city started an exchange where there were so many calls for Postum it was served regularly and many were thus induced to try it, myself among the number. How delighted I was to find it so agreeable, delicious and satisfying. As I had suffered from nervous prostration a change from tea and coffee was imperative, but all these troubles disappeared after I had used the Postum faithfully for a few weeks.

"A sister and a son-in-law were converted to Postum at the same time and now we all enjoy it as well as we did coffee, but instead of making us nervous like coffee, we enjoy steady nerves, sleep sound and are in every way better for the change." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

This lady found what she thought was natural nervousness was only due to an acquired taste for coffee that is to some people a sure destroyer of nerves and health. Like her, anyone who cuts off coffee altogether and uses well boiled Postum in its place will be greatly benefited after a few days and the return to health is a joyful journey.

Look in each pkg. for the famous "The Road to Wellville."

It is one of those expensive bits of line that one meets every now and again. It cost, I think, nearly $50,000 a mile equipped. To make such a road pay the traffic has to be dense. On Canada Atlantic traffic is thin about seven months in the year and for the other five it is only fair.

But the question from our standpoint is who is going to get this road, Canadian Northern and Grand Pacific are mentioned. In the hands of Canadian Northern it could be made very dangerous. West little enough Duluth and Chicago grain as it is during the summer when the lakes are open. Canada Atlantic independent has been had as a competitor. With Canadian Northern to feed it, it should nearly double its tonnage. The addition would be made at our expense and the expense of Canadian Pacific. The transportation company fleet on the upper lakes has taken millions of bushels of grain every year which five years ago came thru Buffalo. This route, Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk, have wrecked the grain trade of New York.

"Depot Harbor is nearer Duluth by many hundreds of miles than is Buffalo and is also nearer tidewater. They ought to settle it. If they ever put a canal across Ontario it will make it worse. With an all-water route from Duluth and Chicago to Montreal, via Midland or Parry Sound or even French River, Buffalo would have to go out of business as a forwarder of grain for export."

Grand Trunk Rumor Denied.

Special to The Journal. New York, July 25.—R. S. Logan, vice president of the Grand Trunk, unequivocally denies the story current last week to the effect that the Grand Trunk is to build a line from Mantowoc to the head of the lakes. He goes further and says his road has no connection with any company that contemplates such a line. The Grand Trunk is not looking for a route to the head of the lakes south of the Canadian border.

In the contest for the state championship for individuals, C. E. McKinley and D. G. Holbrook of Sioux Falls tied for first and second prizes and will have to play off. WHEELER IS CHAMPION Close of Successful Tennis Tourney at Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 25.—The feature of the closing of the second annual tournament of the South Dakota Tennis association, on the grounds of the Sioux Falls Tennis association, was the championship singles match.

Wheeler of Brookings won, but several times the contest was so close that one point in each set was the championship. In the consolation doubles, Kayser and Hoffman of Parkston won first prize. In the consolation singles, E. L. Branson of Mitchell won, and in the regular singles, Wheeler of Brookings won first.

BUSY DAYS AT HAMLINE

STATE FAIR PREPARATIONS ARE WELL ALONG, BUT THERE'S MUCH TO DO.

The coming five weeks will be ones of ceaseless activity on the Minnesota state fair grounds. In all probability preparations for a state fair were never so far advanced five weeks before opening day as in the case with the Minnesota fair this year, but the magnitude of the fair is now such that even the work is commenced many months in advance, the last few weeks are bound to be overcrowded.

The great manufacturers' building is almost under roof and will be ready for the installation of exhibits within two weeks; the gas illuminating system is being installed by a large gang of men; grading for the new street railway terminals at the fair grounds is about finished; the new hospital building is under way; a long row of booths is being put up for the overflow of exhibitors from the main buildings; a mill for wire for wire is being constructed; a large amount of new cement sidewalk is going down; the grandstand has been painted; the finishing touches are now being put to the extensive landscape gardening work of the season, which is adding much to the beauty of the fair grounds.

The work of Secretary E. W. Randall and the other officers of the fair during the next two or three weeks will be the supervision of all unfinished items on the above list, as well as the handling of the constantly increasing stream of entries of exhibits and general business—a stream which by Aug. 1 will have become so wide and deep that it will absorb the constant attention of everybody connected with the fair.

Next Saturday at 10 a. m., Lyman D. Baird, superintendent of privileges, will open the annual auction sale on the fair grounds. These privilege sales have come to be important events for a large number of people. A great many churches and charitable and philanthropic organizations are in the habit of maintaining refreshment booths at the fair, while a great army of people with something to sell or show are always ready to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Minnesota state fair to bring their wares to the attention of a quarter of a million of people. The establishment of the "pik" this year removes all midway features from the main avenue leading to the grand stand, and will make available a great amount of space for refreshment booths and the like.

TARIFF REVISION CERTAIN

SENATOR HANSBROUGH SAYS TARIFF WILL BE CHANGED BY WINNERS OF THE ELECTION.

Senator H. C. Hansbrough of North Dakota, who was in the twin cities yesterday, expressed his belief that there would be an early readjustment of the tariff. He is confident of Roosevelt's success, but he says that in either event the tariff is going to be changed, by its friends or by its foes.

Senator Hansbrough, who is a member of the resolutions committee at the national convention, stood by Senator Nelson in an effort to get a more positive declaration of revision, but his argument as follows: "The tariff should be readjusted to meet changed and changing conditions. The present tariff law will be eight years old next summer. Since it was enacted, we have fought a war with a foreign country, we have freed Cuba, acquired Porto Rico and the Philippines and become a great world power. Necessarily our commercial relations with foreign countries have changed. For that reason I think that the tariff law should be overhauled and brought up to date."

It may be a fine distinction, but I believe there is a distinction between a revision and a readjustment of the tariff. By revision it is generally understood that duties are to be lowered all along the line, whereas it we proceed to readjust the existing law we would find a number of articles on the free list that should be placed on the dutiable list. I am equally certain that there are articles on the dutiable list the rates upon which should be lowered.

I believe that the tariff is going to be the principal issue in the coming presidential campaign. Some believe that the trust question will be the paramount issue, but it will be found when discussion opens that the democrats have no remedy whatever to offer, whereas we all know that President Roosevelt has adopted the policy of enforcing existing laws. In addition, the department of commerce has been established during his administration and this department is now engaged in bringing about the most complete publicity with respect to the so-called combinations and trusts.

RINEHART ENTERS RACE

Attorney Seeks the Democratic Mayoralty Nomination.

Orville Rinehart, a well-known attorney, has announced himself a candidate for the democratic mayoralty nomination. He was one of the Hearst leaders in the recent local campaign, and will rally much support from that element of the party that is opposed to Mayor Haynes. R. R. Odell having already filed, there will be a contest, whether Mayor Haynes tries for another term or not. It is rumored that the mayor is thinking of trying for the district bench.

Mr. Rinehart will go after the nomination on a public ownership platform, including an immediate demand for dollar gas and six street car fares for a quarter.

THE FRUITS OF LIFE

They Are Determined by the Strength of the Body and Mind.

It is the laboratory worker who is coming to the front now as the creator of new fruits. When the cold winds from the north destroyed the citrus industry of Florida, work was undertaken at once by the national government to secure an orange which would be more hardy than any now grown in the east. As far north as Philadelphia is a small Japanese orange which is only suitable for ornamental purposes and which bears a fruit the size of a walnut. Here was the hardness; by using this plant as a mother and the tender, sweet orange of Florida as the father, and vice versa, hybrids have been produced which partake of the characteristics of both. These hybrids are now beginning to fruit for the first time. They are, of course, not so hardy as the hardy mother, but are much more hardy than the sweet orange, the other parent.

As with the fruit, so with the man. It is the hardy orange that withstands all sorts of weather; the rugged man is likewise the one to withstand the storms of life. "The survival of the fittest" is a universal law. The man who has good health has a good brain, and consequently can lead a good life.
